THE

LUCUBRATIONS

OF

Isaac Bickerstaff, Esq;

Revised and Corrected by the Author

VOL. I.

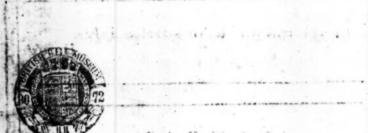

'Ου χρη παννύχιον ξυδειν βεληφόρον ανδεσ. Homer.

LONDON:

Printed for E. and R. NUTT, J. KNAPTON.
J. and B. SPRINT, D. MIDWINTER, J. TONSON, R. GOSLING, W. and J.
INNYS, J. OSBORN and T. LONGMAN, R. ROBINSON, and B. MOTTE.

MDCCXXVIII.

Iface Bickershaff, Esch

Tour of Tour o

£ 19

Jihh ye or a uit

Mr. Maynwaring.

SIR,

and Business in this Town having been long perplexed with Pretenders in both Kinds; in order to open Mens Eyes against such abuses, it appeared no unprofitable. Indertaking to publish a Paper which hould observe upon the Manners of the Pleasurable, as well, as the Buy Part of Mankind. To make this generally read, it seemed the most proper Method to form it by Way of a Letter of Intelligence, consisting of such Parts as might gratify the Curiosity of Persons of all Conditions, and of each Sex. But a Work of this so Nature requiring Time to grow into the Notice of the World, it happen'd every luckily, that a little before I had resolved upon this Design, a Genit tleman had written Predictions, and it two or three other Pieces in my Name, it which had render'd it famous through all Parts of Europe; and by an inimitable Spirit and Humour, raised it to it as high a Pitch of Reputation as it is

could possibly arrive at.

By this good Fortune, the Name in of Isaac Bickerstaff gained an Audieer ence of all who had any Taste of he Wit, and the Addition of the ordinary Occurrences of common Journals of News brought in a Multitude had of other Readers. I could not, I confiss, long keep up the Opinion of the Best Town, that these Lucubrations were of written by the same Hand with the nestirst Works which were published under der my Name; but before I lost the pol Participation of that Author's Pame, use I had already found the Advantage of

his

this's Authority, to which I owe the into dden Acceptance which my Labours pen'd et with in the World.

The general Purpose of this Paper, Genis to expose the false Arts of Life, to and all off the Disguises of Cunning, Value, ity and Affectation, and to recombughned a general Simplicity in our simi-press, our Discourse, and our Behalit to jour. No Man has a better Judgas it ment for the Discovery, or a nobler point for the Contempt of all Impopirit for the Contempt of all Impo-spirit for the Contempt of all Impo-ame ture, than your felf; which Qualities and the pool of the proper Patron for the ordine Author of these Essays. In the ordineral, the Design, however execu-our ed, has met with so great Success, and that there is hardly a Name now con-ninent among us for Power, With the Beauty, Valour or Wisdom, which is were of subscribed, for the Encourage the nent of these Volumes. This is in-unleed an Honour for which it is im-the possible to express a suitable Grati-me, sude; and there is nothing could be

e of

his

vi The Dedication.

an Addition to the Pleasure I take in it, but the Reflection that it gives must the most conspicuous Occasion I can ever have of subscribing my felf,

SIR,

Tour most Obliged, most Obedient,

and most Humble Servant,

Trac Ricker daff

d has met with fo greet Sunt that there is that the remains and the for Power, eauty, Valour or Wifdom, which is at fublicibed, for the Encourage-nent of these Volumes. This is inohible to express a faitable Grati-

...

THE

ke i s m nt,

Shu

HE

THE

TATLER:

BY

Isaac Bickerstaff, Esq;

Quicquid agunt Homines noftri Farrago Libelli.

Tuefday, April 12. 1709.

HO' the other Paters, which are published for the Use of the good People of England, have certainly very wholesome Effects, and are laudable in their particular Kinds, they do not seem to come up to the main Design of such Narrations, which, I humbly presume, should be rincipally intended for the Use of politick Persons who are publick spirited as to neglect their own Affairs to look uto Transactions of State. Now these Gentlemen, for the nost Part, being Persons of strong Zeal, and weak Intellects, it is both a charitable and necessary Work to ofter something whereby such worthy and well-affected Members of the Commonwealth may be instructed, after their Reading, what to think; which shall be the End and Purpose of this my Paper, wherein I shall VOL. I.

a

u

a

A R d ha

1 y, gl

Da.

a

M

on ery om

h ink

eam

from Time to Time report and consider all Matters of what Kind soever that shall occur to me, and publish Julb my Advices and Reflections every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday in the Week, for the Convenience of the Post. I resolve also to have something which may be of Entertainment to the Fair Sex, in Honour of whom I have invented the Title of this Paper. I therefore earnestly desire all Persons without Distinction, to take it in for the present Gratis, and hereafter at the Price of one Penny, forbidding all Hawkers to take more for it at their Peril. And I defire all Persons to confider, that I am at a very great Charge for proper Materials for this Work, as well as that before I resolved upon it, I had settled a Correspondence in all Parts of the kitten and knowing World. And forasmuch as this Glove is not troden upon by meer Drudges of Business only, but that Men of Spirit and Genius are justly to be esteemed as considerable Agents in it, we shall not, upon a Dearth of News, present you with musty Foreign Edicts, or dull Proclamations, but shall divide our Relation of the Passages which occur in Action or Discourse throughout this Town, as well as elfewhere, under such Dates of Places as may prepare you for the Matter you are to expect, in the following Manner:

ALL Accounts of Gallantry, Pleasure and Entertainment, shall be under the Article of White's Chocolate-House; Poetry, under that of Will's Coffee-house; Learning, unde the Title of Grecian; Foreign and Domestick News, you will have from St. James's Coffee-house, and what else I have to offer on any other Subject shall be dated from my own Apartment.

I once more desire my Reader to consider, That as I cannot keep an ingenious Man to go daily to Will's under Twopence each Day meerly for his Charges; to White's under Sixpence; nor to the Grecian, without allowing him some plain Spanish, to be as able as others at the Learned Table; and that a good Observer cannot speak with even Kidney at St. James's without clean Linen; I say, these Considerations will, I hope, make all Persons willing to comply with my humble Request (when my Gratis Stock is exhausted) of a Penny Penny a-piece; especially since they are sure of some proer Amusement, and that it is impossible for me to want Means to entertain them, baving, besides the Force of my wn Parts, the Power of Divination, and that I can, y casting a Figure, tell you all that will happen before comes to pass.

BUT this last Faculty I shall use very sparingly, and eak but of few Things till they are passed, for fear of vulging Matters which may offend our Superiors.

White's Chocolate-kouse, April 7.

HE deplorable Condition of a very pretty Gentleman, who walks here at the Hours hen the Men of Quality first appear, is what is ry much lamented. His History is, That on e oth of September, 1705. being in his one and ventieth Year, he was washing his Teeth at a avern Window in Pall Mall, when a fine Equige passed by, and in it a young Lady who ok'd up at him; away goes the Coach, and the oung Gentleman pull'd off his Night-cap, and stead of rubbing his Gums, as he ought to do. t of the Window till about four a-clock, fits m down, and spoke not a Word till twelve Night; after which he began to enquire if any. dy knew the Lady—The Company asked, hat Lady? But he faid no more, till they broke at fix in the Morning. All the enfuing Winhe went from Church to Church every Suny, and from Play-house to Play-house every ght in the Week, but could never find the Orihal of the Picture which dwelt in his Bosom. a Word, his Attention to any Thing but his flion, was utterly gone. He has loft all the oney he ever play'd for, and been confuted in ery Argument he has entred upon fince the oment he first law her. He is of a noble Fami-, has naturally a very good Air, and is of a ank honest Temper: But this Passion has so exeamly mauled him, that his Features are for refore take Price for sider, wials

I.

es of

blijb

urf-

ce of ty be bom

on it,

note is

but

ed as rth of rocla-Tages own, es as in the

chooffeereign

other

That illy to Charscian, is able berver withbill, I

) of A Penny

bum-

and

T.

ha

ith

m

th ern

heir

and uninformed, and his whole Vifage is deaden'd by a long Absence of Thought, He never appear in any Alacrity, but when raised by Wine; a which Time he is fure to come hither and throw away a great deal of Wit on Fellows, who have no Sense farther than just to observe, That on poor Lover has most Understanding when he is drunk, and is least in his Senses when he is sober

Will's Coffee boufe, April 8.

ON Thursday last was acted, for the Benefit of Mr. Betterton, the celebrated Comedy call'd Love for Love. Those excellent Players Mrs. Karry, Mrs. Brack girdle, and Mr. Dogget, though not at present con cerned in the House, acted on that Occasion. Then has not been known fo great a Concourfe of Perfor of Distinction as at that Time; the Stage it fel was cover'd with Gentlemen and Ladies, an when the Curtain was drawn, it discovered eve there a very splendid Audience. This unusual En couragement, which was given to a Play for th Advantage of fo great an Actor, gives an unden able Instance, that the true Relish for manly En tertainments and rational Pleasures is not wholl loft. All the Parts were acted to Perfection: Th Actors were careful of their Carriage, and no on was guilty of the Affectation to infert Witticifa of his own, but a duc Respect was had to the A dience, for encouraging this accomplished Playe It is not now doubted but Plays will revive, an take their usual Place in the Opinion of Perfo of Wit and Merit, notwithstanding their la Apostacy in Favour of Dress and Sound. Place is very much altered fince Mr. Dryden for quented it; where you used to see Songs, E greens, and Satires, in the Hands of every Man y met, you have now only a Pack of Cards; at inflead of the Cavils about the Turn of the Expre fion, the Elegance of the Style, and the like, i utta Learned now dispute only about the Truth of t ame. But however the Company is altered; all den d ave flewn a great Respect for Mr. Betterton: And ppcan he very Gaming Part of this House have been e; a much touched with a Sense of the Uncertainty throw f Human Affairs, (which alter with themselves have at out he i fober efit o ove fo Brace t con Then erion it fel and eve al En

or th

nden

ly En

wholl

Th

no on ticifa

ne A laye

, ar

erfo

r la

len fi

, E

an y s; a

Expre

10 I

very Moment) that in this Gentleman they pied Mark Anthony of Rome, Hamles of Denmark, dithridates of Pontus, The dofins of Greece, and Henry e Eighth of England. It is well known, he has een in the Condition of each of those illustrious ersonages for several Hours together, and behaed himself in those high Stations, in all the hanges of the Scene, with suitable Dignity. For ele Reasons we intend to repeat this Favour to im on a proper Occasion, lest he who can inuch us fo well in personating seigned Sorrows, ould be loft to us by fuffering under real ones. he Town is at present in very great Expecatin of feeing a Comedy now in Rehearfal, which the 25th Production of my honoured Friend Ir. Thomas D'Urfey; who, befides his great Abities in the Dramatick, has a peculiar Talent in e Lyrick Way of Writing, and that with a lanner wholly new and unknown to the ancient reeks and Romans, wherein he is but faintly imited in the Translations of the Modern Italian pera's.

St. James's Coffee-boufe, April 11.

LETTERS from the Hague of the 16th fay, hat Major General Cadogan was gone to Bruffels, ith Orders to disperse proper Instructions for asembling the whole Force of the Allies in Flanders the Beginning of the next Month. The late Ofers concerning Peace were made in the Style f Persons who think themselves upon equal terms: But the Allies have so just a Sense of heir present Advantages, that they will not admit f a Treaty, except France offers what is more uttable to her present Condition. At the same

ke, I of t Gam

oi P

ь

(e Ь

e

1

1

Time we make Preparations, as if we were alarmed by a greater Force than that which we are carrying into the Field. Thus this Point feems now to be argued Sword in Hand. This was what a Great General alluded to, when being asked the Names of those who were to be Plenipotentiaries for the enfuing Peace, he answered with a scrious Air, There are about an bundred thoufand of us. Mr. Kidney, who has the Ear of the greatest Politicians that come hither, tells me, There is a Mail come in to-day with Letters, dated Hague, April 19. N. S. which fay, a Defign of bringing Part of our Troops into the Field at the latter End of this Month, is now altered to a Resolution of marching towards the Camp about the 20th of the next. There happened tother Day, in the Road of Scheveling, an Engagement between a Privateer of Zeeland, and one of Dun-Rirk. The Dunkirker, carrying 33 Pieces of Cannon, was taken and brought into the Texel. It is faid, the Courier of Monfieur Rouille is returned to him from the Court of France. Monfieur Vendofme being reinstated in the Favour of the Dutchess of Burgundy, is to command in Flanders.

Mr. Kidney added, that there were Letters of the 17th from Ghent, which give an Account, That the Enemy had formed a Design to surprize two Battalions of the Allies which lay at Alos; but those Battalions received Advice of their March, and retired to Dendermond; Lieutenant General Wood appeared on this Occasion at the Head of 5000 Foot and 1000 Horse, upon which the Enemy withdrew, without making any farther Attempt.

From my own Apartment.

I am forry I am obliged to trouble the Publick with so much Discourse upon a Matter which I at the very first mentioned as a Trifle, eiz the Death of Mr. Partridge, under whose Name there is an Almanack come out for the Year 1709. In floft;

heir

nant the bich

far-

Pub-

hich

the

here

In

larmone Page of which it is afferted by the faid Fobn e are Partridge, That he is still living, and not only fo, feems! but that he was also living some Time before, what and even at the Instant when I writ of his Death. askcd I have in another Place, and in a Paper by it nipofelf, sufficiently convinced this Man that he is wered dead, and if he has any Shame, I don't doubt thoubut that by this Time he owns it to all his Acf the quaintance: For though the Legs and Arms and s me, whole Body of that Man may still appear and pertters, form their animal Functions; yet fince, as I have efign elsewhere observed, his Art is gone, the Man is ld at gone. I am, as I faid, concerned, that this little 10 a Matter should make so much Noise; but since I am engaged, I take my felf obliged in Honour to go bout on in my Lucubrations, and by the Help of these other Arts of which I am Master, as well as my Skill in ment Dun-Aftrological Speculations, I shall, as I see Oc-Cancasion, proceed to confute other dead Men, who It is pretend to be in Being, that they are actually. deceased. I therefore give all Men fair Warned to dolmo ing to amend their Manners, for I shall from Time chess to Time print Bills of Mortality; and I beg the Pardon of all such who shall be named therein, if. they who are good for nothing shall find themrs of ount, selves in the Number of the Deccased.

THE WASHEST WASHEST WASHEST WASHEST

Nº 2. Thursday, April 14. 1709.

Will's Coffee-bouse, April 13.

HERE has lain all this Evening on the Table the following Poem. The Subject of it being Matter very useful for Families, I thought it deserved to be considered, and made more publick. The Turn the Poet gives it is very happy; but the Foundation is from a real Accident which happened among my Acquaintance. A young Gentleman of a great Estate fell desperately in Love with a great Beauty, of every high Quality, but as ill natur'd as long Flattery and an hibitual Self will could make her. However, my young Spark ventures upon her like a Man of Quality, without being acquainted with her, or having ever faluted her, till it was a Crime to kifs any Woman elfe. Beauty is a Thing which palls with Possession; and the Charms of this Lady soon wanted the Support of good Humour and Com-placency of Manners. Upon this my Spark flies to the Bottle for Relief from his Satiety. She disdains him for being tired with that for which all Men envied him; and he never came Home, but it was-Was there no Sor that would flay longer? Would any Man living but you? Did I leave all the World for this Ufage? To which he -Madam, Splitme, you are very Impertinent! In a Word, this Match was Wedlock in its most terrible Appearances. She, at last weary of Railing to no Purpole, applies to a good Uncle, who gives her a Bottle of Water: The Virtue of this powerful Liquor (said he) is such, that if the Woman you marry proves a Scold, (which, it feems, my dear Nicce, is your Misfortune; as it was your good Mother's before you,) let her hold fix Spoonfuls in her Mouth for a full half Hour after you come Home -- But I find I am not in Humour for telling a Tail, and nothing in Nature is so ungrateful as Story-telling against the Grain, therefore take it as the Author has given it you.

The MEDICIN

A Tale-for the Ladies.

MISS Molly, a fam'd Toaft, was fair and young, Hall Wealth and Charms—but then she had a [Tongue! From Morn to Night the Eternal Larum run, Which often lost those Hearts her Eyes had won, lity, itual Va 25

oung lity, ving

flies She

id I

it as it

hold our t in the iven

ing, da ue!

un,

any with foon com-

hich me, ftay

h he ! In ter-lailwho this

the

Na-

IR

123 74

SIR John was Smitten, and confes'd his Flame sighed out the usual Time, then wed the Dames Posses'd he thought of every Joy of Life; as of Bur his Dear Molly provid a very Wife. A. 191 Excess of Fondness did in Time decline, Madam lov'd Money, and the Knight lov'd Wine. from whence some petty Discords would arise, s, You're a Fool; and, You are mighty Wife!

Of Sey reign Virtue, chiefly to common THO' he and all the World allow'd her Witte Her Voice was shrill, and rather loud than Sweet; When the began,—for Hat and Sword he'd call, then after a faint Kifs --- cry, By, Dear Moll: upper and Friends expect me at the Rofe. nd, what Sir John, you'll get your usual Dose! o, flink of Smoak, and guzzle natty Wine, are, never virtuous Love was uf'd like mine! bound Pour Month the healing Corois hold

OFT as the watchful Bellman march'd his t a fresh Bottle gay Sin Fohn he founder it als y four the Knight would get his Buffness done, and only then reel'd off, because alone; full well he knew the dreadful Storm to come; lut arm'd with Bourdeaux, he durst venture Home, Bot Maris could fooner cafe the Lady's Greek: MY Lady with her Tongue was still prepard, he rattled loud, and he impatient heard: Fis a fine Hour! In a sweet Pickle made! and this, Sir John, is ev'ry Day the Trade. Here I fir moping all the live long Night, Devour'd with Spleen, and Stranger to Delight; Till Morn fends ftagg'ring Home a drunken Beaft, Refolv d to break my Heart as well as Reft.

sorly restar intrinord signs na gebria [Sponie! HEY! Hoop! d'ye hear my damn'd obstrep ons What, can't you find one Bed about the House?" Will that perpetual Glack lie never flill? That Rival to the Softness of a Mill! some Couch and distant Room must be my Choice, Where I may fleep uncurs'd with Wife and Noise. There Wiger elation while become thee might if you

LONG this uncomfortable Life they led, With marling Meals, and each a sep'rate Bed. To an old Uncle of the would complain, Beg his Advice, and scarce from Tears refrain. Old Wifewood smoak'd the Matter as it was, Cheer up, cry'd he! and I'll remove the Cause.

A wond'rous Spring within my Garden flows, Of Sov'reign Virtue, chiefly to compose Domestick Jars, and Matrimonial Strife, The best Elixir t'appease Man and Wife; Strange are th' Effects, the Qualities divine, 'Tis Water call'd, but worth its Weight in Wine. If in his fullen Airs Sir John should come, [Mum: Three Spoonfuls take, hold in your Mouth—then Smile, and look pleas'd, when he shall rage and science.

Still in your Mouth the healing Cordial hold; One Month this Sympathetick Med'ein try'd, He'll grow a Lover, you a happy Bride. But dearest Niece, keep this grand Secret close, Or ev'ry prat'ling Hussy'ill beg a Dose.

A Water-Bettle's brought for her Relief, Not Nants could sooner ease the Lady's Grief: Her busy Thoughts are on the Trial bent, And Female like impatient for th'Event!

THE bonny Knight reels Home exceeding Prepar'd for Clamour and Domestick War: Entring, he cries,—Hey! Where's our Thun-Madamafide, an ample Mouthful takes, [speaks: Court fies, looks kind, but not a Word she Wond ring, he star'd, scarcely his Eyes believ'd, But found his Ears agreeably deceiv'd. Why, How now, Molly, What's the Crotchet now? She smiles, and answers only with a Bow. Then classing her about—Why, let me die! These Night-cloths, Moll, become thee mightily!

ain.

ws,

ine.
ium:
then
and cold,

lose,

f:

ear,

unled!

fhe v'd,

lie!

Vith

With that, he figh'd, her Hand began to press, And Betty calls, her Lady to undress.

Nay, kis mo, Molly—for I'am much inclin'd: Her Lace she cuts, to take him in the Mind.

Thus the fond Pair to Bed enamour'd went,

The Lady pleas'd, and the good Knight content.

[pass'd.

The reconciling Bottle fails at last; [arose. Twas us'd and gone, — Then Midnight Storms And Looks and Words the Union discompose. Her Coach is order'd, and Post-haste she slies, To beg her Uncle for some fresh Supplies; Transported does the strange Essets relate, Her Knight's Conversion, and her happy State!

WHY, Niece, says he,—I prithee apprehend The Water's Water.—Be thy self thy Friend; Such Beauty would the coldest Husband warm, But your provoking Tongue undoes the Charm:
Be filent and complying,—You'll soon find, Sir John without a Med'cin, will be kind.

St. Fames's Coffee-bonfe, April 13.

LETTERS from Venice fay, The Disappointment of their Expediation to fee his Danish Maesty, has very much disquieted the Court of Rome. Our last Advices from Germany inform us, That the Minister of Hanover has urged the Council at Rattisbonne to exert themselves in Behalf of the Common Cause, and taken the Liberty to say, That the Dignity, the Virtue, the Prudence of his Electoral Highness, his Master, were called to the Head of their Affairs in vain, if they thought fit to leave him naked of the proper means to make those Excellencies useful for the Honour and Safety of the Empire. They write from Berlin of the 13th, O. S. That the true Delign of General Fleming's Visit to that Court was, to infinuate that it will be for the mutual Interest of the

EZ

CE

the King of Pruffia and King Augustus to enter into a new Alliance; but that the Ministers of Pruffin are not inclined to his Sentiments. We hear from Vienna, That his Imperial Majesty has expressed great Satisfaction in their High Mightineffes having communicated to him the Whole that has passed in the Affair of a Peace. Though there have been Practices used by the Agents of France in all the Courts of Europe; to break the good Understanding of the Allies, they have had no other Effect, but to make all the Members concerned in the Alliance, more doubtful of their Safety from the great Offers of the Enemy. The Empire is rouzed by this Alarm, and the Frontiers of all the French Dominions are in Danger of being infulted the enfuing Campaign. Advices from all Parts confirm, That it is impoffible for France to find a Way to obtain so much Credit, as to gain any one Potentate of the Allies, or conceive any Hope for Safety from other Prospects.

From my own Apartment, April 13.

I find it of very great Use, now I am setting up for a Writer of News, that I am an Adept in Aftrological Speculations; by which Means I avoid speaking of Things which may offend great Persons. But at the same Time I must not profitute the Liberal Sciences fo far, as not to utter the Truth in Cases which do not immediately concern the Good of my Native Country. I must therefore contradict what has been to afforedly reported by the News-Writers of England, That France is in the most deplorable Condition, and that there People die in great Multitudes. I will therefore let the World know, that my Correspondent, by the Way of Bruffels, informs me upon his Honour, That the Gentleman who writes the Gazette of Paris, and ought to know as well as any Man, has told him, That ever fince the King has been past his 63d Year, or Grand Climaderick Nation, who was younger than his Majesty, except a very few, who were taken suddenly near the Village of Hosses in Germany; and some more, who were straitned for Lodging at a Place call'd Ramelies, and died on the Road to Ghem and Brages. There are also other Things given out by the Allies, which are Shifts below a conquering Nation to make Use of. Among others tis faid, There is a general Murmuring among the People of France, tho at the same Time all my Letters agree, that there is so good an Understanding among them, that there is not one Morsel carried out of any Market in the Kingdom, but what is delivered upon Credit.

Nº 3. Saturday, April 16. 1709. and 1909 a Will's Coffee-boufe, April 14.

HIS Evening the Comedy call'd, The Country Wife, was acted in Drury Lane for the Benefit of Mrs. Bignall. The Part which gives Name to the Play was performed by herfelf. Through the whole Action the made a very pretty Figure, and exactly entred into the Nature of the Part. Her Husband, in the Drama, is reprefented to be one of those Debauchees who run through the Vices of the Town, and believe when they think fit they can marry and fettle at their Ease. His own Knowledge of the Iniquity of the Age makes him chuse a Wife wholly ignorant of it, and place his Security in her want of Skill how to abuse him. The Poet, on many Occasions, where the Propriety of the Character will admit of it, infinuates, That there is no Defence against Vice, but the Contempt of it: And has, in the natural Ideas of an untainted Innocent, shown the gradual Steps to Ruin and Destruction, which Persons fetdept ins I great proutter conmust redly That and will pre-upon ll as

Ling

acte-

rick

6 2.

enter

s of

We

y has

ghti-

hole

ough of

the

had

bers

ot

Ene-

and

e in aign.

nuch

A1-

1

1

Persons of Condition run into, without the Help of a good Education how to form their Conduct. The Torment of a jealous Coxcomb, which arises from his own false Maxims, and the Aggravation of his Pain, by the very Words in which he fees her Innocence, makes a very pleasant and infirudive Satire. The Character of Horner, and the Design of it, is a good Representation of the Age in which that Comedy was written; at which Time Love and Wenching were the Bufiness of Life, and the Gallant Manner of purfuing Women was the best Recommendation at Court. To which only it is to be imputed, That a Gentleman of Mr. Wycherly's Character and Sense, condescends to represent the infults done to the Honour of the Bed, without just Reproof; but to have drawn a Man of Probity with Regard to fuch Confiderations, had been a Monster, and a Poet had at that Time discovered his Want of knowing the Manners of the Court he liv'd in, by a virtuous Character in his fine Gentleman, as he would show his Ignorance, by drawing a vicious one to please the present Audience. Mrs. Bignall did her Part very happily, and had a certain Grace in her Rufticity, which gave us Hopes of seeing her a very skilful Player, and in fome Parts, Supply our Loss of Mrs. Verbruggen. I cannot be of the same Opinion with my Friends and Fellow Labourers, the Reformers of Manners, in their Severity towards Plays, but must allow, that a good Play acted before a well-bred Audience, must raise very proper Incitements to good Behaviour, and be the most quick and most prevailing Method of giving young People a Turn of Sense and Breeding. But as I have set up for a Weekly Historian, Irefolve to be a faithful One; and therefore take this publick Occasion to admonish a young Nobleman, who came fluster'd into the Box last Night, and let him know how much all his Friends were out of Countenance for him. The Woman fate in Terror of hearing fome10 3.

Help

dua.

rifes

ation

lees!

d in-

and which es of Wo.

ntle-

COD-

Ho-

it to rd to

and

nt of

d in, man,

ng a

had

c us

id in ends

ners, low,

udi-

pre-

n of

or a

ne;

er'd

Incc

ring mcfomething that should shock their Modelty, and all the Gentlemen in as much Pain out of Compassion to the Ladies, and perhaps Resentment for the Indignity which was offered in coming into their Presence in so disrespectful a Manner. Wine made him fay nothing that was rude, therefore he is forgiven, upon Condition he will never hazard his offending more in this Kind. As I just now hinted, I own my felf of the Society for Reformation of Manners. We have lower Inftruments than those of the Family of Bickerstaff, for punishing great Crimes, and exposing the Abandoned. Therefore, as I defign to have Notices from all publick Assemblies, I shall take upon me only Indecorums, Improprieties and Negligences. in fuch as should give us better Examples. After this Declaration, if a fine Lady thinks fit to giggle at Church, or a Great Beau come in drunk to a Play, either shall be fure to hear of it in my enfuing Paper: For meerly as a wellbred Man, I cannot bear these Enormities. 1999

A FTER the Play we naturally firell to this Coffee-house, in Hopes of meeting some new Poem, or other Entertainment, among the Men of Wit and Pleasure, where there is a Dearth at present. But it is wonderful there should be so few Writers, when the Art is become meerly Mechanick, and Men may make themselves great that Way, by as certain and infallible Rules as you may be a Joiner or a Mafon. There happens a good Infrance of this in what the Hawker has just now offered to Sale, to wir, Instructions to Vanderbank; A Sequel to the Advice to the Poets; A Poem, occasioned by the Glorious Success of her Majefty's Arms, under the Command of the Duke of Marlborough, the last Tear in Flanders. Here you are to understand, that the Author finding the Poets would not take his Advice, he troubles himfelf no more about them; but has met with one Vanderbank, who works in Arras, and makes very good Tapettry Hangings: Therefore, in order to 16 celebrate the Hero of the Age, he claps me together all that can be faid of a Man that makes Hangings: As,

THEN, Artist, who dost Nature's Face express In Silk and Gold, and Scenes of Action dress; Dost figur'd Arras animated leave, Spin a bright Story, or a Passion weave By mingling Threads; canst mingle Shade and Light, Delineate Triumphs, or describe a Fight?

WELL, what shall this Workman do? Why! To show how great an Hero the Poet intends, he provides him a very good Horse:

Champing his Foam, and bounding on the Plain, Arch his high Neck, and graceful spread his Mane.

NOW as to the Intrepidity, the calm Courage, the constant Application of the Hero, it is not necessary to take that upon your self; you may, in the Lump, bid him you employ, raise him as high as he can, and if he does it not, let him answer for disobeying Orders.

LET Fame and Victory in inferior Sky. Hover with ballanc'd Wings and smiling fly Above bis Head, &c.

A whole Poem of this Kind may be ready against an ensuing Campaign, as well as a Space lest in the Canvas of a Piece of Tapestry for the principal Figure, while the Under-Partsare working: So that in Essett the Adviser copies after the Man he pretends to direct. This method should, methinks, encourage young Beginners: For the Invention is so fitted to all Capacities, that by the Help of it a Man may make a Receipt for a Poem, A young Man may observe that the Jig of the Thing is, as I said, finding out all that can be said of his Way you employ e toakes

11/22

19/11 hy! , he the state 1 11

1 100

18 3 not ay, 1 23 Per 10 376 7/8/5 1 347 ace

the rkrer lod rs:

es, leve ng

oy to fet forth your Worthy. Waller and Denbars ad worn out the Expedient of Advice to a Painter: his Author has transferred the Work, and fent is Advice to the Poets; that is to fay, to the Turhought is worn out also, therefore he directs is Genius to the Loom, and will have a new Set Hangings in Honour of the last Year in Flanrs. I must own to you, I approve extreamly this evention, and it might be improved for the Beefit of Manufactury; As, suppose an ingenious entleman should write a Poem of Advice to a allico-Printer; Do you think there is a Girl in ingland that would wear any Thing but The taking Lifle, or The Battle of Oudenarde? They would retainly be all the Fashion, till the Heroes aroad had cut out some more Patterns. I should infy small Skirmishes might do for Underetticoats, provided they had a Siege for the Opper. If our Adviser were well imitated, many dustrious People might be put to Work. Little Ir. Dadile, now in the Room, who formerly rit a Song and a half, is a Week gone in a very retty Work, upon this Hint: He is writing an pigram to a young Virgin who knits very well! tis a Thousand Piries he is a Facobite:) But his pigram is by way of Advice to this Damfel, to hit all the Actions of the Pretender and the buke of Burgundy last Campaign, in the Clock of Stocking. It were endless to enumerate the nany Hands and Trades that may be employed y Poets, of so useful a Turn as this Adviser's. shall think of it; and in this Time of Taxes; hall confult a great Critick employed in the Cutom house, in order to propose what Tax may e proper to put upon Knives, Seals, Rings, Hangngs, wrought Beds, Gowns, and Petticoats, where my of these Commodities bear Motto's, or are worked upon Poctical Grounds.

tions of the day and the bears and network seek in Regard to Contain

St. James's Coffee-boufe, April 15.

LETTERS from Turin of the 3d Instant, N. S. inform us, That his Royal Highness employs all his Address in alarming the Enemy, and perplexing their Speculations concerning his real Defigns the enfuing Campaign. Contracts are entered into with the Merchants of Milan, for a great Number of Mules to transport his Provifions and Ammunition. His Royal Highness has ordered the Train of Artillery to be conveyed to Sula before the 20th of the next Month. In the mean Time, all Accounts agree, that the Encmy are very backward in their Preparations, and almost incapable of defending themselves against an Invasion, by reason of the general Murmurs of their own People; which, they find, are no way to be quieted, but by giving them Hopes of a speedy Peace. When these Letters were dispatched, the Marshal de These was arrived at Genoa, where he has taken much Pains to keep the Correspondents of the Merchants of France in Hopes, that measures will be found out to support the Credit and Commerce between that State and Lyons: But the late Declaration of the Agents of Monsieur Bernard, that they cannot discharge the Demands made upon them, has quite dispirited all those who are engaged in the Remittances of France.

From my own Apartment, April 15.

IT is a very natural Passion in all good Members of the Commonwealth, to take what Care they can of their Families. Therefore I hope the Reader will forgive me, that I desire he would go to the Play, called the Stratagem, this Evening, which is to be acted for the Benefit of my near Kinsman Mr. Fohn Bickerstaff. I protest to you, the Gentleman has not spoken to me to desire this Favour; but I have a Respect for him, as well in Regard to Consanguinity, as that he is an intimate Friend of that samous and heroick Actor Mr.

nstant, is emnemy, ng his

Nº 3.

ng his ntracts in, for Proviis has veyed In the Enc-

, and

gainfluring murs e no bes of difed at keep to in port

cand

its of

the.

rited

cs of emlare nope ould ing, lear the this well in-

Mr.

Mr. George Powell, who formerly played Alexanter the Great in all Places, though he is lately grown fo reserved, as to act it only on the Stage.

dedederdededestatederdestated

No 4. Tuefday, April 18. 1709.

T is usual with Persons who mount the Stage for the Cure or Information of the Croud about them, to make solemn Professions of their being wholly difinterested in the Pains they take for the publick Good. At the fame Time those very Men, who make Harangues in Plush Doublets, and extol their own Abilites and geperous Inclinations, tear their Lungs in wending a Drug, and show no Act of Bounty, except it be, that bey lower a Demand of a Crown to fix, nay, to one Penny. We have a Contempt for Such paultry Barterers, and have therefore all along informed the Publick, that we intend to give them our Advices for our own Sakes, and are labouring to make our Lu ubrations oma to some Price in Money, for our more convenient Support in the Service of the Publick. It is certain that many ther S hemes have been proposed to me; as a Friend fered to hew me a Treatife be bad writ, which be alled, The whole Art of Life, or, The Introduction o Great Men, illustrated in a Pack of Cards. But being a Novice at all Manner of Play, I de lined the Offer. Another advised me, for want of Money, to Set up my Coach and practife Physick, but baving been bred a Scholar, I feared I should not succeed that way neither, therefore resolved to go on in my present Project. But you are to understand, that I shall not pretend to raise a Credit to this Work upon the Weight of my Politick News only, but, as my Latin Sentence in the Title Page informs you, shall take any Thing that offers for the Subject of my Discourse. Thus new Persons as well as new Things, are to come under my Consideration; as when a Toast or a Wit is first pronounced such, you shall bave the fresheft Advice of their Preferment from me.

me, with a Description of the Beauty's Manners, and the Wit's Style; as also in whose Places they are advanced. For this Town is never good-natured enough to raise one, without depressing another. But it is my Design to avoid saying any Thing of any Person, which ought justly to displease; but shall endeavour, by the Variety of the Matter and Style, to give Entertainment for Men of Pleasure, without Offence to those of Business.

White's Chocolate boufe, April 18.

LL Hearts at present pant for two Ladies the Dominion of the Town. They are indeed both exceeding charming, but differ very much in their Excellencies. The Beauty of Clariffa is foft, that of Chlor piercing. When you look at Clarifa, you fee the most exact Harmony of Fcature, Complexion and Shape; you find in Chloe nothing extraordinary in any one of those Particulars, but the whole Woman irrelistable. Clariffa looks languishing; Chloe, killing: Clariffa never fails of gaining Admiration; Chloe, of moving Defire. The Gazers at Clariffa are at first unconcerned, as if they were observing a fine Picture. They who behold Chlos, at the first Glance discover Transport, as if they met their dearest Friend. These different Perfections are fuitably represented by the last great Painter Italy has fent us, Mr. Feroase. Clarissa is by that skilful Hand placed in a Manner that looks artless, and innocent of the Torments she gives; Chloe drawn with a Liveline's that shows she is conscious, but not affected, of her Perfections. Clariffa is a Shepherdels, Chloe a Country Girl. I must own, the Design of Chloe's Picture shows, to me, great Mastery in the Painter; for nothing could be better imagined than the Dress he has given her of a Straw-Hat and Ribband, to-represent that Sort of Beauty which enters the Heart with a certain Familiarity, and cheats it into a Belief, that 4.

nd

d-

to

e-

d

4-nt

s.

69

d

d.

h

-

fef

that it has received a Lover as well as an Object of Love. The Force of their different Beauties is feen also in the Effects it makes on their Lovers. Admirers of Chlee are eternally gay and wellplcased: Those of Clariffa, melancholy and thoughtful. And as this Passion always changes the natural Man into a quite different Creature from what he was before, the Love of Chlos makes Coxcombs; that of Clariffa, Madmen. There were of each Kind just now in this Room. Here was one that whiftles, laughs, fings, and cuts Capers, for Love of Chloe. Another has just now writ three Lines to Clariffa, then taken a Turn in the Garden; then came back again, then tore his Fragment, then called for some Chocolate, then went away without it.

CHLOE has so many Admirers in the House at present, that there is too much Noise to proceed in my Narration, fo that the Progress of the Loves of Clariffa and Chloe, together with the Bottles that are drank each Night for the one, and the many Sighs which are uttered, and Songs written on the other, must be our Subject on future Occasions.

33886

Will's Coffee-bonfe, April 18. 1709.

LETTERS from the Hay-market inform us, That on Saturday Night fast the Opera of Pyrrbus and Demetrius was performed with great Applause. This Intelligence is not very acceptahle to us Friends of the Theatre; for the Stage being an Entertainment of the Reason and all our Faculties, this Way of being pleafed with the Suspence of them for three Hours together, and being given up to the shallow Satisfaction of the Eyes and Ears only, scems to arise rather from the Degeneracy of our Understanding, than an Improvement of our Divertions. That the Understanding has no Part in the Pleasure is evident, from what these Letters very positively affert, to wit, That a great Part of the Perform-Ance

K

to

a

r

T

tl

te

ta

ance was done in Italian: And a great Critick fell into Fits in the Gallery, at feeing, not only Time and Place, but Language and Nations confused in the most incorrigible Manner. His Spleen is so extreamly moved on this Occasion. that he is going to publish a Treatife against Opera's, which he thinks have already inclined us to Thoughts of Peace, and if tolerated, must infallibly dispirit us from carrying on the War. He has communicated his Scheme to the whole Room, and declared in what Manner Things of this Kind were first introduced. He has upon this Occasion considered the Nature of Sounds in general, and made a very elaborate Digression upon the London Cries, wherein he has shown from Reason and Philosophy, why Oisters are cried, Card-Matches sung, and Turneps and all other Vegetables neither cried, fung, nor faid, but fold, with an Accent and Tone neither natural to Man or Beaft. This Piece feems to be taken from the Model of that excellent Discourse of Mrs. Manly the School-Miftress, concerning Samplers. Advices from the upper End of Piccadilly fay, That May-Fair is utterly abolished; and we hear Mr. Pinkethman has removed his ingenious Company of Strollers to Greenwich. But other Letters from Deptford fay, the Company is only making thither, and not yet fettled; but that several Heathen Gods and Goddesses, which are to descend in Machines, landed at the King's Head Stairs last Saturday. Venus and Cupid went on Foot from thence to Greenwich; Mars got drunk in the Town, and broke his Landlord's Head, for which he fate in the Stocks the whole Evening; but Mr. Pinkethman giving Security that he should do nothing this ensuing Summer, he was fet at Liberty. The most melancholy Part of all was, that Diana was taken in the Act of Fornication with a Boatman, and committed by Justice Wrathful, which has, it seems, put a Stop to the Diversions of the Theatre of Black Heath 4.

k

y

is ft

13

t

.

ė

f

n

s

•

n

e

1

.

5

Heath. But there goes down another Diana and a Patient Griffel next Tide from Billinggate.

St. James's Coffee-boufe, April 18.

THEY write from Saxony of the 13th Infant, N. S. That the Grand General of the Crown of Poland was so far from entring into a Treaty with King Stanislant, that he had written circular Letters, wherein he exhorted the Palatinates to join against him; declaring that this was the most favourable Conjuncture for afferting their Liberty.

LETTERS from the Hague of the 23d Instant, N. S. say, they have Advices from Vienna, which import, That his Electoral Highness of Hanover had signified to the Imperial Court, that he did not intend to put himself at the Head of the Troops of the Empire, except more effectual Measures were taking for acting vigorously against the Enemy the ensuing Campaign. Upon this Representation the Emperor has given Orders to several Regiments to march towards the Rhine, and dispatched Expresses to the respective Princes of the Empire to desire an Augmentation of their Forces.

THESE Letters add, That an Express arrived at the Hague on the 20th Instant, with Advice, That the Enemy having made a Detachment from Tournay, of 1500 Horfe, each Trooper carrying a Foot-Soldier behind him, in order to furprize the Garrison of Aloft; the Allies, upon Notice of their March, sent out a strong Body of Troops from Ghent, which engaged the Enemy at Afche, and took 200 of them Prisoners, obliging the rest to retire without making any farther Attempt. On the 22d in the Morning, a Fleet of Merchant-Ships coming from Scotland, were attacked by fix French Privateers at the Entrance of the Menfe. We have yet no certain Advice of the Event: But Letters from Rotterdam fay, That a Dutch Man of War of forty Guns, which ı

vi

S

n

f

es

no

r

he

hei

 \mathbb{R}

0

be a

V

was Convoy to the said Fleet, was taken, as were also eighteen of the Merchants. The Swift Troops, in the Service of the States, have compleated the Augmentation of their respective Companies. Those of Wirtemberg and Prussia are expected on the Frontiers within few Days; and the Auxiliaries from Saxony, as also a Battalion of Holsein, and another of Wolfembuttle, are advancing thither with all Expedition. On the 21st Instant, the Deputies of the States had a Conference near Woerden with the President Rouille, but the Matter which was therein debated is not made publick. His Grace the Duke of Marlborough and Prince Eugene continue at the Hague.

From my own Apartment, April 18.

I have lately been very studious for Intelligence, and have just now, by my Astrological Flying-Post, received a Packet from Felicia, an Island in America, with an Account that gives me great Satisfaction, and lets me understand that the Island was never in greater Prosperity, or the Administration in fo good Hands, fince the Death of their late glorious King. These Letters import, That the Chief Minister has entered into a firm League with the ablest and best Men of the Nation, to carry on the Cause of Liberty, to the Encouragement of Religion, Virtue and Honour. Those Persons at the Helm are so useful, and in themselves of such Weight, that their strict Alliance must needs tend to the universal Prosperity of the People. Camillo, it feems, presides over the Deliberations of State; and is so highly valued by all Men for his fingular Probity, Courage, Affability, and Love of Mankind, that his being placed in that Station has diffipated the Fears of that People, who of all the World are the most jealous of their Liberty and Happiness. The next Member of their Society is Horatio, who makes all the publick Dispatches. This Minister is Master of all the Lan-

33 ere

vis

m-

are

and

of

an-fc-

but

and

tel-

ical

an

me

Rat

the

Let-

terbeft

Li-

Vir-

are ght,

the, it

atc;

e of

o of

Li-

heir

lick

the

Lan-

Languages in Use to great Perfection. He is held in the highest Veneration imaginable for a fevere Honesty, and Love of his Country: He lives in a Court unfullied with any of its Artifices, the Refuge of the Oppressed, and Terror of Oppressors. Martio has joined himself to this Council; a Man of most undaunted Resolution and great Knowledge in Maritime Affairs; famous for destroying the Navy of the Franks, and fingularly happy in one Particular, That he never preferred a Man who has not proved remarkably ferviceable to his Country. Philander is mentioned with particular Distinction; a Nobleman who has the most refined Taste of the true Pleasures and Elegance of Life, joined to an indefatigable industry in Business: A Man eloquent in Assemlies, agrecable in Conversation, and dextrous in Il Manner of publick Negotiations. These Leters add, That Verono, who is also of this Counil, has lately fet Sail to his Government of Pavicia, with Delign to confirm the Affections of the People in the Interests of his Queen. This Minister s Master of great Abilities, and is as industrious nd reftless for the Preservation of the Liberties f the People, as the greatest Enemy can be to been them. The Influence of these Personaes, who are Men of such distinguished Parts nd Virtues, makes the People enjoy the utmost Tranquillity in the midst of a War, and gives hem undoubted Hopes of a secure Peace from heir Vigilance and Integrity.

o 5. Thursday, April 21. 1709.

White's Chocolate House, April 20.

Who names that lost Thing, Love, without a Tener fince so debauch'd by ill bred Customs here?

o an exast Persection they have brought be Astion, Love, the Passion is forgot.

VOL. I.

C THIS

i

v

P er

er

en

en

ow

T

nd !

ake

alle

Dedic

THIS was long ago a witty Author's Lamentation, but the Evil still continues; and if a Man of any Delicacy were to attend the Discourses of the Young Fellows of this Age, they would believe there were none but Proftitutes to make the Objects of Passion. So true it is what the Author of the above Verses said, a little before his Death, of the Modern Pretenders to Gallantry: "They fet up for Wits in this Age, by faying, "when they are fober, what they of the last fpoke only when they were drunk". But Cupid is not only blind at present, but dead-drunk; he has loft all his Faculties: Else how should Celia be fo long a Maid, with that agreeable Behaviour ? Corinna, with that sprightly Wit ? Lesbia, with that Heavenly Voice? And Sachariffa, with all those Excellencies in one Person, frequent the Park, the Play, and murder the poor Tits that drag her to publick Places, and not a Man tum pale at her Appearance? But such is the faller State of Love, that if it were not for honest Cyn thio, who is true to the Cause, we should hardle have a Pattern left of the ancient Worthies that Way: And indeed he has but very little En couragement to persevere; but he has a Devoti on, rather than Love, for his Mistress, and fays

Only tell ber that I love,

Leave the rest to ber and Fate;

Some kind Planet from above

May, perhaps, her Passion move:

Lovers on their Stars must wait.

BUT the Stars I am so intimately acquaints with, that I can assure him he will never han her: For would you believe it? Tho Cynthio he Wit, Good Sense, Fortune, and his very Bein depends upon her, the Termagant for whom he sighs, is in Love with a Fellow, who stares in the Glass all the Time he is with her, and lets he plainly see, she may possibly be his Rival, he never

n.

an

beke

lu-

his

ry:

ng,

id is

he

avi-

with

the

that tum

aller

Cyn

ardl

that

En

evot

.223

never his Mistress. Yet Conthio, the same unhappy Man whom I mentioned in my first Narrative, pleases himself with a vain Imagination, that with the Language of his Eyes, now he has found who she is, he shall conquer her, though her Eyes are intent upon one who looks from her; which is ordinary with the Sex. It is certainly a Mistake in the Antients to draw the little Genleman, Live, as a blind Boy; for his real Character is a little Thiof that squints. For ask Mrs. Meddle, who is a Confident, or Spy, upon all the Passions in Town, and she will tell you, that the whole is a Game of Cross Purposes. The Lover s generally pursuing one who is in Pursuit of nother, and running from one that defires to neet him. Nay, the Nature of this Passion is b justly represented in a squinting little Thief, who is always in a double Action) that do but bserve Clariffa next Time you see her, and you vill find, when her Eyes have made their foft four round the Company, she makes no Stay on im they say she is to marry, but rests two Seonds of a Minute on Wildair, who neither looks or thinks on her, or any Woman elfe. Howver, Cynthio had a Bow from her tother Day. pon which he is very much come to himself; nd I heard him fend his Man of an Errand yeerday without any Manner of Hefitation; a Quarer of an Hour after which he reckoned Twenty. emember'd he was to fup with a Friend, and ent exactly to his Appointment. I fent to know ow he did this Morning, and I find he hath not orgot that he spoke to me yesterday.

Will's Coffee boufe, April 20,

THIS Week being facred to Holy Things, nd no publick Divertions allowed, there has been aken Notice of, even here, a little Treatife, alled, A Project for the Advancement of Religion: Dedicated to the Counters of Berkeley. The Title

C 2

was

r han thio ha Bein

Being hom h

s in the lets ha

neve

was fo uncommon, and promifed fo peculiar a Way of Thinking, that every Man here has read it, and as many as have done so, have approved it. It is written with the Spirit of one who has feen the World enough to undervalue it with good Breeding. The Author must certainly be a Man of Wisdom, as well as Piety, and have spent much Time in the Exercise of both. The real Causes of the Decay of the Interest of Religion, are fet forth in a clear and lively Manner, without unseasonable Passions; and the whole Air of the Book, as to the Language, the Sentiments, and the Reasonings, show it was written by one whose Virtue sits easie about him, and to whom Vice is thoroughly contemptible It was faid by one of this Company, alluding to that Knowledge of the World the Author feem to have, the Man writes much like a Gentleman and goes to Heaven with a very good Mien.

St. James's Coffee-bouse, April 20.

LETTERS from Italy fay, That the Marquis de Prie, upon the Receipt of an Express from the Court of Vienna, went immediately to the Pa lace of Cardinal Paulucci, Minister of State to his Holiness, and demanded in the Name of his Im perial Majesty, that King Charles should forth with be acknowledged King of Spain, by a for lemn Act of the Congregation of Cardinals ap pointed for that Purpole: He declared at the fame Time, That if the least Hefitation were made in this most important Article of the late Treaty he should not only be obliged to leave Rome him felf, but also transmit his Master's Orders to the Imperial Troops to face about, and return in to the Ecclefiaftical Dominions. When the Cardinal reported this Mellage to the Pope, hi Holiness was ftruck with so sensible an Affliction that he burft into Tears; His Sorrow was aggrevated by Letters which immediately after arm

מ

d

4 ol

f liff

Mi

re

vha

Th

ow

only

m ft

and

Hun

ar a ved

has

with be a ave

The

Re-

lan-

the

the

Was

him, ible

ng to

eem

man

Mar

from

e Pa

o hi s Im

orth

a 10

S . 20

t the

made

eaty

him

o the n in

Car

, hi

ation,

arri

red from the Court of Madrid, wherein his Nuncio aquainted him, That upon the News of his Accommodation with the Emperor, he had received a Meffuage to forbear coming to Court; ind the People were so highly provoked, that hey could hardly be restrained from insulting is Palace. These Letters add, That the King of Denmark was gone from Florence to Pifa; and from Pifa' o Leghorn, where the Governor paid his Majesty Il imaginable Honours. The King defigned to go rom thence to Lucra, where a magnificent Tournanent was prepared for his Divertion. An English Man of War, which came from Port-Mahon to egborn in fix Days brought Advice, That the leet commanded by Admiral Whitaker was fafearrived at Barcelona with the Troops and Amunition which he had taken in at Naples.

GENERAL Boneval, Governor of Comacchie, ad summoned the Magistrates of all the Towns ear that Place to appear before him, and take n Oath of Fidelity to his Imperial Majeffy, comnanding also the Gentry to pay him Homage, n Pain of Death and Confiscation of Goods. dvices from Swifferland inform us, That the ankers of Geneva were utterly ruined by the Faire of Mr. Bernard. They add, That the Deuties of the Swifs Cantons were return'd from oleure, where they were affembled at the Instance f the French Embassador; but were very much issatisfied with the Reception they had from that Minister. Tis true, he omitted no Civilities or Exressions of Friendship from his Master, but he ook no Notice of their Pensions and Arrears; what further provoked their Indignation was, That instead of twenty five Pistoles formerly alowed to each Member for their Charge in comng to the Diet, he had presented them with fix only. They write from Drefden, That King Ansuffus was still busie in recruiting his Cavalry, and that the Danish Troops that lately served in Hungary, had Orders to be in Saxony in the Mid-

28

a

01

CE

Y

ba F

br

th of

W

dle of May, and that his Majesty of Denmark was expected at Drefden in the Beginning of that Month, King Augustus makes great Preparations for his Reception, and has appointed fixty Coaches, each drawn by fix Horses, for that Purpose: The Interview of these Princes affords great Matter for Speculation. Letters from Paris of the 22d of this Month fay, That Mareschal Harcourt and the Duke of Berwick were preparing to go into Alface and Dauphine, but that their Troops were in want of all Manner of Necessaries. The Court of France had received Advices from Madrid, That on the 7th of this Month the States of Spain had with much Magnificence acknowledged the Prince of Afturias Presumptive Heir to the Crown. This was performed at Buen-Retiro; the Deputies took the Oaths on that Occasion from the Hands of Cardinal Portocarrero. These Advices add, That it was fignified to the Pope's Nuncio, by Order of Council, to depart from that Court in twenty-four Hours, and that a Guard was accordangly appointed to conduct him to Bayonne.

LETTERS from the Hague of the 26th Infant inform us, That Prince Eugene was to fet out the next Day for Bruffels, to put all Things in a Readiness for opening the Campaign. They add, That the Grand Pensioner having reported to the Duke of Mariborough what passed in the last Conference with Mr. Rouille, his Grace had taken a Resolution immediately to return to Great Britain, to communicate to her Majesty all that has been transacted in that important Affair.

From my own Apartment, April 20.

THE Nature of my Miscellaneous Work is fuch, that I shall always take the Liberty to tell for News fuch Things (let them have happened never fo much before the Time of Writing) as have escaped publick Notice, or have been milrepresented to the World, provided that I am fill within Rules, and trefpass not as a Tatler any farther than in an Incorrectness of Style, and writing

Kas

th.

his

es,

ter

20 und

ote

ere urt

ria,

the

WD.

ties

nds

dd,

an

rd-

In-

ngs

hey

ted

laft

tareat

hat

15

tell

writing in an Air of common Speech. Thus, if any Thing that is faid, even of old Anthifes or Eneas, be fet by me in a different Light than has hitherto been hit upon, in order to inspire the Love and Admiration of worthy Actions, you will, gentle Reader, I hope, accept of it for Intelligence you had not before. But I am going upon a Narrative, the Matter of which I know to be true: It is not only doing Justice to the deceas'd Merit of such Persons, as, had they lived, would not have had it in their Power to thank me, but also an Instance of the Greatness of Spirit in the lowest of her Majesty's Subjects. Take it as follows:

AT the Siege of Namur by the Allies, there were n the Ranks of the Company commanded by Capain Pincent, in Colonel Frederick Hamilton's Regiment, one Unnion a Corporal, and one Valentine a private Centinel: There happened between these wo Men a Dispute about a Matter of Love, which, upon some Aggravations, grew to an irreconcileable Harred. Union being the Officer of Valentine, took all Opportunities even to firike his Rival, and profess the Spite and Revenge which moved him to it. The Centinel bore it without Refistance, but frequently said, He would die to be revenged of that Tyrant. They had spent whole Months thus, one injuring, the other complaining; when in the midft of this Rage towards each other, they were commanded upon the Attack of the Caftle, where the Corporal received a Shot in the Thigh, and fell; the French pressing on, and he expecting to be trampled to Death, called out to his Enemy, Ah, Valentine! Can you leave me here? Valentine immediately ran back, and in the midst of a thick Fire of the French, took the Corporal upon his Back, and brought him through all that Danger as far as the Abbey of Salfine, where a Cannon-Ball took. off his Head: His Body fell under his Enemy whom he was carrying off. Unnion immediately tor-ned as mif-

am tler and ting

Ī B

a

it

ON

Vay

n. Ír.

er

ur

rm

ng

ma

forgot his Wound, rose up, tearing his Hair, and then threw himself upon the bleeding Carcass, crying, Ah, Valentine! Was it for me, who have so barbarously used thee, that thou hast died! I will not live after thee. He was not by any Means to be forced from the Body, but was removed with it bleeding in his Arms, and attended with Tears by all their Comrades, who knew their Enmity. When he was brought to a Tent, his Wounds were dressed by Force; but the next Day still calling upon Valentine, and lamenting his Cruelties to him, he died in the Pangs of Remorfe and Despair.

IT May be a Question among Men of Noble Sentiments, Whether of these unfortunate Persons had the greater Soul; he that was so generous as to venture his Life for his Enemy, or he who could not survive the Man that died, in laying upon him fuch an Obligation?

WHEN we see Spirits like these in a People, to what Heights may we not suppose their Glory may rife? But (as it is excellently observed by Saluft) It is not only to the general Bent of a Nation that great Revolutions are owing, but to the extraordinary Genio's that lead them. On which Occasion he proceeds to fay, That the Roman Greatness was neither to be attributed to their fugerior Policy, for in that the Cartbaginians excelled; nor to their Valour, for in that the French were preferable; but to particular Men, who were born for the Good of their Country, and formed for great Attempts. This he fays to introduce the Characters of Cafar and Cato. It would be entring into too weighty a Discourse for this Place, if I attempted to show, that our Nation has produced as great and able Men for publick Affairs as any other. But I believe the Reader outruns me, and fixes his Imagination upon the Duke of Marlborough. It is, methinks, a pleasing Reflection to consider the Dispensations of Providence in the Fortune of this illustrious trious Man, who, in the Space of forty Years, bas affed through all the Gradations of Human Life. ill he has afcended to the Character of a Prince. nd become the Scourge of a Tyrant, who fate n one of the greatest Thrones in Europe, before he Man who was to have the greatest Part in his ownfal had made one Step into the World. ut fuch Elevations are the Natural Consequenes of an exact Prudence, a calm Courage, at ell governed Temper, a patient Ambition, and n affable Behaviour. These Arts, as they are he Steps to his Greatness, so they are the Pillars f it now it is raised. To this her Glorious Son reat Britain is indebted for the Happy Conduct her Arms, in whom the can boaft, the has proseed a Man formed by Nature to lead a Nation Heroes.

6. Saturday, April 23. 1709.

Will's Coffee-bouse, April 22. AM just come from visiting Sappho, a fine Lady, who writes Verses, sings, dances, and can and do whatever the pleases, without the Imteation of any Thing that can injure her Chacter; for the is fo well known to have no Pallion it Self-love; or Folly, but Affectation; that ow upon any Occasion they only cry, 'Tis ber Vay, and, That's fo like ber, without farther Reflectin. As I came into the Room, the cries, Oh! ir. Bickerstaff, I am utterly undone. I have broke pat pretty Italian Fan I showed you when you ere here laft, wherein were to admirably drawn ur first Parents in Paradife asleep in each other's rms. But there is such an Affinity between Paintng and Poetry, that I have been improving the mages which were raised by that Picture, by cading the fame Representation in two of our greatest is, ve ! I ans

ind

ith eir his ext

le-

ernehe

ay-

ole, ory Sa-

ex-

eir ex-

ncb tho and in-It rie our

for the ion

ks, llu-

ous

greatest Poets. Look you, here are the Passager in Milton and in Deplen. All Milton's Thought are wonderfully just and natural, in this inimitable Description which Adam makes of himself in the Eighth Book of Paradife Loft. But there is none of them finer than that contained in the following Lines, where he tells us his Thoughts when he was falling affeep a little after his Creation:

While thus I call'd, and fray'd I knew not whither, From whence I first drew Air, and first bebeld This happy Light; when Answer none return'd, On a green shady Bank, profuse of Flowers, Pensive I sate me down, there gentle Sleep First found me, and with foft Oppression seiz'd My drowned Sense, untroubled, tho I thought I then was passing to my former State Infensible, and forthwith to dissolve.

BUT now I can't forgive this odions Thing this Dryden, who in his State of Innacence has given my Great Grandmother Eve the same Apprehenfion of Annihilation on a very different Occasion as Adam pronounces it of himfelf, when he was feized with a pleasing kind of Stuper and Deadness, En fancies herfelf falling away, and diffolving in the Hurry of a Rapture. However, the Verses are very good, and I don't know but it may be natural what the fays. I'll read them:

When your kind Eyes look a languishing on mine, And wreathing Arms did foft Embraces join; A doubtful Trembling feiz d'me first all d'er, Then Wilbes and a Warmth unknown before; What follow'd was all Exfinge and Trance, Immortal Pleasures round my swimming Eyes did dance And speechless Joys, in whose sweet Tumults toft, I thought my Breath and my New Being loft.

SHE went on, and faid a Thousand good Things at Random, but To Brangely mix'd, that

th

N

ar 2

th

ea

th

1 di,

WI E

an

zha

ta-

in

e is the ghts

rea-

er,

1.00

1

Mi

306

ing,

iven

hen-

fion

Was ead-

fol

the ti Tes

n:

ance

good

you

you would be apt to fay, All her Wit is meer good Luck, and not the Effect of Reason and Judgment. When I made my Escape hither, I found. a Gentleman playing the Critick on two other great Poets, even Virgil and Homer. He was oberving, that Virgil is more judicious than the other in the Epithets he gives this Hero. Homer's ufual Epithet, faid he, is Hofas anu's or Hofasyve and his Indifcretion has been often rallied by the Criticks, for mentioning the Nimbleness of Foot in Achilles, though he describes him standing, fitting, lying down, fighting, eating, drinking, or in any other Circumstance, however foreign or repugnant to Speed and Activity. Virgil's common Epithet to Æneas is Pins, or Pater. I have herefore confidered, faid he, what Paffage there s in any of his Hero's Actions, where either of hese Appellations would have been most improper, to fee if I could carch him at the same Fault with Homer: And this, I think, is his Meeting with Dido in the Cave, where Pins Aineas would have been absurd, and Pater Eneas a Burlesque: The Poet has therefore wisely dropped them both for Dux Trojanus.

Speluncam Dido Dux & Trojanus eandem Deveniunt.

Which he has repeated twice in Juno's Speech and his own Narration: For he very well knew, a loose Action might be consistent enough with the usual Manners of a Soldier, though it beeame neither the Chaftity of a pious Man, nor the Gravity of the Father of a People of and the Miletles they latter, if he does not head bayigoob za we olw WHILE other Parts of the Town are amufed with the present Actions, we generally spend the Evening at this Table in Enquiries into Antiquity. and think any Thing News which gives us new

n

G

m

Sข

te.

vi by

at

fe

A

Knowledge. Thus we are making a very pleafant Entertainment to ourselves, in putting the Actions of Homer's Iliad into an exact Journal.

THIS Poem is introduced by Chryses, King of Chryseis, and Priest of Apollo, who comes to redemand his Daughter, who was carried off at the taking of that City, and given to Agamemnon for his Part of the Booty. The Refusal he received enrages Apollo, who for nine Days shower'd down Darts upon them, which occasioned the Pestilence.

THE 10th Day Achilles affembles the Council, and encourages Calchas to fpeak for the Surrender of Chryseis to appeale Apollo. Agamemnon and Achilles form at one another, notwithstanding which Agamemnon will not release his Prisoner, unless he has Brifeis in her Stead. After long Contestations, wherein Agamemnon gives a glorious Character of A.billes's Valour, he determines to reftore Chryseis to her Father, and fends two Heralds to fetch away Brifeis from Achilles, who abandons himself to Sorrow and Despair. His Mother Thetis came to comfort him under his Affliction, and promises to represent his forrowful Lamentations to Jupiter: But he could not attend it; for the Evening before, he had appointed to divert himself for two Days beyond the Seas with the harmless Æthiopians.

"TW AS the 21st Day after Chryseis's Arrival to the Camp, that Thetis went very early to demand an Audience of Jupiter. The Means he uses to satisfy her were, to perswade the Greeks to attack the Trojans; that so they might perceive the Consequence of contemning Achilles, and the Miseries they suffer, if he does not head them. The next Night he orders Agamemnon, in a Dream, to attack them; who was deceived with the Hopes of obtaining a Victory, and also taking the City, without sharing the Honour with

Achilles of the region in thought a state same

-

he 237

of

de-

he

for

red

wn:

ti-

il,

m-

nd

ing

er,

ng

T1-

nes

WO

ho

lis

his

W-tor

nt-

he

raf

ie-

he eks

er-

les;

ad

in

ed 160

th

N

ON the 22d in the Morning, he allembles the ouncil, and having made a Feint of railing the iege and retiring, he declares to them his Dream; nd, together with Nefter and Utyffer, resolves on n Engagement: mont of our A 125d od rat corretor

THIS was the 23d Day, which is full of Inidents, and which continues from almost the Beinning of the fecond Canto to the eighth. The rmies being then drawn up in View of one anoher, Hellor brings it about, that Menelaus and aris, the two Persons concerned in the Quarel, should decide it by a single Combat, which ending to the Advantage of Menelaus, was inerrupted by a Cowardice infused by Mineroar. then both Armies engage, where the Trojans ave the Disadvantage; but being afterwards aniated by Apollo, they repulse the Enemy, yet they re once again forced to give Ground; but their ffairs were retrieved by Heffer, who has a fingle Combat with Ajax. The Gods threw themselves nto the Battel, Funo and Mineroa took the Greians Part, and Apollo and Mars the Trojans: But Mars and Venus are both wounded by Diomedes.

THE Truce for burying the Slain ended the 3d Day, after which the Greeks threw up a great ntrenchment to secure their Navy from Daner. Councils are held on both Sides. On the Morning of the 24th Day the Battle is renewed. but in a very disadvantageous Manner to the Greeks, who were beaten back to their Retrench ments, Agamemnon being in Despair at this ill Success, proposes to the Council to quit the Enterprize, and retire from Troy. But by the Advice of Neftor, he is perswaded to regain Achilles, by returning Brifeis, and fending him confiderable Prefents: Hereupon Ulyffes and Ajax are fent to that Hero, who continues inflexible in his Anger. Ulyffes at his Return, joins himself with Diomedes, and goes in the Night to gain Intelligence of the Enemy: They enter into their very Camp, where finding the Centinels afleep, they made a great Slaughter. Rhefus, who was juff then arrived with Recruits from Thrace for the Trojans, was killed in that Action, Here ends the toth Canto. The Sequel of this Journal will be inferted in the next Article from this Place.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, April 22.

Carried Course to the WE hear from Italy, That notwithstanding the Pope has received a Letter from the Duke of Anjou, demanding of him to explain himself upon the Affair of acknowledging King Charles, his Holiness has not yet thought fit to send any Answer to that Prince. The Court of Rome appears very much mortified, that they are not to fet his Majesty of Denmark in that City, having perhaps given themselves vain Hopes from a Visit made by a Protestant Prince to that See. The Pope has dispatched a Gentleman to compliment his Majefty, and fent the King a Present of all the Curiofities and Antiquities of Rome, represented in feventeen Volumes very richly bound, which were taken out of the Vatican Library. Letten from Genoa of the 14th Instant fay, A Felucca was arrived there in five Days from Marfeilles, with an Account, That the People of that City had made an Infurrection, by reason of the Scarcity of Provisions; and that the Intendent had ordered fome Companies of Marines, and the Men belonging to the Gallies, to fland to their Arms to protect him from Violence; but that he began to be in as much Apprehension of his Guards, as those from whom they were to defend him. When that Veffel came away, the Soldiers murmured publickly for want of Pay and it was generally believed, they would pillage the Magazines, as the Garrisons of Grenoble, and other Towns of France, had already done. A Vessel which lately came into Legborn, brought Advice, That the British Squadnon was arrived at Port-Mahon, where they were taking in more Troops, Sala

juff

the

the

be

the

of pon

les,

any

cars

fee

er-

ilit

ope

his

the

ted

ich

ers

Was

ith

nad

114 er-

en

ms

as m.

M7

e-

18:

lel

e, rt-

DS.

in

in order to attempt the Relief of Alloans, which fill made a very vigorous Defence. Tis faid, Admiral Byng will be at the Head of that Expedition. The King of Denmark was gone from Legborn towards Lucca.

THEY write from Vienna, That in case the Allies should enter into a Treaty of Peace with France, Count Zinzendorf will be appointed first Plenipotentiary, the Count de Goes the Second, and Monsieur Van Konsbruch a Third. Major-General Palmes, Envoy Entraordinary from her Britannick Majesty, has been very urgent with that Court to make their utmost Efforts against France the ensuing Campaign, in order to oblige it to such a Peace, as may establish the Tranquility of Europe for the future.

WE are also informed. That the Pope uses all imaginable Shifts to clude the Treaty concluded with the Emperor, and that he demanded the immediate Restitution of Comacchio; infisting also, That his Imperial Majesty should ask Pardon, and desire Absolution for what has formerly passed, before he would solemnly acknowledge King Charles But this was utterly refused.

THEY hear at Vienna, by Letters from Confiantinople, dated the 22d of February last, That on the 12th of that Month the Grand Signior took Occasion, at the Celebration of the Festivals of the Mussumen, to set all the Christian Slaves which were in the Galleys at Liberty.

ADVICES from Swifferland import, That the Preachers of the County of Tockenburg continue to create new Jealousies of the Protestants, and some Disturbances lately happened there on that Account. The Protestants and Papists in the Town of Hamman go to Divine Service one after another in the same Church, as is usual in many other Parts of Swifferland; but on Sunday the 10th Instant, the Popish Curate, having ended his Service, attempted to hinder the Protestants from entring into the Church according to Cuftom;

Nº 6.

ot no

n

hd

01

e ty

ot

ga

as

he

br

as

Sal

5 4

e ft

ate

at

For

fro

from; but the Protestants briskly attacked him and his Party, and broke into it by Force.

LAST Night between feven and eight, his Grace the Duke of Marlborough arrived at Court.

From my own Apartment, April 22.

THE present great Captains of the Age, the Duke of Marlborough and Prince Eugene, having been the Subject of the Discourse of the last Company I was in, it has naturally led me into a Confideration of Alexander and Cafar, the two greatest Names which ever appeared before this Century. In order to enter into their Characters, there needs no more but examining their Behaviour in Parallel Circumstances. It must be allowed, That they had an equal Greatness of Soul; but Cafar's was more corrected and allayed by a Mixture of Prudence and Circumspection. This is feen conspicuously in one Particular in their Histories, wherein they feem to have shown exactly the Difference of their Tempers. When Alexander, after a long Course of Victories, would still have led his Soldiers farther from Home, they unanimously refused to follow him. We meet with the like Behaviour in Cafar's Army in the midst of his March against Arioviflus. Let us therefore observe the Conduct of our two Generals in fo nice an Affair : And here we find Alexander at the Head of his Army, upbraiding them with their Cowardice, and Meanness of Spirit; and in the End, telling them plainly, He would go forward himself, though not a Man followed him. This showed indeed an excessive Bravery; but how would the Commander have come off, if the Speech had not succeeded, and the Soldiers had taken him at his Word? The Project scems of a Piece with Mr. Bays's in the Rebearfal, who, to gain a Clap in his Prologue, comes out, with a terrible Fellow in a Fur-Cap following him, and tells his Audience, If they would not like his Play, he would lie down and have

im

his

urt.

the

gai

aft

ato:

WO

his

TS,

14-

al-

of

y-

ti-

u-ve

TS.

es,

m.

r-

WS.

VO

be

g

of

y,

in 7e

e

d

e

e

c,

P

d

C

ave his Head ftruck off. If this gained a Clap, all as well; but if not, there was nothing left but r the Executioner to do his Office. But Cefar ould not leave the Success of his Speech to fuch ncertain Events; He shews his Men the Unreanableness of their Fears in an obliging Manner, nd concludes, That if none else would march ong with them, he would go himself with the enth Legion, for he was affured of their Fidety and Valour, though all the rest forfook him? or but that in all Probability they were as much gainst the March as the reft. The Result of all as very natural; The Tenth Legion, fired with he Praises of their General, send Thanks to him or the just Opinion he enterrains of them; and e reit, ashamed to be outdone, assure him. That ev are as ready to follow where he pleafes to ad them, as any other Part of the Army. end relied was on substitute & day मार्का विकास में कि इसके

CARROLL AND A CARROLL AND A

1º 7. Tuefday, April 26. 1706.

T is so just an Observation, That Mocking is Catching, that I am become an unbappy Instance of it, nd am (in the same Manner that I have represented Mr. Partridge) my felf a dying Man, in Comparin of the Vigour with which I first fet out in the World. had it been otherwise, you may be sure I would not ave pretended to have given for News, as I did last Saturday, a Diary of the Siege of Troy. But Man s a Creature very inconsistent with bimself: The greatft Heroes are sometimes fearful; the Spriteliest Wits st some Hours dull; and the greatest Politicians on ome Occasions whimsical. But I shall not pretend to palliate or excuse the Matter; for I find, by a Calculation of my own Nativity, that I cannot hold out with any tolerable Wit longer than two Minutes after tevelve a-clock at Night, between the 18th and 19th of the next Month. For which Space of Time you may fill expect to bear from me, but no longer, except you will transmit to me the

I

ed ies

11

720

C

en

1

1e

i

in do

c

n

do

an

io

ter

one

at

F.

ber

the Occurrences you meet with relating to your Amours, or any other Subject within the Rules by which I have proposed to walk. If any Gentleman or Lady sends to Isaac Bickerstass, Esq; at Mr. Morphew's near Stationers-Hall, by the Penny-Post, the Grief or so of their Soul, what they think sit of the Matter shall be related in Colours as much to their Advantage, at those in which Gervase has drawn the agreeable Chloe. But since, without such Assistance, I frankly confess, and am sensible, that I have not a Month's Wit more, I think I ought, while I am in my sound Health and Senses, to make my Will and Testament; which I do in Manner and Form sollowing:

Imprimis, I give to the Stock-jobbers about the Exchange of London, as a Security for the Trufts daily reposed in them, all my real Estate; which I do berely west in the said Body of worthy Citizens for ever-

Item, Forasmuch as 'tis very bard to keep Land in Repair without ready Cash, I do, out of my personal Bstate, bestow the Bear-skin, which I have frequently lent to several Societies about this Town, to supply their Necessities; I say, I give also the said Bear-skin, at an immediate Fund to the said Citizens for ever-

Item, I do hereby appoint a certain Number of the faid Citizens to take all the Custom-house or Customan, Oaths, converning all Goods imported by the whole City, strictly directing, That some select Members, and my the whole Number of a Body Corporate, should be perjured.

Item, I forbid all N--s and Persons of Q--ty, to watch Bargains near and about the Exchange, to the Diminution and Wrong of the said Stock-jobbers.

THUS far, in as brief and intelligible a Manner as any Will can appear, till it is explained by the Learned, I have disposed of my real and personal Estate: But, as I am an Adept, I have by Birth an equal Right to give also an indefeasible Title to my Endowments and Qualifications; which I do in the following Manner:

Item, I give my Chastity to all Virgins who have withstood their Market.

Item,

ONTS,

base

near For

Shall

2, 41

nloe.

more,

and

I do

Exdaily creby

d is

Conal

entir

their

the

nanj. City,

per

, 11

the

aner

the

tte:

seal

ning

dos

em,

Item, I give my Courage among all who are aftered of their diffressed Friends, all Sneakers in Assembles, and Men who show Valour in common Conversa-

Item, I give my Wit (as Rich Men give to the Rich) nong fuch as think they have enough already. And case they shall not accept of the Legacy, I give it to entivolio, to defend his Works from Time to Time, be shall think sit to publish them.

Item, I bestow my Learning upon the Honourary dembers of the Royal Society.

Now for the Disposal of this Body.

AS these Eyes must one Day cease to gaze on Terainta, and this Heart shall one Day pant no more for r Indignation: That is to say, since this Body must Earth, I shall commit it to the Dust in a Manner itable to my Character. Therefore, as there are those bo dispute, Whether there is any such real Person as and Bickerstaff, or not? I shall excuse all Persons who appear what they really are, from coming to my suneral. But all those who are, in their way of Life, erson, as the Latins have it, Persons assumed, and who appear what they really are not, are bereby invited that Solomnity.

THE Body Shall be carried by fix Watchmen, who re never feen in the Day.

Item, THE Pall shall be held up by the fix mast nown Pretenders to Honesty, Wealth and Power, who are not possessed of any of them. The two first, a Half-Lawyer, a compleat Justice. The two next, a Chynist, a Projector. The third Couple, a Treasury-Solin sitor, and a Small Courtier.

TO make my Funeral (what that Solemnity, when done to common Men, really is in it self) a very Farce; and fine all Mourners are meer Actors on these Occasions, I shall desire those who are prosessedly such, to attend me. I humbly therefore beseech Mrs. Barry to act once more, and he my Widow. When she swoons away at the Church-Porch, I appoint the merry Sie John Faltlatt, and the gay Sir Harry Wildair, to support her. I desire Mr. Pinkethman to follow in the Habit

N

ng

he Pi

V٤

ii.

d

e

y

n h il fu fo ef C

h es be

SI

fa

n

tl

a

C

e

P

C

of a Cardinal, and Mr. Bullock in that of a Prin Counsellor. To make up the rest of the Appearance, defire all the Ladies from the Balconies to weep with Mrs. Barry, as they hope to be Wives and Widowi themselves. I invite all, who have nothing else to do to accept of Gloves and Scarves.

THUS, with the Great Charles V. of Spain, I resign the Glories of this transitory World: Tet, at the Same Time, to show you my Indifference, and that my Defires are not too much fixed upon any Thing, I own to you, I am as swilling to flay as go: Therefore leave it in the Choice of my gentle Readers, whether I shall bear from them, or they bear no more from me.

White's Chocolate bonfe, April 25.

Efter-Day being a Time when you cannot well meet with any but humble Adventures; and there being fuch a Thing as low Gallantry, as well as a low Comedy, Colonel Ramble and my felf went early this Morning into the Fields, which were strewed with Shepherds and Shepherdeffes, but indeed of a different Turn from the Simplicity of those of Aradia. Every Hedge was conscious of more than what the Representations of enamoured Swains admit of. While we were furveying the Crowd around us, we faw at a Distance a Company coming towards Paneras Church; but the' there was not much Diforder, we thought we faw the Figure of a Man fluck through with a Sword, and at every Step ready to fall, if a Woman by his Side had not supported him; the rest followed two and two. When we came nearer this Appearance, who should it be but Monsieur Guardeloop, mine and Ramble's French Taylor, attended by others, leading one of Madam Depingle's Maids to the Church, in order to their Espousals. It was his Sword tucked so high above his Waste, and the Circumflex which Perfons of his Profession take in their Walking, that made him appear at a Diffance wounded and falling.

Prin

nce,

with

down

to do.

O LEGISH

in, I

t the

t my own

leave

Shall

110 not

res;

try,

and

lets,

ier-

the

dge

en-

hile faw

cras

we

, if

m;

me

but

12. b

la-

to gh

er-

nat

llng.

ng. But the Morning being rainy, methought he March to this Wedding was but too lively a laure of Wedlock it felf. They feemed both o have a Month's Mind to make the best of their Way fingle; yet both tugged Arm in Arm; and when they were in a dirty Way, he was but ceper in the Mire, by endeavouring to pull out is Companion, and yet without helping her. The Bridegroom's Feathers in his Hat all droopd, one of his Shoes had loft an Heel. In fhort, e was in his whole Person and Dress so extreamy foused, that there did not appear one Inch or ingle Thread about him unmarried. Pardon me, that the melancholy Object still dwells upon ne fo far as to reduce me to Punning. Howver, we attended to the Chapel, where we flayd to hear the irrevocable Words pronounced pon our old Servant, and made the best of our Way to Town. I took a Resolution to forbear Il married Persons, or any in Danger of being such, for four and twenty Hours at least; therefore dreffed, and went to vilit Florimell, the vaineft Thing in Town, where I knew would drop in Colonel Picket, just come from the Camp, her professed Admirer. He is of that Order of Men who has much Honour and Merit, but withal a Coxcomb; the other of that Set of Females, who has Innocence and Wit, but the first of Coquets. It is easy to believe, These must be Admirers of each other. She fays, The Colonel rides the best of any Man in England: The Colonel says, She talks the best of any Woman. At the same Time, he understands Wit just as she does Horsemanship. You are to know, these extraordinary Perfons see each other daily; and they themselves, as well as the Town, think it will be a Match: But it can never happen that they can come to the Point; for inflead of addressing to each other, they spend their whole Time in Reports of themselves: He is satisfied if he can convince her he is a fine Gentleman, and a Man

de

ei n

12

P

0,

101 ta

Ho Pe

Co

tec

an

Co

tio

fin

of Consequence; and she, in appearing to his an accomplished Lady and a Wit, without sur ther Design. Thus he tells her of his Manne of Posting his Men at such a Pass, with the Numbers he commanded on that Detachment She tells him, how she was dressed on such a Day at Court, and what Offers were made her the Week following. She seems to hear the Repetition of his Mens Names with Admiration, and waits only to answer him with as false a Muster of Lovers. They talk to each other not to be informed, but approved. Thus they are so like, that they are to be ever distant, and the parallel Lines may run together for ever, hat never succt.

Will's Coffee-boufe, April 25.

THIS Evening the Comedy called Epfom-Well was acted for the Benefit of Mr. Bullock, who though he is a Person of much Wit and Ingenuity, has a peculiar Talent of looking like a Fool and therefore excellently well qualified for the Part of Bisket in this Play. I cannot indeed fulficiently admire his Way of bearing a Beating, as he does in this Drama, and that with such a Natural Air and Propriety of Folly, that one cannot help wishing the Whip in one's own Hand; fo richly does he feem to deferve his Chaftifement. Skilful Actors think it a very peculiar Happiness to play in a Scene with such as top their Parts. Therefore I cannot but fay, when the Judgment of any good Author directs him to write a Beating for Mr. Bullock from Mr. William Penkethman, or for Mr. William Penkethman from Mr. Butlock, those excellent Players feem to be in their most shining Circumstances, and please me more, but with a different Sort of Delight, than that which I receive from those grave Scenes of Brutus and Cassius, or Anthony and Ventidius. The whole Comedy is very just, and the hin

fur

the

Day

r the

and

ufter

o be like.

aral-

ever

Vells

who,

enu-

001

the

fut-

ing,

h a

one

ind;

life-

lige

top

hen

ot e

711i-

MAR

em

and

De-

ave

en-

the

w Part of human Life represented with much umour and Wit.

St. James's Coffee-houfe, April 25.

WE are advised from Vienna, by Letters of e 20th Inftant, That the Emperor hath lately ded twenty new Members to his Council of ate, but they have not yet taken their Places the Board. General Thann is returned from aden, his Health being fo well re-established by e Baths of that Place, that he defigns to fet at next Week for Turin, to his Command of e Imperial Troops in the Service of the Duko Savoy. His Imperial Majesty has advanced s Brother Count Henry Thaun to be a Brigadier, d a Counsellor of the Aulick Council of War. hele Letters import, That King Stanislans and o Swedish General Crassau are directing their farsh to the Nieper, to join the King of Swen's Army in Ukrania: That the States of Auria have furnished Marshal Heister with a consierable Sum of Money, to enable him to push n the War vigorously in Hungary, where all hings as yet are in perfect Tranquility: And nat General Thungen has been very importunate r a speedy Reinforcement of the Forces on the pper Rhine, representing at the same Time what discries the Inhabitants must necessarily undero, if the Deligns of France on these Parts be or speedily and effectually prevented.

LETTERS from Rome, dated the 13th Intant, say, That on the preceding Sunday his Holiness was carried in an open Chair from St. Peter's to St. Mary's, attended by the Sacred College, in Cavalcade; and after Mass distributed several Downies for the Marriage of poor and distressed Virgins. The Proceedings of that Court are very dilatory concerning the Recognition of King Charles, notwithstanding the prefsing Instances of the Marquis de Prie, who has

1C-

en

ho

ck

en

f

N

od on L

on

22

m

nn

en

e

t

eta

t

nt

tl

r

ne

go daj

1 1

n, ke

be

rle

adri

3 5

re

VO

declared. That if this Affair be not wholly co cluded by the 15th Inftant, he will retire fro that Court, and order the Imperial Troops return into the Ecclefiaftical State. On the oth Hand, the Duke of Anjou's Minister has, in the Name of his Master, demanded of his Holine to explain himself on that Affair; which faid, will be finally determined in a Confifton to be held on Monday next; the Duke d'Uze defigning to delay his Departure till he fees the Iffue. These Letters also say, That the Cou was mightily alarmed at the News which they n ceived by an Express from Ferrara, that Gene ral Boneval, who commands in Comacchio, ha fent Circular Letters to the Inhabitants of & Alberto, Longastrino, Fillo, and other adjacen Parts, enjoining them to come and swear Feals to the Emperor, and receive new Investitures their Fiefs from his Hands. Letters from other Parts of Italy say, That the King of Demma continues at Lucca; that four English and Dut Men of War were feen off of Oneglia, bound for Final, in order to transport the Troops defigned for Bar elona; and that her Majefty's Ship the Col bester arrived at Legborn the 4th Instant from Port-Mahon, with Advice, That Major-General Stanbope defigned to depart from thence the firt Instant with 6 or 7000 Men to attempt the Re lief of the Caftle of Alicant.

OUR last Advices from Berlin, bearing Date the 27th Instant, import, That the King was gone to Linum, and the Queen to Mecklenburgh, but that their Majesties designed to return the next Week to Oranienburg, where a great Chase of wild Beasts was prepared for their Diversion, and from thence they intend to proceed together to Postsdam; That the Prince Royal was set out for Brabant, but intended to make some short Stay at Hannover. These Letters also inform us, That they are advised from Obory, that the King of Sweden being on his March towards Holki, met Ge-

7 co

fro

ps oth

n th

line

h 'i istor Uzei

s the y n

Gene ha

f S

acen

ealn

es d othe

Dute

d fo

gne

the

from

nera

firt

Re

Date

Was

ergb;

the

hale

fion,

ther

out

us,

ring

Ge-

eneral Renne with a Detachment of Mus outer, no placing some Regiments in Ambuscade, atcked the Sevedes in their Rear, and putting em to Flight, killed 2000 Men, the King himlf having his Horse shot under him.

WE hear from Copenhagen, That the Ice beg broke, the Sound is again open for the Ships; d that they hoped his Majesty would return mer than they at first expected.

S. say, That an Express arrived there on the , from Prince Eugene to his Grace the Duke Marlborough. The States are advised, That Auxilliaries of Saxony were arrived on the ontiers of the United Provinces; as also, That two Regiments of Wolfembuttel, and 4000 pops from Wirtemberg, which are to serve in inders, are in full March thither. Letters m Flanders say, That the great Convoy of nmunition and Provisions which set out from ent for Lifle, was fafely arrived at Courtray. e hear from Paris, That the King has orderthe Militia on the Coasts of Normandy and stagne to be in a Readiness to march; and t the Court was in Apprehension of a Dent, to animate the People to rife in the midst their present Hardships.

THEY write from Spain, That the Pope's incio left Madrid the 10th of April, in order go to Bayonne; that the Marquis de Bay was at dajos to observe the Motions of the Portugueze; I that the Count d'Estain with a Body of 5000 en, was on his March to attack Gironne. The ke of Anjou has deposed the Bishop of Lerida, being a Favourer of the Interest of King tries; and has summoned a Convocation at adrid, composed of the Archbishops, Bishops I States of that Kingdom, wherein he hopos y will come to a Resolution to fend for no re Bulls to Rome.

VOL. I.

f

b

ti

C

ir

N

to

abababababababababababab

Nº 8. Thursday, April 28. 1709.

Will's Coffee-boufe, April 26.

THE Play of the London Cuckolds was aded this Evening, before a fuitable Audience, who were extreamly well diverted with that Heap of Vice and Absurdity. The Indignation which Eugenio, who is a Gentleman of a just Tafte, has, upon Occasion of seeing human Nature fall fo low in their Delights, made him, I thought, expatiate upon the Mention of the Play very agreeably. Of all Men living, fail he, I pity Players, (who must be Men of good Understanding to be capable of being such) that they are obliged to repeat and assume proper Gestures for representing Things of which their Reason must be ashamed, and which they must disdain their Audience for approving. The Amend ment of these low Gratifications is only to be made by People of Condition, by encouraging the Presentation of the noble Characters draw by Shakespear and others, from whence tis inpossible to return without strong Impressions of Honour and Humanity. On these Occasions, Di stress is laid before us with all its Causes and Consequences, and our Resentment placed at cording to the Merit of the Persons afflicted Were Drama's of this Nature more acceptable to the Tafte of the Town, Men who have Geniu would bend their Studies to excel in them. How forcible an Effect this would have on our Minds one needs no more than to observe how frongi we are touched by meer Pictures. Who can let le Brun's Picture of the Battle of Porus, without entering into the Character of that fierce gallant Man, and being accordingly fourted to a Emulation of his Conflancy and Courage? Who he is falling with his Wound, the Features, an nce,

Red

that

tion

juf

man

this faid

t hat

per heir

nut

end-

ging

awı îm-

is of

Diand

ac-Ged

able

How

inds

ngi

hout gal-

O 20

When

7are

at the same Time very terrible and languishing; and there is such a ftern Faintness diffused through all his Look, as is apt to move a kind of Horrour, as well as Pity, in the Beholder. This, I fay, is an Effect wrought by meer Lights and Shades; confider also a Representation made by Words only, as in an Account given by a good Writer! Catiline in Salluft makes just fuch a Figure as Porus by le Brun. It is faid of him, Catilina vero longe a fuis inter hostium cadavera repertus eft; paululum etiam spirans, ferocitatemque animi quam vious babuerat in oultu retinens. was found killed far from his own Men among the dead Bodies of the Enemy: He seemed fill to breathe, and ftill retained in his Face the fame Fierceness he had when he was living. You have in that one Sentence a lively Impresfion of his whole Life and Actions. What I would infinuate from all this, is, That if the Painter and the Historian can do thus much in Colours and Language, what may not be performed by an excellent Poet, when the Characters he draws is presented by the Person, the Manner. the Look, and the Motion, of an accomplished Player? If a Thing painted or related can irrefiffibly enter our Hearts, what may not be brought to pass by seeing generous Things performed before our Eyes? Eugenie ended his Difcourse, by recommending the apt Use of a Theatre, as the most agreeable and easy Method of making a polite and moral Gentry, which would end in rendring the rest of the People regular in their Behaviour, and ambitious of laudable Undertakings.

St. James's Coffee-bonfe, April 27.

LETTERS from Naples of the 9th Inftant, N. S. advise, That Cardinal Grimani had ordered the Regiment commanded by General Paris to march towards Final, in order to embark for D 2

t

a

tl

ha

WE

un

lig

fo

W

all

me

to

of

M

Catalonia, whither also 1000 Horse are to be transported from Sardinia, besides the Troops which come from the Milanese. An English Man of War has taken two Prizes, one a Veilel of Malta, the other of Genoa, both laden with Goods of the Enemy. They write from Florence of the 13th, That his Majesty of Denmark had received a Courier from the Hague, with an Account of some Matters relating to the Treaty of a Peace; upon which he declared, that he thought it necessary to hasten to his own Dominions.

LETTERS from Swifferland inform us, That the Effects of the great Scarcity of Corn in France were felt at Geneva; the Magistrates of which City had appointed Deputies to treat with the Cantons of Bern and Zurich, for Leave to buy up fuch Quantities of Grain within their Territories as should be thought pecessary. The Protestants of Tockenburg are still in Arms about the Convent of St. John, and have declared, That they will not lay them down, till they hall have fufficient Security from the Roman Catholicks, of living unmolested in the Exercise of their Religion. In the mean Time, the Deputies of Bern and Tockenburg have frequent Conferences at Zuwith the Regency of that Canton, to find out Methods for the quieting these Disorders.

May advise, That the President Rouille, after his last Conference with the Deputies of the States, had retired to Bodegrave, five Miles distant from Worden, and expected the Return of a Courier from France on the 4th, with new Instructions. It is said, if his Answer from the French Court shall not prove satisfactory, he will be desired to withdraw our of these Parts. In the mean time it is also reported, That his Equipage, as an Embassador on this great Occasion, is actually on the March towards him. They write from Flard s, That the great Convoy of Provifions, which set out from Ghest, is safely arrived at Lifle. Those Advices add, That the Enemy had affembled near Tournay a considerable Body of Troops drawn out of the neighbouring Garrisons. Their High Mightinesses having sent Orders to their Ministers at Hamburgh and Dantzik, to engage the Magistrates of those Cities to forbid the Sale of Corn to the French, and to signify to them that the Dutch Merchants will buy up as much of that Commodity as they can spare; the Hamburghers have accordingly contracted with the Dutch, and resused any Commerce with the French on that Occasion.

ad the come of the states of the form my of the states of

AFTER the Lashtude of a Day spent in the strolling Manner, which is usual with Men of Pleasure in this Town, and with a Head full of a Million of Impertinences, which had danced round it for ten Hours together, I came to my Lodging, and haftened to Bed. My Valet de Chambre knows my University-Trick of reading there; and he being a good Scholar for a Gentleman; ran over the Names of Horace, Tibullus, Ovid and others, to know which I would have, Bring Virgil, faid I, and if I fall alleep, take Care of the Candle. I read the Sixth Book over with the most exquisite Delight, and had gone half through it a fecond Time, when the pleafant Ideas of Elypan Fields, deceased Worthier walking in thom, fincere Lovers enjoying their Languishment without Pain, Compassion for the unhappy Spirits who had mispent their short Daylight, and were exiled from the Seats of Blife for ever; I fay, I was deep again in my Reading when this Mixture of Images had taken Place of all others in my Imagination before, and lulled me into a Dream, from which I am just awake, to my great: Difadvantage. The happy Manlions of Elyfium by Degrees feemed to be wafted from me, and the very Traces of my late waking Thoughts nf.

of fals of the

of ce;

ne-

in of ith

rothe

of eli-

ern Zu-

of ier

ant a In-the vill

ge, tu-

vi-

Nº 8 Thoughts began to fade away, when I was caft of ou

ing

M

Pr

W

ca

th

an

it

an

th

no the

or wi

o£

fhe

ha

ap

th

he

the

M

aw

T

mi

TO

na,

his

Im

of

So

egi

the

of

He

by a fudden Whirlwind upon an Island, encompassed with a roaring and troubled Sea, which shak'd its very Centre, and rock'd its Inhabitants as in a Cradle. The Islanders lay on their Faces without offering to look up, or hope for Prefervation; all her Harbours were crowded with Mariners, and tall Veffels of War lay in Danger of being driven to Pieces on her Shores. Bless me! faid I, why have I lived in fuch a Manner, that the Convulsion of Nature should be so terrible to me, when I feel in my felf that the better Part of me is to survive it? Oh! may that be in Happiness. A sudden Shriek, in which the whole People on their Faces joined, interrupted my Soliloquy, and turned my Eyes and Attention to the Object which had given us that fudden Start, in the midst of an inconsolable and speechless Affliction. Immediately the Winds grew calm, the Waves subfided, and the People Rood up, turning their Faces upon a magnificent Pile in the midft of the Itland. There we beheld an Hero of a comoly and ered Afport, but pale and languid, fitting under a Canopy of State. By the Faces and dumb Sorrow of those who attended, we thought him in the Article of Death. At a Distance fate a Lady, whose Life seemed to hang upon the same Thread with his; She kept her Eyes fixed upon him, and feemed to fmother Ten thousand thousand nameless Things, which urged her Tenderness to class him in her Arms: But her Greatness of Spirit overcame those Sentiments, and gave her Power to forbear diffurbing his last Moment; which immediately approached. The Hero looked up with an Air of Negligence, and Satiety of Being, rather than of Pain to leave it; and leaning back his Head expired.

WHEN the Heroine, who fate at a Diffance, faw his last Instant come; the threw herfelf at his Feet, and kneeling, preffed his Hand to her Lips; in which Posture she continued under the Agony

aft

m-

ch

nts

ces

er-

fa.

of

e!

at ole

ter

be

he

ed

ti-

en

h-

W

od

ile

an

nd

Br

At

to pt

er

ch

is:

n-

b-

p

04

in

de

C

84

ME

of

of an unutterable Sorrow, till conducted from our Sight by her Attendants. That commanding Awe, which accompanies the Grief of great Minds, restrained the Multitude while in her Presence; but as soon as she retired, they gave Way to their Distraction, and all the Islanders called upon their deceased Hero. To him, methought, they cried out, as to a Guardian Being, and I gathered from their broken Accents, That it was he who had the Empire over the Ocean and its Powers, by which he had long protected the Island from Shipwreck and Invasion. They now give a Loofe to their Moan, and think themselves expos'd without Hopes of human or divine Affistance. While the People ran wild, and expressed all the different Forms of Lamentation, methought a fable Cloud overshadowed the whole Land, and covered its Inhabitants with Darkness: No Glimpse of Light appeared, except one Ray from Heaven upon the Place in which the Heroine now feeluded herself from the World, with her Eyes fixed on those Abodes to which her Consort was afcended. Methought a long Period of Time had pass'd away in Mourning and in Darkness, when a Twilight began by Degrees to enlighten the Hemisphere; and looking round me, I saw a Boat rowed towards the Shore, in which fate a Personage adorned with warlike Trophics, bearing on his left Arm a Shield, on which was engraven the Image of Victory, and in his right Hand a Branch of Olive. His Vilage was at once fo winning and so awful, that the Shield and the Olive scemed equally fuitable to his Genius.

WHEN this illustrious * Person touched on the Shore, he was received by the Acclamations of the People, and follow'd to the Palace of the Heroine. No Pleasure in the Glory of her Arms, or

D 4 the

^{*} About this Time the D. of M. returned from Holland with the Preliminaries of a Peace.

A

m fc

tic

n: W

N

TI

H. No Pr

Tb

Tb

To Tak

Du. An

The

DN

The

And

ad?

the Acclamations of her applanding Subjects, were ever capable to suspend her Sorrow for one Moment, till she saw the Olive-Branch in the Hand of that auspicious Messenger. At that Sight, as Heaven bestows its Blessings on the Wants and Importunities of Mortals, out of its native Bounty, and norto increase its own Power or Honour, in Compassion to the World, the Celeffial Monrner was then full feen to turn her Regard to Things below; and taking the Branch out of the Warriour's Hand, looked at it with much Satisfaction, and spoke of the Bleffings of Peace, with a Voice and Accent, fuch as that in which Guardian Spirit whisper to dying Penitents Affurances of Happinois. The Air was hufhed, the Multitude attentive, and all Nature in a Paufe, while the was speaking. But as soon as the Messenger of Peace had made some low Reply, in which, methought, I heard the Word Iberia, the Heroine affuming a more severe Air, but such as spoke Resolution, w thout Rage, returned him the Olive, and again veiled her Face. Loud Cries and Clashing of Arms immediately followed, which forced me from my charming Vision, and drove me back to these Mansions of Care and Sorrow.

Nº 9. Saturday, April 30. 1709.

Will's Coffee bouse, April 28. 1709.

THIS Evening we were entertained with The Old Bachelor, a Comedy of deserved Reputation. In the Character which gives Name to the Play, there is excellently represented the Reluctance of a hattered Debanchee to come into the Trammels of Order and Decency: He neither languishes nor burns, but frees for Love The Gentlemen of more regular Behaviour are drawn with much Spirit and Wit, and the Dramaintroduced by the Dialogue of the first Scene with uncommon, yet natural Conversation. The Part of Fondlewife is a lively Image of the unfeafouable Fondness of Age and Impotence. But instead of fuch agreeable Works as thefe, The Town has this half Age been termented with Infects, called Easie Writers, whose Abilities Mr. Wy berly one Day described excellently well in one Word: That, faid he, among thefe Fellows is called Eafie Writing, subjeb any one may eafily swrite. Such Jantie Scribblers are fo justly laughed at for their Sonnets on Phillis and Chloris, and fantaftical Descriptions in them, that an ingenious Kinsman of mine. of the Family of the Staffs, Mr. Humphrey Wagflaff by Name, has to avoid their Strain, run into a Way perfectly new, and described Things exactly as they happen: He never forms Fields, or Nymphs, or Groves, where they are not, but makes the Incidents just as they really appear. For an Example of it; I stole out of his Manufcript the following Lines: They are a Description of the Morning, but of the Morning in Town; nay, of the Morning at this End of the Town, where my Kinfman at prefent lodges.

NOW bardly bere and there an Hackney-Coach Appearing, bow'd the ruddy Morn's Approach. Now Betty from ber Maffer's Bed bad flown, And foftly flole to discompose her own, The Slipfood Prentice from his Mafter's Door, Had par'd the Street, and sprinkled round the Floor. Now Mall had subirl'd ber Mop with dext rous Airs, Prepar'd to scrub the Entry and the Stairs. The Youth with broomy Stumps began to trace The Kennet-Edge, where Wheels had worn the Place. The Small-coal Man was beard with Cadence deep, Till drown'd in friller Notes of Chimney-Saveep. Dung at his Lordship's Gate began to meet; And Brick daft Moll bad feream a through half a Street. The Turnkey now bis Flock returning fees, Duly let out a Nights to fleat for Fees. The watchful Bailiffs take their filent Stands; And School boys lag with Satchels in their Hands ATL

WCTC

Mod of ven

uni-

01.10

fion

hen

: WC

ur's

ard

Dice

rits

ppi-

ten-

Was

ace

ght,

101, ain

of

ack

The Re-

the

nci-

are vith un-

B well

T

2

r

C

N

V

T

be

fo

at

de

Be

So

ve

De

wh

He

alv

has

an

ALL that I apprehend is, that dear Number will be angry I have published these Lines; not that he has any Reafon to be afhamed of them, but for fear of those Rogues, the Bane to all excellent Performances, the Imitators. Therefore, beforehand, I bar all Descriptions of the Evening; as, a Medley of Verles fignifying, Grey-peas are now cried warm: That Wenches now begin to amble round the Passages of the Play-house: Or of Noon; as, That fine Ladies and great Beaus are just yawning out of their Beds and Windows in Pall-Mall, and fo forth. I forewarn also all Persons from encouraging any Draughts after my Coufin; and foretell any Man who shall go about to imitate him, that he will be very infipid. The Family-Stock is embarked in this Delign, and we will not admit of Counterfeits: Dr. Anderson and his Heirs enjoy his Pills, Sir William Read has the Cure of Eyes, and Monfieur Rollelli can only cure the Gout. We pretend to none of these Things; but to examine who and who are together, to tell any mistakes Man he is not what he believes he is; to diffinguish Merit, and expose false Pretences to it, is a Liberty our Family has by Law in them, from an Intermarriage with a Daughter of Mr. Scoggin, the famous Droll of the last Century. This Right I design to make use of; but I will not encroach upon the abovementioned Adepts, or any other At the same Time I shall take all the Privileges I may, as an Englishman, and will lay hold of the late Act of Naturalization to introduce what I shall think fit from France. The Use of that Law may, I hope, be extended to people the polite World with new Characters, as well a the Kingdom it felf with new Subjects. There fore an Author of that Nation, called Le Bruyen I shall make bold with on fuch Occasions. last Person I read of in that Writer was Lord To Timon, fays my Author, is the most gene rous of all Men; but is fo hurried away with that

f

e-

10

g,

es

he

ies

dif

th.

iei

Hiv

ced

un-

115,

on-

ore.

ine

ken

Ain'

is is

TON

gem,

oach

thet.

TIVE

hold

duce ife a

eopk ell u

here

rayen

rd T

gene

that

that strong Impulse of bestowing, that he confers Benefits without Distinction, and is munificent without laying Obligations. For all the Unworthy, who receive from him, have so little Sense of this noble Infirmity, that they look upon themsclves rather as Partners in a Spoil, than Partakers of a Bounty. The other Day, coming into Paris, I met Timon going out on Horseback, attended only by one Servant. It fruck me with a sudden Damp, to see a Man of so excellent a Disposition, and that understood making a Figure fo very well, so much shortened in his Retinue. But passing by his House, I saw his great Coach break to Pieces before his Door, and, by a strange Enchantment, immediately turned into many different Vehicles. The first was a very protty Chariot, into which step'd his Lordship's Secretary. The second was hung a little heavier; into that strutted the fat Steward. In an Instant followed a Charle, which was entr'd by the Butler. The rest of the Body and Wheels were forthwith changed into Go-carts, and ran away with by the Nuries and Brats of the reft of the Family. What makes these Misfortunes in the Affairs of Timon the more aftonishing, is, That he has a better Understanding than those who cheat him; fo that a Man knows not which more to wonder at, the Indifference of the Master, or the Impudence of the Servante

White's Chocolate-boule, April 29.

IT is Matter of much Speculation among the Beaus and Oglers, what it is that can have made so sudden a Change, as has been of late observed, in the whole Behaviour of Passonella, who never sate still a Moment till she was eighteen, which she has now exceeded by two Months: Her Aunt, who has the Care of her, has not been always so rigid as she is at this present Date; but has so good a Sense of the Frailty of Woman, and Falshood of Man, that she resolved on all Manner of Methods to keep Passonella, if possible,

d

fi

C

£

mi

to

Wi

th

of

Sai

in

hi

ris At

in Safety, against herself and all her Admirers. At the same Time the good Lady knew by long Experience, that a gay Inclination, curbed too rashly, would but run to the greater Excesses for that Restraint: Therefore intended to watch her, and take some Opportunity of engaging her infenfibly in her own Interests, without the Anguish of an Admonition. You are to know then, That Mils, with all her flirting and ogling, had also naturally a ftrong Curiolity in her, and was the greatest Eaves Dropper breathing. Parifatis (for o her prudent Aunt is called) observed this Humour, and retires one Day to her Closet, into which she knew Pastorella would peep, and listen to know how the was employed. It happened accordingly, and the young Lady faw her good Governante on her Knees, and after a mental Behaviour, break into thefe Words: As for the dear Child committed to my Care, let ber Sobriety of Carriage, and Severity of Behaviour, be Juch as may make that noble Lord who is taken with her Beauty, turn bis Designs to such as are honourable. Here Parisats heard her Niece neftle closer to the Key-hole: She then goes one; Make ber the joyful Mother of a numerous and wealthy Offspring; and let ber Carriage be such, as may make this noble Touth expett the Bleffings of an happy Marriage, from the Singularity of ber Life, in this hofe and cenforious Age. Mils having heard enough, fneaks off for Pear of Difcovery, and immediately, at her Glass alters the Sirting of her Head; then pulls up her Tucker, and forms herself into the exact Manner of Lindamira: In a Word, becomes a fincere Convert to every Thing that is commendable in a fine young Lady; and two or three fuch Matches as her Aunt feighed in her Devotions, are at this Day in her Choice. This is the Hiftory and original Caufe of Pafferella's Conversion from Coquettry. The Prindence in the Management of this young Lady's Tem-per, and good Judgment of it, is hardly to be exceeded. I fearce remember a greater Triffance of Forbearance of the usual peevish Way with which the Aged treat the Young, than this, except that of our famous Noy, whose good Nature went so far, as to make him put off his Admonitions to his Son, even till after his Death; and did not give him his Thoughts of him, till he came to read that memorable Passage in his Wille All the rest of my Estate, says he, I leave to my Son Edward (who is Executor to this my Will) to be squandred as he shall think sit: I leave it him for that Purpose, and hope no better from him. A generous Disdain, and Restection upon how little he deserved from so excellent a Father, resonmed the young Man, and made Edward from an errant Rake become a sine Gentleman.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, April 29. 174

LETTERS from Portugal of the 18th In-Rant, dated from Efremes fay, That on the oth the Earl of Galway arrived at that Place, and had the Satisfaction to fee the Quarters well furnished with all Manner of Provisions, and a Quantity of Bread sufficient for sublifting the Troops for 60 Days, belides Bisket for 29 Days. The Enemy give out, That they shall bring into the Field 14 Regiments of Horfe and 24 Battalions. The Troops in the Service of Poetugal will make up 14000 Foot, and 4000 Horse. On the Day these Letters were dispatched, the Earl of Galway received Advice, that the Marquiss de Bay was preparing for fome Enterprize, by gathering his Troops together on the Frontiers. Whereupon his Excellency resolved to go that same Night to Villa Vicesa, to assemble the Troops in that Neighbourhood, in order to disappoint

YESTERDAY in the Evening Captain Foren, Aid-de Camp to Major-General Cadogan, arrived here Express from the Duke of Marlborn b. And this Day a Mail is come in with Letters dayed from

lfo the 13.

ng

00

for

er,

en-

ifh

for lunto len

acood ital lear

rrinake bls

le:
f a lefber ing

ing and

ery dy;

ifts-

De De

of

N

H ne to

de

F

of

w fic

T

E

up

W

80

m

be

B

C

Li

lie

21

P

pe

ri

of

to

th

In

la

at

th

th

fe

ы

pl

from Bruffels of the 6th of May, N. S. which advise, That the Enemy had drawn together a Body, confisting of 20000 Men, with a Design, as was supposed, to intercept the great Convoy on the March towards Liste, which was safely arrived at Menin and Courtray, in its Way to that Place, the French having retired without making any Actempt.

wE hear from the Hague, That a Person of the first Quality is arrived in the Low-Countries from France, in order to be a Plenipotentiary in an enfuing Treaty of Peace.

LETTER S from France acknowledge, That Monfieur Bernard has made no higher Offers of Satisfaction to his Creditors than of 35L per Cent.

THESE Advices add, That the Mareschal Boufflers, Monsieur Torcy, (who distinguished himself formerly, by advising the Court of France to adhere to the Treaty of Partition) and Monsieur Marcaurt, (who negotiated with Cardinal Portocarrero for the Succession of the Grown of Spain in the House of Bourbon) are all thrue joined in a Commission for a Treaty of Peace. The Mareschal is come to Ghent: The other two are arrived at the House.

IT is confidently reported here, That the Right-Honourable the Lord Townshend is to go with his Grace the Duke of Marlborough into Holland.

46363636363636363636363636363636

By Mes. Jenny Distaff, Half-Sifer to Mr. Bickerstaff.

No 10. Tuefday, May 3. 1709.

From my own Apartment, May 1.

My Brother Base having a fudden Occasion to go out of Town, ordered me to take upon me the Dispatch of the next Advices from Home,

Home, with Liberty to fook it my own Way not doubting the Allowances which would be given to a Writer of my Sex. You may be fure, Dunderrook it with much Satisfaction; And I confess I am not a little pleased with the Opportunity of running over all the Papers in his Closet which he has left open for my Use on this Occasfion. The first that I lay my Hands on, is, A Treatife concerning The Empire of Benney, and the Effects it has had in all Nations of the World upon the publick and private Actions of Men; with an Appendix, which he calls, The Bachelor's Scheme for governing his Wife. The first Thing he makes this Genleman propole, is, That the shall be no Woman; for she is to have an Aversion re Balls, to Opera's, to Vifits: She is to think his Company fufficient to fill up all the Hours of Life with great Satisfaction: She is never to believe any other Man wife, learned or valiant; or at least but in a fecond Degree. In the next Place he intends the shall be a Cuckeld; but espeds, that he himself must live in perfed Security from that Terror. He dwells a great while on Instructions for her discreet Behaviour, in case of his Fatshood. I have not Parience with these unreasonable Expediations, therefore turn back to the Trestife itfelf. Here indeed, my Brother deduces all the Revolutions among Men from the Pallion of Love; and in his Preface anfivers that usual Observation against us, That there is no Quarrel without a Woman in it; with a Gallant Affertion, That there is nothing elfe worth Quarrelling for. My Brother is of a Complexion truly amorous; all his Thoughts and Actions carry in them a Tincture of that obliging Inclination; and this Turn has opened his Eyes to fee, we are not the inconfiderable Creatures which unfucky Pretenders to our Favour would infinuate. He obferves, That no Man begins to make any tolerable Figure, till he fets out with the Hopes of pleasing some one of as. No somer he takes that

of

ad-

Bo-

was

the

at

ce,

ries in

of ent, hal

m-

rto-

in da-

he

X.

aff.

on ke

ń

om

S

fe

V

11

fi

0

0 tl

C

b

H

fi

tl

al

nı

W

W

in

by

N

V

le

ap

pc

rin

ou

m

M

...

no

ma

ro

cal

ens

that in Hand, but he pleases every one else by the By. It has an immediate Effect upon his Behaviour. There is Colonel Ranter, who never spoke without an Oath, till he saw the Lady Betty Modish; now never gives his Man an Order, but it is, Pray, Tom, do it. The Drawers where he drinks live in perfect Happiness. He asked Will at the George Cother Day, How he did? Where he used to say, Damn it, it is so; he now believes there is some Mistake: He must consess, he is of another Opinion; but bowever he won't insist.

EVERY Temper, except downright Infipid, is to be animated and foftned by the Influence of Beauty: But of this untractable Sort is a lifeless hansome Fellow that visits us, whom I have dreffed at this Twelvemonth; but he is as infenfible of all the Arts I use, as if he conversed all that Time with his Nurse. He outdoes our whole Sex in all the Faults our Enemies impute to us; he has brought Laziness into an Opinion, and makes his Indolence his Philosophy: Infomuch, that no longer ago than Yesterday in the Evening he gave me this Account of himfelf: I am, Adadam, perfectly unmoved at all that paffes among Men, and Seldom give my Self the Fatigue of going among them; but when I do, I always appear the fame Thing to those whom I converse wish. My Hours of Existence, or being awake, are from eleven in the Morning to eleven at Night; balf of which I live to my felf, in picking my Teeth, washing my Hands, paring my Nails, and looking in the Glass. The Infignifican y of my Manners to the reft of the World, makes the Laughers call me a Quid nunc, a Phrase which ! neither understand, or ball ever enquire what they mean by it. The tast of me each Night is at Sh James! Coffee-bouse, where I converse, yet never fall into a Dispute on any Occasion, but leave the Understanding. bave paffive of all that goes through it, without entring into the Bufiness of Life. And thus, Madam, bave I arrived by Laziness, to what others pretend to by Philefo by, a perfect Neglett of the World Sure if our Sex 3.d1 ..

IO.

by

Be-

ver

Betty.

but

- he

Will

ere

eves

ano-

pid,

ence

ife-

ave fen-

all

nole

and

ach,

ren-

am,

oing

n the

Lours

e to

- p4-

gni

ch.

nean

Dif-

ng. I

tring

bave

Phi-

our

Sex

Sex had the Liberty of frequenting publick Houfes and Conversations, we should put these Rivals of our Faults and Follies out of Countenance. However, we shall soon have the Pleafure of being acquainted with them one Way or other; for my Brother Ifaac defigns, for the Ufe of our Sex, to give the exact Characters of all the chief Politicians who frequent any of the Coffee-houses from St. Fames's to the Change; but defigns to begin with that Clufter of Wife-Heads, as they are found fitting every Evening from the Left-side of the Fire, at the Smyrna, to the Door. This will be of great Service for us, and I have Authority to promife an exact Journal of their Deliberations; the Publication of which I am to be allowed for Pin-Money. In the mean Time I cast my Eye upon a new Book, which gave me a more pleasing Entertainment, being a lixth Part of Miscellany Poems, published by Fa. ob Tonfon; which, I find by my Brother's Notes upon it, no Way inferior to the other Volumes. There are, it feems, in this, a Collection of the best Pastorals that have hisherto appeared in England; but among them none ful perior to that Dialogue between Sylvia and Don rinda, written by one of my own Sex; where all our little Weaknesses are laid open in a Manner more just and with truer Raillery, than ever Man yer this upon. ed. to satisfie ade tag I' at

ONLY this I now differen, and of said From the Things thou diff have me learn; to be That Wamankind's peculiar Joys From past or present Beauties rise.

BUT to reassume my first Design, there cannot be a greater Instance of the Command of Females, than in the prevailing Charms of the Heroide in the Play which was acted this Night, eatld, All for Love; or, The World well lost. The enamoured Antony resigns Glory and Power to the Force

he

e

f Ki

he

Po

Ac

15, ap

n

m

wh

Bif

Cos

Pri

par

ma

En

Goe.

tiar

hea

had con

bol

ay.

on t ier

wit

Force of the attractive Cleopatra, whose Charms were the Desense of her Diadem, against a People otherwise invincible. It is so natural for Women to talk of themselves, that it is to be hoped, all my own Sex, at least, will pardon me, that I could fall into no other Discourse. If we have their Favour, we give our selves very little Anxiety for the rest of our Readers. I believe I see a Sentence of Latin in my Brother's Day-Book of Wit, which seems applicable on this Occasion, and in Contempt of the Criticks.

Tradam protervis in Mare Creticum Portare ventis

BUT I am interrupted by a Packet from Mr. Kidney, from St. Fames's Coffee-house, which I am obliged to insert in the very Style and Words which Mr. Kidney uses in his Letter.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, May 2.

WE are advised by Letters from Bern, dated he tft Inftant, N.S. That the Duke of Berwick arrived at Lyons the 15th of the last Month, and continued his Journey the next Day to visit the Passes of the Mountains, and other Posts in Daw phine and Provence. These Letters also informed us, That the Miseries of the People in France are heightened to that Degree, that unless a Peace be speedily concluded, half of that Kingdom would perifh for want of Bread. On the 24th, the Mareschal de Thesse passed through Lyons, in his Way to Versailles; and two Battalions, which were marching from Alface to reinforce the Army of the Duke of Berwick, passed also through that Place. Those Troops were to be followed by fix Bartalions more.

LETTERS from Naples of the 16th of April fay, That the Marquis de Prie's Son was arrived there, with Infructions from his Father, to fig-

nifie

0.

ms

ple

en.

all

1 1

ve

ie-

c a

of

on,

Mr.

hI

ords

ted

vick

and

the

Dau-

med

ance

Is a

ng-

the

yons,

ons,

orce

alfo

be

Atril

psy

fige

nifie

ifie to the Viceroy the Necessity his Imperial Majesty was under, of desiring an Aid from that Kingdom, for carrying on the extraordinary Exences of the War. On the 14th of the fame Month, they made a Review of the Spanish Proops in that Garrison, and afterwards of the Marines; one Part of whom will embark with hose designed for Barcelona, and the rest are to e fent on board the Gallies appointed to convoy Provisions to that Place.

WE hear from Rome, by Letters dated the 20th of April, That the Count de Melles, Envoy from the King of Portugal, had made his publick Entry into hat City with much State and Magnificence. The Pope has lately held two other Confistories, wheren he made a Promotion of two Cardinals; but the Acknowledgment of King Charles is still deferred, LETTERS from other Parts of Italy adviso is, That the Doge of Venice continues dangeroully ill: That the Prince de Carignan having reapfed into a violent Fever, died the 23d of April, n his 80th Year.

ADVICES from Vienna of the 27th of April, mport, That the Archbishop of Saltzburg is dead, who is succeeded by Count Harrach, formerly Bishop of Vienna, and for these last three Years Coadjutor to the faid Archbishop; and That Prince Maximilian of Lichtenstein has likewise departed this Life, at his Country-Seat called Cronaw in Moravia. These Advices add, That the Emperor has named Count Zinzendorf, Count Goes, and Monfieur Confbruck, for his Plenipoteniaries in an enfuing Treaty of Peace; and they hear from Hangary, that the Imperialitts have had feveral fuccefsful Skirmishes with the Malecontents.

LETTERS from Paris, dated May the 6th, lay, That the Mareschal de Thesse arrived there on the 29th of the last Month, and that the Chevaier de Beuil was fent thicher by Don Pedro Ronquille with Advice, That the Confederate Squadron appeared

P

as

W

Fr

Be gio

co

ve

y, bu

Hai

the

bui en

Da

niff fiu. Per wo

of

WOI

of t

Mi

be & aid

lieu

re

Na

Dul

ou,

crs

her

pofi

211

peared before Alicant on the 17th, and having for some Time cannonaded the City, endeavoured to land some Troops for the Relief of the Cassle but General Standope sinding the Passes well guarded, and the Enterprize dangerous, demanded to capitulate for the Cassle; which being granted him, the Garrison, confisting of 600 Regular Troops, marched out with their Arms, and Baggage the Day following; and being received on Board, they immediately set Sail for Barcelonal These Letters add, That the March of the French and Swiff Regiments is further deferred for a few Days, and that the Duke of Novilles was just ready to set out for Roussilon, as well as the Count de Bezons for Catalonia.

THE fame Advices fay, Bread was fold a Paris for 6 d. per Pound; and that there was not half enough, even at that Rate, to supply the Necessities of the People, which reduced them to the utmost Despair; that 300 Men had taken up Arms, and having plundered the Market of the Suburb of St. Germain, pressed down by their Multitude the King's Guards who opposed them Two of those Mutineers were afterwards feired and condemned to Death; but four others went to the Magistrate who pronounced that Sentence and told him, He must expect to answer with his own Life for those of their Comrades. All Or der and Sense of Government being thus lot among the inraged People; to keep up a Show of Authority, the Captain of the Guards, who far all their Infolence, pretended, That he had re presented to the King their deplorable Condition, and had obtained their Pardon. It is fur ther reported, That the Dauphin, and Dutchell of Burgundy, as they went to the Opera, wert furrounded by Crowds of People, who upbraided them with their Neglect of the general Calamity in going to Divertions, when the whole People were ready to perish for want of Bread. Edid are daily published to supress these Riots; and Papen

10

for

red fle

ard-

ded

ant ular

Bag.

1 on lona. rench

or t jul

the 3000

A at

not

the

hem

ken

10 their hem.

12.00

went ncc

h his

Or-

lot

W of s far

d re

nditti

fur-

cheli

wert aided

mity eople Edia ; and Paper

Papers, with Menaces against the Government, as publickly thrown about. Among others, these Words were dropped in a Court of Juffice, France wants a Ravilliac or a Jefuit to deliver ber. Besides this universal Distress, there is a contagious Sickness, which 'tis feared, will end in a Pestilence. Letters from Bourdeaux bring Accounts no less lamentable: The Peasants are driven by Hunger from their Abodes into that Ciy, and make Lamentations in the Streets without Redress.

WE are advised by Letters from the Hague, dated the 10th Inftant, N. S. That on the 6th, the Marquis de Torcy arrived there from Paris, but the Paffport, by which he came, having been fent blank by Monficur Rouille, he was there two Days before his Quality was known. That Minifter offered to communicate to Monfieur Heinfus the Proposals which he had to make; but the Pensionary refused to sce them, and faid. He would fignify it to the States, who deputed some of their own Body to acquaint him, That they would enter into no Negotiation till the Arrival of his Grace the Duke of Marlborough, and the other Ministers of the Alliance. Prince Eugene was exeded there the 12th Inflant from Bruffels. "Tis aid, That befides Monfieur de Torcy, and Monieur Pajot, Director General of the Posts, there re two or three Persons at the Hague whose Names are not known; but 'tis supposed, that the Duke d'Alba, Embassador from the Duke of Anon, was one of them. The States have fent Leters to all the Cities of the Provinces, defiring them to fend their Deputies to receive the Propolitions of Peace made by the Court of Prance.

By Ifaac Bickerftaff, Efg;

Nº 11.

Thursday, May 5. 1709.

Will's Coffee-bouse, May 3.

Kinfman has fent me a Letter, wherein informs me, he had lately refolved write an Heroick Poem; but by Bufiness has been interrupted, and has only made one Similitude which he should be afflicted to have wholly lot and begs of me to apply it to Something, being very defirous to fee it well placed in the World I am fo willing to help the Distressed, that I has taken it in: But though his greater Genius migh very well distinguish his Verses from mine, I has mark'd where his begin. His Lines are a D scription of the Sun in Eclipse, which I know nothing more like than a brave Man in So row, who bears it as he should, without imple ning the Pity of his Friends, or being dejects with the Contempt of his Enemies: As in the Cafe of Cato:

WHEN all the Globe to Cafar's Fortune bowl Cato alone his Empire difallow'd; With inborn Strength alone oppos'd Mankind, With Heav'n in View, to all below it blind: Regardless of his Friends Applause, or Moan, Alone triumphant, fince he falls alone.

'THUS when the Ruler of the Genial Day Behind some dark ning Planet forms his Way, Desponding Mortals, with officious Care, ' The concave Drum, and Magick Brass prepart Implore him to fustain th'important Fight, And fave depending Worlds from endless Night

te

п

P

01

m

fa

th

CO

He

Ca R

Co

CX

Fondly they hope their Labour may avail,

To ease his Conflict, and assist his Toil.
Whilst he in Beams of native Splendor bright, Tho' dark his Orb appear to Humane Sight) Shines to the Gods with more diffusive Light.

. To diftant Stars with equal Glory burns,

' Inflames their Lamps, and feeds their Golden Urns

Sure to retain his known superior Trad,

And proves the more illustrious by Defect.

THIS is a very lively Image; but I must take the Liberty to fay, My Kiniman drives the Sun a little like Phaeton: He has all the Warmth of Phæbus, but won't stay for his Direction of it. Avail and Toil, Defett and Tratt, will never do for Rhimes. But however, he has the true Spirit in him; for which Reason I was willing to entertain any Thing he pleased to send me. The Subject which he writes upon naturally raises great Reflections in the Soul, and puts us in Mind of the mixed Condition which we Mortals are to support; which as it varies to Good or Bad, adorns or defaces our Actions to the Beholders: All which Glory and Shame must end in what we fo much repine at, Death. But Doctrines on this Occasion, any other than that of living well, are the most infignificant and most empty of all the Labours of Men. None but a Tragedian can die by Rule, and wait till he discovers a Plot, or fays a fine Thing upon his Exit. In real Life, this is a Chimæra; and by noble Spirits, it will be done decently, without the Oftentation of it. We see Men of all Conditions and Characters go through it with equal Resolution: And if we confider the Speeches of the mighty Philosophers, Heroes, Law-givers, and great Captains, they can produce no more in a discerning Spirit, than Rules to make a Man a Fop on his Death-bed. Commend me to that natural Greatness of Soul, expressed by an Innocent, and consequently refointe.

in he

y los bein Vorla I han a De know

mig

imple jede in th

bowl nd,

an,

1.Daj Way,

epart t, Nigh

Fond

Ċ

61 60

CO

h

n

he

Sta

ma

M

lai

t

Fri

C

hai

tt

y hio

nd

ick

ody

Iha

urs

erta

ere

len

re

ns 1

h Ac

folute, Country-Fellow, who said in the Pains of the Cholick, If I once get this Breath out of my Bedy, you shall bang me before you put it in again. Honest Ned! and so he died.

BUT it is to be supposed, from this Place you may expect, an Account of fuch a Thing as a new Play is not to be omitted. That aded this Night is the newest that ever was writ. The Author is my ingenious Friend Mr. Thomas D-y. This Drama is called, The Modern Prophets, and is a most unanswerable Satire against the late Spirit of Enthusiasm. The Writer had by long Experience observed, That in Company, very grave Discourses have been followed by Bawdry; and therefore has turned the Humour that Way with great Success, and taken from his Audience all Manner of Superstition, by the Agitations of pretty Mrs. Bignell, whom he has, with great Subtilty, made a Lay-Sifter, as well as a Prophetes; by which Means she carries on the Affairs of both Worlds with great Success. My Friend defigns to go on with another Work against Winter, which he intends to call, The Modern Poets: A People no less mistaken in their Opinions of being inspired, than the other. In order to this, he has by him feven Songs, befides many Ambiguities, which cannot be mistaken for any Thing but what he means them. Mr. D-y generally writes State-Plays, and is wonderfully useful to the World in fuch Representations. This Method is the same that was used by old Athenians, to laugh out of Countenance, or promote Opinions among the People. My Friend has therefore, against this Play is acted for his own Benefit, made two Dances, which may be also of an universal Benefit. In the first, he has represented absolute Power in the Person of a tall Man with an Hat and Feather, who gives his first Minister, that stands just before him, an huge Kick; the Minister gives the Kick to the next before; and so to the End of the Stage. In this Moral and Practical

reat ve terii

VO

II.

Be

Ho-

lace

g as this

Au

is a

pirit

cpe-

ave

and

all of Sub-

es;

delin-

of his,

nbi-

ing

ral-

eful Me-

eni-

has

Be-

an ent-

Jan

Mick;

1.C ;

and

ical

Practical Jest, you are made to understand, That there is, in an absolute Government, no Gratification, but giving the Kick you receive from one above you, to one below you. This is performed to a grave and melancholy Air; but on a uddain the Tune moves quicker, and the whole Company fall into a Circle, and take Hands: hen at a certain sharp Note, they move round. and kick as kick can. This later Performance he makes to be the Representation of a free state; where, if you all mind your Steps, you nay go round and round very jollily, with a Motion pleasant to your selves and those you lance with: Nay, If you put your felves out, t the worst you only kick and are kicked, like friends and Equals.

From my own Apartment, May 4.

OF all the Vanities under the Sun, I confess hat of being proud of one's Birth is the greatest. at the same Time, fince in this unreasonable Age, y the Force of prevailing Custom, Things in hich Men have no Hand, are imputed to them; nd that I am used by some People, as if Isanc ickerstaff, tho' I write my self Esquire, was no ody. To fet the World right in that Particular. shall give you my Genealogy, as a Kinsman of urs has fent it me from the Henalds Office. It is ertain, and observed by the wisest Writers, That here are Women who are not nicely chafte, and len not severely honest, in all Families; therere let those who may be apt to raise Aspersiis upon ours, please to give us as impartial a Account of their own, and we shall be fatifed. The Bufiness of Heralds is a Matter of so reat Nicety, that, to avoid Mistakes, I shall ve you my Cousin's Letter verbatim, without tering a Syllable.

VOL. I.

f

n

T

V

So

th

K

St

fti

T

th

ny

Ti

yo

th

Wi

be

 $E_{\mathfrak{C}}$

fro

To

fuc

Dear Coufin.

CINCE you have been pleased to make your of felf fo famous of late, by your ingenious Writings, and some Time ago by your learned · Predictions: Since Partridge, of immortal Me-" mory, is dead and gone, who, Poetical as he was, could not understand his own Poetry; and Philomathical as he was, could not read his own Deftiny: Since the Pope, the King of France, and great Part of his Court, are either · literally or metaphorically defunct: Since, I fay, these Things (not foretold by any one but your felf) have come to pass after so surprifing a Manner; 'tis with no small Concern ! ' fee the Original of the Staffian Race so little known in the World as it is at this Time; for which Reason, as you have employed your Studies in Astronomy, and the occult Sciences; h I, my Mother being a Welch Woman, dedicated " mine to Genealogy, particularly that of our own Family, which for its Antiquity and Number, may challenge any in Great Britain "The Staffs are originally of Stafford bire, which took its Name from them: The first that I find of the Staffs was one Facobstaff, a famous and erenowned Astronomer, who by Dorothy his Wife had Iffue Seven Sons, viz. Bickerftaff, Longstaff Wartaff, Quarterstaff, Whitestaff, Falstoff and Tipstaff. He also had a younger Brother who was twice married, and had five Sons, viz. Di faff, Pikestaff, Morstaff, Broomstaff and Ragge faff. As for the Branch from whence you fpring, I shall say very little of it, only that it is the chief of the Staffs, and called Bicker faff, quafi Biggerstaff; as much as to fay, the Great Staff, or Staff of Staffs; and that it ha * applied it felf to Aftronomy with great Success after the Example of our aforesaid Forefather The Descendants from Longstaff, the second Son, were a rakish disorderly Sort of People and

and rambled from one Place to another, till in Harry II's Time, they fettled in Kent, and were called Long-Tails, from the Long Tails which were fent them as a Punishment for the Murder of Thomas a-Becket, as the Legends fay. They have always been feeked after by the Ladies, but whether it be to flew their Averfion to Popery, or their Love to Miracles, I can't fay. The Wagftaffs are a merry thoughtless Sort of People, who have always been opiniated of their own Wit; they have turned themselves mostly to Poetry. This is the most numerous Branch of our Family, and the poorest. The Quarterstaffs are most of them Prizefighters or Deer-stealers: There have been so many of them hanged lately, that there are very few of that Branch of our Family left-The Whitestaffs are all Courtiers, and have had very confiderable Places. There have been some of them of that Strength and Dexterity, that five hundred of the ablest Men in the Kingdom have often tugged in vain to pull a Staff out of their Hands. The Falftaffs are strangely given to Whoring and Drinking: There are Abundance of them in and about London. And one Thing is very remarkable of this Branch, and that is, There are just as many Women as Men in it. There was a wicked Stick of Wood of this Name in Harry IV's Time, one Sir John Falftaff. As for Tipftaff, the youngest Son, he was an honest Fellow; but his Sons, and his Sons Sons, have all of them been the verieft Rogues living: 'Tis this unlucky Branch has stock'd the Nation with that Swarm of Lawyers, Attorneys, Scrieants and Bailiffs, with which the Nation is over-run. Tioftaff, being a Seventh Son, used to cure the King's Evil; but his rascally Descendents are so far from having that healing Quality, that by a Touch upon the Shoulder, they give a Man fuch an ill Habit of Body, that he can never

our ous

he and his

of ther but

rn I

ated our

itain. vhich [find

wife Wife Page

who Di-

you y that Bicker y, the

it has access at her fecond eople and

n

E

p

0 fa ir

la

to gi

fe

or

ac

in

w lat

the

Pr

Co

his fui

YOU Frie

Mo

of

fuit

flia

N. .

Hs, pub

The

de a

Vera

ca.

the

Batt

ters King

laft

der |

Staff, (for they did not fland upon false Heraldry in those Days) by whom he had one Son, who in Process of Time being a Schoolmaster, and well read in the Greek, called himself Di-

- 76

faff or Twiceftaff. He was not very rich, so he put his Children out to Trades; and the Difaffs have ever fince been employed in the Woollen and Linen Manufactures, except my felf, who am a Genealogist. Pikestaff, the eldest Son by the second Venter, was a Man of Business, a downright plodding Fellow, and withal fo plain, that he became a Proverb · Most of this Family are at present in the Army.

Raggedstaff was an unlucky Boy, and used to teat his Cloths a getting Birds Nefts, and was always playing with a tame Bear his Father kept. Mopftaff fell in Love with one of his Father's Maids, and used to help her to clean the ' House. Broomstaff was a Chimney-sweeper. The · Mopftaffs and Broomstaffs are naturally as civil

· People as ever went out of Doors; but alas ' if they once get into ill Hands, they knock down all before them. Pilgrimstaff run away from his Friends, and went a strolling about the Country: And Pipestaff was a Wine-cooper

These two were the unlawful Issue of Longstan ' N. B. The Canes, the Clubs, the Cudgels, the

" Wands, the Devil upon two Stiks, and one Break that goes by the Name of Staff of Life, and none of our Relations. I am,

Dear Cousin,

Your Humble Servant, From the Heralds D. Diftaff. Office, May 1.

St. Fames's Coffee-house, May 4. AS politick News is not the principal Subject on which we treat, we are so happy as to have II.

won

ther

ons,

15.2

ral-

ion,

ter,

Di-

o he

Di-

the

my el-

n of

and erb.

rmy.

teat

al-

ther

Fa-

the

The

civil alas!

nock

way

t the

oper.

graf

, the

Bread

, are

aff.

abjea

have no Occasion for that Art of Cookery which our Brother Newsmongers so much excel in; as appears by their excellent and inimitable Manner of dressing up a second Time for your Taste the same Dish which they gave you the Day before, in case there come over no new Pickles from Holland. Therefore when we have nothing to say to you from Courts and Camps, we hope still to give you somewhat new and curious from ourselves: The Women of our House upon Occasion, being capable of carrying on the Business, according to the laudable Custom of the Wives in Holland; but, without farther Preface, take what we have not mentioned in our former Relations.

LETTERS from Hanver of the 30th of the last Month say, That the Prince Royal of Prussia arrived there on the 15th, and lest that Court on the second of this Month in Pursuit of his Journey to Flanders, where he makes the enfuing Campaign. Those Advices add, That the young Prince Nassau, Hereditary Governor of Friesland, consummated on the 26th of the last Month his Marriage with the beauteous Princess of Hesse Casel, with a Pomp and Magnificence suitable to their Age and Quality.

LETTERS from Paris fay, His most Christian Majetty retired to Marly on the first Instant, N. S. and our last Advices from Spain inform us, That the Prince of Afturias had made his publick Entry into Madrid in great Splendor. The Duke of Anjou has given Don Fofeph Hartado de Amaraga the Government of Terra firma de Veragua, and the Prefidency of Panama in America. They add, that the Forces commanded by the Marquis de Bay have been reinforced by fix Battalions of Spanish and Walloon Guards. ters from Lisbon advise, That the Army of the King of Portugal was at Elvas on the 22d of the last Month, and would decamp on the 24th, in Order to march upon the Enemy who lay at Badajos E 3

Nº II

la

7

n

h

M

th

T

m

do

do

bit

fuc

Na

WO

Mo

Pla

YO

ten

fel

rio

Tr

tha

Van

Gen

1

YESTER DAY, at four in the Morning, his Grace the Duke of Marlb rough fet out for Margate, and embarked for Holland at eight this Morning.

YESTERDAY also Sir George Thorold was declared Alderman of Cordenainers Ward, in the Room of his Brother Sir Charles Thorold deceased.

Nº 12. Saturday, May 7. 1709.

May 5.

WHEN a Man has engaged to keep a Stage Coach, he is obliged, whether he has Palfengers or not, to fet out: Thus it fares with u weekly Historians; but indeed for my Particular, I hope I shall soon have little more to do in this Work than to publish what is sent me from such as have Leifure and Capacity for giving Delight, and being pleased in an elegant Manner. The present Grandeur of the British Nation might make us expect, that we should rise in our publick Diversions, and Manner of enjoying Life, in Proportion to our Advancement in Glory and Power. Instead of that, take and furvey this Town, and you'll find Rakes and Debauched are your Men of Pleasure; thoughtless Atheilis and illiterate Drunkards call themselves Free Thinkers; and Gamesters, Banterers, Biters, Swearers, and twenty new-born Infects more, are, in their several Species, the Modern Men of Wit. Hence it is, that a Man who has been out of Town but one half year, has lost the Language, and must have some Friend to stand by him, and keep him in Countenance for talking common Sense. To-day I saw a short Interlude at White's of this Nature, which I took Notes of and put together as well as I could in a publick Place. The Persons of the Drama arc, Pip, the laft last Gentleman that has been made so at Cards; Trimmer, a Person half undone at them, and is now between a Cheat and a Gentleman; Acorn, an honest English Man of good plain Sense and Meaning; and Mr. Friendly, a reasonable Man of the Town.

White's Chocolate bouse, May 5.

Enter Pip, Trim, and Acorn.

Ac. WHAT's the Matter, Gentlemen? What!

Take no Notice of an old Friend?

Pip. POX on it! Don't talk to me, I am vowel'd by the Count, and curfedly out of Humour.

.4c. VOWEL'D! Prithec, Trimmer, What does he mean by that?

Trim. HAVE a Care, Harry, speak softly; don't show your Ignorance :- If you do, they'll bite you where e'er they meet you, they are such cursed Curs,—the present Wits.

Ac. BITE me! What do you mean?

Pip. WHY! Don't you know what Biting is? Nay, you are in the right on't. However, one would learn it only to defend one's felf against Men of Wit, as one would know the Tricks of Play, to be secure against the Cheats. But don't you hear, Acorn, That Report, That some Potentates of the Alliance have taken Care of themselves exclusive of us?

Ac. HOW! Heaven forbid! After all our glorious Victories; all the Expence of Blood and Treasure!

Pip. BITE!-Ac. BITE? How?

Trim. NAY, he has bit you fairly enough; that's certain.

Ac. POX! I don't feel it-How? Where?

Exit Pip and Trimmer laughing.

Ac. HO! Mr. Friendly, your most humble Servant; you heard what passed between those fine Gentlemen and me. Pij complained to me, ters, are, n of out

E 4

11.

, his

Mar-

orn-

Was !

the!

a fed.

केंग

tage.

Pal.

th w

ular,

this

fuch ight,

The

night

pub-

Life,

lor

rvey

heel

reith

Free

Land by king

·lude es of,

blick the laft

1

t

t

t

t

fi

P

2

in

B

ar

of

bu

R

ha

Jai

Wa

be

an hir

vet

Th

nei

Na

can

of

That he has been vowel'd; and they tell me I am bit.

Friend. YOU are to understand, Sir, That Simplicity of Behaviour, which is the Perfection of good Breeding and good Sense, is utterly loft in the World; and in the Room of it there are started a Thousand little Inventions, which Men, barren of better Things, take up in the Place of at. Thus for every Character in Conversation that used to please, there is an Impostor put upon you. He whom we allowed formerly for a certain pleasant Subtilty, and natural Way of giving you an unexpected Hit, called a Droll, is now mimick'd by a Biter, who is a dull Fellow, that tells you a Lye with a grave Face, and laughs at you for knowing him no better than to believe him. Instead of that Sort of Companion, who could rally you, and keep his Countenance, till he made you fall into some little Inconsistency of Behaviour, at which you your felf could laugh with him, you have the Sneerer, who will keep you Company from Morning till Night, to gather your Follies of the Day, (which perhaps you commit out of Conf. dence in him) and expose you in the Evening to all the Scorners in Town. For your Man of Sense and free Spirit, whose Set of Thought were built upon Learning, Reason and Experience, you have now an impudent Creature made up of Vice only, who supports his Ignorance by his Courage, and Want of Learning by Contempt of it.

A. DEAR Sir, hold; What you have told me already of this Change in Conversation, is too miserable to be heard with any Delight; but, methinks, as these new Creatures appear in the World, it might give an excellent Field to Writers for the Stage, to divert us with the Repre-fentation of them there.

Friend. NO, no: As you say, there might be some Hopes of Redress of these Grievances, if 12

me 1

Sim-

n of ft in

are Men,

e of

ation

up-

or 4

f gr

11, 15

Fel-

ace,

etter

t of

p his fome

you

the

from fthe onh-

ng to

n of

ighti

peri-

nade

e by Con-

told D, 15

but,

1 the

Wri-

epre-

there were proper Care taken of the Theatre; but the History of that is yet more lamentable, than that of the Decay of Conversation I gave

Ac. PRAY, Sir, a little: I han't been in Town thefe fix Years, till within this Fortnight.

Friend. IT is now fome Years, fince feveral -Revolutions in the gay World had made the Empire of the Stage subject to very fatal Convultions, which were too dangerous to be cured by the Skill of little King Oberon, who then fate in the Throne of it. The Laziness of this Prince threw him upon the Choice of a Person who was fit to spend his Life in Contentions, an able and profound Attorney, to whom he mortgaged his whole Empire. This Divito is the most skilful of all Politicians: He has a perfect Art in being unintelligible in Discourse and uncomeatable in Butiness. But he having no Understanding in this polite Way, brought in upon us, to get in his Money, Ladder-dancers, Rope-dancers, Jugglers and Mountebanks, to strut in the Place of Shake-spear's Heroes and Johnson's Humorists. When the Seat of Wit was thus mortgaged, without Equity of Redemption, an Architect arose, who has built the Muse a new Palace, but secured her no Retinue; so that instead of Action there, we have been put off by Song and Dance. This later Help of Sound has also began to fail for want of Voices; therefore the Palace has fince been put into the Hands of a Surgeon, who cuts any foreign Fellow into an Eunuch, and passes him upon us for a Singer of Italy.

At. I'LL go, out of Town to-morrow.

Friend. THINGS are come to this Pass; and yet the World will not understand, that the Theatre has much the same Effect on the Manners of the Age, as the Bank on the Credit of the Nation. Wit and Spirit, Humour and good Senfe, can never be revived, but under the Government of those who are Judges of such Talents, who, know, nt be es, if

here

know, that whatever is put up in their Stead, is but a fhort and trifling Expedient, to support the Appearance of them for a Scason. It is possible, a Peace will give Leifure to put these Matters under new Regulations; but at present all the Affistance we can see towards our Recovery, is as far from giving us Help, as a Poultice is from performing what can be done only by the Grand Elixir.

Will's Coffee-boufe, May 6.

ACCORDING to our late Defign in the applauded Verses on the Morning which you lately had from hence, we proceed to improve that just Intention, and present you with other Labour, made proper to the Place in which they were written. The following Poem comes from Co penbagen, and is as fine a Winter-piece as we have ever had from any of the Schools of the mot learned Painters. Such Images as these give w a new Pleasure in our Sight, and fix upon our Minds Traces of Reflection, which accompany us whenever the like Objects occur. In Mart, excellent Poetry and Description dwell upon us so agreeably, that all the Readers of them are made to think, if not write, like Men of Wit But it would be Injury to detain you longer from this excellent Performance, which is addreffed to the Earl of Dorfet by Mr. Philips, the Author of several choice Poems in Mr. Tonson's new Miscellany.

Copenhagen, March 9. 1709 FROM frozen Climes, and endless Tracks of Snow, From Streams that Northern Winds forbid to flow; What Prefent shall the Muse to Dorset bring, Or how, fo near the Pole, attempt to fing? The boary Winter bere conceals from Sight, All pleasing Objects that to Verse invite. ors ody brom The

1

F

I

E

A

A

So

 T_{ℓ}

Ar

For

An

In

W

Th See

Tb

See.

 Tb_0

Gla

The

Th.

12.

i, is

the

ble,

the 7 , 15

rom

rand

ap-

tely

jut

urı,

Co

ave

not e us

our

any

ex-

s fo

are

Vit

iger

ad-

the

fon's

109 toqu,

Tu

The Hills and Dales, and the delightful Woods, The flow'ry Plains, and Silver flreaming Floods, By Snow disguis'd in bright Confusion lie, And with one dazling Waste fatigue the Ege.

NO gentle breathing Breeze prepares the Spring, No Birds within the Defart Region sing.
The Ships unmov'd the boist rous Winds defy, While rattling Chariots o'er the Ocean sty.
The wast Leviathan wants Room to play, And spout his Waters in the Face of Day.
The staroing Wolves along the main Sea prowl, And to the Moon in scy Valleys bowl.
For many a spining League the level Main Here spreads itself into a glassy Plain:
There solid Billows of enormous Size, Alpes of green see, in wild Disorder rise.

AND yet but lately have I feen ev'n bere, The Winter in a levely Dress appear. Ere yet the Clouds let fall the treasur'd Snow, Or Winds begun through bazy Skies to blows At Ev ning a keen Eastern Breeze arose; And the descending Rain unfully'd froze. Soon as the filent Shades of Night withdrew, The ruddy Morn disclos d at once to View The Face of Nature in a rich Disguise, And brighten'd ev'ry Object to my Eyes: For ev'ry Shrub, and every Blade of Grafs, And ev ry pointed Thorn, feem'd wrought in Glass. In Pearls and Rubies rich the Hawthorns Spow, While through the Ice the Crimfon Berries glow. The thick-sprung Reeds the watry Marshes yield, Seem polish'd Lances in a bostile Field. The Stag in limpid Currents with Surprize, Sees Crystal Branches on his Forebead rife. The spreading Oak, the Beach, and tow ring Pine, Glaz'd over, in the freezing Æther shine. The frighted Birds the rattling Branches shun, That wave and glitter in the distant Sun.

WHEN

strate and the term are the same while

И

of

an ac

Pl

fat

2 tak

bar kno

plie

you,

wit

littl

fled

ever

am

man

I, f mer

Fay Tha

him

ed t

ner: Occu

long

Airy

WHEN if a sudden Gust of Wind arise, The brittle Forest into Atoms flies: The crackling Wood beneath the Tempest bonds, And in a spangled Show'r the Prospect ends. Or, if a Southern Gale the Region warm, And by Degrees unbind the wintry Charm, The Traveller a miry Country Sees, And journeys sad beneath the dropping Trees.

LIKE some deluded Peasant, Merlin leads Thro fragrant Bow'rs and thro delicious Meads; While here inchanted Gardens to him rife, And airy Fabricks there attract his Eyes, His wand ring Feet the Magick Paths pursue; And while he thinks the fair Illusion true, The trackless Scenes disperse in fluid Air, And Woods, and Wilds and thorny Ways appear: A tedious Road the weary Wretch returns, And, as be goes, the transient Vision mourns.

From my own Apartment, May 6.

THERE has a Mail this Day arrived from Holland; but the Matter of the Advices importing rather what gives us great Expediations, than any positive Assurances, I shall, for this Time, decline giving you what I know, and apply the following Verses of Mr. Dryden, in the second Part of Almanzor, to the present Circumstances of Things, without discovering what my Knowledge in Aftronomy fuggetts to me.

WHEN Empire in Its Childhood first appears, A watchful Fate o'erfees its tender Tears: Till grown more frong, it thrufts and fretches out, And elbows all the Kingdoms round about. The Place thus made for its first Breathing free, It moves again for Ease and Luxury: 'Till swelling by Degrees it has possest The greater Space, and now crowds up the reft.

When from behind there farts some petty State, And pushes on its now unavieldy Fate. Then down the Precipice of Time it goes, And finks in Minutes, which in Ages rofe.

I 2.

rom

orthan

me,

the

ond

nces

OW-

Nº 13 Tuefday, May 10. 1709.

From my own Apartment, May 8.

TUCH Hurry and Bufiness had to-day per-M plex'd me into a Mood too thoughtful for going into Company; for which Reason, inflead of the Tavern, I went into Lincoln's Inn-Walks; and having taken a Round or two, I fate down, according to the allowed Familiarity of these Places, on a Bench; at the other End of which fate a venerable Gentleman, who speaking with a very affable Air, Mr. Bickerstuff, faid he, I take it for a very great Piece of good Fortune that you have found me out. Sir, faid I, I had never, that I know of, the Honour of Seeing you before. That, replied he, is what I have often lamented; but I affine you, I have for many Years done you many good Offices, without being observed by you; or else, when you had any little Glimbfe of my being concerned in an Affair, you bave fled from me, and shunned me like an Enemy; but bostoever, the Part I am to act in the World is Such, that I am to go on in doing good, though I meet with never fo many Repulses, even from those I oblige. This, thought I, shows a great Good Nature, but little Judgment in the Persons upon whom he confers his Favours. He immediately took Notice to me, That he observed by my Countenance I thought him indifcreet in his Benificence, and proceeded to tell me his Quality in the following Manner: I know thee, Isaac, to be so well vers'd in the Occult Sciences, that I need not much Preface, or make long Preparations to gain your Faith that there are Airy Beings, who are employed in the Care and Attendance

at

W

lik

E

m

be

L

OF

Co

pi

m

hi

85

pr

un

of

AD

cu

he

he

Di

her

tan

Ber

Was

lau

All

tow

cen

So n

Me

Ch

him

a]

her

Wei

ren 6th

as

Ne.

tendance of Men, as Nurses are to Infames, till the come to an Age in which they can act of themselves These Beings are usually called amongs Men, Guardian Angels; and, Mr. Bickerstatt, I am to h. quaint you, that I am to be yours for some Time h come; it being our Orders to wary our Stations, and Sometimes to bave one Patient under our Protection, and Sometimes another, with a Power of affuming what Shan we please, to enfnare our Wards into their own Good. bave of late been upon such hard Duty, and know you bave fo much Work for me, that I think fit to appear to you Fare to Face, to defire you would give me as little Occasion for Vigitance as you can. Sir, faid I, it will be a great Instruction to me in Behaviour, if you please u give me some Account of your late Employments, and what Hardships or Satisfactions you have had in them, that I may govern my felf accordingly. He answer ed, To give you an Example of the Drudgery we go thro', I will entertain you only with my three last Stations: I was on the first of April las put to mortific a great Beauty, with whom! I was a Week; from her I went to a common Swearer and have been last with a Gamester. When I first came to my Lady, I found my great Work was to guard well her Eyes and Ears; but het Flatterers were fo numerous, and the House after the modern Way, fo full of Looking glaffes, that I seldom had her fafe but in her Sleep, Whenever we went abroad, we were furrounded by an Army of Enemies When a well-niade Man appeared, he was fore to have a Side-glance of Observation: If a disagreeable Fellow, he had a full Face, out of meer Inclination to Conquests. But at the Close of the Evening, on the fixth of the last Month, my Ward was fitting on a Couch, reading Ooid's Epittles; and as the came to this Line of Helen to Paris,

She half confents who filently denies; enter'd Philander, who is the most skilful of all Men in an Address to Women. He is arrived 13.

the war-

.

me h

And

and

Shape

d. |

D you

prear

little rill be and them,

wet-

gery

my

Wat

arer.

en I

Vort

het

e at-fles,

leep.

aded

rade

ance

had Con-

the

g oa

The

at the Perfection of that Art which gains them. which is, To talk like a very miferable Man, but look like a very bappy one. I faw Diffinna bluft at his Entrance, which gave me the Alarm; but he immediately faid fomething fo agreeable on her being at Study, and the Novelty of finding a Lady employed in fo grave a Manner, that he on a fudden became very familiarly a Man of no Consequence; and in an Instant laid all her Sufpicions of his Skill afleep, as he almost had done mine, till I observed him very dangerously turn his Difcourfe upon the Blegance of her Drefs, and her Judgment in the Choice of that very pretty Mourning. Having had Women before under my Care, I trembled at the Apprehension of a Man of Senfe who could talk upon Trifles, and refolved to flick to my Post with all the Circumspection imaginable. In short, I prepossessed her against all he could fay to the Advantage of her Dress and Person; but he turned again the Discourse, where I found I had no Power over her, on the abusing her Friends and Acquaintance. He allowed indeed, That Flora had a little Beauty, and a great deal of Wit; but then the was so ungainly in her Behaviour, and such a Baughing Hoyden Pafforella had with him the Allowance of being blameless: But what was that towards being Praise-worthy? To be only innecent, is not to be virtuous. He afterwards spoke fo much against Mrs. Dipple's Forehead, Mrs. Prim's Mouth, Mrs. Dentifrice's Teeth, and Mrs. Fidget's Cheeks, that the grew downright in Love with him: For it is always to be understood, That a Lady rakes all you detract from the reft of her Sex to be a Gift to her. In a Word, Things went fo far, that I was dismissed, and the will remember that Evening nine Months, from the 6th of April, by a very remarkable Token. The next, as I faid, I went to, was a common Swearer: Never was Creature fo puzzled as my felf when I came first to view his Brain; half of it was worn

f all ived

1g

No 1

out, and filled up with meer Expletives, the had nothing to do with any other Parts of the Texture; therefore, when he called for his Clother in a Morning, he would cry, John? - John doe not answer. What a Plague! No Body there? What the Devil, and rot me! John, for a lazy Dog as you are. I knew no Way to cure him, but by win ting down all he faid one Morning as he was dreffing, and laying it before him on the Toile when he came to pick his Teeth. The last Re cital I gave him of what he faid for half an Hou before, was, What, a Por rot me! Where is the Wasball? Call the Chairmen: Damn'em, I avarran they are at the Alebouse already! Zounds, and con found em. When he came to the Glass, he take up my Note Ha! This Fellow is everfe than mes What, does he swear with Pen and Ink! But-read ing on, he found them to be his own Words The Stratagem had fo good an Effect upon him that he grew immediately a new Man, and learning to speak without an Oath, which make him extreamly fhort in his Phrases; for as I ob ferved before, a common Swearer has a Bran without any Idea on the Swearing Side; there fore my Ward has yet a mighty little to fay, and is forced to subflitute some other Vehicle of Nonfense to supply the Defect of his usual Expletive When I deft him, be made infe of Odsbodikin Oh me! and Never fir alive! and fo forth; which gave me Hopes of his Recovery. So I went to the next I told you of, the Gametter. When we first take our Place about a Man, the Receptacles of the Pericran um are immediately fearch ed. In his, I found no one ordinary Trace of Thinking; but strong Passion, violent Defires and a continued Series of different Changes, had sorn at to Pieces. There appeared no middle Condition; the Triumph of a Prince, or the Mifery of a Beggar, were his alternate States. I was with him no longer than one Day, which was Yesterday. In the Morning at twelve, we were 100

ro Sh am he tur

WC

ar

we

Cl

fifi

the

Th YOU out the fin

is I

1

N.

Cor oth ed nar Pro Du of 1 the kno clar grea Grea The obli thei fed | all of 1

en i

Worth

13

that

the other

does

What

wri-

Wat

oila

Re

Hour

is the

TTAN

d com

take

read

ords him

nds

I ob-

Brain

nere

and

Non-

TVC

kins

hich

1t to

V.hee

cep

ren

ce of

fires,

had

ddle

Mi-

s. I

were

worth

worth four thousand Pounds; at three, we were arrived at fix thousand; half an Hour after, we were reduced to one thousand; at four of the Clock we were down to two hundred; at five, to fifty; at fix, to five; at feven, to one Guinea; the next Bet, to nothing. This Morning, he borrowed half a Crown of the Maid who cleans his Shoes; and is now gaming in Lincoln's Inn-Fields among the Boys for Farthings and Oranges, till he has made up three Pieces, and then he returns to White's into the best Company in Town. This ended our first Discourse; and it is hoped, you will forgive me that I have picked fo little out of my Companion at our first Interview. In the next, 'tis possible he may tell me more pleafing Incidents; for though he is a Familiar, he is not an Evil Spirit.

St. James's Coffee boufe, May 9.

WE hear from the Hague of the 14th Inftant, N. S. That Monsieur de Torcy hath had frequent Conferences with the Grand Pensioner, and the other Ministers who were heretofore commissioned to treat with Monsieur Rouille. The Preliminaries of a Peace are almost settled, and the Proceedings wait only for the Arrival of the Duke of Marlborough; after whose Approbation of the Articles proposed, it is not doubted but the Methods of the Treaty will be publickly known. In the mean Time, the States have declared an Abhorence of making any Step in this great Affair, but in Concert with the Court of Great Britain, and other Princes of the Alliance. The Posture of Affairs in France does necessarily oblige that Nation to be very much in earnest in their Offers; and Monsieur de Torcy hath profesfed to the Grand Pensioner, That he will avoid all Occasions of giving him the least Jealousie of his using any Address in private Conversation for accomplishing the Ends of his Embaffy.

It

nec

vin

20

No

Per

eve

Inte

me

me

Thi

Age

any

fent

feri

to 1

the

thei

lige

I to

pro

Adv

tho

but

the don

may

all

for

No

Nº 13

It is faid, That as foon as the Preliminaries are adjusted, that Minister is to return to the French Court. The States of Holland have resolved to make it an Instruction to all their Men of War and Privateers, to bring into their Ports what. ever Neutral Ships they shall meet with laden with Corn, and bound for France, and to avoid all Cause of Complaint from the Potentates to whom these Ships shall belong, their full Demand for their Freight shall be paid them there. The French Protestants residing in that Country have applied themselves to their respective Magistrates, defiring that there may be an Article in the Trea ty of Peace, which may give Liberty of Conscience to the Protestants in France. Monsieur Bof mage, Minister of the Walloon Church at Rotterdam, has been at the Hague, and hath had some Conferences with the Deputies of the States on that Subject. It is reported there, That all the Frent Refugees in those Dominions are to be naturalized, that they may enjoy the same good Esteds of the Treaty with the Hollanders themselves, is respect of France.

LETTERS from Paris fay, the People conceive great Hopes of a sudden Peace, from Monsieur Torry's being employed in the Negociation, he being a Minister of too great Weight in that Court, to be sent on any Employment in which his Master would not act in a Manner wherein he might justly promise himself Success. The French Advices add, That there is an Insurrection on in Poisson, 3000 Men having taken up Arms, and beaten the Troops which were appointed to disperse them: Three of the Mutineers being taken, were immediately executed; and as many of the King's Party were used after the same Manner.

OUR late Act of Naturalization hath had so great an Effect in Foreign Parts, that some Princes have prohibited the French Refugees in their Dominions to sell or transfer their Estates

۵

13.

are

d to

War

hat-

with

for

The

ates,

rea-

Bof

dam

Con-

that rali-

feds

onion,

that nich

ein

The

ai.

mt;

d to

ane

any

and fo

me

in

to

to any other of their Subjects; and at the same Time have granted them greater Immunities than they hitherto enjoyed. It has been also thought necessary to restrain their own Subjects from leaving their native Country on Pain of Death.

From my own Apartment, May 10.

IJAD it not been that my Familiar had appeared to nie, as I told you in my last, in Person, I had certainly been unable to have found, even Words, without Meaning, to keep up my Intelligence with the Town; but he has checked me severely for my Despondence, and ordered me to go on in my Defign of observing upon Things, and forbearing Persons; for, said he, the Age you live in is fuch, that a good Picture of any Vice or Virtue will infallibly be mifreprefented; and though none will take the kind Deferiptions you make fo much to themselves, as to wish well to the Author, yet, all will refent the ill Characters you produce, out of Fear of their own Turn in the Licence you must be obliged to take, if you point at particular Persons, I took his Admonition kindly, and immediately promised him to beg Pardon of the Author of the Advice to the Poets, for my Raillery upon his Work; though I aimed at no more in that Examination, but to convince him, and all Men of Genius, of the Folly of laying themselves out on such Plans as are below their Characters. I hope too it was done without Ill-breeding, and nothing fooken below what a Civilian, (as it is allowed I am) may utter to a Phylician. After this Preface; all the World may be fafe from my Writings; for if I can find nothing to commend, I am fi-

70 ity

poo

nl

pri

Pat

alte

Pri

and

Ey

are

Y

he

s ne

nev Par

that

Thi

toge

Pla

um Spig

ons :

t is

into

lent, and will forbear the Subject: For, though I am a Reformer, I scorn to be an Inquisitor.

IT would become all Men as well as me, to Tay before 'em the noble Character of Verus the Magistrate, who always sate in Triumph over and Contempt of, Vice; He never searched after it, or spared it when it came before him: At the same Time, he could see through the Hypocris and Disguise of those, who have no Pretence to Virtue themselves, but by their Severity to the Vicious. The same Verus was, in Times long pat Chief Justice (as we call it amongst us) in Felicias He was a Man of profound Knowledge of the Laws of his Country, and as just an Observer of em in his own Person. He confidered Justice a Cardinal Virtue, not as a Trade for Mainte nance. Where-ever he was Judge, he never forgot that he was also Counsel. The Criminal before him was always fure he flood before his Country, and, in a Sort, a Parent of it. The Prisoner knew, that the his Spirit was broke with Guilt, and incapable of Language to defend it felf, all would be gathered from him which could conduce to his Safety; and that his Judge would wrest no Law to destroy him, nor concellany that could save him. In his Time then were a Nest of Pretenders to Justice, who hap pen'd to be employed to put Things in a Method pen'd to be employed to put Things in a Method anto for being examined before him at his usual Self is no fions: These Animals were to Verus, as Monkey plea are to Men, so like, that you can hardly disom who them; but so base, that you are ashamed of their red Fraternity. It grew a Phrase, Who would do fir shire on the fusices? That certainly would Verus shart have seen an old Trial where he sate Judge of the two of 'em; one was called Trick-Track, the other two of 'em; one was a learned Judge of Sharpers the other the quickest of all Men at finding out with a Wench. Trick-Track never spared a Pick-poor his det, but was a Companion to Cheats: Tearship would make Compliments to Wenches of Quarty

14

ough

r.

e, to

s the

OVEL

after

t the

crif

ce to o the

paft, elicia: f the

rer of ice a

ainte

neva

mina re his

The

roke efend

which

udge

nce

there

lity

ity, but certainly commit poor ones. If a poor Rogue wanted a Lodging, Trick-Track fent him to Gaol for a Thief: If a poor Whore went only with one thin Petricoat, Tearfbift would imprison her for being loofe in her Dress. These Patriots infested the Days of Verus, while they lternately committed and releafed each other's Prisoners. But Verus regarded them as Criminals, and always look'd upon Men as they stood in the Eve of Justice, without respecting whether they ate on the Bench, or flood at the Bar. h Clober Ol

Will's Coffee-boufe, May 11.

YESTERDAY we were entertained with he Tragedy of The Earl of Effex, in which there snot one good Line, and yet a Play which was never feen without drawing Tears from fome Part of the Audience: A remarkable Instance, that the Soul is not to be moved by Words, but Things; for the Incidents in this Drama are laid together so happily, that the Spectator makes the Play for himself, by the Force which the Cirsumstance has upon his Imagination. Thus, in check Spight of the most dry Discourses, and Expressions almost ridiculous with Respect to Propriety, there is impossible for one unprejudiced to see it sether intouch'd with Pity. I must consess this Essect is not wrought on such as examine why they are nkey pleased; but it never fails to appear on those lister who are not too learned in Nature, to be more their yed by her first Suggestions. It is certain, the Person and Behaviour of Mr. Wilks has no small Verm Share in conducing to the Popularity of the Play; ge on and when an handsome fellow is going to a more tourse Exit than Beheading, his Shape and Counterpers chance make every tender one reprieve him with all her Heart without waiting till she hears his dying Words.

THIS Evening The Alchymist was played. This Quar Comedy is an Example of Ben's extensive Genius lity Spight of the most dry Discourses, and Expressi-

No

ficive

and

her.

half

he l

End

Fate

Plac

of v

Choi

Gen

lee -

are der, But we f fobb

Felle

othe

Care

dju

Wig

reff s fo

Tim

s fo

he 1

Wor is di

Nice

Len

has .

Ian

but

a F date

ther

Tom

done

and Penetration into the Passions and Follies of Mankind. The Scene in the Fourth Act, when all the cheated People oppose the Man that would open their Eyes, has something in it fo inimitably excellent, that it is certainly as great a Master-piece as has ever appeared by any Hand. The Author's great Address in thewing Covetousness, the Motive of the Actions of the Puritan, the Epicure, the Gameffer, and the Trader; and that all their Endeavours, how differently foever they feem to tend, center only in that one Point of Gain, shews he had to a great Perfection that Discernment of Spirit, which constitutes a Genius for a Comedy.

White's Chocolate House, May 11.

IT is not to be imagined how far the Violence of our Defires will carry us towards our own Deceit in the Pursuit of what we wish for. A Gentleman here this Evening was giving me an Account of a dumb Fortune-Teller, who out-does Mr. Partridge, my felf, or the Unborn-Doctor, for Predictions; all his Visitants come to him full of Expectations, and pay his own Rate for the Interpretations they put upon his Shrugs and Nods. There is a fine rich City-Widow stole thither the other Day, (though it is not fix Weeks fince her Husband's Departure from her Company to Rest) and, with her trusty Maid, demanded of him, Whether she should marry again, by holding up two Fingers, like Horns on her Forehead. The Wizard held up both his Hands forked. The Relied defired to know, Whether he meant by his holding up both Hands, to represent that she had one Husband before, and that she should have another? Or that he intimated, she should have two more? The Cunning Man look'd a little four, upon which Betty jogged her Mistress, who gave t'other Guines; ceed and he made her understand, she should positively frively have two more; but shaked his Head, es of and hinted, that they should not live long with her. The Widow fighed, and gave him t'other half Guinea. After this Prepossession, all that he had next to do, was to make Sallies to our End of the Town, and find out who it is her Fate to have. There are two who frequent this Place, whom she takes for Men of Vogue, and of whom her Imagination has given her the Choice. They are both the Appearances of fine Gentlemen, to fuch as do not know when they ee Persons of that Turn; and indeed, they are industrious enough to come at that Charader, to deserve the Reputation of being such. But this Town will not allow us to be the Things we feem to aim at, and are too difcerning to be lobb'd off with Pretences. One of these pretty fellows fails by his laborious Exactness; the other, by his as much studied Negligence. Frank Careless, as foon as his Valet has helped on and djusted his Clothes, goes to his Glass, sets his Vig awry, tumbles his Cravat; and in short, uniresics himself to go into Company. Will. Nice s so little satisfied with his Dress, that all the Time he is at a Visit, he is still mending it, and s for that Reason the more insusferable; for he who studies Carclesness, has, at least, his Work the fooner done of the two. The Widow is distracted whom to take for her first Man; for Nice is every Way so careful, that she fears his Length of Days; and Frank is so loose, that the s on has Apprehentions for her own Health with him. his I am puzzled how to give a just Idea of them; When but in a Word Careless is a Coxcomb, and Nice tinds, a Fop: Both, you'll say, very hopeful Candifore, dates for a gay Woman just set at Liberty. But there is a Whisper, her Maid will give her to Tom Terrour the Gamester. This Fellow has undened to many Women, that he'll certainly succeed if he is introduced; for nothing so much possible prevails with the vain Part of that Sex, as the gold.

Per-COD-

here that

t fo

rcat

any wing

fthe

der;

ently

that

ence De-Gen Acdoa Stor, him e for rugs dow t fix her faid, y 2-vely

Nº 14 Glory of deceiving them who have deceived DM Port Lines

Defunt multa.

St. Fames's Coffee-bouse, May II.

LETTERS from Berlin, bearing Date May 11. N. S. inform us, That the Birth-Day of her Prussian Majesty has been celebrated there with all possible Magnificence; and the King made her, on that Occasion, a Present of Jewels to the Value of thirty thousand Crowns. The Marquis de Quefne, who has diftinguished himself by his great Zeal for the Protestant Interest, was at the Time of the Dispatch of these Letters, at that Court, foliciting the King to take Care, that an Article in Behalf of the Refugees, admitting their Return to France, should be inserted in the Treaty of Peace. They write from Hanover of the 14th, That his Electoral Highness had received an Express from Count Merci, representing how necessary it was to the Common Cause, that he would please to hasten to the Rhine; for that nothing but his Presence could quicken the Measures toward bringing the Imperial Army into the Field. There are very many Speculations upon the intended Interview of the King of Denmark and King Augustus. The later has made such Preparations for the Reception of the other, that it is faid, his Danish Majesty will be entertained in Saxony, with much more Elegance than 30 15 he met with in Italy it felf.

LETTERS from the Hague of the 18th Infant N. S. fay, That his Grace the Duke of Malborough, landed the Night before at the Brill, after having been kept out at Sea by adverte Ha Winds two Days longer than is usual in that Pasfage. His Excellency the Lord Townshend, her broad Majesty's Embassador Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary to the States General, was driven in hings potentiary to the States General, was driven in hings to the Veer in Zealand on Thursday last, from lay, I

whence VO

ofte

fre he

to rie

be t

Alli

nov with

Ene

Defi

her

rece

nis]

refs

M

laff,

H W

in be

hat I

re of 10100 buld

Arms.

Wa

shence he came to the Hagne within few Hours ther the Arrival of his Grace. The Duke foon feer his coming to the Hagne, had a Ville from he Penfianer of Holland: All Things relating the Peace were in Suspence till this Interview; nor is it yet known what Refolutions will e taken on that Subject; for the Troops of the Allies have frefit Orders dispatched to them to nove from their respective Quarters, and march with all Expedition to the Frontiers, where the Enemy are making their utmost Efforts for the Defence of their Country. Thele Advices fur her inform us. That the Margons de Torcy had received an Answer from the Court of France, to his Letters which he had fent thither by an Exrefs on the Friday before: Talla The Buther!

Mr. Bickerstaff bas received Letters from Mr. Coltaff, Mr. Whipftaff. and Mrs. Rebecca Wagftaff Il which velote chiefly to their being left out in the mealogy of the Pamily lasely published; but my Coubeing a Clerk in the Herald's Office with write at Dranght, and being at present under the Displeane of the Chapter; it is feared, if that Matter bould would lofe bis Place for Treafon against the Kings at To fifty : and after Door Me a ovact voca est a Memory and Judgmeet of selection of yours and you law, Labour of it of the strong vours and you'd fay, laid I, lot ma hav

From my own Apartment, May 12.

Have taken a Resolution hereafter, on any Want of Intelligence, to carry my Familiar broad with me, who has promifed to give me ery proper and just Notices of Persons and bings, to make up the Hiftory of the passing y. He is wonderfully skilful in the Knowledge VOL. I.

A bife ober Monra can't have, lone would

May her with

ved

nade the quis his the

that t an tting the er of refentaufe.

; for 1 the rmy culang of nade ther, nterthan

Ince of Brill,

reric Paf. leni-

infrom enco

by

Br

fir

No

wh

my

25 1

fon

and

go.,

щe

nat abo

I gr

mon

AS I

ver

Res

and then

OW

hari

Phy

bave

PAYC

ried Mot

Deat

there

the r

1Hod to, fe

to an fore,

を見る。

0.2

of Men and Manners, which has made me mor than ordinary curious to know how he came that Persection, and I communicated to him the Doubt. Mr. Parolet, faid I, I am mightily fu priz'd to fee you fo good a Judge of our Na sure and Circumstances, fince you are a me Spirit, and have no Knowledge of the Bodily Par of us. He answered, Smiling, You are mistaken I have been one of you, and lived a Month mongst you, which gives me an exact Sense your Condition. You are to know, That all wi enter into human Life, have a cerrain Date Stamen given to their Being, which they only who die of Age may be faid to have arrived at but it is ordered sometimes by Fate, that such die Infants, are after Death to attend Mankin to the End of that Stamen of Being in themselve which was broke off by Siekness or any other Di after. These are proper Guardians to Men. being sensible of the Infirmity of their State You are Philosopher enough to know, that the Di ference of Men's Understanding proceeds on from the various Dispositions of their Organs; that he who dies at a Month old, is in the next Li as knowing (tho more innocent) as they w live to fifty; and after Death, they have as pe feet a Memory and Judgment of all that pale in their Life Time, as I have of all the Rev lutions in that unexfy, turbulent Condition yours; and you'd fay, I had enough of it in Month, were I to tell you all my Misfortune A Life of a Month can't have, one would think much Variety; but pray, faid I, let us have you

Then he proceeds in the following Manner:

Then he proceeds in the following Manner:

The was one of the melt wealthy Families in the British in which I was born, and it was a very great Happiness to the than it to happened, other wife I had till, in all Probable, been living Birt I shall recount to you all the Occurre cas of my short and miserable Existence, just a mor

ne i

the

fur No

mee

Par

aken

nie e

1 wh

ete o

d at nkin

elva r Dil en, s

State Di

on

ns;

y wh

pals

Rev

ion

in.

you

d'ye

othe living urre

by examining into the Traces made in my Brain, they appeared to me at that Time. The first Thing that over struck at my Senses, was Noise over my sicad of one shricking; after which, methought I took a full Jump, and found my felf in the Hands of a Sorcerefs, who feem'd as if the had been long waking, and employed in fome Incantation: I was throughly frightned, and cried out, but the immediately feemed to go on in some Magical Operation, and arounted me from Head to Foot. What they meant, I could not imagine; for there gathered a great Cros shout me, crying, An Heir, an Heins upon which I grew a little fill, and believ d this was a Ceremony to be us d only to great Persons, and such as made them, what they call d, Heirs. I lay very quiet; but the Witch, for no manuer of Resion or Provocation in the World, takes me and binds my Head as hard as pollibly the could, then ties up both my Legs, and makes me fwel-low down an hourid Mixture; I thought it an harth Entrance into Life to begin with taking Physick; but I was fored to it, or else must bave taken down a great Instrument in which the gave it me. When I was thus dreisd, I was carried to a Bed-fide, where a fine young Lady (my Mother I wot) had like to have hugg'd me to Death. From her, they faced me about, and here was a Thing with quite ungiber Look from be rest of the Room, to whom they talk'd a-but my Nose, He seem a wonderfully pleased to see me; but I knew since, my Nose belonged to another Family . That into which I was born could Betty, the greatest Remptal Name: She which me fach a Height over her Head, that I my down for Fear of falling. She purched me and collectione fauering Chit, and terew me into a Girl's Arms that was taken, in the wind me

A

Si 21 Si

n

br

fh

Wa

ſħ

al qt

an 80

hi

hi

ou

N

in

TIC

tec

ho

im

Sco

Go

Th

ter

ver

fair

for ma

Rai

ed

The Girl was very proud of the womanly Employment of a Nurse, and took upon her to strip and dress me a new, because I made a Noise, to see what siled me: She did so, and stuck a Pin in every Joint about me. I fift cried: Upon which, the lays me on my Face in her Lap; and to quiet me, fell a nailing in all the Pins, by clapping me on the Back, and skreaming a But my Pain made me exalt my Lullaby. Voice above hers, which brought up the Nurse, the Wirch, I first faw, and my Grandmother. The Girl is turn'd down Stairs, and I ftripp'd again, as well to find what ail'd me, as to fatisfy my Granam's further Curiolity. This good old Woman's Vifit was the Caufe of all my Troubles. You are to understand, That I was hitherto bred by Hand, and any Body that stood next, gave me Pap, if I did but open my Lips; insomuch, that I was grown so cunning, as to pretend my self afleep when I was not, to prevent my being cramm'd. But my Grandmother began a loud Lecture upon the Idleness of the Wives of this Age, who, for fear of their Shapes, forbear fuckling their own Offspring: And ten Nurses were immediately fent for; one was whifper'd to haves wanton Eye, and would foon spoil her Milk; another was in a Confumption; the third had an ill Voice, and would frighten me, instead of lulling me to Sleep. Such Exceptions were made against all but one Country Milch-Wench, to whom I was committed, and put to the Breaft. This, careless Jade was eternally romping with the Footmen, and downright flarved me; infomuch that I daily pined away, and should never have been relieved, had it not been, that on the thirtieth Day of my Life, a Fellow of the Royal Society, who had writ upon Cold Barbs, came to visit me, and folemnly protested, I was utterly lost for want of that Method: Upon which he fous'd me Head and Bars into a Pail of Water, where I had the good Fortune to be drowned,

and

and so escap'd being lash'd into a Linguist till Sixteen, running after Wenches till twenty-five, and being married to an ill-natured Wise till Sixty: Which had certainly been my Fate, had not the Inchantment between Body and Soul been broke by this Philosopher. Thus, till the Age I should have otherwise liv'd, I am obliged to watch the Steps of Men; and if you please, shall accompany you in your present Walks, and get you Intelligence from the Aerial Lacquey, who is in Waiting, what are the Thoughts and Purposes of any whom you enquire for. I accepted his kind Offer, and immediately took him with me in an Hack to White's.

White's Chocolate-Loufe, May 13. ..

WE got in hither, and my Companion threw a Powder round us, that made me as invisible as himself; so that we could see and hear all others, our selves unseen and unheard.

THE first Thing we took Notice of, was a Nobleman of a goodly and frank Afpect, with his generous Birth and Temper visible in it, playing at Cards with a Creature of a black and horrid Countenance, wherein were plainly delineated the Arts of his Mind, Cozenage and Falsehood. They were marking their Game with Counters, on which we could fee Inferiptions, imperceptible to any but us. My Lord had feor'd with Pieces of Ivory, on which were writ, Good, Fame, Glory, Riches, Honour, and Posterity. The Spectre over-against him had on his Counters the Inferiptions of Disbonour, Impudence, Poverty, Ignorance, and Want of Shame. Blefs me! laid I; Sure my Lord does not fee what he plays for ? As well as I do, fays Pacolet. He despifes that Fellow he plays with, and scorns himself for making him his Companion. At the very Inhant he was speaking, I saw the Fellow who played with my Lord, hide two Cards in the Roll of E 3 his.

oife, ck a Upap;

15.

Em-

my rfe, ner.

old oles.

ave ach, my eing

this ickwere vea

had d of ade

eaft.

the toyal

he ter,

and

N

m

h

ha

CO

th

Pe

ha

it is Wi

fui

thi

of.

Vol

Wi

Re

faé

ma

me of

ftin

fuc. Fea

we

the

the

of t lent

Eng

his Stocking: Pacolet immediately fole them from thence; upon which the Nobleman from af-ter, won the Game. The little Triumph he appeared in, when he got fuch a trifling Stock of ready Money, tho he had ventured fogreat Sums with Indifference, increas'd my Admiration. But Pacolet began to talk to me. Mr. Ifanc, This to you looks wonderful, but not at all to us higher Leings: That Noble has as many good Qualities as a y Man of his Order, and feems to have no Faults but what, as I may fay, are Exercicencies from Virtues. He is generous to a Prodigality, more affable than is confiftent with his Quality, and couragious to a Rashness." Yer, after all this, the Source of his whole Conduct is (ho' he would hate himself if he knew it) mee Avarice. The ready Cash laid before the Gamester's Counters makes him venture, as you fce, and lay Diffination against Infamy, Abundance against Want; in a Word, all that's defirable against all that's to be avoided, However said I, be sure you disappoint the Sharpen to-night, and steal from them all the Cards they hide. Pacolet obey'd me, and my Lord went Home with their whole Bank in his Pocket.

Will's Coffee boufe, May 13.

To night was acted a feeond Time a Comedy, call'd, The Bufy Body: This Play is written by a Lady. In old Times, we us d to fit upon a Play here after it was acted; but now the Entertainment is turn'd another Way; not but there are confiderable Men appear in all Ages, who for fome eminent Quality or Invention, deferve the Esteem and Thanks of the Publick Such a Benefactor is a Gentleman of this House, who is observed by the Surgeons with much Envy; for he has invented an Engine for the Prevention of Harms by Love-Adventures, and by great Care and Application, hath made it an Immodesty

4

15.

nem

af-

ap-

of

ums

But

s to

her

ties

e no

en-

iga-

his

rct. du&

it)

the

YOU

un-

de

OW-

pers

hey

cnt

561 book

mel

ten

noo

En-

but zes;

de-

ck. ile,

Enre-

by

mfty

modesty to name his Name. This Act of Self-denial has gain'd this worthy Member of the Commonwealth a great Reputation. Some Law-givers have departed from their Abodes for ever, and commanded the Observation of their Laws till their Return; others have used other Artifices to fly the Applause of their Merit; but this Person shuns Glory with greater Address, and has, by giving his Engine his own Name, made it obscene to speak of him more. However, he is rank'd among, and receiv'd by the modern Wits, as a great Promoter of Gallantry and Plea-But I fear, Pleasure is less understood in this Age, which so much pretends to it, than in any fince the Creation. Twas admirably said of him who first took Notice, That (Res eft fevera Voluttas) there is a certain Severity in Pleasure. Without that, all Decency is banish'd; and if Reason is not to be present at our greatest Satisfactions, of all the Race of Creatures, the Humane is the most miserable. It was not so of old; when Virgil describes a Wit, he always means a virtuous Man; and all his Sentiments of Men of Genius are fuch as shew Persons difinguished from the common Level of Mankind; fuch as placed Happiness in the Contempt of low Fears, and mean Gratifications: Fears, which we are subject to with the Vulgar; and Pleasures, which we have in common with Beafts. With these illustrious Personages, the wifest Man was the greatest Wit: and none was thought worthy of that Character, unless he answered this excellent Description of the Poet:

Qui - Metus omnes & inexorabile Fatum Subjecit pedibus, frepitumq; Acherontis avari.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, May 13.

WE had this Morning Advice, That some English Merchant-Ships, convoyed by the Bristol

N

Nº 15.

mo bot por fue Pa ceft Tin

For Gai and it I Yes

bein has her

and ver or pub

to g Prus Sple thei

Ame fent which

Con Practice the fi

whice givin stance Play Com of 54 Guns, were met with by a Part of Month du Gui Trouin's Squadron, who engaged the Convoy. That Ship defended it felf till the English Merchants got clear of the Enemy, but being disabled, was her self taken. Within few Hours after, my Lord Dursley came up with Part of his Squadron, and engaging the French, retook the Bristol (which being very much shattered, sunk) and took the Glorieur, a Ship of 44 Guns, as also a Privateer of 14. Before this Action, his Lordship had taken two French Merchant-Men, and had, at the Dispatch of these Advices, brought the whole safe into Plymouth.

まちょうちょうちょうちょうしょうしょうしょうしょうしょう

Nº 16. Tuesday, May 17. 1709.

White's Chocolate-boufe, May 15.

SIR Thomas, of this House, has shew'd me fome Letters from the Bath, which give Accounts of what passes among the good Company of that Place; and allow'd me to transcribe one of them, that seems to be writ by some of Sit Thomas's particular Acquaintance, and is as sollows:

Dear Knight.

Defire you would give my humble Service to all our Friends, which I tpeak of to you (out of Method) in the very Beginning of my Epiftle, lest the present Disorders, by which this Seat of Gallantry and Pleasure is torn to Pieces, should make me forget it. You keep so good Company, that you know Bath is stock'd with such as come hither to be relieved from luxuriant Health, or imaginary Sickness, and consequently is always as well stowed with Gallants, as Invalids, who live together in a very good Understanding. But the Season is so early, that our fine Company is not vet arrived; and the Warm Bath, which in Heathen Times was dedicated to Venus, is now used only by fuch as really want it for Health's Sake. There are however a good many Strangers, among whom are two ambitious Ladies, who being both in the Autumn of their Life, take the Opportunity of placing themselves at the Head of fuch as we are, before the Chlor, Clariffa's, and Pastorella's come down. One of these two is exceffively in Pain, that the ugly Being called Time, will make Wrinkles in spite of the Lead Forehead-Cloth; and therefore hides with the Gaiety of her Air, the Volubility of her Tongue, and Quickness of her Motion, the Injuries which it has done ber. The other Lady is but two Years behind her in Life, and dreads as much being laid afide as the former, and confequently, has taken the necessary Precautions to prevent her Reign over us. But the is very discreet, and wonderfully turned for Ambition, being never apparently transported either with Affection or Malice. Thus, while Florimel is talking in publick, and spreading her Graces in Assemblies, to gain a popular Dominion over our Divertions. Prudentia vilits very cunningly all the Lame, the Splenatick, and the Superannuated, who have their distinct Classes of Followers and Friends. Among these she has found that some Body has fent down printed Certificates of Florimel's Age, which she has read and diffributed to this unjoyfull Set of People, who are always Enemies to those in Possession of the good Opinion of the Company. This unprovoked Injury done by Prudentia, was the first Occasion of our fatal Divisions here, and a Declaration of War between these Rivals. Florimel has Abundance of Wis which she has lavished in decrying Prudentia, and giving Defiance to her little Arts. For an Infance of her fuperior Power, the bespoke the Play of Atexander the Great, to be acted by the Company of Strollers, and defired us all to be 15.

onf. onglife

ours f his

the nk)

his Men,

ight

3

me Ac-

one Sir

fol

to

tle, t of uld

ny,

or ays

the not yet

there on Thursday last. When she spoke to me to come, As you are, faid fhe, a Lover, you will not fail the Death of Alexander: The Passion of Love is wonderfully hit - Statira! Ob that happy Woman-To bave a Conqueror at ber Feet - But you'll be sure to be there. I, and feveral others, resolved to be of her Party. But see the irrefishible Strength of that unsuspected Creature, a Stlent Woman, Prudemia had counterplotted us, and had bespoke on the same Evening the Poppet-Show of The Creation of the World. She had engaged every Body to be there; and to turn our Leader into Ridicule, had fecretly let them know, that the Poppet Eve was made the most like Flor mel that ever was feen. On Thursday Morning the Popper-Drummer, Adam and Eoe, and feveral others who lived before the Flood, pass'd through the Streets on Horseback, to invite us all to the Pa-Rime, and the Representation of such Things as we all knew to be true; and Mr. Mayor was fo wife as to prefer these innocent People the Poppets, who, he faid, were to represent Christians, before the wicked Players, who were to show Alexander, an Heathen Philosopher. To be short, this Prudentia had so laid it, that at ten of the Clock Footmen were fent to take Places at the Poppet-Show, and all we of Florimel's Party were to be out of Fashion, or defert her. We chose the later. All the World crowded to Prudentia's House, because it was given out, no Body could When we came to Nah's Flood in the Show, Punch and his Wife were introduced dan-ring in the Ark. An honest plain Friend of Flovimel's, but a Critick withal, rose up in the midst of the Representation, and made many very good Exceptions to the Drama it felf, and rold us, that it was against all Morality, as well as Rules of the Stage, that Punch should be in Jest in the Deluge, or indeed that he should appear at all. This was certainly a just Remark, and I thought to fecond hin; but he was hils'd by P.H

O m The Co

P

971 the gai

Re her the with Pop

to .

fair Sola time ter Cour dow ed i us to Shor The

the all n Thir

med Ba May 17

16.

me

will

ove is

an-fure

o be

ngth

man.

ooke

The Bo-

Ri-

Pop-

ever

rumwho

the

Pas as s fo op-

ans,

how

ort,

the

the

tere

ofe

ras

pld

the

an-Flo-

idft

erv

old

45 eft

ar

I

by

. 2

Prudentia's Party; upon which, really, Sir Thomas, we, who were his Friends, his'd him too. Old Mrs. Petulant defired both her Daughters to mind the Moral; then whispered Mrs. Mayores, This is very proper for young People to fee. Punch at the End of the Play made Madam Prudentia a Compliment, and was very civil to the whole Company, making Bows till his Buttons touch'd the Ground. All was carried triumphantly against our Party. In the mean Time Florimel went to the Tragedy, dress'd as fine as Hands could make her, in Hopes to see Prudentia pine away with Envy. Instead of that, she sate a full Hour alone, and at last was entertain'd with this whole Relation from Statira, who wiped her Eyes with her Tragical-cut Handkerchief, and lamented the Ignorance of the Quality. Florimel was stung with this Affront, and the next Day bespoke the Popper-Show. Prudentia, infolent with Power, befpoke Alexander. The whole Company came then to Alexander. Madam Petulant defired her Daughters to mind the Moral, and believe no Man's fair Words; Fir you'll fee Children, faid the, thefe Soldiers are never to be depended upon; they are some times bere, sometimes there. - Don't you fee, Daughter Betty, Colonel Clod, our next Neighbour in the Country, pull off bis Hat to you? Court fe, good Child, his Effate is just by us. Florimel was now morrified down to Prudentia's Humour; and Prudentia exalted into hers. This was observed; Florimel invites us to the Play a fecond Time, Prudentia to the Show. See the Uncertainty of Humane Affairs! The Beaux, the Wits, the Gametters, the Prues, the Coquets, the Valitudinarians, and Gallants, all now wait upon Florimel. Such is the State of Things at this present Date; and if there happens any new Commotions, you shall have immediate Advice from,

Bath.

SIR. May 11. Your affectionate Friend, and Servant. 1709

N

the

Du

riv Pe

aft

hн ne

en

an

rei Ti

Pe

ty

an

the

en

Du cel wh

the

de alf

M tio

tic

Gr

W

the

thi

ful

fen

cei

the

thi

M

w

TO CASTABELLA.

Madam,

Have the Honour of a Letter from a Friend of yours, relating to an Incivility done to you at the Opera, by one of your own Sex; but I, who was an Eye-withels of the Accident, can te-Rife to you, that though fire pressed before you, fhe loft her Ends in that Defign; for the was taken Notice of for no other Reason, but her Endeavours to hide a finer Woman than herfelf. But indeed, I dare not go further in this Matter, than just this bare Mention; for though it was taking your Place of Right, rather than Place of Precedence, yet it is fo tender a Point, and on which the very Life of Female Ambition depends, that it is of the last Contequence to meddle in it: All my Hopes are from your beautiful Sex; and those bright Eyes, which are the Bane of others, are my only Sun-shine. My Writings are facred to you; and I hope, I shall always have the good Fortune to live under your Prorection; therefore take this publick Opportunity to fightfy to all the World, That I defign to for-Bear any Thing that may in the least tend to the Diminution of your Interest, Reputation of Power. You'll therefore forgive me, that I drive to conceal every wrong Step made by any who have the Honour to wear Petticoats, and shall at all Times do what is in my Powerto make all Mankind as much their Slaves as my felf. If they would confider Things as they ought, there needs not much Argument to convince them, that it is their Fate to be obedient to you, and that your greatest Rebelsdo only ferve with a worse Graco I am,

MADAM,

Your most Obedient,

and most bumble Servant. Maac Bickerstaff. Sa Fames's

May 16.

St. Fames's Coffee boufe, May 16.

LETTERS from the Hague, bearing Date the 21st Instant, N. S. advise, That his Grace the Duke of Marlborough, immediately after his Arrival, fent his Secretary to the President and the Pensionary, to acquaint them therewith Soon after these Ministers visited the Duke, and made him Compliments in the Name of the States-General; after which they entered into a Conference with him on the present Posture of Affairs, and gave his Grace Affurances of the firm Adhefence of the States to the Alliance: At the fame Time acquainting him, That all Overtures of Peace were rejected, till they had an Opportunity of Acting in Concert with their Allies on that Subject. After this Interview, the Penlionary and the President returned to the Assembly of the States. Monfieur Torry has had a Conference at the Pensioner's House with his Grace the Duke of Marlborough, Prince Eugene, and his Excellency the Lord Townsbend. The Result of what was debated at that Time is kept fecret; but there appears an Air of Satisfaction and good Understanding between these Ministers. We are apt alfo to give ourfelves very hopeful Prospects from Monsieur Torcy's being employed in this Negotiation, who had been always remarkable for a particular Way of Thinking, in his Senfe of the Greatness of France; which he has always said, Was to be promoted rather by the Arts of Peace, than these of War. His delivering himself freely on this Subject has formerly appeared an unfuccefsful Way to Power in that Court; but in its prefent Circumstances, those Maxims are better received; and it is thought a certain Argument of the Sincerity of the French King's Intentions, that this Minister is at present made use of. Marquis is to return to Paris within few Days. who has fent a Courier thither to give Notice of

of you I, ou, ta-Enelf.

was e of l on de-

iful ane ngs ays

for-

ive who all

all ney eds

ce

aff.

bo

th

hi

W

910

of 401

Ca

w

an

m Sp

ar

217 fo

Wa

la

W

wig

Id

de

sh

the Reasons of his Return, that the Court may be the fooner able to dispatch Commissions for a formal Treaty.

THE Expectations of Peace are increased by Advices from Paris of the 12th Inftant, which fay, The Dauphin hath altered his Resolution of commanding in Flanders the ensuing Campaign. The Saxon and Pruffian Reinforcements, together with Count Merci's Regiment of Imperial Horse, are encamped in the Neighbourhood of Bruffels; and fufficient Stores of Corn and Forage are transported to that Place and Ghent, for the Service of the Confederate Army.

THEY write from Mons, That the Elector of Bavaria had Advice, That an advanced Party of the Portugueze Army had been defeated by the Spaniards.

WE hear from Languedoc, That their Corn, Olives and Figs were wholly deftroyed; but that they have a hopeful Prospect of a plentiful Vintage.

Nº 17. Thursday, May 19. 1709.

Will's Coffee bouse, May 18.

HE Discourse has happened to turn this Evening upon the true Nature of Panegyrick, the Perfection of which was afferred to consist in a certain artful Way of conveying the Applause in an indirect Manner. There was a Gentleman gave us several Instances of it. Among others, he quoted (from Sir Francis Bacon, in his Advancement of Learning) a very great Compliment made to Tiberius, as follows: In a full Debate upon publick Affairs in the Senate, one of the Assembly rose up, and with a very grave Air faid, He thought it for the Honour and Dignity

may

for a d by hich

ition

lign.

oge-

rial

d of

rage

the

r of

of of

the

rn,

hat

in-

15

e-

0 ie.

4

-

t,

1

nity of the Commonwealth, that Tiberius should be declared a God, and have Divine Worship paid him. The Emperor was furprifed at the Proposal, and demanded of him to declare, Whether he had made any Application to incline him to that Overture? The Senator answered, with a bold and haughty Tone. Sir, In Matters that concern the Commonwealth, I will be govern a by no Man. Another Gentleman mentioned something of the same Kind spoken by the late Duke of B-m, to the late Earl of O-y; My Lord, (fays the Duke, after his libertine Way) you will certainly be damn'd. How, my Lord! fays the Earl with fome Warmth. Nay, (faid the Duke) there's no Help for it, for it is positively said,. Cursed is be of whom all Men Speak well. This is taking a Man by Surprize, and being Welcome when you have fo furprized him. The Person flattered receives you into his Closet at once; and the fudden Change in his Heart, from the Expectation of an Ill-wisher, to find you his Friend, makes you in his full Favour in a Moment. The Spirits that were raised so suddenly against you, are as fuddenly for you. There was another Instance given of this kind at the Table: A Gentleman, who had a very great Favour done him, and an Employment bestow'd upon him, without so much as being known to his Benefactor, waited upon the great Man who was fo generous, and was beginning to fay, he was infinitely obliged-Not at all, fays the Patron, turning from him to another, Had I known a more deferving Man in England, be should not have bad it.

WE should certainly have had more Examples, had not a Gentleman produced a Book which he thought an Instance of this kind: It was a Pamphlet, call'd, The naked Truth. The Idea any one would have of that Work from the Title, was, That there would be much Plaindealing with People in Power, and that we should see Things in their proper Light, stripped of the Ornaments which are usually given to the Actions of the Great: But the Skill of this Author is fuch, that he has, under that rugged Appearance, approved himfelf the finest Gentleman and Courtier that ever writ. The Language is extreamly fublime, and not at all to be understood by the Vulgar: The Sentiments are such as would make no Figure in ordinary Words; but such is the Art of the Expression, and the Thoughts are elevated to so high a Degree, that I question whether the Discourse will sell much, There was an ill-natur'd Fellow present, who hates all Panegyrick mortally. P- take bim, faid he, What the Devil means his Naked Truth, in speaking nothing but to the Advantage of all subom he mentions? This is just such a great Action as that of the Champion's on a Coronation Day, who challenges all Mankind to dispute with him the Right of the Sovereign, surrounded with his Guards. The Gentleman who produced the Treatife, defired him to be cautious, and faid, it was writ by an excellent Soldier, which made the Company observe it more narrowly: And (as Criticks are the greateft Conjurers at finding out a known Truth) one faid, he was fure it was writ by the Hand of his Sword-Arm: I could not perceive much Wit in that Expression; but it raised a Laugh, and I fuppose, was meant as a Sneer upon valiant Men. The same Man pretended to see in the Style, that it was an Horse-Officer; but fure, that's being too nice: For though you may know Officers' of the Cavalry by the Turn of their Feet, I can't imagine how you should discern their Hands from those of other Men. But it is always thus with Pedants; they will ever be carping; if a Gentleman or a Man of Honour puts Pen to Paper, I don't doubt, but this Author will find this Affertion too true, and that Obloquy is not repulfed by the Force of Arms. I will therefore fet this excellent Piece in a Light too glaring for weak Eyes, and, in Imitation of the Critick Longinus, Sty per an qui by

ot

N

fha

to and is Maria of the he pu ma

fern nel the fan Hc

mo

felf. tha bei felf

Le par On the

the of the An

An

shall, as well as I can, make my Observations in a Style like the Author's, of whom I treat, which perhaps I am as capable of as another, having an unbounded Force of Thinking, as well as a most exquifite Address, extensively and wifely indulged to me, by the supream Powers. My Author, I will dare to affert, shews the most universal Knowledge of any Writer who has appeared this Century. He is a Poet, and Merchant, which is feen in two Master-Words, Credit Blessoms. He is a Grammarian, and a Politician; for he fays, The uniting of the two Kingdoms, is the Emphasis of the Security to the Protestant Succession. Some would be apt to fay, he is a Conjurer; for he has found, That a Republick is not made up of every Body of Animals, but is composed of Men only, and not of Horses. Liberty and Property bave chosen their Retreat within the emulating Circle of an bumane Commonwealth. He is a Phylician; for he fays, I obferve a conftant Equality in its Pulfe, and a just Quickness of its vigorous Circulation. And again, I view the Strength of our Conflictation plainly appear in the sanguine and ruddy Complexion of a well-contented City. He is a Divine: For he fays, I cannot but blefs my felf. And indeed this excellent Treatise has had that good Effect upon me, who am far from being superstitious, that I also, can't but bless my felf.

St. James's Coffee-boufe, May 18.

THIS Day arrived a Mail from Lisbon, with Letters of the 13th Instant N. S. containing a particular Account of the late Action in Portugal. On the 3th Instant, the Army of Portugal, under the Command of the Marquis de Frontera, lay on the Side of the Caya, and the Army of the Duke of Anjon, commanded by the Marquis de Bay, on the other. The latter Commander having an Ambition to ravage the Country, in a Manner in Sight of the Portugueze, made a Mation with the whole the this ged

age deruch

rds; the hat ich.

who im,

hom that nges

be ent

atne nis

in I n.

n. e,

rs't m

I

9

114

and whe

onx

this

of I

way

unf

wer

and

be

mai

ill !

ty

has

afic

Dif

fur

the fat

tio

fon

27 lie

Ca

Pri

tim

Wa

re

T

Sta

VI

th

th

ing

bor

D

B

me.

1

whole Body of his Herse toward Fort St. Christ pher, near the Town of Badajes. The General of the Portugueze, dildaining that fuch an Inful should be offered to their Arms, took a Resolution to pass the River, and oppose the Designs of the Enemy. The Earl of Galway represented to them, That the present Posture of Affairs was fuch on the Side of the Allies, that there need. ed no more to be done at present in that Country, but to carry on a defensive Part. But his Arguments could not avail in the Council of War. Upon which, a great Detachment of Foot, and the whole of the Horse of the King of Portugal's Army, passed the River, and with some Pieces of Cannon did good Execution on the Enemy, Upon observing this, the Marquis de Bay advanced with his Horse, and attacked the Right Wing of the Portugueze Cavalry, who faced about, and fled, without standing the first Encounter. But their Foot repulsed the same Body of Horse in three fuccessive Charges, with great Order and Resolution. While this was transacting, the Britif General commanded the Brigade of Pearce, to keep the Enemy in Diversion by a new Attack. This was so well executed, that the Portugueze Infantry had Time to retire in good Order, and repais the River. But that Brigade, which rescued them, was it self surrounded by the Enemy, and Major-General Sarkey, Brigadier Pearce, together with both their Regiments, and that of the Lord Galway, lately raised, were taken Prisoners.

DURING the Engagement, the Earl of Barrimore having advanced too far to give fome neceffary Order, was hemmed in by a Squadron of the Enemy; but found Means to gallop up to the Brigade of Pearce, with which he remains also a Prisoner. My Lord Galway had his Horse shot under him in this Action; and the Conde de St. Juan, a Portugueze General, was taken Prisoner. The same Night the Army encamped at Aronches,

brifts

neral

Inful

efolu

ans of

ted to need.

Count his

War.

and

icces

emy,

van-

Ving

and

But

e in

and

Briarce,

At-

Por-

Or-

ide,

by

ga-

nts,

cre

ar-

ne-

of

he

.

ot

St.

er.

es,

and on the oth moved to Ploas, where they lay when these Dispatches came away. Colonel Stans oix's Regiment is also taken. The whole of this Affair has given the Portugueze a great Idea of the Capacity and Courage of my Lord Galway, against whose Advice they entred upon this unfortunare Affair, and by whose Conduct they were rescued from it. The prodigious Constancy and Refolution of that great Man is hardly to be parallel'd, who, under the Oppression of a maimed Body, and the Reflection of repeated ill Fortune, goes on with an unspeakable Alacrity in the Service of the Common Caufe. He has already put Things in a very good Posture after this ill Accident, and made the necessary Dispositions for covering the Country from any further Attempt of the Enemy, who lie fill in the Camp, they were in before the Battle.

LETTERS from Bruffels, dated the 25th Infant, advise, That notwithstanding the Negotiations of a Peace feem for far advanced, that fome do confidently report the Preliminaries of a Treaty to be actually agreed on; yet the Allies haften their Preparations for opening the Campaign; and the Forces of the Empire, the Pruffians, the Danes, the Wirtembergers, the Palatines; and Saxon Auxiliaries, are in Motion towards the general Rendenvous, they being already arrived in the Neighbourhood of Bruffels. These Advices add, That the Deputies of the States of Holland, having made a general Review of the Troops in Flanders, fet out for Amwerp on the 21st Instant from that Place. On the same Day the Prince Royal of Prussia came thither incognite, with a Design to make the enfuing Campaign under his Grace the Duke of Mark borough new seems I to mail the too too men

THIS Day is published a Treatife, call'd, The Difference between Scandal and Admonition. By Isaac Bickerstaff, Esq. And on the first of July next, you may expell A Prophecy of Things past.

to 1

for

Way

ftari

and

arri

loft of S

the cann are

miff ed?

wer

Nan

his

Rel

the This

He 1

of a

Plac drun

et not.

hou

fwor

fere

Uni

Wha

is, '

thin

the

grap

of T

truc

Day

beer

Was

not

wherein the Art of Fortune-telling is laid open to the meanest Capacity. And on the Monday following, Choice Sentences for the Company of Mafon and Bricklayers, to be put upon new Houses, with a Translation of all the Latin Sentences. that have been built of late Years, together with a Comment upon Stone-Walls, by the same Handi Nº 18. Saturday May 21. 1709.

From my own Apartment, May 20.

T is observed too often, that Men of Wit do I so much employ their Thoughts upon fine Speculations, that Things ufeful to Mankind are wholly neglected; and they are bufie in making Emendations upon some Encliticks in a Greek Anthor, while obvious Things, that every Man may have Use for, are wholly overlooked. It would be an happy Thing, if fuch as have real Capacit ties for publick Service, were employed in Work of general Use; but because a Thing is every Body's Bufiness, it is no Body's Bufiness: This is for Want of publick Spirit. As for my Part, who am only a Student, and a Man of no great Intereft, I can only remark Things, and recommend the Correction of them to higher Powers There is an Offence I have a thousand Times lamented, but fear I shall never fee remedied; which is, That in a Nation where Learning is fo frequent as in Great Britain, there should be fo many groß Errors as there are in the very Directions of Things, wherein Accuracy is necelfary for the Conduct of Life. This is notorious ly observed by all Men of Letters when they first come to Town (at which Time they are usually curious that Way) in the Inscriptions of Sign-Posts. I have Cause to know this Matter as well as any Body; for I have (when I went to the

Ding

font

nles,

iccs,

with idi

93 it do

Spe-

are

king

An-

mat

ould

aci

orks

rery

15 15

who

In-

om-

vers.

la

ied;

s fo

e fo

Di

cef-

ouf

hey

are

s on

tref went to

Merchant-Taylor's School) fuffered Stripes for spelling after the Signs I observed in int Way; though at the fame Time I must confess, faring at those Inscriptions first gave me an Idea and Curiofity for Medals; in which I have fince arrived at some Knowledge. Many a Man has loft his Way and his Dinner by this general Want of Skill in Orthography: For, confidering that the Painters are usually so very bad, that you cannot know the Animal under whose Sign you are to live that Day, How must the Stranger be milled, if it be wrong spelled, as well as ill painted! I have a Confin now in Town, who has answered Under-Bachelor at Queen's College whose Name is Humphry Monflaff: (He is a Kin to us by his Mother.) This young Man going to fee a Relation in Barbican, wandered a whole Day by the Mistake of one Letter, for it was written, This is the BEER, instead of, This is the BEAR. He was fet right at last, by enquiring for the House, of a Fellow who could not read, and knew the Place mechanically, only by having been often drunk there. But in the Name of Goodness. let us make our Learning of Use to us, or not. Was not this a Shame, that a Philosopher hould be thus directed by a Cobler? I'll be fworn, if it were known how many have fuffered in this Kind by false Spelling fince the Union, this Matter would not long lie thus. What makes these Evils the more insupportable is, That they are so easily amended, and nothing done in it. But it is so far from that, that the Evil goes on in other Arts as well as Orthography. Places are confounded, as well for Want of proper Distinctions, as Things for Want of true Characters. Had I not come by the other Day very early in the Morning, there might have been Mischief done; for a worthy North Britain was swearing at Stocks-Market, that they would not let him in at his Lodgings; but I knowing

No

Nº 98

fles of evi Fal are wh

on and fub foo qui

and

.

the

Thed ner

Da bore Tot Of

bel ful nic

Bre felt

the Gentleman, and observing him look often a the King on Horseback, and then double l Oaths, that he was fure he was right, found mistook that for Charing Grofs, by the Erection of the like Statue in each Place. I grant, private Men may diftinguish their Abodes as they pleate as one of my Acquaintance who lives at Manbone, has put a good Sentence of his own Inven tion upon his Dwelling place, to find out when he lives: He is fo pear London, that his Concer is this, The Country in Town; on, The Town in the Country; for you know, if they are both in one they are all one, Beades that, the Ambiguing is not of great Consequence; if you are fafe at the Place, 'sis no Matter if you do not distindly know where to fay the Place is. But to return to the Orthography of publick Places; I propose, That every Tradesman in the Cines of London and Westminster, shall give me Sixpences Quarter for keeping their Signs in Repair, as to the Grammatical' Part; and I will take into my House a Swife Count of my Acquaintance, who can remember all their Names without Book, for Dispatch Sake, setting up the Head of the fail Foreigner for my Sign; the Features being frong and fit for banging high besteril and ad

St. Fames's Ciffee boufe, May 20.

THIS Day a Mail arrived from Holland, by which there are Advices from Paris. That the Kingdom of France is in the utmost Misery and Distraction. The Merchants of Lions have been at Court, to remonstrate their great Suffering by the Pailure of their publick Credit; but have received no other Satisfaction, than Promises a studden Peace; and that their Debts will be made good by funds out of the Revence, which will not answer, but in case of the Peace which is promised. In the mean Time, the Cries of the

800

10 A 10 A

on a

TIVAL

Man-

nven

hen

ncei

in the

gung afe at

nali

pro

es of

nce

as to o my

for faid

rong

inoth.

5915

t the

been been rings

have ics of which ich u

fibe

com-

common Prople are lond for Want of Bread, the Gentry have left all Spirit and Zeal for their Country, and the King himfelf feems to languish under the Anxiety of the pressing Calamities of the Nation, and retires from hearing those Grievances, which he hath not Power to redress Instead of Preparations for Wan, and the Defence of their Country, there is nothing to be seen but evident Marks of a general Despair: Processions, Fastings, Publick Mournings and Humiliations, are become the sole Employments of a People, who were lately the most vain and gay of any in the Universe.

on the Subject of a Peace, and his Majety has answered in the lowliest Terms, That he entirely submits his Affairs to Divine Providence, and shall soon shew the World, that he prefers the Tranquility of his People to the Glory of his Arms, and Extent of his Conquests.

LEPTERS from the Hanne of the right fay, That his Excellency the Lord Townsbend delivered his Credentials on that Day to the States General, as Plenipotentiary from the Queen of Great Britain; as did also Count Zinzendors, who bears the same Character from the Emperor.

PRINCE Engene intended to fet out the next Day for Bruffels, and his Grace the Duke of Mariborough on the Tuefday following. The Marquis de Torry talks daily of going, but still continues there. The Army of the Allies is to affemble on the 7th of next Month at Helchin; though it is generally believed, that the Preliminaries to a Treaty are fully adjusted by the model.

THE Approach of the Peace strikes a Palnick through our Armies, though that of a Battel could never do it, and they almost repent of their Bravery, that made fuch Haste to humble themselves and the Free b King. The Duke of Mariburney, though otherwise the greatest General of the Age, has plainly shown himself unacquain ed with the Arts of husbanding a War. He might have grown as old as the Duke of Alua, or Prince Waldeck in the Low Countries, and yet have got Ro putation enough every Year for any reasonable Man: For the Command of General in Flanders hat been ever looked upon as a Provision for Life. For my Part, I can't fee how his Grace can answer itto the World, for the great Eagerness he hath them to fend an hundred thousand of the bravest Fellows in Europe a begging. But the private Gentle men of the Infantry will be able to hift for them. felves; a brave Man can never starve in a Country flock'd with Hen-roofts. There is not a Yand of Linen, fays my honoured Progenitor, Sir John Fak Raff, in my whole Company; but as for that, fays the worthy Knight, I am in no great Pain, we foull find Shirts on every Hedge. There is another Sort of Gentlemen whom I am much more concerned for, and that is the ingenious Fraternity of which I have the Honour to bo an unworthy Member; I mean the News Writers of Great Britain, whether Post-Men or Post-Beys, or by what other Name or Title foever dignified or distinguished. The Case of these Gentlemen, is, I think, more hard than that of the Soldiers, confidering that they have taken more Towns, and fought more Battles. They have been upon Parties and Skirmishes, when our Armies have lain fill, and given the general Affault to many a Place, when the Befiegers were quiet in ther Trenches. They have made us Mafters of feveral ftrong Towns many Weeks before our Generals could do it; and compleated Victories, when our greatest Captains have been glad to come off with a drawn Battel. Where Prince Eugene has Alain his thousands Boyer has flain his ten thousands. This Gentleman can indeed be never enough commended for his Courage and Intrepidity during this whole War: He has laid about him with an inexpredible Fury, and

the

It has car loo as a

N

and

ma nor Sid gen Ev

who of I or a Let loft it. upo grea was info the casic Rive geon

and Familis gr Swor fure will I Soldi is in of be

Band prefu V aint

ince

Ro

able hath

For

itto

twa

Fel

ntle

nem.

OUL

end of

Fak

thu I find

rt of rned hich er; I

ether

or or Case

than

have tles.

Thes,

1, the

Be-

have nany

and tains

Bat-

ands

man r his

War:

ury,

and

and like the offended Marins of ancient Rome, made fuch Havock among his Countrymen, as must be the Work of two or three Ages to repair. It must be confess'd, the redoubted Mr. Buckley has shed as much Blood as the former; but I cannot forbear faying, (and I hope it will not look like Envy) that we regard our Brother Buckley as a kind of Drawcanfir, who spares neither Friend nor Foe; but generally kills as many of his own Side as the Enemy's. It is impossible for this ingenious Sort of Men to sublist after a Peace: Every one remembers the Shifts they were driven to in the Reign of King Charles the Second, when they could not furnish out a fingle Paper of News, without lighting up a Comet in Germany, or a Fire in Moscow. There scarce appeared a Letter without a Paragraph on an Earthquake. Prodigies were grown fo familiar, that they had loft their Name, as a great Poet of this Age has i. I remember Mr. Dyer, who is justly look'd upon by all Fox-Hunters in the Nation as the greatest Statesman our Country has produced, was particularly famous for dealing in Whales, infomuch that in five Months Time (for I had the Curiofity to examine his Letters on that Octalion) he brought three into the Mouth of the River Thames, besides two Porpusses and a Sturgeon. The judicious and wary Mr. I. Dawks hath along been the Rival of this great Writer, and got himself a Reputation from Plagues and famines, by which, in those Days, he destroyed s great Multitudes, as he has lately done by the word. In every Dearth of News Grand Cairowas ure to be unpeopled.

IT being therefore visible, that our Society will be greater Sufferers by the Peace than the foldiery it felf; infomuch that the Daily Courant s in Danger of being broken, my Friend Dyer of being reformed, and the very best of the whote Band of being reduced to Half-pay; Might I presume to offer any Thing in the Behalf of my VOL. I.

to

ve

no of in fh

ani

and ty

La

ner

by Na

it fl

One

A 1

Per

him cha

he v

any peri Adv Con

fit f

chaf

as a

of t

the .

an E

men

utter ever

Inflit

withi

in th

an Appendix of proper Apartments furnished with Pen, Ink and Paper, and other Necessaries of Life should be added to the Hospital of Chelsea, for the Relief of such decay'd News-Writers as have served their Country in the Wars; and that for their Exercise they should compile the Annal of their Brother Veterans, who have been engaged in the same Service, and are still obliged a do Duty after the same Manner.

I cannot be thought to speak this out of a Eye to any private Interest; for, as my chie Scenes of Action are Cossee-houses, Play-house, and my own Apartment, I am in no need a Camps, Fortifications, and Fields of Battel a support me; I don't call out for Heroes and Generals to my Assistance. Tho' the Officers are broken, and the Armies disbanded, I shall shall be safe as long as there are Men or Women, a Politicians, or Lovers, or Poets, or Nymphs, a Swains, or Cits, or Courtiers in Being,

No 19. Tuesday, May 24. 1709.

From my own Apartment, May 20.

Consideration greater Pain, than to see Order and Distinction laid aside amongst Men, especially when the Rank (of which he himself is Member) is intruded upon by such as have no Pretence to that Honour. The Appellation of Elguire is the most notoriously abused in this kind of any Class amongst Men, insomuch that it is become almost the Subject of Derision; but I will be bold to say, This Behaviour towards it proceeds from the Ignorance of the People in its true Origine. I shall therefore, as briefly as possible.

fible, do my felf and all true Elquires the Justice to look into Antiquity upon this Subject.

IN the first Ages of the World, before the Invention of Jointures and Settlements, when the noble Passion of Love had Possession of the Hearts of Men, and the Fair Sex were not yet cultivated into the merciful Disposition, which they have shewed in latter Centuries, it was natural for great and heroick Spirits to retire to Rivulets, Woods and Caves, to lament their Deltiny, and the Cruelty of the fair Persons who were deaf to all their Lamentations. The Hero in this Diffress was generally in Armour, and in a Readiness to fight any Man he mer with, especially if distinguished by any extraordinary Qualifications; it being the Nature of Heroick Love to hate all Merit, left it should come within the Observation of the cruel One, by whom its own Perfections are neglected. A Lover of this Kind had always about him a Person of a second Value, and subordinate to him, who could hear his Afflictions, carry an Inchantment for his Wounds, hold his Helmet when he was eating, (if ever he did eat) or in his Absence, when he was retired to his Apartment in any King's Palace, tell the Prince himself, or perhaps his Daughter, the Birth, Parentage and Adventures, of his valiant Master. This trusty Companion was ftyled his Esquire, and was always fit for any Offices about him; was as gentle and chaste as a Gentleman-Usher, quick and active as an Equerry, smooth and eloquent as a Master of the Ccremonies. A Man thus qualified was the first, as the Antients aftirm, who was called an Efquire; and none without these Accomplishments ought to assume our Order: But, to the uter Diffrace and Confusion of the Heralds, every Pretender is admitted into this Fraternity. even Persons the most foreign to this courteous Inflitution. I have taken an Inventory of all within this City, and looked over every Letter in the Post-Office for my better Information.

for inal

d to

hæ

ife,

f an chief

ed of

Ge and

n, of

of any ee Orelpe

ion of

t proin its as pos-

fible

it

tha

Of

Le

fel

no

De

wh

Da

Pop

Id

tio

the

pro

rala Hal

ftan

a-pe

ign

who

15

Stag

you.

a F

ever

for !

all.

this

for 1

ons:

in so

fign

tion,

who

quer

can]

fage

Secre

for als ff

befor

There are of the Middle Temple, including all in the Buttery-Books, and in the Lifts of the House, 5000. In the Inner, 4000. In the King's Bench Walks, the whole Buildings are inhabited by E. fquires only. The adjacent Street of Effex, from Morris's Coffee-house, and the turning towards the Grecian, you cannot meet one who is not an Esquire, 'till you take Water. Every House in Norfolk and Arundel Streets is governed also by a Squire, or his Lady. Sobo-Square, Bloomsbury-Squan, and all other Places where the Floors rife above nine Foot, are so many Universities where you enter your felves, and become of our Order. However, if this were the worst of the Evil, it were to be supported, because they are generally Men of some Figure and Use; though I know no Pretence they have to an Honour which had its Rife from Chivalry. But if you travel into the Counties of Great Britain, we are still more imposed upon by Innovation. We are indeed derived from the Field: But shall that give Title to all that ride mad after Foxes, that hollow when they fee an Hare, or venture their Necks full speed after an Hawk, immediately to comcence Esquires? No; our Order is temperate, cleanly, fober and chafte; but these Rural Efquires commit Immodeffies upon Hay-cocks, wear Shirts half a Week, and are drunk twice a Day. These Men are also to the last Degree excessive in their Food: An Esquire of Norfolk eats two Pounds of Dumplin every Meal, as if obliged to it by our Order: An Esquire of Hampsbire is as ravenous in devouring Hogs flesh: One of Ester has as little Mercy on Calves. But I must take he Liberty to protest against them, and acquaint those Persons, that it is not the Quantity they eat, but the Manner of eating, that shews a Squire. But above all, I am most offended at small Quill-men, and transcribing Clerks, who are all come into our Order, for no Reason that I know of, but that they can easily flourish

1 in use,

Bench

E.

rom

ards t an

e in

by a uare,

e a-

here

Or-

Evil,

cne-

gh I

hich

avel

Hill

e in-

give ollo

ecks

com-

rate,

IE-

wear

Day.

five

two

ed to 15 25

Effer

take

naint

they

it at the End of their Name. I'll undertake, that if you read the Superscriptions to all the Offices in the Kingdom, you will not find three Letters directed to any but Esquires. I have my felf a Couple of Clerks, and the Rogues make nothing of leaving Messages upon each other's Desk: One directs, To Degory Goose-quill, Esq; to which the other replies by a Note, to Nebemiab Dashwell, Esq; with Respect, In a Word, it is now Populus Armigerorum, A People of Esquires. And-I don't know but, by the late Act of Naturalization, Foreigners will assume that Title, as Part of the Immunity of being Englishmen. All these Improprieties flow from the Negligence of the Heralds-Office. Those Gentlemen in Party-colour'd Habits do not so rightly, as they ought, underfand themselves; though they are dress'd Capa-pe in Hieroglyphicks, they are inwardly but ignorant Men. I asked an Acquaintance of mine, who is a Man of Wit, but of no Fortune, and is forced to appear as Jack-pudding on the Stage to a Mountebank: Prythee, Fack, why is your Coat of so many Colours? He reply'd, I act a Fool, and this spotted Dress is to signifie, that every Man living has a weak Place about him; for I am Knight of the Shire, and represent you all. I wish the Heralds would know as well as this Man does, in his Way, that they are to act for us in the Case of our Arms and Appellations: We should not then be jumbled together in so promiscuous and absurd a Manner. I defign to take this Matter into further Confideration, and no Man shall be received as an Esquire, who cannot bring a Certificate, That he has conquered some Lady's obdurate Heart; That he can lead up a Country-Dance, or carry a Meflage between her and her Lover, with Address, Secrecy and Diligence. A 'Squire is properly born for the Service of the Sex, and his Credentials shall be signed by three Toasts, and one Prude, before his Title shall be received in my Office. G 3

nded

erks, a fon arish

it

126

N

gen

WC 'en

the

dat by

a C

nif

mo

Sty

cn

gre

tha

it i

wb

thi

wh

of .

fro

suk

De: Cos

con of

he buc

pea

Son

pre

thy ref

P

G

E

T

glo

Will's Coffee-boufe, May 23.

ON Saturday last was presented, The Body, a Comedy, written (as I have heretofore remark'd) by a Woman. The Plot and Inc. dents of the Play are laid with that Subtilty of Spirit which is peculiar to Females of Wit, and is very feldom well performed by those of the other Sex, in whom Craft in Love is an Act of Invention, and not, as with Women, the Effect of Nature and Inflinet. TO Morrow will be afted a Play, call'd, The Trip to the Jubilee. This Performance is the greatest Instance that we can have of the irrelistble Force of proper Action. The Dialogue in it felf has fomething too low to bear a Criticism upon it: But Mr. Wilks enters into the Part with so much Skill, that the Gallantry, the Youth, and Gaiety of a young Man of a plentiful Fortune, is looked upon with as much Indulgence on the Stage, as in real Life, without any of those intermixtures of Wit, and Humour, which usually preposicis us in Favour of such Characters in other Plays.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, May 23.

LETTERS from the Hague of the 23d Inftant, N. S. fay, Mr. Walpole (who is fince arrived) was going with all Expedition to Great Ritain, whither they doubted not but he carried with him the Preliminaries to a Treaty of Peace. The French Minister, Monlieur Torcy, has been observed in this whole Negociacion to turn his Discourse upon the Calamities sear down by Heaven upon France, and imputed the Necessities they were under to the immediate Hand of Providence, in inflicting a general Scarcity of Provision, rather than the Superior Genius of the General's or the Bravery of the Armies against them. would be impious not to acknowledge the Indulgence

gence of Heaven to us; but at the same Time as we are to love our Enemies, we are glad to see 'em mortified enough to mix Christianity with their Politicks. An Authentick Letter from Madam Maintenen to Monsieur Torcy has been stolen by a Person about him, who has communicated a Copy of it to some of the Dependants of a Minister of the Allies. That Epistle is writ in the most pathetick Manner imaginable, and in a Style which shews her Genius, that has so long engrossed the Heart of this great Monarch.

SIR,

Received yours, and am sensible of the Address and Capacity with which you have hitherto transacted the great Affair under your Management. You well observe. that our Wants here are not to be concealed; and that it is Vanity to use Artifices with the knowing Men with whom you are to deal. Let me beg you therefore, in this Representation of our Circumstances, to lay aside Art, which ceafes to be such when it is seen, and make use of all your Skill to gain us what Advantages you can from the Enemy's fealousie of each other's Greatness; which is the Place where only you have Room for any Dexterity. If you have any Passion for your unhappy Country, or any Affection for your distressed Master. come Home with Peace. Oh Heaven! Dol live to talk of Lewis the Great as the Object of Pity? The King herus a great Uneafinefs to be informed of all that paffes; but at the same Time, is fearful of every one who appears in bis Presence, left be sould bring an Account of some new Calamity. I know not in what Terms to represent my Thoughts to you, when I speak of the King with relation to his bodily Health. Figure to your felf that Immertal Man, who flood in our publi k Places, represented with Trophies, Armour and Terrors, on his Pedeftal: Confider, the Invincible, the Great, the Good, the Pious, the Mighty, which were the ufual Epithets we gave kim, both in our Language and Thoughts. I fay, confider bim whom you knew the most glorious and greatest of Monarchs; and now think you and the et of

G 4

Bufie

fore

Inci-

The the

cifu cifu with

and une, the

inually rs in

In-Briried

his Hea-

nce, ra-

lt lul-

No great defir in a

riage

Na

prefe

cann

he

of hi

Tis

what plain

Suit.

Hust be bu

of,

Tim go tl

you pers tious

preta Con

fay)

Befic

grea

and

fwer

to re

Can

ty:

willi

you

Qui

fary

and kney

fee the same Man an unhappy Lazar, in the lowed Circumstance of human Nature it self, without Regard to the State from whence he is fallen. I write from his Bedside: He is at present in a Slumber. I have many, many Things to add; but my Tears flow too fast, and my Sorrow is too hig for Utterance.

I am, &

Nº 19.

THERE is such a Veneration due from all Men to the Persons of Princes, that it were a Sort of Dishonesty to represent further the Condition which the King is in; but it is certain, That soon after the Receipt of these Advices, Monsieur Torcy waited upon his Grace the Duke of Marlborough and the Lord Townshend, and in that Conference gave up many Points, which he had before said were such, as he must return to France before he could answer.

すなさもさもさもももはいっとうもっているとうとうとうとうと

Nº 20.

Thursday, May 26. 1709.

White's Chocolate House, May 24.

I T is not to be imagined how far Prepossession will run away with Peoples Understandings, in Cases wherein they are under present Unestiness. The following Narration is a sufficient Tefimony of the Truth of this Observation.

I had the Honour the other Day of a Visit from a Gentlewoman (a Stranger to me) who seemed to be about Thirty. Her Complexion is brown; but the Air of her Face has an Agreeableness, which surpasses the Beauties of the fairest Women. There appeared in her Look and Mien a sprightly Health; and her Eyes had too much Vivacity to become the Language of Complaint, which she began to enter into. She seemed sensible of it; and therefore, with downcast Looks, said she, Mr. Bickerstaff, You see before you the unhappiest of Women; and therefore, 19.

well.

gard

bis

any,

and 800

all

1 9

on-

ain,

ces,

uke

in

he he

to 20 fion

ngs,

efi-

Te-

ifit vho

n is ee-

the

ook

had

of

She

wn-

be-

re,

25

s you are effeemd by all the World both a reat Civilian, as well as an Aftrologer, I must lefire your Advice and Affistance, in putting me na Method of obtaining a Divorce from a Marriage, which I know the Law will pronounce roid. Madam, faid I, your Grievance is of fuch Nature, that you must be very ingenuous in representing the Causes of your Complaint, or I annot give you the Satisfaction you defire. Sir, he answers, I believed there would be no need of half your Skill in the Art of Divination, to guess why a Woman would part from her Husband. Tis true, said I, but Suspicions, or Gueffes at what you mean, nay Certainty of it, except you plainly speak it, are no Foundation for a formal Suit. She clap'd her Fan before her Face; My Husband, faird she, is no more an Husband (bere be burst into Tears) than one of the Italian Singers.

MADAM, faid I, the Affliction you complain of, is to be redressed by Law; but at the same Time, confider what Mortifications you are to go through in bringing it into open Court; how you will be able to bear the impertment Whifpers of the People present at the Trial, the licentious Reflections of the Pleaders, and the Interpretations that will in general be put upon your Conduct by all the World? How little (will they fay) could that Lady command her Passions Besides, consider, that curbing our Desires is the greatest Glory we can arrive at in this World and will be most rewarded in the next. She answered, like a prudent Marron, Sir, if you please to remember the Office of Marrimouy, the first Canfe of its Institution is that of having Posterity: Therefore, as as to the curbing Defires, I am willing to undergo any Abstinence from Food as you please to enjoin me; but I cannot with any Quiet of Mind, live in the Neglect of a neceffary Duty, and an express Commandment, Increase and multiply. Observing the was learned, and knew fo well the Duties of Life, L turned my April

G 5

Na Ma To my up in 1 vat in 1 jean AS exc are 1 T wel ed ! Lac Ele who Th Pri mar > info Leg I he amo Orn Plu ther fell

Mrs petwhe of J to

Rak fatio

Procedure by Examples, than Precepts. Do but confider, Madam, what Crowds of beauteout Women live in Nunneries, secluded for ever from the Sight and Conversation of Men, with all the Alacrity of Spirit imaginable; they fpend their Time in heavenly Raptures, in constant and frequent Devotions, and at proper Hours in agree able Conversations. Sir, faid the haftily, Tell not me of Papists, or any of their Idolatries. Well then, Madam, confider how many fine Ladies live innocently in the Eye of the World, and thu gay Town, in the midft of Temptation : Therei the witty Mrs. W -- is a Virgin of 44, Mrs. T-s is 39, Mrs. L-ce 33; yet you fee, the laugh and are gay, at the Park, at the Play-hould at Balls, and at Vifits; and fo much at Eafe, that all this feems hardly a Self-denial. Mr. Bir kerstaff, said she, with some Emotion; you are an excellent Casuift; but the last Word destroyed your whole Argument; if it is not Self-denial, if is no Virtue. I presented you with an half Guinea, in Hopes not only to have my Confeience eas'd, but my Fortune told. Yer---- Well Madam, faid I, Pray of what Age is your Hul band? He is, reply'd my injured Client, fifty, and I have been his Wife fifteen Years. How happen'd it, you never communicated your Ditress in all this Time to your Friends and Relations? She answered, He has been thus but a Fortnight. I am the most serious Man in the World to look at, and yet could not forbear laughing out. Why, Madam, in case of Infirmity, which proceeds only from Age, the Law gives no Remedy. Sir, said she, I find you have no more Learning than Dr. Cafe; and I am told of a young Man, not five and twenty, just come from Oxford, to whom I will communicate this whole Matter, and dcubt not but he will appear to have feven Times more useful and fatisfactory Knowledge than you and all your boatted Family. Thus I have entirely loft my Client: But if this tedious Narrative preferves Pafforella from the intended Marriage with one twenty Years her Senior—To fave a fine Lady, I am contented to have my Learning decry'd, and my Prédiffions bound up with Poor Robin's Almanacks.

Will's Coffee boufe, May 25.

THIS Evening was a ded, The Recruiting Officer. . in which Mr. Effeourt's proper Sense and Observation is what supports the Play. There is not, in my humble Opinion, the Humour hit in Serjeant Kite; but it is admirably supplied by his Action. If I have Skill to judge, that Man is an excellent Ador; but the Crowd of the Audience are fitter for Representations at May-Fair, than a Theatre Royal. Yet that Fair is now broke, as well as the Theatre is breaking: But it is allowed still to fell Animals there. Therefore, if any Lady or Gentleman have Occasion for a tame Elephant, let them enquire of Mr. Pinkethman. who has one to dispose of at a reasonable Rate. The Downfal of May-Fair has quite funk the Price of this noble Creature, as well as of many other Curiofities of Nature. A Tiger will fell almost as cheap as an Ox; and I am credibly informed, a Man may purchase a Cat with three Legs, for very near the Value of one with four. I hear likewise, That there is a great Desolation among the Gentlemen and Ladies who were the Omaments of the Town, and used to shine in Plumes and Diadems; the Heroes being most of them press'd, and the Queens beating Hemp. Mrs. Sarabrand fo famous for her ingenious Poppet-Show, has fet up a Shop in the Ex bange, where the fells her little Troop under the Term of Jointed-Babies. I could not but be follicitous to know of her, how she had disposed of that Rake-hell Punch, whose lewd Life and Converfation had given so much Scandal, and did not a lita blick o bus teom ever

20

with pend t and

Tell Well

thu ere's Mrs

they oule, Eale,

oyed al, it

half insci-Well Huf-

How Di-

Reut a the

Renore

ford,

ven

ns L

tin

tb

W

I

th

1

fo

k

11

A

a little contribute to the Ruin of the Fair. She told me, with a Sigh, that despairing of ever reclaiming him, she would not offer to place him in a civil Family, but got him in a Post upon a Stall in Wapping, where he may be feen from Sun-rifing to Sun-fetting, with a Glass in one Hand and a Pipe in the other, as Centry to a Brandy-Shop. The great Revolutions of this Nature bring to my Mind the Diftreffes of the unfortunate Camilla, who has had the ill Luck to break before her Voice, and to disappear at a Time when her Beauty was in the Height of in Bloom. This Lady enter'd fo throughly into the great Characters she acted, that when she had finished her Part, she could not think of retrenching her Equipage, but would appear in her own Lodgings with the same Magnificence that she did upon the Stage. This greatness of Soul has reduced that unhappy Princels to an involuntary Retirement, where she now passes her Time among the Woods and Forests, thinking on the Crowns and Scepters she has loft, and often humming over in her Solitude,

> I was born of Royal Race, Yet must wander in Disgrace, &c.

But for fear of being over-heard, and her Quality known, the usually sings it in Italian;

Nacqui al Regno, nacqui al Trono, E pur sono Fventurata Pastorella—

SINCE I have touched upon this Subject, I shall communicate to my Reader Part of a Letter I have received from an ingenious Friend at Amsterdam, where there is a very noble Theatre; though the Manner of furnishing it with Actors is something peculiar to that Place, and gives us Occasion to admire both the Politeness and Frugality of the People.

MI

20. She

re-

him

on a rom

one to a

this the k to

at a

fits

the

d fi-

hing

odg-

up-

uced tire-

g the

and er in her

Lian;

Y Friends bave kept me bere a Week longer than ordinary to see one of their Plays, which was performed last Night with great Applause. The Actors are all of them Tradesmen, who, after their Day's Work is over, earn about a Gilder a Night by personating Kings and Generals. The Hero of the Tragedy I faw, was a fourneyman Taylor, and his first Minifer of State a Coffee man. The Empress made me think of Parthenope in the Rehearfal; for her Mather keeps an Alebouse in the Suburbs of Amsterdam. When the Tragedy was over, they entertained us with a short Farce, in which the Cobler did his Part to a Miracle; but upon Enquiry, I found be had really been working at his own Trade, and representing on the Stage what he afted every Day in his Shop. The Profits of the Theatre maintain an Hospital; For as here they do not think the Profession of an Actor the only Trade that a Man ought to exercise, so they will not allow any Body to grow rich in a Profession, that, in their Opinion, so little conduces to the Good of the Common wealth. If I am not miftaken, your Play bouses in England bave done the same Thing; for, unless I am misinformed, the Hospital at Dulledge was erected and endowed by Mr. Allen, a Player: And it is also said, A samous She-Tragedian bas settled ber Estate, after ber Death, for the Maintenance of decayed Wits, who are to be taken in as soon as they grow dull, at whatever Time of their Life that shall bappen.

St. Fames's Coffee-bouse, May 25.

LETTERS from the Hague of the 31st Instant N. S. say, That the Articles preliminary to a general Peace were fettled, communicated to the States-General, and all the Foreign Ministers refiding there, and transmitted to their respective Masters on the 28th. Monsieur Torcy immediately returned to the Court of France, from whence he is expected again on the 4h of the next Month With those Articles ratified by that Court. The

Higus

a, I Letd at tre;

tors

s lis Fru-

MT

W

AI

bı

je

th

0

m

t

(

N

Nº 20.

Hague is agreed upon for the Place of Treaty, and the 15th of the next Month, the Day on which it is to commence. The Terms whereon this Negociation is founded, are not yet declared by publick Authority; but what is most generally received, is as follows:

HER Majesty's Right and Title, and the Protestant Succession to these Dominions, is forthwith to be acknowledged. King Charles is to beowned the lawful Sovereign of Spain. The French King shall not only recall his Troops out of that Kingdom, and deliver up to the Alires the Towns of Rofes, Fonterabia, and Pampelona; but in cafe the Duke of Anjou shall not revire out of the Spanish Dominions, he shall be obliged to assist the Allies to force him from thence. A Ceffation of Arms. is agreed upon for two Months from the first Day of the Treaty. The Port and Fortifications of Dunkirk are to be demolished within four Months; but the Town it felf left in the Hands of the French. The Pretender is to be obliged to leave France. All Newfoundland is to be restored to the English. As to the other Parts of America, the French are to restore whatever they may have taken from the English, as the English, in like Manner, to give up what they may have taken from the French before the Commencement of the Treaty. The Trade between Great Britain and France shall be settled upon the same Foundation as in the Reign of King Charles the Second.

THE Dutchare to have for their Barriers, Newport, Berg, St. Vinox, Furnes, Ipres, Lifle, Tournay, Douay, Valenciennes, Conde, Maubeuge, Mons, Charleroy, Namur, and Luxemburgh; all which Places shall be delivered up to the Allies before the End of June. The Trade between Holland and France shall be on the same Foot as in 1664. The Cities of Strasbourg, Brisac, and Alsatia shall be restored to the Emperor and Empire; and the King of France, pursuant to the Treaty of Westphalia in 1648, shall only retain the Protection of ten Imperial

20, aty,

OR

con

cla-

ge-

010-

th-

be-ench

hat.

the miss

ins .

of

hs;

he

he

ta-

n-

m

a-

11.8

in

Wry,

es

nd

ce

es

d

of

n

n-

ıl

perial Cities, oiz. Colmar, Schlestat, Haguenau, Munster, Turkeim, Keisemberg, Obrenbeim, Rosheim, Weisemburg, and Landau; Huninguen, Fort Louis, Fort Khiel, and New Brisac, shall be demolished, and all the Fortiscations from Basil to Philipsburg. The King of Prussia shall remain in the peaceable Possession of News batel. The Affair of Orange, as also the Pretentions of his Prussian Majesty in the Frenche Comte, shall be determined at this general Negotiation of Peace. The Duke of Savoy shall have a Restitution made of all that has been taken from him by the French, and remain Master of Exilles, Chamont, Fenestrelles, and the Valley of Pragelas.

dededededemisededededededed

Nº 21. Saturday May 28. 1709.

White's Chocolate-boufe, May 26.

A GENTLEMAN has writ to me out of the Country a very civil Letter, and faid Things which I suppress with great Violence to my Vanity. There are many Terms in my Narratives which he complains want explaining, and has therefore desired, that, for the Benefit of my Country-Readers, I would det him know what I mean by a Gentleman, a Pretty Fellow, a Toast, a Coquet, a Critick, a Wit, and all other Appellations of those now in the gayer World who are in Possessino of these several Characters; together with an Account of those who unfortunately pretend to them. I shall begin with him we usually call a Gentleman, or Man of Conversation.

IT is generally thought, That Warmth of Imagination, quick Relish of Pleasure, and a Manner of becoming it, are the most essential Qualities for forming this Sort of Man. But any one that is much in Company will observe, That the Height of good Breeding is shewn rather be i

in

No

fucl

tha

juff

acc

the

one

by

Me

inn

faft

ing

me

he bac

Th

not fuc

thi

Sea

Wr

fho

are

DO

rit

mo

th

ge

ev

ms

mo

or

ffi

the

1

in never giving Offence, than in doing obliging Things. Thus he that never shocks you, though he is seldom entertaining, is more likely to keep your Favour, than he who often entertains, and sometimes displeases you. The most necessary Talent therefore in a Man of Conversation, which is what we ordinarily intend by a fine Gentleman, is a good Judgment. He that has this in Persection, is Master of his Companion, without letting him see it; and has the same Advantage over Men of any other Qualifications whatsoever, as one that can see would have over a blind Man of ten Times his Strength.

THIS is what makes Sophronius the Darling of all who converse with him, and the most powerful with his Acquaintance of any Man in Town. By the Light of this Faculty, he acts with great Ease and Freedom among the Men of Pleasure, and acquits himself with Skill and Dispatch among the Men of Business. All which he performs with such success, that, with as much Difcretion in Life as any Man ever had, he neither is, nor appears, cunning. But if he does a good Office, as he ever does it with Readiness and Alacrity; fo he denies what he does not care to engage in, in a Manner that convinces you, that you ought not to have asked it. His Judgment is fo good and unerring, and accompanied with so chearful a Spirit, that his Conversation is a conrinual Feast, at which he helps some, and is helped by others, in such a Manner, that the Equality of Society is perfectly kept up, and every Man obliges as much as he is obliged: For it is the greatest and justest Skill in a Man of superior Understanding, to know how to be on a Level with his Companions. This sweet Disposition runs through all the Actions of Sopbronius, and makes his Company defired by Women, withour being envied by Men. Sophronius would be as just as he is, if there were no. Law; and would

2 1

ing

eep

and

ary

on,

ine

has

on,

ld-

ons

of

er-

vn.

eat

re, a-

er-

if-

er

od

nφ

to 12 nt

th

n-

13 ne

d

)F

10

1-

5,

1-18

d

e

over-

be as discreer as he is, if there were no such fuch Thing as Calumny.

IN Imitation of this agreeable Being, is made that Animal we call a Pretty Fellow; who being just able to find out, that what makes Sophronius acceptable, is a natural Behaviour; in order to the same Reputation, makes his own an artificial one. Fack Dimple is his perfect Mimick, whereby he is of Course the most unlike him of all Men living. Sophronius just now passed into the inner Room directly forward: Fack comes as fast after as he can for the right and lest Looking-glass, in which he had but just approved himself by a Nod at each, and march'd on. He will meditate within for half an Hour till he thinks he is not careless enough in his Air, and come back to the Mirror to recollect his Forgetsulness.

Will's Coffee-boufe, May 27.

THIS Night was acted the Comedy, called, The Fox; but I wouder the Modern Writers do not use their Interest in the House to suppress fuch Representations. A Man that has been at this, will hardly like any other Play during the Season: Therefore I humbly move, That the Writings, as well as Dreffes, of the last Age, should give Way to the present Fashion. We are come into a good Method enough (if we were not interrupted in our Mirth by fuch an Apparition as a Play of Johnson's) to be entertained at more Ease, both to the Spectator and the Writer, than in the Days of old. It is no Difficulty to get Hats, and Swords, and Wigs, and Shoes, and every Thing else, from the Shops in Town, and make a Man shew himself by his Habit, without more ado, to be a Counfellor, a Fop, a Courtier, or a Citizen, and not be obliged to make those Characters talk in Different Dialects to be difinguished from each other. This is certainly the furest and best Way of Writing: But such a Play as this makes a Man for a Month after

S

MON

I a

lati

wor

aen

the

Pie

Dr

abl

He

Cer

14

in

ed.

tu

ag

OV

fon

use

H

Pr

St

St

log

COL

ed

for

over-run with Criticism, and enquire, What even Man on the Stage faid? What had fuch a one to co to meddle with fuch a Thing? How came tother, with was bred after this er that Manner, to feeak lo like a Man conversant among a different People? These Que. flions rob us of all our Pleasure; for at this Rate, no Sentence in a Play should be spoken by any one Character, which could possibly enter into the Head of any other Man represented in it. but every Sontiment should be peculiar to him only who utters it. Laborious Ben's Works will bear this Sort of Inquilition; but if the present Writers were thus examined, and the Offences egainst this Rule cut out, few Plays would be long enough for the whole Evening's Entertainment.

BUT I don't know how they did in those old Times: This same Ben fobrison has made every one's Passion in this Play-be towards Money, and yet not one of them expresses that Dotire, or endeavours to obtain it any Way but what is peculiar to him only: One sacrifices his Wife, another his Profession, another his Posterity, from the same Motive; but their Characters are kept so skilfully apart, that it seems prodigious their Discourses should rise from the Invention of the fame Author.

BUT the Poets are a Nest of Hornets, and I'll drive these Thoughts no farther; but must mention some hard Treatment I am like to meet with from my Brother Writers. I am credibly informed, that the Author of a Play, call'd Love in a Hollow-Tree, has made some Remarks upon my late Discourse on The Naked Truth. I cannot blame a Gentleman for writing against any Error; it is for the Good of the learned World. But I would have the Thing fairly less between us two, and not under the Procedion of Patrons. But my Intelligence is, that he has dedicated his Treatise to the Honourable Mr. Edw—d.

From

From my own Apartment, May 27

To Ifane Biekerfinff, Efq;

SIR,

every

o do te

like a

Que.

any

into

him

will

e fent

nces d be

AID-

old

very

and en-

-1409

rom cept

heir

the

I'll

en-

ieet.

bly

ove

noc

an-

my:

·ld.

een

ms.

ted

rom

York, May 16. 1709.

DEING convined, as the whole World is, how in fallible your Predictions are, and having the Homour to be your near Relation, of the Staffian Family, I was under great Concern at one of your Predictions relating to yourfelf, suberein you foretold your own Death would happen on the 17th Instant, unless it was presented by the Assistance of well-dispased Reople; I have therefore prevailed on my own Modesty to find you a Piece of Nows, which may serve, instead of Goddard's Dropps, to keep you alive for two Days, till Naturabe able to recover it self, or till you meet with some better Help from other Hands. Therefore, without further Ceremony, I will go on to relate a singular Adventure instead on the Place where I am writing, where in it may be highly useful for the Publick to be informed.

THREE young Ladies of our Town were on Saturday last indicted for Watchcraft. The Witnesses against the sirst deposed upon Oath before Justice Bindover, That she kept Spirits lock'd up in Vessels, which sometimes appeared in Flames of blue Fire; That she used Magical Herbs, suith some of which she drew in-Hundreds of Men daily to ber, who went out from her Presence all instanced, their Mouths parched, and a bot Steam issuing from them, attended with a grievous Stench; That many of the faid Men were by the Force of that Herb metamorphosed into Swine, and lay wallowing in the Kennels for twenty four Hours, before they could reassame their Shapes or their Senses.

IT was proved against the Second, That she cut off by Night the Limbs from dead Bodies that were hanged, and was seen to dig Holes in the Ground, to municr some conjuring Words, and bury Pieces of the Flesh, aster the ufust Manner of Witches.

THE

THE Third was accused for a notorious Piece of Sorcery, long practised by Hags, of moulding up Piece of Dough, into the Shapes of Men, Women and Children; then heating them at a gentle Fire, which had a Sympathetick Power to torment the Bowels of those in the Neighbourhood.

THIS was the Sum of what was objected againg the three Ladies, who indeed had nothing to say in the own Defence, but downright denying the Facts, which is like to avail very little when they come upon their Trials.

BUT the Parson of our Parish, a grange refraction, Man, will believe nothing of all this; so that the whole Town cries out Shame! That one of his Coat should be such an Atheist? and design to complain of bim to the Bishop. He goes about very oddly to solve the Matter. He supposes, That the first of these Ladies keeping a Brandy and Tobacco-Shop, the Fellows went out smoaking, and got drunk towards Evening, and made themselves Beafts. He says, The second is a Butcher's Daughter, and fometimes brings a Quarter of Mutton from the Slaughter-bouse over Night against a Market-day, and once buried a bit of Beef in the Ground, as a known Receipt to cure Warts on ber Hands. The Parson affirms, That the third fells Gingerbread, which, to please the Children, she is forced to stamp with Images before it is baked, and if it burns their Guts, tis because they eat too much, or do not drink after it.

THESE are the Answers be gives to solve these wonderful Phænomena; upon which I shall not animadvert, but leave it among Philosophers: And so wishing you all Success in your Undertakings for the Amendment of the World, I remain,

Dear Coufin,

Your most Affectionate Kinsman, and Humble Servant,

Ephraim Bedftaff.

P. S. Those who were condemn'd to Death among the Athenians, were obliged to take a Dose of reac whice Infta your mak

No

of F

ing f

that have they Pray

> ftem and if if fly

> > Whi and Adi Squ red lode

V

cee ord Hig

Tropes Ma Ber

ligo by Bri

Th:

21.

ce of

ieces

Chil-

ad a

le in

ainA

their

bich

t beis

Horn

bole

oat

no

the

dies vent

and But-rof

A 4

nd,

The

ich,

14-tis

refe

ni-

ing

nd-

ff.

th

ſe

οŧ

of Poison, which made them die upwards, feizing first upon their Feet, making them cold and intentible, and to ascending gradually, till it reach'd the vital Parts. I believe your Death. which you foretold would happen on the 17th Inflant, will fall out the same Way, and that your Distemper hath already seized on you, and makes Progress daily. The lower Part of you, that is, the Advertisements, is dead; and these have risen for these ten Days last past, so that they now take up almost a whole Paragraph. Pray, Sir, do your Endeavour to drive this Diftemper as much as possible to the extream Parts. and keep it there, as wife Folks do the Gout; for if it once gets into your Stomach, it will foon fly up into your Head, and you are a dead Man.

St. James's Coffee-boufe, May 27.

WE hear from Legborn, That Sir Edward Whitaker, with five Men of War, four Transports, and two Fireships, were arrived at that Port; and Admiral Byng was suddenly expected. Their squadrons being joined, they designed to sail directly for Final, to transport the Reinforcements, lodged in those Parts to Barcelona.

THEY write from Milan, That Count Thaun arrived there on the 16th Instant, N. S. and proceeded on his Journey to Turin on the 21st, in order to concert such Measures with his Royal Highness, as shall appear necessary for the Operations of the ensuing Campaign.

ADVICES from Dauphine say, That the Troops of the Duke of Savoy begin already to appear in those Valleys, whereof he made himself Master the last Year; and that the Duke of Berwick applied himself with all imaginable Diligence to secure the Passes of the Mountains, by ordering Intrenchments to be made towards Briancon, Tourneau, and the Valley of Queiras. That General has also been at Marseilles and Thou-lon,

Gra

Bru

Diff

alte

firm

of A

nor

Ma

of t whi

repo

his

with

Pri

had

nati fant

Fall

of 1

our

But

No

Fri

Fel

the

· to t th

bi

1 0

· el les to haften the Transportation of the Corn at Provisions deligned for his Army a anguit

LETTERS from Vienna bearing Date M 29 NIS. import. That the Cardinal of Same Ze and the Prince of Librangein were preparing fet out for Presburgh, to affish at the Diet of the States, of Hungary, which is to be affembled that Place on the 25th of this Month. General Heifer would shortly appear at the Head of hi Army at Trentfebin, which Place is appointed in the general Rendezvous of the Imperial Force in Hangary; from whence he will advance to la Siege to Newbanfel: In the mean Time Rein forcements, with a great Train of Artillery, an marching the same Way. The King of Denman arrived on the 10th Inftant at Informat, and on the 25th at Dresden, under a triple Discharge of the Artillery of that Place; but his Majetty refuted the Ceremonies of a publick Entry.

OUR Letters from the Upper Rhine fay, That the Imperial Army began to form it felf at B Ingen; where the respective Deputies of the L lector Palatine, the Prince of Baden Durlach, the Bishoprick of Spires, &c. were affembled, and had taken the necessary Measures for the Provifion of Forage, the Security of the Country w gainst the Incursions of the Enemy, and laying a Bridge over the Rhine. Several Veffels laden with Corn are daily passing before Frankfort for the Lower-Rhine.

LETTERS from Poland inform us, That a Detachment of Muscovite Cavalry, under the Command of General Infland, had joined the Confederate Army; and the Infantry, commanded by General Goltz, was expected to come up within few Days. These Succours will amount to 20000 Men.

OUR last Advices from the Hagne dated June the 4th, N. S. say, That they expected a Courier from the French Court with a Ratification of the Preliminaries that Night or the Day following. His

Grace

Grace the Duke of Marlborough will let out for Bruffels on Wednesday or Thursday next, if the Dispatches which are expected from Paris don't alter his Resolutions. Letters from Majora confirm the Honourable Capitulation of the Cattle of Alicant, and also of the Death of the Governor Major General Richards, Colonel Sibourg, and Major Vignolles, who were all buried in the Ruins of that Place by the springing of the great Mine, which did, it feems, more Execution than was reported. Monfieur Torcy passed thro Mons in his Return, and had there a long Conference with the Elector of Banania, after which, that Prince spoke publickly of the Treatment he had received from France with the utmost Indignation.

Any Person that shall come publickly Abroad in a fantastical Habit, contrary to the present Mode and Fashion, except Don Diego Desmallo, on any other out of Poverty, shall have his Name and Dress inserted in our next.

N. B. Mr. How'd'call is defired to leave off those Buttons.

362636363636336363636363636

Nº 22. Tuefday, May 31. 1709.

White's Chocolate-bouse, May 28.

I CAME hither this Evening to see Fashions, and who should I first encounter but my old briend Gynthio (encompassed by a Croud of young Fellows) dictating on the Passen of Love with the gayest Air imaginable. Well, says he, as to what I know of the Matter, there is nothing but Ogling with Skill carries a Woman; but indeed it is not every Fool that is capable of this Art: You will find twenty can speak cloquently, fifty can fight manfully, and a

27

Zan Ingia

ed a

orca o lay

are made

the the

That B

the and ovi-

y ing

for at a

nfel by thin

Fune ricr

the His

semblage

quently fire can best mangally, of n

fe

h

I

Cro Ta

of

fro

to !

ver

tha

ftre

Ma

kee

as paf

enc

WOT

thi

Wo

WOI

to nat

her

the

fpri

of · cou

and

imr

ter

Cor

all

I

your bein

semblage of fost Affection, gay Defires, and hopeful Resolutions?

ftres

fulls

ce the

, and

s at a stand

d he

that

lance

ntive

WIII-

e the

- Not

meet

s of-

pent,

1Cant

o hu

ages:

the

o its

Lin

eau-

refts,

efore

And-

em

e on-

ugh,

com-

om-

our

ac-

you re-

Ob-

ore

fer-

pre-

Af-

lage

POOR Cynthio went on at this Rate to the Croud about him, without any Purpose in his Talk, but to vent an Heart overflowing with Sense of Success. I wondered what could exalt him from the Distress in which he had long appeared, to fo much Alacrity. But my Familiar has given me the State of his Affairs. It feems then, that lately coming out of the Playhouse, his Mifirefs, who knows he is in her Livery, as the Manner of infolent Beauties is, is resolved to keep him still fo, and gave him so much Wages, as to complain to him of the Crowd fhe was to pass through. He had his Wits and Resolution enough about him to take her Hand, and fay, He would attend her to the Coach. All the Way thither my good young Man stammered at every Word, and stumbled at every Step. His Mistres, wonderfully pleased with her Triumph, put him to a thousand Questions, to make a Man of his natural Wit speak with Hesitation, and let drop her Fan, to fee him recover it aukwardly. This is the whole Foundation of Cynthio's Recovery to the sprightly Air he appears with at present.

I grew mighty curious to know something more of that Lady's Affairs, as being amazed how she could dally with an Offer of one of his Merit and Fortune. I sent Pacolet to her Lodgings, who immediately brought me back the following Letter to her Friend and Consident Amanda in the Country, wherein she has opened her Heart and all ts Folds.

Dear Amanda,

THE Town grows so empty, that you must expect my Letter so too, except you will allow me to talk of my self instead of others: You cannot imagine what Pain it is, after a whole Day spent in Publick, to want your Company, and the Ease which Friendship allows in being wain to each other, and speaking all our Minds.
VOL. I.

An

An Account of the Slaughter which thefe unhappy Ern bave made within ten Days last past, would make m appear too great a Tyrant to be allowed in a Christian Country. I hall therefore confine my felf to my principal Conquests, which are the Hearts of Bean Frisk, and Jack Freeland, besides Cynthio, who, you know, swore my Fetters before you went out of Town. Shall I tell you my Weakness? I begin to love Frisk : It is the best humoured impertinent Thing in the World: He is always too in waiting, and will certainly carry m off one Time or other. Freeland's Father and min have been upon Treaty without consulting me; and Cynthio bas been eternally watching my Eyes, without a proaching me, my Friends, my Maid, or any one about me: He hopes to get me, I believe, as they fay the Rat-Ne. Snake does the Squirrel, by flaring at me till I drop into his Mouth. Freeland demands me for a fointum which he thinks deserves me; Cynthio thinks nothing high enough to be my Value: Freeland therefore will take it for no Obligation to bave me; and Cynthio's Idea of me, is what will vanish by knowing me better Familiarity will equally turn the Veneration of the on, and the Indifference of the other, into Contempt. I will flick therefore to my old Maxim, To have that Sort of Man, who can have no greater Views than what an in my Power to give him Possession of. The utmost of my Dear Frisk's Ambition is, to be thought a Man of Fashion; and therefore has been so much in Mode, ast resolve upon me, because the cubole Town likes me Thus I choose rather a Man who loves me because others do, than one who approves me on his own Judgment. He that judges for himself in Love, will often change his Opinion; but be that follows the Senfe of others, must be constant, as long as a Woman can make Advances. The Visits I make, the Entertainments I give, and the Addresses I receive, will be all Arguments for me with a Man of Frisk's second-band Genius; but would be so many Bars to my Happiness with any other Man. However, since Frisk can wait, I shall enjoy a Summer or two longer, and remain a fingle Woman, in the sublime Pleasure of being followed and admired; which fpc bill My

ev.

by

rep he of o not the even Poon tells ors

Grave is ho on the happe fay, B has i Subsci Qual dies. to the

But a felf, I Comp

enough the fift of a G

147 which nothing can equal, except that of being beloved by you.

I am, &c.

Will's Coffee-boufe, May 30.

MY chief Business here this Evening was to focak to my Friends in Behalf of honest Cave Underbill, who has been a Comick for three Generations; My Father admired him extreamly when he was a Boy. There is certainly Nature excellently represented in his Manner of Action; in which he ever avoided that general Fault in Players, of doing too much. It must be confess'd, he has not the Merit of some ingenious Persons now on the Stage, of adding to his Authors; for the Actors were fo dull in the last Age, that many of them have gone out of the World, without having ever spoke one Word of their own in the Theatre. Poor Cave is so mortified, that he quibbles and ells you, he pretends only to act a Part fit for Man who has one Foot in the Grave, viz. a Grave-digger. All Admirers of true Comedy, it shoped, will have the Gratitude to be present on the last Day of his acting, who, if he does not happen to please them, will have it even then to lay, That it is his first Offence.

BUT there is a Gentleman here, who says he has it from good Hands, that there is a cually a Subscription made by many Persons of Wit and Quality, for the Encouragement of new Comedies. This Design will very much contribute to the Imprevement and Diversion of the Town: But as every Man is most concerned for himself, I, who am of a Saturnine and melancholy Complexion, cannot but murmur, that there is not an equal Invitation to write Tragedies, having by me, in my Book of Common Places, mough to enable me to finish a very sad one by the fifth of the next Month. I have the Farewell of a General with a Truncheon in his Hand, dy

H 2

ing

an, in mired; which 2 2,

Eyes

e me

fias

prinrisk,

shall

It is

: H

y me

min

Cyn-

et ap-

about

Rat-

drop

intun

othing

will thio's

better.

be one,

I will

Sort of

at are noft of

lan of

e, Asto

es me

others

ment.

change

others,

e Ad-

give,

nts for

s; but

y other

dier

you

her

but

who

and

roic

a P givo

loger

No

that

Art, him

Wor

whe

told

plie

half

nial

and

ing

it is

the

nou

Dos

hav

of tl

to 1

ing for Love, in fix Lines. I have the Principle of a Politician (who does all the Mischief in the Play) together with his Declaration on the Vanity of Ambition in his last Moments, express'd in a Page and an half. I have all my Oath ready, and my Similes want nothing but Application. I won't pretend to give you an Ac count of the Plot, it being the same Defign upon which all Tragedies have been writ for feven Years last past; and from the Beginning of the first Scene, the Frequenters of the House may know as well as the Author, when the Battle i to be fought, the Lady to yield, and the Hem proceed to his Wedding and Coronation. Belids these Advantages which I have in Readines, I have an eminent Tragedian very much my Friend, who shall come in, and go through the whole five Acts, without troubling me for one Sentence, whether he is to kill or be killed love or be loved, win Battels or lose them, or whatever other tragical Performance I shall please to affign him.

From my own Apartment, May 30.

I have this Day received a Letter, subscri bed Fidelia, that gives me an Account of an Inchantment under which a young Lady fuffer, and defires my Help to exorcise her from the Power of the Sorcerer. Her Lover is a Rake of fixty; the Lady a virtuous Woman of twenty-hve Her Relations are to the last Degree afflicted, and amazed at this irregular Passion: Their Sorrow know not how to remove, but can their Aftoniff. ment; for there is no Spirit in Woman half h prevalent as that of Contradiction, which is the fole Cause of her Perseverance. Let the whole Family go dress in a Body, and call the Bride to Morrow Morning to her Nuprials, and I undertake the Inconstant will forget her Love in the midst of all his Aches. But if this Expe dient

ipla

ef in

the ess'd

ath

Ap.

Ac.

upon

ven

the may

le i

Hero

efide efs, I

r my the one Illed. , ot

leafe

ofcn

n In-

Hers,

the the

re of five:

and

row

nift.

alf 6

tho

holo

Bride

11

over

'spe dient dient does not succeed, I must be so just to the young Lady's diffinguishing Sense, as to applaud her Choice. A fine young Woman, at laft, is but what is due from Fate to an honest Fellow. who has fuffered fo unmercifully by the Sex; and I think we cannot enough celebrate her heroick Virtue, who (like the Patriot that ended a Pestilence by plunging himself into a Gulph) gives herfelf up to gorge that Dragon which hasdevoured so many Virgins before her.

A Letter diretted to Isac Bickerstaff, Efg; Aftrologer and Physician in Ordinary to ber Majesty's Subjetts of Great Britain, with Refpett, is come to Hand.

Nº 23. Thursday, June 2. 1709.

White's Chocolate-bonfe, May 31.

HE Generality of Mankind are fo very fond of this World, and of staying in it, that a Man cannot have enrinent Skill in any one Art, but they will, in Spire of his Teeth, make him a Physician also, that being the Science the Worldlings have most Need of. I pretended, when I first fer up, to Astrology only; but I am told, I have deep Skill also in Medicine. I am applied to now by a Gentleman for my Advice in Behalf of his Wife, who, upon the least Matrimomal Difficulty, is excessively troubled with Fits, and can bear no Manner of Passion without falling into immediate Convultions, I must confess, it is a Case I have known before, and remember the Party was recovered by certain Words pronounced in the midst of the Fit, by the learned Doctor who performed the Cure. These Ails have usually their Beginning from the Affections of the Mind: Therefore you must have Patience to let me give you an Instance, whereby you ref

N

Me

ab

Da

nit

int

wo

bc

Sh

25

M

be

H

fh

de

th

R

he

So

TU

40

To

tb

in

fi

tl

may difcern the Cause of the Distemper, and then proceed in the Cure as follows:

A fine Town-Lady was married to a Gentleman of ancient Descent in one of the Counties of Great Britain, who had Good Humour to a Weakness, and was that Sort of Person, of whom it is usually faid, He is no Man's Enemy but his own: One who had too much Tenderness of Soul to have any Authority with his Wife; and the too little Sense to give him Authority for that Reason. His kind Wife observed this Temper in him, and made proper Use of it. But knowing it was below a Gentlewoman to wrangle, the resolved upon an Expedient to save Decorum, and wear her Dear to her Point at the same Time. She therefore took upon her to govern him, by falling into Fits whenever she was repulsed in a Request, or contradicted in a Discourse. It was a Fish-day, when in the midst of her Husband's good Humour at Table, she bethought herself to try her Project. She made Signs that she had fwallowed a Bone. The Man grew pale, as afhes, and ran to her Affistance, calling for Drink. No, my Dear, faid she, recovering, It is down; don't be frightened. This Accident betray'd his Softness enough. The next Day she complained, a Lady's Chariot, whose Husband had not half his Estate, had a Crane-Neck, and hung with twice the Air that hers did; He answered, Madam, You know my Income, you know I have loft two Coach-Horses this Spring. — Down she fell. - Hartsborn! Betty, Susan, Alice, throw Water in ber Face. With much Care and Pain, she was at last brought to herfelf, and the Vehicle in which she visited was amended in the nicest Manner, to prevent Relapses; but they frequently happened during that Husband's whole Life, which he had the good Fortune to end in few Years after. The Disconsolate soon pitched upon a very agreeable Successor, whom she very prudently defigned to govern by the fame Method 23.

and

en-

ties

om.

his

fhe hat

in

W-

she

m,

me m,

in

as

d's

to ad

es,

k.

1;

is

d, lf

b

0

Method. This Man knew her little Arts, and resolved to break through all Tenderness, and be absolute Master as soon as Occasion offered. One Day it happened, that a Discourse arose about Furniture: He was very glad of the Occasion, and fell into an Invective against China, protesting he would never let five Pounds more of his Money be laid out that Way as long as he breathed. She immediately fainted. ——— He starts up as amazed, and calls for Help. The Maids ran to the Closet --- He chafes her Face, bends her forwards, and beats the Palms of her Hands: Her Convultions increase, and down the tumbles on the Floor, where the lies quite dead, in Spight of what the whole Family, from the Nursery to the Kitchen, could do for her Relief.

WHILE every Servant was thus helping or lamenting their Mittress, he, fixing his Cheek to hers, feemed to be following in a Trance of Sorrow; but secretly whilpers her, My Dear, This will never do: What is within my Power and Fortune, you may always command, but none of your Artifices ? You are quite in other Hands than those you paffed these pretty Passions upon. This made ber almost in the Condition she pretended; her Convulfions now come thicker, nor was she to be held down. The kind Man doubles his Care, helps the Servants to throw Water in her Face by full Quarts; and when the finking Part of the Fit came again, Well, my Dear, (faid he) I appland your Action; but I must take my Leave of you till you are more fincere with me, Farewell for ever : You fall always know where to bear of me, and want for nothing. With that he ordered the Maids to keep plying her with Hartshorn, while he went for a Physician: He was scarce at the Stair-Head when the followed, and pulling him into a Closet, thank'd him for her Cure; which was so absolate, that she gave me this Relation herself, to H 4

N

fic

hane

W

le

hi

an

Co

TI

Pr

to

Do

ter

gil

pil

sh

Sin

60

1.4

10

12/

6.7

14 be communicated for the Benefit of all the voluntary Invalids of her Sex.

St. James's Coffee-bouse, June 1.

ADVICES from Bruffels of the 6th Inftant. N. S. fay, His Highness Prince Eugene had received a Letter from Monfieur Torcy, wherein that Minister, after many Expressions of great Respect, acquaints him, That his Master had ab. tolutely refused to fign the Preliminaries to the Treaty which he had, in his Majesty's Behalf, confented to at the Hague. Upon the Receipt of this Intelligence, the Face of Things at that Place were immediately altered, and the necessary Or. ders were transmitted to the Troops (which lay mest remote from thence) to move toward the Place of Rendezvous with all Expedition. The Enemy seems also to prepare for the Field, and have at present drawn together twenty-five Thou. fand Men in the Plains of Lenz. Marshal Villan is at the Head of those Troops; and has given the Generals under his Command all possible Affurances, that he will turn the Fate of the War to the Advantage of his Master.

THEY write from the Hague of the 7th, That Monfieur Rouille had received Orders from the Court of France, to fignifie to the States-General and the Ministers of the High Allies, That the King could not confent to the Preliminaries of a Treaty of Peace, as it was offered to him by Monfieur Torcy. The great Difficulty is the Bufiness of Spain, on which Particular his Minifters feem'd only to fay, during the Treaty, that it was not fo immediately under their Mafter's Direction, as that he could engage for its being relinquished by the Duke of Anjon: But now he pofitively aufwers, That he cannot comply with what his Minister has promised in his Behalf, even in fuch Points as are wholly in himself to act in or not. This has had no other Effect, than to give the the Alliance fresh Arguments for being distident of Engagements entered into by Frame. The Perfioner made a Report of all which this Minister' had declared to the Departies of the States General, and all Things turn towards a vigorous' War. The Duke of Marlborough deligned to leave the Hague within two Days, in order to put' himself at the Head of the Army, which is to affemble on the 17th Instant between the Scheld' and the Lis. A Fleet of eighty Sail, laden with Corn from the Baltick, is arrived in the Texel. The States have fent Circular Letters to all the Provinces, to notify this Change of Affairs, and to animate their Subjects to new Resolutions in Defence of their Country. ROZOTOS JE

From my own Apartment, May 31.

THE Publick is not so little my Concern, the I am but a Student, as that I should not interest my self in the present great Things in Agitation. I am still of Opinion, the French King will sign the Presiminaries. With that View, I have sent him by my Familiar the following Epistle, and admonished him, on Pain of what I shall say of him to suture Generations, to act with Sincerity on this Occasion.

London; May 31.

by South in the world's Ifac Bickerstaff, Efq; of Great Britain, to Lewis

Day, of your Majesty's having refused to sign the Treaty your Ministers have in a Manner sued for, is what gives Ground to this Application to your Majesty, from one, whose Name, perhaps, is too obscure to have ever reached your Territories; but one, who with all the European World, is affected with your H 5

tant,

rein reat labthe

alf, t of lace Or-

lay the The

and oulars ren

Aflar

he ral he

of m at at eoh

n

e

. P

4 . D

1

. 1

· f

· i

•]

· U

11

. .

4 I

6 V

4 b

' i

. 1

· I

1 2

. V

4]

1

1

Determinations. Therefore, as it is mine and the common Cause of Mankind, I presume to expostulate with you on this Occasion. It will, I doubt not, appear to the Vulgar extravagant, that the Actions of a mighty Prince should be balanced by the Cenfure of a private Man, whose Approbation or Dislike are equally contemptible in their Eyes, when they regard the Thrones of Sovereigns. But your Majesty has hewn, through the whole Course of your Reign, too great a Value for Liberal Arts, to be infensible, that true Fame lies only in the Hands of Learned Men, by whom it is to be transmitted to Futurity, with Marks of Honour Reproach to the End of Time. The Date of humane Life is too short to recompense the Cares which attend the most private Condition. Therefore it is, that our Souls are " made as it were too big for it, and extend themfelves in the Prospect of a longer Existence, in · a good Fame and Memory of worthy Actions after our Decease. The whole Race of Men have this Passion in some Degree implanted in their Bosoms, which is the ftrongest and noblest Incitation to honest Attempts: But the base Use of the Arts of Peace, Eloquence, Peetry, and all the Parts of Learning. have been possessed by Souls fo unworthy of those Faculties, that The Names and Appellations of Things have been confounded by the Labours and Writings of profituted Men, who have flamp'd a Reputation upon fuch Actions, as are in themselves the Objects of Contempt and Disgrace. This is that which has mif-led your Majesty in the · Conduct of your Reign, and made that Life which might have been the most imitable, the most to be avoided. To this it is, that the e great and excellent Qualities of which your · Majety is Master, are lost in their Application; and your Majesty has been carrying on for many Years the most cruel Tyranny, with all the noble Methods which are used to support a just Reign. Thus it is, that it avails nothing that you are a bountiful Master; that you are so generous as to reward even the Unfuccessful with Honour and Riches; that nolaudable Action passes unrewarded in your Kingdom; that you have fearched all Nations for obscure Merit. In a Word, that you are in your private Character endowed with every-Princely Quality, when all this is subjected to unjust and ill taught Ambition, which to the Injury of the World is gilded by those Endowments. However, if your Majesty will condefeend to look into your own Soul, and confider. all its Faculties and Weaknesses with Imparti-'ality; if you will but be convinced, that. Life is supported in you by the ordinary. Methods of Food, Reft, and Sleep; you would think it impossible that you could ever be fo much imposed on, as to have been wrought. into a Belief, that so many Thousands of the fame Make with your felf, were formed by Providence for no other End, but by the Hazard of their very Being to extend the Con-. quests and Glory of an Individual of their own Species. A very little Reflection will convince. your Majesty, that fuch cannot be the Intent of the Creator; and if not, what Horror must it give your Majesty to think of the vast Devastations your Ambition has made among your ' Fellow-Creatures? While the Warmth of Youth, the Flattery of Crowds, and a continual Series of Success and Triumph, indulged your Majesty in this Illusion of Mind, it was less to be wondered at, that you proceeded in this mistaken Pursuit of Grandeur; but when Age, Disappointments, publick Calamities, personal Diflempers, and the Reverse of all that makes Men forget their true Being, are fallen upon you: Heaven! Is it possible you can live without Remorfe? Can the wretched Man be a Ty-

and e to

will,

l be fan,

the

gn, innds anf-

Our

nfe idi-

are em-

in

in

eft

nd .

led

ve

gs a-

he is he

fe

ac ar

n

1

by

on

th

th

an

it.

hi

TI

W

an

Pl

tro

for Gt

fte

me

for

L

th

rant? Can Grief study Torments? Can Sorrow be cruel?

. Your Majesty will observe, I do not bring against you a railing Accusation; but as you are a strict Professor of Religion, I beseech your Majesty to stop the Effusion of Blood, by receiving the Opportunity which prefents itself, for the Preservation of your distressed People. Be no longer fo infatuated, as to hope for Renown from Murder and Violence: But confider that the Great Day will come; in which this World and all its Glory shall change in a Moment; when Nature shall sicken and the Earth and Sea give up the Bodies committed to them, to appear before the last Tribunal. Will it then, Oh King! be an Afwer for the Lives of Millions, who have fallen by the Sword? They perished for my Glory. That Day will come on, and one like it is immediately approaching: Injur'd Nations advance towards thy Habitation: Vengeance has began its March, which is to be diverted only by the Peritence of the Oppreffor. Awake, O Monarch, from thy Lethargy! Diffain the Abufes thou haft received: Pull down the Statue which calls thee Immortal: Be truly Great: Tear thy Purple, and put on > Thy Generous Enemy, Isaac Bickerstaff.

abababiababababababababababa

No 24. Saturday, June 4, 1709.

I am,

Sackcloth.

White's Chocolate-boufe, June 2.

I N my Paper of the 28th of the last Month, I mentioned several Characters which want Explanation to the Generality of Readers: Among others, I spoke of a pretty Fellow. I have since received a kind Admonition in a Letter, to take Care.

27

WO

ing

OH

ech'

by elf,

ole.

Re-

der

his

10-

#th

m,

it'

of bey

on,

ig:

n:

p-è-

d:

al:

Æ.

3

I.

X-

ng

:0

8

Care that I do not omit to shew also what is means by a very pretty Fellow, which is to be allowed as a Character by it self, and a Person exalted above the other by a peculiar Sprightlines; as one who, by a distinguishing Vigour, outstrips his Companions, and has thereby deserved and obtained a particular Appellation or Nick-name of Familiarity. Some have this Distinction from the Fair Sex, who are so generous as to take into their Protection such as are laughed at by the Men, and place them for that Reason in Degrees of Favour.

THE chief of this Sort is Colonel Brunett. who is a Man of Fashion, because he will be so; and practifes a very janty Way of Behaviour, because he is too careless to know when he offends. and too fanguine to be mortified if he did know it. Thus the Colonel has met with a Town ready to receive him, and cannot possibly see why he should not make use of their Favour, and set himself in the first Degree of Conversation. Therefore he is very fuecessfully loud among the Wits, familiar among the Ladies, and diffolutoamong the Rakes. Thus he is admitted in one Place, because he is so in another; and every Mantreats Brunett well, not out of his particular Efreem for him, but in respect to the Opinion of others. It is to me a folid Pleasure to see the World thus mistaken on the good natur'd Side; for tis ten to one but the Colonel mounts into as General Officer, marries a fine Lady, and is Mafler of a good Estate, before they come to explain upon him. What gives most Delight to me in this Observation, is, that all this arises from pure Nature, and the Colonel can account. for his. Success no more than those by whom he Succeeds. For these Causes and Considerations, I pronounce him a true Woman's Man, and in the first Degree, A very pretty Fellow.

THE next to a Man of this universal Genius, is one who is peculiarly formed for the Service.

th

Ol

in fu

te

9:

AS

to

ar

in

th

A

of

of the Ladies, and his Merit chiefly is to be of no Consequence. I am indeed a little in Doubt. Whether he ought not rather to be called a very bappy, than a very pretty Fellow? For he is admitted at all Hours: All he fays or does, which would offend in another, are passed over in him: and all Actions and Speeches which please, doubly please, if they come from him: No one wonders or takes Notice when he's wrong; but all admire him when he's in the Right .- By the Way it is fit to remark, That there are People of better Sense than these, who endeavour at this Character; but they are out of Nature; and tho, with some Industry, they get the Characters of Fools, they cannot arrive to be very, seldom to be meerly pretty Fellows. But where Nature has form'd a Person for this Station amongst Men, he is gifted with a peculiar Genius for Success. and his very Errors and Absurdities contribute to it; this Felicity attending him to his Life's End. For it being in a Manner necessary that he should be of no Confequence, he is as well in old Age as Youth; and I know a Man, whose Son has been fome Years a pretty Fellow, who is himself at this Hour a very pretty Fellow.

ONE must move tenderly in this Place, for we are now in the Ladies Lodgings, and speaking of such as are supported by their Influence and Fayour; against which there is not, neither ought there to be, any Dispute or Observation, But when we come into more free Air, one may take a little more at large.

I do not doubt but we shall see make considerable Figures; and these are such as for their Bacchanalian Performances must be admitted into this Order. They are three Brothers lately landed from Holland: As yet, indeed, they have not made their publick Entry, but lodge and converse at Wapping. They have merited already on the Water-side particular Titles: The first 24.

5

e of

ubt,

very mit-

uch

m;

ou-

one

all

the

of

his und

ers

om

ire

n,

is,

ite

e's

at

in

(c

10

or

-

ıt

ıt

is called Hoghead; the second, Culverin; and the third, Musquet. This Fraternity is preparing for our End of the Town by their Ability in the Exercises of Bacchus, and measure their Time and Merit by liquid Weight, and Power of Drinking. Hoghead is a prettier Fellow than Culverin by two Quarts, and Culverin than Musquet by a full Pint. It is to be feared, Hoghead is so often too full, and Culverin over-loaded, that Musquet will be the only lasting very pretty Fellow of the three.

A THIRD Sort of this Denomination is such as by very daring Adventures in Love, have purchased to themselves Renown and new Names; as fo. Carry, for his excessive Strength and Vigour; Tom Drybones, for his generous Loss of Youth and Health; and Cancrum, for his meritorious Rottenness.

THESE great and leading Spirits are proposed to all such of our British Youth as would arrive at Perfection in these different Kinds; and if their Parts and Accomplishments were well imitated, it is not doubted but that our Nation would soon excel all others in Wit and Arts, as they already do in Arms.

N. B. The Gentleman who stole Betty Pepin, may own it, for he is allowed to be a very pretty Fellow.

But we must proceed to the Explanation of other Terms in our Writings.

TO know what a Toast is in the Country, gives as much Perplexity as she herself does in Town: And indeed, the Learned differ very much upon the Original of this Word, and the Acceptation of it among the Moderns. However, it is by all agreed to have a joyous and chearful Import. A Toast in a cold Morning, heightened by Nutmeg, and sweetened with Sugar, has for many Agea been

ry

W

he

it

of

RI

BŞ

n

35

Fi

ou

ta

Se

te

R

to

up

Been given to our rural Dispensers of Justice; before they entered upon Caufes, and has been of great and politick Use to take off the Severity of their Sentences; but has indeed been remarkable for one ill Effect, that it inclines those who use it immoderately, to speak Latin, to the Admiration, rather than Information, of an Audience. This Application of a Toast makes it vemy obvious, that the Word may, without a Metaphor, he understood as an apt Name for a Thing which raises us in the most sovereign Degree. But many of the Wits of the last Age will affert, That the Word, in its present Sense, was known among them in their Youth, and had it Rife from an Accident at the Town of Bath, in the Reign of King Charles the Second.

IT happened, That on a publick Day a celebrated Beauty of those Times was in the Cross Bath, and one of the Crowd of her Admirers took a Glass of the Water in which the Fair one stood, and drank her Health to the Company. There was in the Place a gay Fellow, half fuddled, who offered to jump in, and swore, Tho he liked not the Liquor, he would have the Toass. He was opposed in his Resolution; yet this Whim gave Foundation to the present Honour which is done to the Lady we mention in our Liquors, who has ever frace been called a Toaft.

THO' this Institution had so trivial a Beginning, it is now elevated into a formal Order; and that happy Virgin who is received and drank to at their Meetings, has no more to do in this Life, but to judge and accept of the first good Offer. The Manner of her Inauguration is much like that of the Choice of a Doge in Venite: It is performed by balloting; and when she is so chosen, she reigns indisputably for that ensuing Year; but must be elected anew to prolong her Empire a Moment beyond in When she is regularly chosen, her Name is written with a Diamond on a Drinking-glass. The Hieroglyphick of the Diamond 24.

be-

of rity

rk-

who

Ad-

idi-

ve-

ta-

ing

ee.

rt,

WI

ife

he-

le.

ofs

ok:

d,

re

ho

ot

23.

re-

ne ·

AS.

in.

-

:

ď.

5

d:

3

0

40

.

d

mond is to flew her, that her Value is imaginary; and that of the Glass to acquaint her, that her Condition is frail, and depends on the Hand which holds her. This wife Design admonishes her, neither to over-rate or depreciate her Charms; as well considering and applying that it is perfectly according to the Humour and Taste of the Company, whether the Toast is eaten, or left as an Offal.

THE foremost of the whole Rank of Toasts. and the most indisputed in their present Empire, are Mrs. Gatty and Mrs. Frontlet: The first an agreeable, the second an awful, Beauty. These Ladics are perfect Friends, out of a Knowledge; that their Perfections are too different to fland in Competition. He that likes Gatty, can have no Relish for so solemn a Creature as Frontlet; and an Admirer of Frontlet will call Gatty a Maypole Girl. Gatty for ever smiles upon you; and Frontlet disdains to see you smile, Gatty's Love is a fhining quick Flame; Frontlet's a flow washing Fire Gasty likes the Man that diverts her; Frontht him who adores her. Gatty always improves the Soil in which the travels; Frontlet lays waste the Country. Gatty does not only fmile, but laughs at her Lover; Frontlet not only looks ferious but frowns at him. All the Men of Wit fand Coxcombs their Followers) are professed Servants of Gatty: The Politicians and and Pretenders give folema Worship to Frontlet. Their Reign will be best judged of by its Duration Frontlet will never be cholen more; and Gatty is a Toast for Life.

St. Fames's Coffee houfe, June 3.

LETTERS from Hamburgh of the 7th Instant N. S. inform us, That no Art or Cost is omitted to make the Stay of his Danish Majesty at Drefden agreeable; but there are various Speculations upon the Interview between King Augustus and that Prince, many putting politick Constructions upon his Danish Majesty's Arrival at a Time when his Troops are marching out of Hungary, with Orders to pass through Saxony, where it is given out, that they are to be recruited. It is said also, That several Polish Senators have invited King Augustus to return into Polands, His Majesty of Sweden, according to the same Advices, has passed the Nieper without any Opposition from the Muscovites, and advances with all possible Expedition towards Volbinia, where he proposes to join King Stanislaus and General Crassau.

WE hear from Bern of the first Instant, N S. That there is not a Province in France, from whence the Court is not apprehensive of receiving Accounts of publick Emotions, occasioned by the Want of Corn. The General Diet of the 13 Cantons is assembled at Baden, but have not yet entered upon Business, so that the Assair of Tockenburgh is yet at a Stand.

LETTERS from the Hague, dated the 11th Instant, N. S. advise, That Monsieur Remille having acquainted the Ministers of the Allies, that his Master had refused to ratify the Preliminaries of a Treaty adjusted with Monsieur Torcy, fet out for Paris on Sunday Morning. The same Day the Foreign Ministers met a Committee of the States-General, where Monfieur van Heffen opened the Business upon which they were affembled, and in a very warm Discourse laid before them the Conduct of France in the lare Negotiations, representing the abject Manner in which she had laid open her own Distresses, that reduced her to a Compliance with the Demands of all the Allies, and her Meanness in receding from those Points to which Monsieur Torcy had confented. The respective Ministers of each Potentate of the Alliance severally expressed their Refentments of the faithless Behaviour of the French, and gave each other mutual Affarances of the Constancy and Resolution of their Principals in dan pro rea the ner cip

gai

of .

ffai adv me the

wit

from mil

i ci fe

h t

24.

ions

hen

with ven

8 - ited

efty

has

rom

Ex-

s to

S

cei-

ned

the

not of

1th

hahat

na-

me

it-

an

ere ie-

in

at ds

ad o-

he

es

n-

als

cipals, to proceed with the utmost Vigour against the Common Enemy. His Grace the Duke of Marlborough set out from the Hague on the 9th in the Afternoon, and lay that Night at Rotterdam, from whence at four the next Morning he proceeded towards Antwerp, with a Design to reach Ghent the next Day. All the Troops in the Low Countries are in Motion towards the general Rendezvous between the Scheld and the Lis; The whole Army will be formed on the 12th Instant; and 'tis said, That on the 14th they will advance towards the Enemy's Country. In the mean Time, the Marshal de Villars has assembled the French Forces between Lens, la Basse and Donay.

With the Squadron under his Command, failed from the Downs for Holland.

From my own Apartment, June 3.

I have the Honour of the following Letter from a Gentleman whom I receive into my Family, and order the Heralds at Arms to enroll him accordingly.

Mr. Bickerstaff,

THO you have excluded me the Honour of your Family, yet I have ventured to correspond with the same great Persons as your self, and have wrote this Post to the King of France; though I am in a Manner unknown in his Country, and have not been seen there these many Months.

To LEWIS le Grand.

THO' in your Country I'm unknown, Yet Sir, I must advise you;
Of late so poor and mean you're grown,
That all the World despise you.

HERE

N

am

on wi

de

DT

WI th

Fo

fto

M

1

fe

te

T

-

HERE Vermin eat your Majesty, There meagre Subjects stand unfed; What furer Signs of Poverty, Than many Lice, and little Bread?

non non whence at four then THEN, Sir, the present Minute chuse, Our Armies are advanced; Those Terms you at the Hague refuse, At Paris won't be granted

CONSIDER this, and Dunkirk raze, And Anna's Title own; Send one Pretender out to graze, And call the other Home and I have

Tour Hamble Servant, All Tell the Sauadrog bader by Commune, factor. Bread the Staff of Life.

No 25. Jan Thefday, June 7. 1709. of ored I

White's Checolate boufe, June &

A LETTER from a young Lady, written in the most passionate Terms, wherein she laments the Misfortune of a Gentleman, her Lover, who was lately wounded in a Duel, has turned my Thoughts to that Subject; and inclined me to examine into the Caufes which precipitate Men into fo fatal a Folly. And as it has been proposed to treat of Subjects of Gallantry in the Article from hence, and no one Point in Nature is more proper to be confidered by the Company who frequent this Place than that of Duels, it is worth our Confideration to examine into this chimerical groundless Humour, and to lay every other Thought afide, till we have ftripp'd it of all its false Pretences to Credit and Reputation amongst Men.

BUT

24.

2 11

30.5

0851 ife

i

V 10,0

ten

fhe

Lo-

rn-

me

ate

en

he '

ny

15

his

ry

of

on

BUT I must confess, when I consider what I am going about, and run over in my Imagination all the endless Crowd of Men of Honour who will be offended at such a Discourse; I am undertaking, methinks, a Work worthy an invulnerable Hero in Romance, rather than a private Gentleman with a single Rapier: But as I am pretty well acquainted by great Opportunities with the Nature of Man, and know of a Truth that all Men sight against their Will, the Danger vanishes, and Resolution rises upon this Subject. For this Reason I shall talk very freely on a Custom which all Men wish exploded, though no Man has Courage enough to resist it.

BUT there is one unintelligible Word which I fear will extreamly perplex my Differtation; and I confess to you I find very hard to explain, which is, the Term Satisfaction. An honest Country Gentleman had the Misfortune to fall into Company with two or three modern Men of Honour, where he happened to be very ill treated; and one of the Company being conscious of his Offence sends a Note to him in the Morning, and tells him, He was ready to give him Satisfaction. This is fine Doing (says the plain Fellow) Last Night he sent me away cursedly out of Humour, and this Morning he sances it would be a Satisfaction to be run through the Body.

AS the Matter at present stands, it is not to do hansome Astions denominates a Man of Honour; it is enough if he dares to defend ill ones. Thus you often see a common Sharper in Competition with a Gentleman of the first Rank; though all Mankind is convinced, that a fighting Gamester is only a Pick-pocket with the Courage of an Highway-man. One cannot with any Patience reflect on the unaccountable Jumble of Persons and Things in this Town and Nation, which occasions very frequently, that a brave Man salls by a Hand below that of a Common Hangman, and yet his Executioner escapes the Clutches

· fi

ceff

Ad

Ia

for

the unc

goo

I li

gail

pro

nic

the

fro

for dea

her

for ful

at 2 1

the

eve

dle,

bim

at :

Ver

Clutches of the Hangman for doing it. I shall therefore hereafter confider, how the bravest Men in other Ages and Nations have behaved them. felves upon fuch Incidents as we decide by Com. bate; and shew, from their Practice, that this Resentment neither has its Foundation from true Reason, or solid Fame; but is an Imposture made up of Cowardice, Falsehood, and Want of Understanding. For this Work, a good History of Quarrels would be very edifying to the Publick, and I apply my felf to the Town for Particulars and Circumstances within their Knowledge, which may ferve to embellish the Differtation with proper Cuts. Most of the Quarrels I have ever known, have proceeded from some valiant Corcomb's persisting in the Wrong, to defend some prevailing Folly, and preserve himself from the Ingenuity of owing a Mistake.

BY this Means it is called, Giving a Man Satisfa-Hien, to urge your Offence against him with your Sword; which puts me in Mind of Peter's Order to the Keeper, in The Tale of a Tub: If you neglect to do all this, damn you and your Generation for ever; and so we bid you beartily farewell. If the Contradiction in the very Terms of one of our Challenges were as well explained and turned into downright English, would it not run after this Manner?

SIR.

Part THE L

Y OUR extraordinary Behaviour last Night, and the Liberty you were pleased to take with me, makes me this Morning give you this, to tell you, because you are an ill bred Puppy, I will meet you in Hide-Park, an Hour hence; and because you want both Breeding and Humanity, I defire you would come with a Pistol in your Hand, on Horseback, and endeavour to shoot me through the Head; to teach you more Manners. If you fail of doing me this Pleasure I shall say, you are a Rascal, on offic the sale randings all said toy this excry 25.

hall

Men

em-

om-

this true

der-

and

and oro-

ver

OX-

me

the

sfa-

our

der

lett

er;

ra-

en-

vn-

er?

ht,

ke

is,

pur

ng

th

n-

h

18 n

ry

every Post in Town: And so, Sir, if you will not injure me more, I shall never forgive what you have done already. Pray Sir, do not fail of getting every Thing ready, and you will infinitely oblige,

SIR,

Your most Obedient, Humble Servant, &c.

From my own Apartment, June 6.

AMONG the many Employments I am neceffarily put upon by my Friends, that of giving Advice is the most unwelcome to me; and indeed. I am forced to use a little Art in the Matter; for some People will ask Counsel of you, when they have already acted what they tell you is still under Deliberation. I had almost lost a very good Friend t'other Day, who came to know how I liked his Defign to marry fuch a Lady, I anfwered, By no Means; and I must be positive against it, for very solid Reasons, which are not proper to communicate. Not proper to communicate! (faid he with a grave Air) I will know the Bottom of this. I saw him moved, and knew from thence he was already determined; therefore evaded it by faying, To tell you the Truth, dear Frank, of all Women living, I would have her my felf. Isaac, said he, Thou art too late, for we have been both one these two Months.

I learned this Caution by a Gentleman's confulting me formerly about his Son. He railed at his damn'd Extravagance, and told me, In a very little Time, he would beggar him by the exorbitant Bills which came from Oxford every Quarter. Make the Rogue bite upon the Bridle, faid I, pay none of bis Bills, it will but encourage him to further Trespasses. He look'd plagny sour at me. His Son soon after sent up a Paper of Verses, forsooth, in Print on the last publick

Occa

Ha

Afr

my

Cut Dw

kne

fell

anfi

who

cor

kno righ

fow:

nity

dia

refo

the

have

Men

left

Frie

is C

with ferer

(faid

Avar

Art,

gains

Whe

In a 1

I con

Gent

carn

Fortu

keepi

Gallo

Day

neft 1

VC

fion; upon which, he is convinced the Boy ha Pares, and a Lad of Spirit is not to be too much cramp'd in his Maintenance, left he take ill Couries. Neither Father nor Son can ever fince endure the Sight of me.

THESE Sort of People ask Opinions, only out of the Fulness of their Heart on the Subject of their Perplexity, and not from a Defire of Infor.

mation.

THERE is nothing fo case as to find out which Opinion the Man in Doubt has a Mind to: therefore the fure Way is to tell him, that is certainly to be chosen. Then you are to be very clear and politive; leave no Handle for Scruple, Bless me! Sir, there's no Room for a Question, This rivets you into his Heart; for you at once applaud his Wildom, and gratify his Inclination. However, I had too much Bowels to be infincere to a Man who came Yesterday to know of me, with which of two emment Men in the City he should place his Son? There Names are Paulo and Avaro. This gave me much-Debate with my felf, because not only the Fortune of the Youth, but his Virtue also depended upon this Choice, The Men are equally wealthy; but they differ in the Use and Application of their Riches, which you immediately fee upon entring their Doors.

THE Habitation of Paule has at once the Air of a Nobleman and a Merchant. You fee the Servants act with Affection to their Master, and Satisfaction in themselves: The Master meets you with an open Countenance, full of Benevolence and Integrity: Your Bufiness is dispatched with that Confidence and Welcome which always accompanies honest Minds; His Table is the Image of Plenty and Generality, supported by Justice and Frugality. After we had dined here, our Affair was to vifit Avaro: Out comes an aukward Fellow with a careful Countenance; Sir, would you speak with my Master? May I crave your Name? After the first Preamble, he leads us into a noble Solitude, a great House that seemed uninhabited; but from the End of the spacious Hall moves towards us Avaro, with a fufpicious Afpect, as if he believed us Thieves; and as for my Part, I approached him as if I knew him a Cut-purse. We fell into Discourse of his noble Dwelling, and the great Estate all the World knew he had to enjoy in it; And I, to plague him, fell a commending Paulo's Way of Living. Paulo, answered Avaro, is a wery good Man; but we who have smaller Estates, must cur our Coat according to our Cloth. Nay, fays I, Every Man knows his own Circumstance bett; you are in the right, if you han't wherewithal. He look'd very lowr; (for it is, you must know the utmost Vanity of a Mean-spirited rich Man to be contradicted, when he calls himself poor.) But I was resolved to vex him, by consenting to all he said; the main Delign of which was, that he would have us find out, he was one of the wealthieft Men in London, and lived like a Beggar. We left him, and took a turn on the Change. My Friend was ravished with Avaro: This (faid he) is certainly a fure Man. I contradicted him with much Warmth, and summed up their different Characters as well as I could. This Paule (faid I) grows wealthy by being a common Good; Avaro, by being a general Evil: Paulo has the Art, Avaro the Craft, of Trade. When Paulo gains, all Men he deals with are the better: Whenever Avare profits, another certainly loses. In a Word, Paulo is a Citizen, and Avaro a Cit. convinced my Friend, and carried the young Gentleman the next Day to Paulo, where he will earn the Way both to gain and enjoy a good Fortune. And though I cannot fay, I have, by teeping him from Avaro, faved him from the Gallows, I have prevented his deferving it every Day he lives: For with Paulo he will be an holeft Man, without being fo for Fear of the Law; VOL. L.

into

ch ill

ice

out of or-

out to;

ery ple. ion, nce

ion. ere me,

and felf, but

The the you

Air the and you

ence with s acmage

our ward would your ds us into as with Avare, he would have been a Villain within the Protection of it.

St. Fames's Coffee-boule, Tune 6.

WE hear from Vienna of the 1st Instant, That Baron Imoff, who attended her Catholick Majefty with the Character of Envoy from the Duke of Wolfembuttel, was returned thither. That Minister brought an Account, That Major-General Stanbope, with the Troops which embarked at Naples was returned to Barcelona. We hear from Berlin, by Advices of the 8th Inftant, That his Prussian Majesty had received Intelligence from his Minister at Dresdon, that the King of Denmark defired to meet his Majesty at Madgeburg. The King of Prussia has sent Answer, That his present Indisposition will not admit of so great a Journey; but has fent the King a very pressing Invitation to come to Berlin or Potsdam. These Advices fay, That the Minister of the King of Swe den has produced a Letter from his Master to the King of Poland, dated from Botitzau the 30th of March, O. S. wherein he acquaints him, that he has been successful against the Muscovites in all the Occasions which have happened fince his March into their Country. Great Numbers have revolted to the Swedes fince General Mazena went over to that Side; and as many as have done fo, have taken folemn Oaths to adhere to the Interests of his Swedish Majesty.

ADVICES from the Hague of the 14th Instant, N. S. fay, That all Things tended to a vigorous and active Campaign; the Allies having ftrong Resentments against the late Behaviour of the Court of France; and the French using all polfible Endeavours to animate their Men to defend their Country against a victorious and exasperated Enemy. Monsieur Rouille had passed through Bruffels without vifiting either the Duke of Marlborough or Prince Eugene, who were both

there

fo

th

th

on

Eu

at

Wa

wh

Cai

Soo

upo

No

I

Mr.

Whit

in t

to dr

take

tions

accor

8

the.

there at that Time. The States have met, and publickly declared their Satisfaction in the Condut of their Deputies during the whole Treaty. Letters from France Say, That the Court is refolved to put all to the Iffue of the enfuing Campaign. In the mean Time, they have ordered the Preliminary Treaty to be published, with Observations upon each Article, in order to quiet the Minds of the People, and perswade them, that it has not been in the Power of the King to procure a Peace, but to the Dimunition of his Majesty's Glory, and the Hazard of his Dominions. His Grace the Duke of Marlborough and Prince Eugene arriv'd at Ghent on Wednesday last, where. at an Assembly of all the General Officers, it was thought proper, by Reason of the great Rains which have lately fallen, to defer forming a Camp, or bringing the Troops together; but as foon as the Weather would permit, to march upon the Enemy with all Expedition.

attacatatatatata attacatatata

Nº 26. Thursday, June 9. 1709.

From my own Apartment, June 8.

I HAVE read the following Letter with Delight and Approbation, and I hereby order Mr. Kidney at St. Fames's, and Sir Thomas at White's, (who are my Clerks for inrolling all Men in their different Classes, before they presume to drink Tea or Chocolate in those Places) to take Care, that the Persons within the Descriptions in the Letter be admitted, and excluded according to my Friend's Remonstrance.

Your 6. 1709.

Your OUR Paper of Saturday has raised up in me a noble Emulation, to be recorded in the foremost Rank of Worthies therein mentioned:

That Ma-

25.

lain

Mieral d at from from mark The

our-Invi-

Sweo the th of

at he have have zepps

have re to a viaving ur of ll pof-

d ex-

Duke both there

Nº 26.

41

11

6 1

1

4 U

. .

· a

1 a . 1

(a

6 A

WOI

dee just

Pla

into

his

Cha

Cla

by I and Shor

long

Lett

mentioned; and if any Regard be had to Merit or Industry, I may hope to succeed in the Promotion, for I have omitted no Toil or Expence to be a Proficient; and if my Friends do not flatter, they affure me, I have not loft my Time fince I came to Town. To enumerrice but a few Particulars; there's hardly a Coachman I meet with, but defires to be excused taking me, because he has had me before. I have compounded two or three Rapes; and let out to Hire as many Bastards to Beggars. I never faw above the first Act of a Play: And as to my · Courage it is well known, I have more than once had fufficient Witnesses of my drawing my Sword, both in Tavern and Playhouse. Dr. Wall is my particular Friend; and if it were any Service to the Publick to compose the Difference between Martin and Sintilaer the Pearl-

Driller, I don't know a Judge of more Experience than my felf: For in that I may fay with the Poet;

Qua regio in villa nostri non plena laboris?

I omit other less Particulars, the necessary . Consequences of greater Actions. But my Reafon for troubling you at this present is, to put a Stop, if it may be, to an infinuating increafing Set of People, who flicking to the Letter of . your Treatife, and not to the Spirit of it, do assume the Name of Pretty Fellows; nay, and even get new Names, as you very well hint

Some of them I have heard calling to one another as I have far at White's and St. Fames's, by the Names of, Betty, Nelly, and fo forth. You fee them accost each other with effeminate

Airs: They have their Signs and Tokens like Free-Masons: They rail at Womankind; receive Visits on their Beds in Gowns, and do a thousand other unintelligible Prettie nesses that I cannot tell what to make of. I 4 there-

26, crit

Pro-

nce

not ime

t a

in I

cing

ave

out

ver

my han

ving

Dr.

vere

Dif-

earl-

eri-

with

Tary

lea-

put rea-

er of

and hint.

ano-

, by

You

like

re-

ettif. I therefore heartily defire you would exclude all this Sort of Animals.

There is another Matter I am foreseeing an ill fequence from, but may be timely prevented by Prudence; which is, that for the last Fortnight, prodigious Shoals of Volunteers have gone over to bully the French, upon hearing the Peace was just figning: and this is fo true, that I can affure you, all ingroffing Work about the Temple is risen above 3 s. in the Pound for want of Hands. Now, as 'tis possible, some little Alteration of Affairs may have broken their Meafures, and that they will post back again, I am under the last Apprehention, that these will, at their Returns all fet up for Pretty Fellows. and thereby confound all Merit and Service, and impose on us some new Alteration in our 'Nightcap-Wigs and Pockets, unless you can provide a particular Class for them. I cannot apply my felf better than to you, and I am fure I speak the Mind of a very great Number as deferving as my felf.

THE Pretentions of this Correspondent are worthy a particular Distinction; He cannot indeed be admitted as a Presty, but is, what we more justly call, a Smart Fellow. Never to pay at the Playhouse is an Act of Frugality that lets you into his Character; and his Expedient in sending his Children a-begging before they can go, are Characteristical Instances that he belongs to this Class. I never saw the Gentleman; but I know by his Letter, he hangs his Cane on his Button; and by some Lines of it he should wear red-heel'd shoes; which are essential Parts of the Habit belonging to the Order of Smart Fellows.

MY Familiar is returned with the following Letter from the French King.

Versailles, June 13. 1709.

LEW IS the Fourteenth to Isaac Bickerstaff, Efg;

SIR,

I HAVE your Epifle, and must take the Liberty to fay, That there has been a Time, when there were generous Spirits in Great Britain, who would not have suffered my Name to be treated with the Familiarity you think sit to use. I thought Liberal Men would not be such Time servers, as to fall upon a Man because his Friends are not in Power. But having some Concern for what you may transmit to Posterity concerning me, I am willing to keep Terms with you, and make a Request to you, which is, That you would give my Service to the Nineteenth Century, (if ever you or your reach to them) and tell them, That I have settled all Matters between them and me by Moussieur Boilcau. I should be glad to see you here.

IT is very odd, this Prince should offer to invite me into his Dominions, or believe I should accept the Invitation. No, no, I remember too well how he served an Ingenious Gentleman, a Friend of mine, whom he lock'd up in the Basile for no Reason in the World, but because he was a Wit, and seared he might mention him with surfice in some of his Writings. His Way is, That all Men of Sense are preferred, banished or imprisoned. He has indeed a Sort of Justice in him, like that of the Gamesters; for if a Stander-by sees one at Play cheat, he has a Right to come in for Shares, as knowing the Mysteries of the Game:

THIS is a very wife and just Maxim; and it I have not left at Mr. Morphew's, directed to me, Bank-Bills for 200 i. on or before this Day Sevennight, I shall tell how Tom Cash got his Estate. I expect three hundred Pounds of Mr. Soilett, for concealing all the Money he has lent to himself.

and

d

ti

th

B

if

F

C

F

T

be bi

th

li

in

ha

Co

to ne

1

m

T

ho

po

fo

of

Fi

lo

in

and his landed Friend bound with him, at thirty ber Cent. at his Scrivener's. Absolute Princes make People pay what they please in Deference to their Power: I do not know why I should not do the same, out of Fear or Respect to my Knowledge. I always preserve Decorums and Civilitics to the Fair Sex : Therefore if a certain Lady, who left her Coach at the New Exchange Door in the Strand, and whipt down Durham Tard into a Boat with a Young Gentleman for For-Hall; I fay, if she will send me Word, that I may give the Fan which she dropp'd, and I found, to my Sifter Fenny, there shall be no more said of it. I expect Hush-Money to be regularly sent for every Folly or Vice any one commits in this whole Town; and hope, I may pretend to deserve it better than a Chamber-Maid or a Valet de Chambre: They only whisper it to the little Set of their Companions; but I can tell it to all Men living or who are to live. Therefore I defire all my Readers to pay their Fines, or mend their Lives ..

White's Chocolate-boufe, June 8.

MY Familiar being come from France, with an Answer to my Letter to Lewis of that Kingdom, instead of going on in a Discourse of what he had feen in that Court, he put on the immediate Concern of a Guardian and fell to enquiring into my Thoughts and Adventures fince his Journey. As short as his Stay had been, I confess'd I had had many Occasions for his Assistance in my Conduct; but communicated to him my Thoughts of putting all my Force against the horrid and senseless Custom of Duels: If it were possible, said he, to laugh at Things in themselves so deeply tragical as the impertinent Profusion of human Life, I think I could divert you with a Figure I saw just after my Death, when the Philosopher threw me, as I told you some Days ago, into the Pail of Water.

I 4

. YOU

49;

26.

ty to the three ty you not be fe bis me, l a Rey Ser-

yours ed all leau.

o inlould r too n, a

was I Ju-That imhim,

come the

nd it me, evenftare, for felf,

and

. 5

6

. YOU are to know, That when Men leave the Body, there are Receptacles for them as foon as they depart, according to the Manner in which they lived and died. At the very Infant I was killed, there came away with mea ' Spirit which had loft its Body in a Duel. We were both examined. Me the whole Assembly ' looked at with Kindness and Pity, but at the fame Time with an Air of Welcome and Con-' folation: They pronounced me very happy, who had died in Innocence; and told me, a quite different Place was allotted to me, than that which was appointed for my Companion; there being a great Distance from the Mansions of . Fools and Innocents: Though at the same Time, faid one of the Ghofts, there is a great Affi-' nity between an Idiot who has been fo for long Life, and a Child who departs before Maturity. But this Gentleman who has arrived with you is a Fool of his own making, is ignorant out of . Choice, and will fare accordingly. The Affembly began to flock about him, and one faid to him, Sir, I observed you came into the Gate of Persons murdered, and I defire to know, . What brought you to your untimely End? He ' faid, He had been a Second. Socrates (who may be faid to have been murdered by the Commonwealth of Athens) flood by, and began to draw near him, in order, after his Manner, to lead him into a Sense of his Error by Concessions in his own Discourse. Sir, said that divine and amicable Spirit, What was the Quarrel? He answered, We shall know very suddenly, when the Principal in the Bufiness comes, for be was desperately wounded before I fell. Sir, said the Sage, Had you an Estate? Yes, Sir, the new Guest answerd, I have left it in a very good Condition, and made my Willthe Night before this Occasion. did you read it before you figned it? Yes funz, Sir, faid the new Comer. Socrates replies, Could a Man, that would not give his Estate with26, cave

m 25

nner

Inne a

We

nbly

the

Con-

who

uite

that

here

as of ime,

Affi-

long

rity.

you

it of

Af-

faid

Gate

now,

He

who

by

and

his

rror

faid

the

Jud-

, for new ondi-

fion.

212, ould

rith-

out

out reading the Instrument, dispose of his Life without asking a Question? That illustrious Shade turned from him, and a Croud of impertinent Goblins, who had been Droles and Parasites in their Life-Time, and were knock'd on the Head for their Sauciness, came about my Fellow-Traveller, and made themselves very merry with Questions about the Words Cart and Tence, and other Terms of Fencers. But his Thoughts began to settle into Reflection upon the Adventure which had robbedhim of his late Being: and with a wretched Sigh, said he, How terrible are Conviction und Guilt when they come too late for Penitence!

Pacolet was going on in this Strain, but he recovered from it, and told me, " It was too foon to give my Discourse on this Subject so serious a Turn; you have chiefly to do with that Part of Mankind which must be led into Resection by Degrees, and you must treat this Custom with Humour and Ramlery to get an Audience, before you come to pronounce Sentence upon it. There is Foundation enough for raifing fuch Entertainments from the Practice on this · Occasion. Don't you know that often a Man is called out of Bed to follow implicitly a Coxcomb (with whom he should not keep Company on any other Occasion) to Ruin and Death? Then a good Lift of fuch as are qualified by the Laws of thele uncourteous Men of Chivalry to enter into Combat (who are often Perfons of 4 Honour without common Honesty): These, I fay ranged and drawn up in their proper Order, would give an Aversion to doing any Thing in common with such as Men laugh at and contemn. But to go through this Work. vou must not let your Thoughts vary, or make Excursions from your Theme? Consider at the fame Time, that the Matter has been often treated by the ablest and greatest Writers: yet that must not discourage you : For the · pro-

1

10 di

W

VE

al

15

Han

R

th mi wh

W

ra

th

yo

tha

WO

cu

m

Th

the

for ten

the

Wa:

Ro

DOG

Wa:

and

Car

the

fuc

properest Person to handle it, is one who has roved into mix'd Conversations, and must have Opportunities (which I shall give you) of seeing these Sort of Men in their Pleasures and Gratifications; among which, they pretend to reckon Fighting. It was pleasantly enough said of a Bully in France, when Duels first began to be punished: The King has taken away Gaming, and Stage-playing, and now Fighting too; how does he expect Gentlemen shall divert themselves?

Nº 27. Saurday, June 11. 1709.

White's Chocolate-house, June 9.

PACOLET being gone a strolling among the Men of the Sword, in order to find out the fecret Causes of the frequent Disputes we meet with, and furnish me with Materials for my Treatise on Duelling; I have Room lest to go on in my Information to my Country Readers, whereby they may understand the bright People whose Memoirs I have taken upon me to write. But in my Discourse of the 28th of the last Month, I omitted to mention the most agreeable of all bad Characters) and that is, a Rake.

A Rake is a Man always to be pitied; and if he lives, is one Day certainly reclaimed, for his Faults proceed not from Choice or Inclination, but from strong Passions and Appetites, which are in Youth too violent for the Curb of Reason, good Sense, good Manners, and good Nature: All which he must have by Nature and Education, before he can be allowed to be, or have been of this Order. He is a poor unweildly Wretch, that commits Faults out of the Redundance of his good Qualities. His Pity and Compassion makes him sometimes a Bubble to all his Fellows.

lows, letthem be never fo much below him in Un* derstanding. His Desires run away with him thro' the Strength and Force of a lively Imagination, which hurries him on to unlawful Pleasures, before Reason has Power to come in to his Rescue. Thus with all the good Intentions in the World to Amendment, this Creature fins on against Heaven, himself, his Friends, and his Country, who all call for a better Use of his Talents. There is not a Being under the Sun fo miferable as this: He goes on in a Pursuit he himself disapproves, and has no Enjoyment but what is followed by Remorfe; no Relief from Remorfe, but the Repetition of his Crime. It's possible I may talk of this Person with two much Indulgence; but T must repeat it, that I think this, a Character which is the most the Object of Pity of any in the The Man in the Pangs of the Stone, World. Gout or any acute Distemper, is not in so deplorable a Condition in the Eye of right Sense, as he that errs and repents, and repents and errs on. The Fellow with broken Limbs juftly deferves your Alms for his impotent Condition; but he that can't use his own Reason, is in a much worse State; for you see him in miscrable Circumstances, with his Remedy at the same Time in his own Possession, if he would or could use it. This is the Cause that, of all ill Characters, the Rake has the best Quarter in the World; for when he is himself, and unruffled with Intemperance, you fee his natural Faculties exert themselves, and attract an Eye of Favour towards his Infirmities.

BUT if we look round us here, how many dull' Rogues are there, that would fain be what thispoor Man hates himself for? All the Noise towards fix in the Evening is caufed by his Mimicks and Imitators. How ought Men of Sense to be careful of their Actions, if it were merely from the Indignation of feeing themselves ill drawn by such little Pretenders? Not to fay, he that leads,

unoaf-

26.

has

lave

feeand

d to

ough

be-

Way

ting vert

XX

the

the

neet

rea-

n in

ore-

hose

But

h, I bad

and

for

ati

nich.

fon,

AN

ath

ave

dly:

el-

1 W.Sa

n

h

n

i

fo

h

1

t

•

$

1

t

1 a Rake has Imitators whom you would never expect should prove so. Second-hand Vice sure of all is the most nauseous. There is hardly a Folly more absurd, or which seems less to be accounted for, (tho' tis what we see every Day) than that grave and honest Natures give into this Way, and at the same Time have good Sense, if they thought fit to use it: But the Fatality (under which most Men labour) of desiring to be what they are not, makes them go out of a Method, in which they might be received with Applause, and would certainly excel, into one, wherein they will all their Life have the Air of Strangers to what they aim at.

FOR this Reason, I have not lamented the Metamorphofis of any one I know so much as of Nobilis, who was born with Sweetness of Temper, just Apprehension, and every Thing else that might make him a Man fit for his Order. But instead of the Pursuit of Sober Studies and Applieations, in which he would certainly be capable of making a confiderable Figure in the noblest Assembly of Men in the World; I say, in spight of that good Nature, which is his proper Bent, he will say ill-natur'd Things aloud, put such as he was, and still should be, out of Countenance, and drown all the natural Good in him, to receive an artificial ill Character, in which he will never fucceed; For Nobills is no Rake. He may guzzle as much Wine as he pleases, talk Bawdy if he thinks fit; but he may as well drink Water-gruel, and go twice a Day to Church, for it will never do. I pronounce it again, Nobilis is no Rake. To be of that Order, he must be vicious against his Will, and not so by Study or Application. All pretty Fellows are also excluded to a Man, as well as all Inamoratoes, or Persons of the Epicene Gender, who gaze at one another in the Presence of Ladies. This Class, of which I am giving you an Account, is pre-pretended to also by Men of strong Abilities in Drinking; tho they are such whom the Liquor, not the Conversation, keeps together, But Blockheads may roar, fight and flab, and be never the nearer; their Labour is also loft; They want Sense: They are no Rakes. Had add and or took

and

ex-

e of

Fol-

ac-

Day)

this

e, if (uno be

Me-

With

one,

ir of

the

as of

per,

that

But

ppli-

able

bleft

pight

Bent,

fuch

ante-

him,

h he

talk

trink

, tor Tobilis

e VI-

y or xclu-

s, or e at

This

1t, 15

pre-

AS a Rake among Men is the Man who lives in the constant Abuse of his Reason, so a Coquet among Women is one who lives in continual Mifapplication of her Beauty. The chief of all whom I have the Honour to be acquainted with, is pretty Miss Toss: She is ever in Practice of fomething which disfigures her, and takes from her Charms; tho all she does, tends to a contrary Effect. She has naturally a very agreeable Voice and Utterance, which she has changed for the prettieft Life imaginable. She fees what the has a Mind to fee, at half a Mile Distance; but poring with her Eyes half thut at every one the passes by, the believes much more becoming. The Cupid on her Fan and she have their Eyes full on each other, all the Time in which they are not both in Motion. Whenever her Eye is turned from that Dear Object, you may have a Glance and your Bow, if the is in Humour, returned as civilly as you make it; but that must not be in the Presence of a Man of greater Quality: For Miss Toss is so throughly well-bred, that the chief Person present has all her Regards. And she who giggles at Divine Service, and laughs at her very Mother, can compose herself at the Approach of a Man of a good Estate.

Will's Coffee-boufe, June 9.

A fine Lady shewed a Gentleman of this Company, for an eternal Answer to all his Addresses, a Paper of Verses, with which she is so eaptivated, that she profess'd, the Author should be the happy Man in Spite of all other Pretenders. It is ordinary for Love to make Men Poetieal and it had that Effect on this enamour'd Man: But he was refolved to try his Vein upon some of the act

Le of an he Bu

To

be

fice

Ti

WA

fco

bef

eyl

w

to

ed

1

her Confidents or Retinue, before he ventured upon so high a Theme as herself. To do other wise than so, would be like making an Heroick Poem a Man's first Attempt. Among the Favourites to the Fair One, he sound her Parrat not to be in the last Degree: He saw Post had her Ear, when his Sighs were neglected. To write against him had been a fruitless Labour; therefore he resolved to statter him into his Interest, in the following Manner:

To a Lady on her Parrat.

WHEN Nymphs were coy, and Love could not prevail, The Gods disguis'd were seldom known to fail: Leda was chaste, but yet a feather'd Jove Surpriz'd the Fair, and taught her how to love.
There's no celestial but his Heaven would quit, For any Form which might to thee admit.
See how the wanton Bird, at ev'ry Glance, Swells his glad Plumes, and feels an am rous Trank.
The Queen of Beauty has forsook the Dove e Henceforth the Parrat be the Bird of Love.

IT is indeed a very just Proposition, to give that Honour rather to the Parrat than the other Volatile. The Parrat represents us in the State of making Love: The Dove, in the Possession of the Object beloved. But instead of Turning the Dove off, I fancy it would be better if the Chaise of Venus had hereafter a Parrat added, (as we see sometimes a third Horse to a Coach) which might intimate, That to be a Parrat, is the only Way to succeed; and to be a Dove, to preserve your Conquests. If the Swain would go on successfully, he must imitate the Bird he writes upon. For he who would be loved by Women, must never be filent before the Favour, or open his Lips after it.

From my own Apartment, June 10.

I have so many Mcssuages from young Gendemen who expect Preferment and Distinction.

m

3 that I am wholly at a Loss in what Manner to acquit my felf. The Writer of the following Letter tells me in a Possscript, he cannot go out of Town till I have taken some Notice of him, and is very urgent to be some Body in it, before he returns to his Commons at the University. But take it from himself.

To Isaac Bickerstaff, Esq; Monitor-General of Great Britain.

Sheer Lane, Fune S. SIR, HAVE been above fix Months from the University, of Age these three Months, and so long in Town. was recommended to one Charles Bubleboy near the Temple, who has supplied me with all the Furniture be says a Gentleman ought to have. I defined a Certificate thereof from bim, which be faid would require some Time to confider of; and when I went Testerday Morning for it, be tells me, upon due Consideration, I fill want some few odd Things more, to the Value of threefore or fourfcore Pounds to make me compleat. I have bespoke them; and the Favour I beg of you is, to know, when I am equipp'd, in what Part or Class of Men in this Town you will place me. Pray fend me Word what I am, and you (ball find me, SIR,

Your most Humble Servant,

Jeffry Nicknack.

I am very willing to encourage young Beginners; but am extreamly in the Dark how to difpose of this Gentleman. I cannot see either his Person or Habit in this Letter; but I'll call at Charles's and know the Shape of his Sauff-Box, by which I can settle his Character. The indeed, to know his full Capacity, Dought to be informed, whether he take Spanish or Musty.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, June 10.

LETTERS from the Low-Countries of the 17th Instant say, That the Duke of Marlborough ean.

ured

her.

oick

F2-

Trat

had

vrite

efts,

ante.

ther tate n of the aifo we nich

nly rve lucitcs

pen,

on,

N

lov

tai

471 me

wi

2710

110

Li

fio

Sn

an

Ca

hii

the

ty

fan tio

the all lor

to pe

fta

of

and the Prince of Savoy intended to leave Ghest on that Day, and join the Army, which lies be tween Pont d'Espiere and Courtray, their Head Quar. ters being at Helchin. The same Day the Palatin Foot were expected at Bruffels. Lieutenant General Dompre, with a Body of eight thousand Men, is posted at Alost, in order to cover Ghen and Bruffels. The Marshal de Villars was still on the Plain of Lenz; and it is faid the Duke of Vendosme is appointed to command in Conjunction with that General. Advices from Paris fay, Monfieur Voisn is made Secretary of State, upon Mon. fieur Chamillard's Refignation of that Employment. The Want of Money in that Kingdom is fo great, that the Court has thought fit to command all the Plate of private Families to be brought into the Mint. They write from the Hague on the 18th, That the States of Holland continue their Seffion; and that they have approved the Resolution of the States General, to publish a second Edict to prohibit the Sale of Corn to the Enemy. Many eminent Persons in that Assembly have declared that they are of Opinion, that all Commerce whatfoever with France should be wholly forbidden: Which Point is under present Deliberation; but it is feared it will meet with powerful Opposition.

addedededede@dedededededede

Nº 28.

Tuefday, June 14. 1709.

White's Chocolate-boufe. June 13.

I HAD suspended the Business of Duelling to a distant Time, but that I am called upon to declare my self on a Point proposed in the following Letter.

SIR, June 9. at Night.

I DESIRE the Favour of you to decide this Quefion, Whether calling a Gentleman a Smart Fellow, is an Affront or not? A Touth entering a certain Coffee-house, with his Cane tied at his Button, wearing red-heel'd Shoes, I thought of your Description, and could not forbear telling a Friend of mine next to me, There enters a Smart Fellow. The Gentleman hearing it, had immediately a Mind to pick a Quarrel with me, and desired Satisfaction: At which I was more puzzled than at the other, remembring what Mention your Familiar makes of those that had lost their Lives on such Occasions. The Thing is referred to your Judgment, and I expect you to be my Second, since you have been the Cause of our Quarrel. I am,

Your Friend and bumble Servant;

I absolutely pronounce, That there is no Occafion of Offence given in this Expression; for a Smart Fellow is always an Appellation of Praise, and is a Man of double Capacity. The true Cast or Mould in which you may be sure to know him is, when his Livelihood or Education is in the Civil Lift, and you fee him express a Vivacity or Mettle above the Way he is in by a little Jerk in his Motion, fhort Trip'in his Steps, wellfancied Lining of his Coat, or any other Indications which may be given in a vigorous Drefs. Now, What possible Infinuation can there be, that 'tis a Cause of Quarrel for a Man to say, he allows a Gentleman really to be, what he, his Tailor, his Hofier, and his Milliner have conspired to make him? I confess, if this Person who appeals to me had faid, He was not a Smart Fellow, there had been Cause for Resentment, but if he flands to it that he is one, he leaves no Manner of Ground for Missinderstanding. Indeed it is a most lamentable Thing, that there should be a Dispute

Ghest to be-

Geland Ghent Il on e of Etion Mon-Mon-

ploym is com-

the olland

e of

e of with Point ed it

20 to a de-

R,

th

th

dr

OT

th

in

C

m m no ne

te

2 te

C

P

fo

e

fi

B

W

C

ŀ

Ъ

b

(

AI

Dispute raised upon a Man's saying another is what he plainly takes Pains to be thought.

BUT this Point cannot be so well adjusted, a by enquiring what are the Sentiments of wife N. tions and Communities, of the Use of the Sword and from thence conclude, Whether it is he nourable to draw it so frequently, or not? An il luftrious Commonwealth of Italy has preserved it felf for many Ages, without letting one of their Subjects handle this destructive Instrument, always leaving that Work to fuch of Mankind a understand the Use of a whole Skin so little, a to make a Profession of exposing it to Cuts and Scars.

BUT what need we run to fuch Foreign Instances? Our own ancient and well governed Cities are conspicuous Examples to all Mankind in their Regulation of military Atchievements. The chief Citizens, like the noble Italians, hire Mercenaries to carry Arms in their Stead; and you shall have a Fellow of a desperate Fortune, for the Gain of one Half-Crown, go through all the Dangers of Tuttle-Fields, or the Artillery Ground, clap his right Jaw within two Inches of the Touch-hole of a Musquet, fire it off, and huzza, with as little Concern as he tears a Pullet. Thus you fee, to what Scorn of Danger these Mercenaries arrive, out of a meer Love of fordid Gain: But methinks it should take off the firong Preposession Men have in Favour of bold Actions, when they fee upon what low Motives Men aspire to them. Do but observe the common Practice in the Government of those Heroick Bodies, our Militia and Lieutenancies, the most ancient Corps of Soldiers, perhaps in the Universe; I question, Whether there is one Instance of an Animosity between any two of these illustrious Sons of Mars fince their Institution, which was decided by Combat? I remember indeed to have read the Chronicle of an Accident which had like to have occasioned Bloodshed in

the

ours

her in ted, it fe Na Sword, 15 ho-Anil ved it their it, alind a le, as ts and n Inerned nkind nents.

and tone, gh all illeryes of hire

and rs a nger re of the bold om-Hethe

Inhefe ion, inlent

in the

the very Field before all the General Officers, tho' most of them were Justices of the Peace. Captain Crabtree of Birching Lane, Haberdasher, had drawn a Bill upon Major-General Maggot, Chcefmonger in Thames Street. Crabtree draws this upon Mr. William Maggot and Company. A Country Lad received this Bill, and not understanding the Word Company, us'd in drawing Bills on Men in Patnership, carried it to Mr. Feffery Stick of Crooked Lane (Lieutenant of the Major-General's Company (whom he had the Day before feen march by the Door in all the Pomp of his Commission. The Lieutenant accepts it, for the Honour of the Company, fince it had come to him. But Repayment being asked from the Major-General, he absolutely refuses. Upon this, the Lieutenant thinks of nothing less than to bring this to a Rupture, and takes for his Second Tobias Armfrong of the Counter, and fends him with a Challenge in a Scrip of Parchment, wherein was written, Stich contra Maggot, and all the Fury vanified in a Moment. The Major-General gives Satisfaction to the Second, and all was well. HENCE it is, that the bold Spirits of our City are kept in such Subjection to the Civil Power. Otherwise, Where would our Liberties foon be? If Wealth and Valour were fuffered to exert themselves with their utmost Force. fuch Officers as are employed in the terrible Bands abovementioned, were to draw Bills as well as Swords: These dangerous Captains, who could victual an Army as well as lead it, would be too powerful for the State. But the Point of Honour justly gives Way to that of Gain; and by long and wife Regulation, the richeft is the bravest Man. I have known a Captain rife to a Colonel in two Days by the Fall of Stocks; and a Major my good Friend, near the Monument, ascended to that Honour by the Fall of the Price of Spirits, and the rifing of right Nantz. By this true Sense of Honour, that Body of Warni-

....

and

of H

fo ga

you

The

er o

and

d, I

Han

fay,

ginr

Cou

Maj brua

der

mer

ver. The con

Les

the

the

atte Ne

by

N.

ed

In

fer

ac

ours are ever in good Order and Discipline, with their Colours and Coats all whole: As in other Battalions (where their Principles of Action and less folid) you see the Men of Service look like Spectres with long Sides and lank Cheeks. In this Army you may measure a Man's Services by his Wafte, and the most prominent Belly is certainly the Man who has been most upon Action. Be fides all this, there is another excellent Remark to be made in the Discipline of these Troops. It being of absolute Necessity that the People of England should see what they have for their Moncy, and be Eye-Witnesses of the Advantages they gain by it, all Battles which are fought abroad are represented here. But fince one Side must be beaten, and the other conquer, which might create Disputes, the eldest Company is always to make the other run, and the younger retreats according to the last News and best Intelligence. I have my self seen Prince Eugen make Catinut fly from the Backfide of Grays hm-Lane to Hockley in the Hole, and not give over the Pursuit, till obliged to leave the Bear-Garden on the Right, to avoid being born down by Fencers, wild Bulls and Monsters, too terrible for the Encounter of any Heroes, but such whose Lives are their Livelihood.

WE have here seen, that wise Nations do not admit of Fighting, even in the Defence of their Country, as a laudable Action; and they live within the Walls of our own City in great Honour and Reputation without it. It would be very necessary to understand, by what Force of the Climate, Food, Education, or Employment one Man's Sense is brought to differ so essentially from that of another; that one is ridiculous and contemptible for forbearing a Thing which makes for his Sasety; and another applauded for consulting his Ruin and Destruction.

. IT will therfore be necessary for us (to shew our Travelling) to examine this Subject fully,

and

with ther are like this y his 28.

tain-Be nark . It e of Motages ht a. Side hich s alnger Inugene - Innthe

n on cers, Enare not heir live Hod be e of nent tiallous hich

for hew ally,

and

and tell you how it comes to pass, That a Man of Honour in Spain, the you offend him never fogallantly, flabs you bafely; in England, though you offend never to bafely, challenges fairly The former kills you out of Revenge, the laer out of good Breeding. But to prove the Heart of Man in this Particular to its utmost Thoughts and Recesses, I must wait for the return of Paced, who is now attending a Gentleman lately in Duel, and fometimes visits the Person, by whose Hand he received his Wounds.

St. Fames's Coffee-house, June 13.

LETTERS from Vienna of the 8th Instant fay, There has been a Journal of the Marches and Actions of the King of Sweden, from the Beginning of Fannary to the 11th of April, N. S. communicated by the Swediff Ministers to that Court. These Advices inform, That his Swedist Majesty entered the Territories of Musicory in February last with the main Body of his Army, in order to oblige the Enemy to a general Engagement; but that the Muscovites declining a Battle, and an univerfal Thaw having rendred the Rivers unpassable, the King returned into Ukrania. There are mentioned feveral Rencounters between confiderable Detachments of the Swedish and Ruffan Armies. Marshal Heister intended to take his leave of the Court on the Day after the Date of these Letters, and put himself at the Head of the Army in Hungary. The Malecontents had attempted to fend in a supply of Provision into Newhauset; but their Design was disappointed by the Germans.

ADVICES from Berlin of the 15th Instant. N.S. fay, That his Danish Majesty having received an Invitation from the King of Pruffia to an Interview, defigned to come to Potsdam withinfew Days; and that King Augustus resolved to accompany him thither. To avoid all Difficul-

pal

the

the

De

der

No

tura

Mis

Fri

fer

per

ject

ridic

flect Hea

Age not i

tbey fier

to th

in qu can't

alwa

Braz

for b agree

ties in Ceremony, the three Kings and all the Company who shall have the Honour to fit with them at Table, are to draw Lots, and take Procedence accordingly.

THEY write from Hamburgh of the 18th Infant, N. S. That some particular Letters from Dantzick speak of a late Action between the Swedy and Muscovites near Ferislaw; but that Engage and Muscovites near Ferislaw; but that Engagement being mentioned from no other Place, there is not much Credit given to this Intelligence.

WE hear from Brussels, by Letters dated the 20th, That on the 14th in the Evening the Duke of Marlborough and Prince Eugene arrived at Contray, with a Design to proceed the Day following to Liste, in the Neighbourhood of which City the Confederate Army was to rendezvous the same Day. Advices from Paris inform us, that the Marshal de Bezons is appointed to command in Dauphine, and that the Duke of Berwick is set out for Spain, with a Design to follow the Fortunes of the Duke of Anjou, in case the French King should comply with the late Demands of the Allies.

THE Court of Feance has fent a Circular Letter to all the Governors of the Provinces, to recommend to their Confideration his Majefty's late Conduct in the Affair of Peace. It is thought fit in that Epistle, to condescend to a certain Appeal to the People, Whether it is confisent with the Dignity of the Crown or the French Name, to submit to the Preliminaries demanded by the Confederates? That Letter dwells upon the Unreasonableness of the Allies, in requiring his Majesty's Assistance in dethroning his Grandfon, and treats this Particular in Language more fuitable to it, as it is a Topick of Oratory, than a real Circumstance on which the Interests of Nations, and Reasons of State, which affect all Europe, are concerned.

THE

THE Close of this Memorial seems to prepare the People to expect all Events, attributing the Confidence of the Enemy to the Goodness of their Troops; but acknowledging, that his sole Dependence is upon the Intervention of Providence.

REPLEASE REP

Nº 29. Thursday, June 16. 1709.

White's Chocolate-bouse, June 14

HAVING a very solid Respect for human Nature, however it is distorted from its natural Make, by Affectation, Humeur, Custom, Missortune or Vice, I do apply my self to my Friends to help me in raising Arguments for preferving it in all its Individuals, as long as it is permitted. To one of my Letters on this Subject, I have received the following Answer:

SIR,

I the

with

Pre

from

weder

here

the Duke

Cour-

Wing

the fame

the

d in t out

unes

King Al-

Let-

relate

ught

tain

tent

ench

ded

pon

ring

ınd-

ore

han

of

all

IE

N Answer to your Question, Why Men of Sense, Virtue, and Experience, are seen still to comply with that ridiculous Custom of Duelling? I must desire you to reflect, that Custom has dish'd up in Ruffs the wisest Heads of our Ancestors, and put the best of the present . Age into buge Falbala Periwigs. Men of Sense would not impose such Incumbrances on themselves, but be glad they might shew their Faces decently in publick upon eafer Terms. If then such Men appear reasonably Slaves to the Fashion, in what regards the Figure of their Persons, we ought not to wonder, that they are at least so in what feems to touch their Reputation. Besides, you can't be ignorant, that Drefs and Chivalry bave been always encouraged by the Ladies, as the two principal Branches of Gallantry. 'Tis to avoid being freer'd at for his Singularity, and from a Desire to appear more agreeable to bis Mistress, that a wife, experienced and plite Man, complies with the Drefs commonly received;

and

Nº 19

and is prevailed upon to violate bis Reason and Prince ples, in bazarding bis Life and Estate by a Tilt, a well as suffering his Pleasures to be constrained and some ed by the constant Apprehension of a Quarrel. This the more surprising, because Men of the most delican Sense and Principles have naturally in other Cases particular Repugnance in accommodating themselves a the Maxims of the World: But one may easily diffiaguish the Man that is affected with Beauty, and the Reputation of a Tilt, from him who complies with both, meerly us they are imposed upon him by Custom; for in the former you'll remark an Air of Vanity and Triumph; whereas when the latter appears in a long Duvillier full of Powder, or has decided a Quarrel by the Sword, you may perceive in his Face, that he appeals to Custom for an Excuse. I think it may not be improper to enquin into the Genealogy of this Chimerical Monster, called & Duel, which I take to be an illegitimate Species of the antient Knight Erranty. By the Laws of this Whim, your Heroick Person, or Man of Gallantry, was indispensibly obliged to starve in Armour a certain Number of Years in the Chase of Monsters, encounter them at the Peril of his Life, and suffer greater Hardships, in order to gain the Affection of the fair Lady, and qualify himself for assuming the Bel-Air, that is, of a pretty. Fellow, or Man of Honour according to the Fafbion: But since the publishing of Don Quixot, and Extintion of the Race of Dragons, which Suctonius fays bappened in that of Wantley, the gallant and beroick Spirits of these later Times have been under the Necessity of creating new chimerical Monsters to entertain themselves with, by Way of single Combat, as the only Proofs they are able to give their own Sex, and the Ladies, that they are in all Points Men of nice Honour. But to do Justice to the ancient and real Mon-Aers, I must observe, that they never molested those who evere not of a Humour to bunt for them in Woods and Defarts; whereas on the contrary, our modern Monsters are so familiarly admitted and entertained in all the Courts and Cities of Europe, (except France) that one can scarce be in the most bumaniz'd Society without risking fine the I h

N

you Far

Sou from fel

of I Fai we no

by gair Tov

letti Wer his I he v

her; Bill

M

I tobsomain

Man Morr Guilt

reation V

tisking one's Life; the People of the best Sort, and the sne Gentlemen of the Age, being so fond of them; that they seldom appear in any publick Place without one. I have some surther Considerations upon this Subject, which as you encourage me, shall be communicated to you, by, Sir, a Cousin, but once removed from the best Family of the Stasts, namely,

SIR,

Your Humble Servant, Kinsman and Friend,

Tim. Switch.

It is certain Mr. Switch has hit upon the true Source of this Evil; and that it proceeds only from the Force of Custom that we contradiat our selves in half the Particulars and Occurrences of Life. But fuch a Tyranny in Love, which the Fair impose upon us, is a little too severe, that we must demonstrate our Affection for them by no certain Proof but Hatred to one another, or come at them (only as one does to an Estate) by Survivorship. This . Way of Application to gain a Lady's Heart, is taking her as we do Towns and Castles, by distressing the Place, and letting none come near them without out Pass. Were such a Lover once to write the Truth of his Heart, and let her know his whole Thoughts, he would appear indeed to have a Passion for her; but it would hardly be called Love. The Billet-Doux would run to this Purpose:

MADAM.

HAVE so tender a Regard for you and your Interests, that I'll knock any Man on the Head whom I observe to be of my Mind, and like you. Mr. Truman the other Day tooked at you in so languishing a Manner, that I am resolved to run him through to Morrow-Morning: This, I think, he deserves for his suilt in admiring you; than which I cannot have a meater Reason for murdering him, except it be that we also approve him. Whoever says he dies for you, VOL. I.

coervis is icate

29 inci

fes a les to iftin-

d the both, for in mph; full

n for equire lied a of the Vbim, indifumber

em at ps, in qualiof a

e Fand Exonius

nd beer the enter-

as the nd the

Monfe who ds and lonfters ill the risking

01 te

Se 20

OU

fo

St

ear

for

rep

tion

ma

off :

acci

fhou

ters

fuch

his A

tera

cum has s

15 2 of ar

vente

Reaf

has te

merce y Fa feems

Life's

think,

with? which

n in

ithou

eral .

er wa

I will make his Words good, for I will kill bim 4 am.

Madam. Your most Obedient, Most Humble Servant

From my own Apartment, June 14.

I am just come hither at ten at Night, and have ever fince fix been in the most celebrated. though most nauseous, Company in Town: The two Leaders of the Society were a Critick and a Wit. These two Gentlemen are great Opponents on all Occasions, not difcerning that they are the nearest each other in Temper and Talents of any two Classes of Men in the World; for to profess Judgment, and to profess Wit, both arise from the same Failure, which is Want of Judg-The Poverty of the Critick this Way proceeds from the Abuse of his Faculty; that of the Wit, from the Neglect of it. It's a particular Observation I have always made, That of all Mortals, a Critick is the filliest; for by inuring himself to examine all Things, whether they are of Consequence or not, he never looks upon any Thing but with a Design of passing Sentence upon it; by which Means he is never a Companion, but always a Cenfor. This makes him earnest upon Trifles; and dispute on the most indifferent Occasions with Vehemence. If he offers to speak or write, that Talent which should approve the Work of the other Faculties, prevents their Operation, He comes upon Action in Armour; but without Weapons; He stands in Safety; but can gain no Glory. The Wit on the other Hand has been hurried fo long away by Imagination only, that Judgment feems not to have ever been one of his natural Faculties. This Gentleman takes himself to be as much obliged to be merry, as the other to be grave. A thorough Critick is a Sort of Puritan in the polite

m ant.

and

red,

The

id a

ents

are

s of

r to rife

idg-

Way

t of

icu-

of all

ring.

they

upon

ence

mpa-

ear-

inc of-

ould pre-

lite

polite World. As an Enthusiast in Religion stumbles at the ordinary Occurrences of Life, if he cannot quote Scripture-Examples on the Occafion; fo the Critick is never fafe in his Speech or Writings, without he has among the celebrated Writers an Authority for the Truth of his Sentence. You will believe we had a very good Time with these Brethren, who were so far out of the Dress of their native Country, and so lost to its Dialect, that they were as much Strangers to themselves, as to their Relation to each other. They took up the whole Discourse; fometimes the Critick grew passionate, and when reprimanded by the Wit for any Trip or Hefitation in his Voice, he would answer, Mr. Dryden makes fuch a Character on fuch an Occasion break off in a the same Manner; so that the Stop was according to Nature; and as a Man in a Passion should do. The Wit, who is as far gone in Letters as himself, seems to be at a Loss to answer fuch an Apology; and concludes only, that tho his Anger is justly vented, it wants Fire in the Utterance. If Wit is to be measured by the Circumftances of Time and Place, there is no Man has generally fo little of that Talent, as he who is a Wit by Profession. What he says, instead of arifing from the Occasion, has an Occasion invented to bring it in. Thus he is new for no other Reason, but that he talks like no Body else; but has taken up a Method of his own, without Commerce of Dialogue with other People. The livey Fasper Dustyle is one of this Character. He eems to have made a Vow to be witty to his on in Life's End. When you meet him, what do you is in hink, fays he, I have been entertaining my felf. t on with? Then out comes a premeditated Turn; to which 'tis to no Purpose to answer, for he goes in in the same Strain of Thought he designed without your speaking. Therefore I have a general Answer to all he can say; as, Sure there nem was any Creature had so much Fire; Spondee, who y by ot to Ities. obli-. A po-

. 1

. .

· T

·y

10

of F

is a Critick, is seldom out of this fine Man's Company. They have no Manner of Affection for each other, but keep together, like Novell and Oldfox in the Plain Dealer, because they show each other. I know several of Sense who can be diverted with this Couple; but I see no Curiosity in the Thing, except it be, that Spondee is dull, and seems dull; but Dattyle is heavy with a brisk Face. It must be own'd also, that Dattyle has almost Vigour enough to be a Coxcomb; but Spondee by the Lowness of his Constitution, is only a Blockhead.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, June 15.

We have no Particulars of Moment fince our last, except it be, that the Copy of the following original Letter came by the Way of Oftend. It is faid to have been found in the Closer of Monsieur Chamillard, the late Secretary of State of France, fince his Difgrace. It was figned by two Brothers of the famous Cavalier, who led the Cevennois, and had a personal Interview with the King, as well as a Capitulation to lay down his Arms, and leave the Dominions of France. There are many other Names to it; among whom, is the chief of the Family of the Marquis Guiscard. It is not yet known, whether Monfigur Chamillard had any real Defign to favour the Protestant Interest, or only thought to place himself at the Head of that People, to make himself considerable enough to oppose his Enemies at Court, and re-instate himfelf in Power there.

SIR,

E have read your Majesty's * Letter to the Governors of your Provinces, with ^{*} Soon after the Breaking off of the late Treaty of Peace, the French King dispersed a Letter through his Deminions, wherein he shews the Reasons why he could no vati y the Preliminaries. Vide the publick News Papers of this Date.

mfor

nd

be

ofi-

ill,

al-

bon-

y 2

our

ing

It is

leur

ince,

hers

and well

eave

ther

the

yet

any

, or

that

gh to himer to

with

Peace, Domi

Js- P.a

· In

Instructions what Sentiments to infinuate into the Minds of your People: But as you have always acted upon the Maxim, That we were made for you, and not you for us; we must take Leave to affure your Majesty, that we are exactly of the contrary Opinion, and must defire you to fend for your Grandson Home, and acquaint him, that you now know by Experienec, Absolute Power is only a Vertigo in the Brain of Princes, which for a Time may quicken their Motion, and double in their difealed Sight the Instances of Power above them; , but must end in their Fall and Destruction. Your Memorial speaks a good Father of your Family, but a very ill one of your People. Your Majesty is reduced to hear Truth when you are obliged to speak it. There is no go-, verning any but Savages by other Methods than their own Confent, which you feem to acknowledge, in appealing to us for our Opinion of your Conduct in treating of Peace. Had your People been always of your Council, the King of France had never been reduced fo low, as to acknowledge his Arms were fallen into Contempt. But fince it is thus, we must ask, How is any Man of France, but they of the House of Bourbon, the better that Philip is King of Spain? We have out-grown that Folly of placing our Happiness in your Majesty's being called, Great. Therefore as you and we are all alike Bankrupts, and undone, let us not deceive our selves, but compound with our Adversaries, and not talk like their Equals. Your Majesty must forgive us that we cannot wish you Success, or lend you Help; for if you lose one Battel more, we may have an Hand in the ^{*} N. B. Monsieur Bernard and the chief Bankers of France became Bankrapts about this Time.

th

ra

fi th cl be in

th do

in tic tia

Bo or Fai

per Ha ling Hu ma 7a

Poo

not fo ! in l kin gre: on

nat Fac Whi

Peace you make; and doubt not but your Majesty's Faith in Treaties will require the Ratification of the States of your Kingdoms. So we bid you heartily farewell, till we have the Honour to meet you affembled in Parliament, This happy Expectation makes us willing to wait the Event of another Campaign, from whence we hope to be raifed from the Misery of . Slaves to the Privileges of Subjects. We are,

> Your Majefty's Truly faithful, and Loyal Subjects, &c.

⊴₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₩₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽₽ Nº 30. Saturday June 18. 1709.

From my own Apartment, June 16.

HE Vigilance, the Anxiety, the Tenderness, which I have for the good People of England, I am perswaded, will in Time be much commended; but I doubt whether they will ever be rewarded. However, I must go on chearfully in my Work of Reformation: That being my great Defign, I am Rudious to prevent my Labour's increasing, upon me; therefore am particularly observant of the Temper and Inclinations of Childhood and Youth, that we may not give Vice and Folly Supplies from the growing Gene-It is hardly to be imagined, how useful this Study is, and what great Evils or Benefits arife from putting us in our tender Years to what we are fit, or unfit: Therefore on Tuefday last (with a Design to found their Inclinations) I took three Lads, who are under my Guardianship, a rambling, in an Hackney-Coach, to shew them the

the Town, as the Lions, the Tombs, Bedlam, and the other Places which are Entertainments to raw Minds, because they strike forcibly on the Fancy. The Boys are Brothers, one of fixteen, the other of fourteen the other of twelve. The first was his Father's Darling, the second his Mo-Maatio we Hoent, wait ence to v are,

29.

lerof uch ver illy

my Lacuons ive ne-

ful ahat last ook

, a em the ther's, and the third is mine, who am their Uncle. Mr. William is a Lad of true Genius; but being at the upper End of a great School, and having all the Boys below him, his Arrogance isinsupportable. If I begin to shew a little of my Latin, he immediately interrupts: Uncle, under Favour, that which you fay is not understood in that Manner. Brother, Tays my Boy Fack, You do not shew your Manners much in contradicting my Uncle Ifaac? You queer Cur, fays Mr. William, Do you think my Uncle takes any Notice of fuch a dull Rogue as you are? Mr. Wilham goes on; He is the most stupid of all my or hoarding his Taws and Marbles, or laying up Farthings. His Way of thinking is, four and twenty Farthings makes Sixpence, and two Sixpences a Shilling, two Shillings and Sixpence, Half a Crown, and two Half Crowns five Shillings. So within these two Months, the close Hunks has feraped up twenty Shillings, and we'll make him found it all before he comes Home. Fack immediately claps his Hands into both Pockets, and turns as pale as Ashes. There is nothing touches a Parent (and fuch I am to Fack) so nearly as a provident Conduct. This Lad has in him the True Temper for a good Husband, a Mother's Children: He knows nothing of his Book: When he should mind that, he is hiding great People you see make considerable Figures. on the Change, in Court, and fometimes in Scnates, are such as in Reality have no greater Faculty than what may be called human Inflinet, kind Father, and an honest Executor. All the which is a matural Tendency to their own Pre-K.4.

fervation;

No may thou fash ner ; Page which mon gref with Mie Len ther and a: Se dua fied of C agre Valo in C celle and endo like alwa and I ving what the w the I with from and is in he ki

W

tion

fo G

and.

fervation, and that of their Friends, without being capable of firiking out of the Road for Adventures. There's Sir William Scrip was of this Sort of Capacity, from his Childhood; He has bought the Country round him, and makes a Bargain better than Sir Harry Widfire, with all his Wit and Humour. Sir Harry never wants Money but he comes to Scrip, laughs at him half an Hour, and then gives Bond for t'other Thoufand. The close Men are incapable of placing Merit any where but in their Pence, and therefore gain it; while others, who have larger Capacities, are diverted from the Pursuit by Enjoyments, which can be supported only by that Cash which they despise; and therefore are in the End, Slaves to their Inferiors both in Fortune and Understanding. I once heard a Man of excellent Sense observe, That more Affairs in the World failed by being in the Hands of Men of too large Capacities for their Business, than by being in the Conduct of fuch as wanted Abilities to execute them. Fack therefore being of a plodding Make, shall be a Citizen; and I design him, to be the Refuge of the Family in their Diffres, as well as their Jest in Prosperity. His Brother. Wilt shall go to Oxford with all Speed, where, if he does not arrive at being a Man of Senfe, he will foon be informed wherein he is a Coxcomb. There is in that Place fuch a true Spirit of Raillery and Humour, that if they can't make you a wife Man, they will certainly let you know you are a Fool, which is all my Coufin wants to cease to be so. Thus having taken these two out of the Way, I have Leisure to look at my third Lad. I observe in the young Rogue a natural Subtilty of Mind, which difcovers it felf rather in forbearing to declare his Thoughts on any Occasion, than in any visible Way. of exerting himself in Discourse. For which Reason I will place him where, if he commits no Faults, he, may.

may go farther than those in other Stations, though they excel in Virtues. The Boy is well fashioned and will easily fall into a graceful Manner; wherefore, I have a Defign to make him a Page to a great Lady of my Acquaintance; by which Means he will be well skill'd in the common Modes of Life, and make a greater Progress in the World by that Knowledge than with the greatest Qualities without it. A good Mien in a Court will carry a Man greater Lengths than a good Understanding in any other Place. We see a World of Pains taken, and the best Years of Life spent, in collecting a Set of Thoughts in a College for the Conduct of Life; and after all, the Man so qualified shall hefitate in his Speech to a good Suit of Clothes, and want common Sense before an agreeable Woman. Hence it is, that Wisdom, Valour, Juffice and Learning, can't keep a Man in Countenance that is possessed with these Excellencies, if he wants that inferior Art of Life and Behaviour, called Good Breeding. A Man endowed with great Perfections without this, is like one who has his Pockets full of Gold, but always wants Change for his ordinary Occasions.

Will Courtly is a living Instance of this Fruth, and has had the same Education which I am giving my Nephew. He never spoke a Thing but what was said before, and yet can converse with the wittiest Men without being ridiculous. Among the Learned, he does not appear ignorant; nor with the wise, indiscreet. Living in Conversation from his Instancy, makes him no where are Loss; and a long Familiarity with the Persons of Men, is in a Manner of the same Service to him; as if he knew their Arts. As Ceremony is the Invention of wife Men, to keep Fools ar a Distance, so Good Breeding is an Expedient to make Fools and wife Men Equals.

Will's Coffee-boufe, June 17.

THE Suspension of the Playhouse has made me have nothing to fend you from hence; but calling here this Evening, I found the Party I usually at with, upon the Business of Writing, and examining what was the handfomest Style in which to address Women and write Letters of Gallantry. Many were the Opinions which were immediately declared on this Subject: Some were for a certain Softness; some for I know not what Delicacy; others for fomething inexpreshibly tender: When it came to me, I faid there was no Rule in the World to be made for writing Letters, but that of being as near what you speak Face to Face as you can; which is fo great a Truth, that I am of Opinion, Writing has lot more Miftreffes than any one Miftake in the whole Legend of Love. For when you write to a Lady for whom you have a folid and honourable Palfion, the great Idea you have of her, joined to a quick Sense of her Absence, fills your Mind with a Sort of Tenderness, that gives your Language too much the Air of Complaint, which is feldon fuccessful. For a Man may flatter himself as he pleases, but he will find that the Women have more Understanding in their own Affairs than we have, and Women of Spirit are not to be won by Mourners. He that can keep hand somely within Rules, and Support the Carriage of a Companion to his Miltress, is much more likely to prevail, than the who lets her fee the whole Relift of his Life depends upon her. If possible therefore diver your Miftress, rather than ligh to her. The pleasant Man she will defire for her own Sake; but the Languishing Lover has nothing to hope from, but her Pity. To shew the Difference, I produced two Letters a Lady gave me, which had been writ by two Gentlemen who pretended to her, but were both killed

man:
mount a gr
This Air
half open.

M

the 1

Con whe are was low form the trou perritual Home true in the interest in the true in the interest in the inter

NO it is fo

fend

hom

quite

Ly,

Mul LI be a

the next Day after the Date at the Battle of Almanza. One of them was a mercurial gay-humour'd Man; the other a Man of a ferious, but a great and gallant Spirit. Poor Fak Careles! This is his Letter: You fee how it is folded: The Air of it is fo negligent, one might have read half of it by peeping into it without breaking it . open. He had no Exacineis

MADAM,

ut

'n of

re

e

12

1-

10

į. k

f

le 4

h

e

m

e

e

n

h-

1-

e-

C-

to er

0-

W

y eed

10

Yell : 190 Thoy on the side IT is a very pleasant Circumstance I am in. that while I should be thinking of the good Company we are to meet within a Day or two. where we shall go to Loggerheads, my Thoughts ' are running upon a fair Enemy in England. I was in Hopes I had left you there, but you follow the Camp, tho' I have endeavoured to make fome of our Leaguer Ladies drive you our of the Field. All my Comfort is you are more troublesome to my Colonel than my felf: I permit you to wife me only flow and then but he downright keeps your blaugh ar his Honour as far as his Gravity will allow me; but I know him to be a Man of too much Merit to focced with a Woman Therefore defend your Hoant as well as you can bibalboome home this Winter itrelitibly dress'd, and wither quite a new Foreign Ain. And for I had like to by, I soft but alast I remain the und went med solbaye taken Commit; but, Mike Ch, Me fite

Your most obedient of the stone over

Most humble Servant, John Careleis

ELT ERS from limited the och in NOW for Colonel Confant's Epiffe; you led it is folded and darboard with the usmost Care. The Porner of the very approbative that alo (Antriba of the Piners, then the coding

To Do my felf the Honour to write to vou this Evening, because libelieve to Morrow will be a Day of Battel, and something forebodes in my Breaft that I shall fall in it. If it proves fo, I hope you will hear, I have done nothing below a Man who had the Love of his Country, quickened by a Passon for a Woman of Ho-not fix Couclus Del

tity

dre

coru

buck

firft dulg

Com

bun

10 nour. If there be any Thing noble in going to a certain Death; if there be any Merit, that I meet it with Pleasure, by promising my felf a Place in your Esteem; if your Applause, when

I am no more, is preferable to the most glorious Life without you: I say, Madam, if any of these Considerations can have Weight with you, you will give me a kind Place in your Memory, which I prefer to the Glory of Casar.

"I hope, this will be read as it is writ, with

- Tears.

The beloved Lady is a Woman of a sensible Mind; but she has confess d'tome, that after all' her true and folid Value for Conftant; fhe had much more Concern for the Loss of Gareles, Those noble and ferious Spirits have fomething equal to the Advertities they meet with, and consequently lessen the Objects of Pity. Great Accidents seem not cut out for much for Men of familiar Characters, which makes them more eafily pitied, and foon after beloved. Add to this that the Sort of Love which generally succeeds, is a Stranger to Awe and Diffance. I asked Romana, Whether of the two she should have chosen, had they furvived? She faid, She knew the ought to have taken Conftant; but believed, he should have chosen Careles

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, June 17:

LETTER'S from Lisbon of the 9th Instant, W. S. fay, That the Enemy's Army having block'd up Olivenza, was posted on the Guadiana. The Partugueze are very apprehensive that the Carrison of that Place, though it consists of sive of the best Regiments of their Army, will be obliged to surrender, if not timely relieved, they

Bic fall

No

not wh for Ad fit

Aff Re Ye 0.

E

n,

-

1

not being supplied with Provisions for more than fix Weeks. Hereupon their Generals held a Council on the 4th Instant, wherein it was concluded to advance towards Badajos. With this Design the Army decamped on the 5th from Jerumena, and marched to Cancaon. Tis hoped, that if the Enemy follow their Motions, they may have Opportunity to put a sufficient Quantity of Provision and Ammunition into Olivenza.

Mr. Bickerstaff gives Notice to all Persons that dress themselves as they please, without Regard to Decorum, (as with blue and red Stockings in Mourning, tuck'd Cravats, and Night-cap Wigs, before People of the first Quality) That he has yet received no Fine for indulging them in that Liberty, and that he expects their Compliance with this Demand, or that they go Home humediately and shift themselves. This is further to acquaint the Town, That the Report of the Hossers, Toymen, and Milliners, having compounded with Mr. Bickerstaff for tolerating such Enormities, is utterlytelse and scandalous.

Nº 31 Tuefday, June 21. 1709

Grecian Coffee boufe, June 18.

In my Differtation against the Custom of single Combat, it has been objected, That there is not Learning, or much Reading, shewn therein, which is the very Life and Soul of all Treatises; for which Reason, being always easy to receive Admonitions, and reform my Errors, I thought it to consult this learned Board, on the Subject. Upon proposing some Doubts, and desiring their Assistance, a very hopeful young Gentleman, my Relation, who is to be called to the Bar within a Year and an half at farthest, told me, That he had ever since I first montioned Duelling, turned.

his

pre

thi

for

ha

the

the

tha

for

the

An

the

WI

by

the

So

fig fta

lea

thi

Cra

for nex

fou

tha

ma

dw

old

He

Co

den

gra

on

for

Ti

lov

the

Wh

his Head that Way; and that he was principally moved thereto, because he designed to follow the Circuits in the North of England and South of Scotland, and to refide mostly at his own Estate at Landbadernacuz in Cardigansbire. The Northern Britains and the Southern Scots are a warm People, and the Welfb a Nation of Gendemen; fo that it behov'd him to understand well the Science of Quarelling. The young Gentleman proceeded admirably well, and gave the Board an Account that he had read Fitzberbert's Grand Abridgment, and had found, that Duelling is a very ancient Part of the Law; For when a Man is fued, be it for Life or his Land, the Person that joins the Issue, whether Plaintiff or Defendant, may put the Trial upon the Duel. Further he argued, under Favour of the Court, and when the Isfue is joined by the Duel in Treason or other Capital Crimes, the Parties accused and Accuser must fight in their own proper Persons: But if the Dispute be for Lands, you may hime a Champion at Hockley in the Hole, or any whone elfe. This Part of the Law we had from the Saxons; and they had it, as also the Trial by Ordeal, from the Laplanders. It is indeed agreed, said he, the Southern and Eaftern Nations never knew any Thing of it; for though the encient Romans would foold and call Names filthily, yet there is not an Example of a Challenge that ever paffed among them. od this a naite well you

Hels quoting the Eastern Nations, put another Gentleman in Mind of an Account be had from a Boatswain of an East-India Man; which was, That a Chinese had trick'd and bubbled him, and that when he came to demand Satisfaction the next Morning, and like a true Tar of Honour called him Son of a Whore, Liar, Dog, and other rough Appellatives used by Persons conversant with Winds and Waves; the Chinese, with great Tranquillity defired him not to come abroad fasting, nor put himself in a Heat, for it would

pre-

prejudice his Health. Thus the East knows nothing of this Gallantry.

THERE fate at the Left of the Table a Perfon of a venerable Afpect, who afferted, That half the Impolitions which are pur upon thefe Ages, have been transmitted by Writers who have given too great Pomp and Magnificence to the Exploits of the ancient Bear-Garden, and made their Gladiators, by fabulous Tradition, greater than German and others of Great Britain. He informed the Company, that he had fearched Authorities for what he faid, and that a learned Antiquary Humpbrey Scarecrow, Efq; of Hockley in the Hole, Recorder to the Bear Garden, was then writing a Discourse on the Subject. It appears by the best Accounts, fays this Gentleman, that the high Names which are used among us with fo great Veneration, were no other than Stagefighters, and Worthics of the ancient Bear garden. The renounced Hercules always carried a Quarrerstaff, and was from thence called Claviger. A learned Chronologist is about proving what Wood this Staff was made of, whether Oak, Afh, or Crab Tree. The first Trial of Skill he ever performed, was with one Cacus a Deer-stealer; the next was with Typhonus, a Giant of forty Foot four Inches. Indeed it was unhappily recorded, that meeting at last with a Sailor's Wife, the made his Staff of Prowels ferve her own Ufe, and dwindle away to a Distast: She clapt him on an old Tar-Jacket of her Husband's; fo that this great Hero drooped like a scabbed Sheep. Him his Contemporary Thefens succeeded in the Bear Garden, which Honour he held for many Years. This grand Duellist went to Hell, and was the only one of that Sort that ever came back again. As for Achilles and Heffer, (as the Bullads of those Times mention) They were pretty Smart Fellows; they fought at Sword and Buckler; but the former had much the better of it; his Mother, who was an Oyster-Woman, having got a Blackfmith of Lemnos to make her Son's Weapons? There's a Pair of trusty Trojans in a Song of Virgis's, that were famous for handling their Gauntlets, Dares and Entellus; and indeed it does appear, they fought no Sham-Prize. What Arms the great Alexander used, is uncertain; however, the Historian mentions, when he attack'd Thalestris, it was only at single Rapier; but the Weapon soon failed; for it was always observed, that the Amazons had a Sort of Enchantment about them, which made the Blade of the Weapon, though of never so good Metal, at every home Pash lose its Edge and grow feeble.

THE Roman Bear-Garden was abundantly more magnificent than any Thing Greece could bost of; it flourish'd most under those Delights of Mankind, Nero and Domitian. At one Time it is recorded, 400 Senators enter'd the List, and thought it an Honour to be cudge!'d and quarterstall'd. I observe the Laniste were the People chiefly employed, which makes me imagine our Bear-Garden copied much after this, the Butchers being the greatest Men in it.

THUS far the Glory and Honour of the Bear-Garden stood secure, till Fate, that irresistible Ruler of sublunary Things, in that universal Ruin of Arts and politer Learning, by those Savage People the Goths and Vandals, deftroyed and levelled it to the Ground. Then fell the Grandeur and Bravery of the Roman State, till at last the warlike Genius (but accompanied with more Courtefie) revived in the Christian World under those puissant Champions, Sr. George, St. Dennis, and other dignified Heroes: One killed his Dragon, another his Lion, and were all afterwards canonized for it, having red Letters before them to illustrate their Martial Temper. The Spanist. Nation, it must be own'd, were devoted to Gallantry and Chivalry above the rest of the World. What a great Figure does that great Name, Don Quixot, make in History? How shines that glo-Flous

Hero Ti Ai I for i

No

riou

gree (who to en Pass.

LI my I and. with hope to m fince leave will I all t When what wealt If al once, deed which find I thence rest do

Dean I T r fuppe they down

lows:

rious Star in the Western World? O renowned :

The brandish'd Winyard all the World defies,.
And kills as sure as del Tobosa's Eyes.

I am forced to break off abruptly, being fent for in Haste with my Rule, to measure the Degree of an Astront, before the two Gentlemen (who are now in their Breeches and Pumps ready to engage behind Mentague House) have made a Pass.

From my own Apartment, June 18:

IT is an unreasonable Objection I find against my Labours, that my Stock is not all my own, and therefore the kind Reception I have met with is not so deserved as it ought to be. But, I hope, tho' it be never fo true, that I am obliged to my Friends for laying their Cash in my Hands, fince I give it them again when they please, and leave them at their Liberty to call it Home, it will not hurt me with my gentle Readers. Ask all the Merchants who act upon Confignments, Where is the Necessity (if they answer readily what their Correspondents draw) of their being wealthy themselves? Ask the greatest Bankers, If all the Men they deal with were to draw at once, what would be the Confequence? But indeed a Country Friend has writ me a Letter. which gives me great Mortification; wherein I. and I am fo far from expecting a Supply from thence, that some have not heard of me, and the rest do not understand me, His Epistle is as follows:

Dear Confin,

I THOUGHT when I left the Town to have raised your Fame here, and helped you to support it by Intelligence from hence; but alas! they had never heard of the Tatler till I brought down a Set. I lent them from House to House;
but

No

" dy's

" fhe

f rea

yol

and

'Th

hei

do

· Tw

& Shi

few

· His

· Say

· An

Wh

(I) but

and Ha!

thi who

and

Sin bee

· Co

IT

an A

pany

Fune

my i

Cour

mena,

im

but they asked me what they meant. I began to enlighten them, by telling who and who were supposed to be intended by the Characters drawn. I said for Instance Chibe and Clariffa are two eminent Toafts. A Gentleman (who keeps his Greyhound and Gun, and one would think might know better) told me, he supposed they were Papishes, for there Names were not English, Then said he, Why do you call live People Toatts; I answered, That was a new Name found out by the Wits, to make a Lady have the fame Effect as Burridge in the Glass when a Man is drinking. But, fays I, Sir, I perceive this is to you all bamboozing; why you look as if you were Don Diego'd to the Tune of a thousand Pounds. All this good Language was loft upon him: He only flared, though he is as good a Scholar as any Layman in the Town, except the Barber. Thus, Coulin, you must be content with London for the Center of your Wealth and Fame; we have no Relish for you. Wit must describe its proper Circumference, and not go beyond it, left (like little Boys, when they straggle out of their own Parish) it may wander to Places where it is not known, and be loft. Since it is fo, you must excuse me that I am forced at a Visit to sit silent, and only lay up what excellent Things pass at fuch Conversations.

'THIS Evening I was with a Couple of young Ladies; one of them has the Character of the prettieft Company, yet really I thought her but filly; the other who talked a great deal less, I observed to have Understanding. The Lady who is reckoned fuch a Companion among her Acquaintance, has only with a very brisk Air, a Knack of faying the commonest Things: . The other, with a fly ferious one, Tays home Things enough. The first (Mittres Giddy) is very quick; but the second (Mrs. Slim) fell into Gid-· dy s an ho

re

ps

k

h. le

1e

10 n

k

13 ft.

1

r

De-

dy's own Style, and was as good Company as the. Giddy happens to drop her Glove; Slime reaches it to her. Madam (fays Giddy) I hope you'll have a better Office. Upon which Slime immediately repartees, and fits in her Lap, and cries, are you not forry for my Heavine's? This fly Wench pleased me to see how she hit her Height of Understanding so well. We fate down to Supper. Says Giddy mighty prettily, Two Hands in a Dish and one in a Purse: Says Slim, Ay, Madam, the more the merrier; the sewer the better Chear. I quickly took the Hint, and was as witty and talkative as they: Says I,

' He that will not when he may,

When he will be foall have Nay;

And so helped my self. Giddy turns about, What have you found your Tongue? Yes, (says I) 'tis Manners to speak when I am spoken to; but your greatest Talkers are the least Doers, and the still Sow eats up all the Broth. Ha! Ha! says Giddy, One would think he had nothing in him, and do you hear how he talks when he pleases! I grew immediately roguish and pleasant to a Degree in the same Strain. Sim, who knew how good Company we had been, cries, You'll certainly print this bright Conversation.

IT is so; and hereby you may see how small an Appearance the pretriest Things said in Company make, when in Print.

St. Fames's Coffee louse, June 20.

A Mail from Liston has brought Advices of fune the 12th, from the King of Portugal's Army encamped at Torre Allegada, which inform us, That the General of the Army called a Court-Martial on the 4th at the Camp of Ferumena, where it was resolved to march with a cou

SI 1

Lo

· Sei

· Mi

· fle uni

'-of wh

" un

4 W1

· Bl

. he

t tu

(fh

.an

· Sh

· Sc

4 he

· N

4 F

· St

4 C

" bl

. W

4. 65

· F

· N p 4 m

. 0

· I

4 t · n

" S

Nº 31

Defign to attempt the Succour of Olivenza. Accordingly the Army moved on the 5th, and marched towards Badajos. Upon their Approach the Marquis de Bay detached so great a Party from the Blockade of Olivenza, that the Marquin das Minas, at the Head of a large Detachment covered a great Convoy of Provisions toward Olivenza, which threw in their Stores, and marched back to the main Army, without Moleffation from the Spaniards. They add, That each Army must necessarily march into Quarters within twenty . Days.

Whofoever can discover a Surgeon's Apprentice who fell upon Mr. Bickerstaff's Messenger, or (as the Printers call him) Devil, going to the Press, and tore out of his Hand Part of his Essay against Duels, in the Fragments of which were the Words, You lie, and Man of Honour, taken up at the Temple-Gate; and the Words, Perhaps—May be not,—By your Leave, Sir, and other Terms of Propocation, taken up at the Door of Young Man's Coffee-bouse; Shall receive Satisfaction from Mr. Morphew, besides a Set of Arguments to be Spoken to any Man in a Passion, which if the said ex raged Man listens to, will prevent Quarrelling.

Mr. Bickerstaff does berehy give Notice, That be bas taken the two famous Universities of this Land under his immediate Care, and does bereby promise all Tutors and Pupils, That he will hear what can be faid of each Side between them, and to correct them impartially, by placing them in Orders and Classes in the Learned World, according to their Merit.

Thursday, June 23. 1709.

White's Chocolate-house, June 22. A N Answer to the following Letter being abfolutely necessary to be dispatched with all Expedition, I must trespass upon all that come with Horary Questions into my Antichamber, to give the Gentleman my Opinion.

To

de

nd

ch

ty

in nt,

h-

on

ny

nin

fell.

eth

bis

nts

ds,

· of ion be er.

be

in-

l of

lly,

ned

ıb-

all

ne

to

To

To Isaac Bickerstaff, Efq;

distre, only to convided he SIR. 7 June 18. 1709. KNOW not whether you ought to pity or laugh at me; for I am fallen desperately in Love with a professed Platonne, the most unaccountable Creature of her Sex. To hear her talk Scraphicks, and run over Norris, and Moor, and Milton, and the whole Set of intellectual Triflers, torments me heartily; for to a Lover who understands Metaphors, all this pretty Prattle of Ideas gives very fine Views of Pleasure, which only the dear Declaimer prevents, by understanding them literally; Why should she wish to be a Cherubim, when 'tis Flesh and Blood that makes her adorable? If I speak to her, that's a high Breach of the Idea of Intuition. If I offer at her Hand or Lip, the fhrinks from the Touch like a fenfitive Plant, and would contract herself into meer Spirit. ' She calls her Chariot, Vehicle; her furbelow'd Scarf, Pinions; her blue Mant and Petticoat is her Azure Dress; and her Footman goes by the ' Name of Oberon. 'Tis my Misfortune to be fix 4 Foot and a half high, two full Spans between the 'Shoulders, thirteen Inches Diameter in the 'Calves; and before I was in Love, I had a no-" ble Stomach, and usually went to Bed sober with two Bottles. I am not quite fix and twenty, and my Nose is marked truly Aquiline. For these Reasons, I am in a very particular 'Manner her Aversion. What shall I do? Impudence it felf cannot reclaim her. If I write miserable, the reckons me among the Children of Perdition, and discards me her Region: If 'I assume the gross and substantial, she plays the real Ghost with me, and vanishes in a Moment. I had Hopes in the Hypocrify of her Sex; but Perseverance makes it as bad as fixed Aversion. I desire your Opinion, Whether I may not lawfully play the Inquifition upon her, make use of a little Force, and put her to the Rack and the Torture, only to convince her.

he has really fine Limbs, without spoiling or distorting them. I expect your Directions, ere! proceed to dwindle and fall away with Despair; which at present I do not think adviseable, because, if she should recant, she may then hate me perhaps in the other Extreme for my Te-unuity, I am (with Impatience)

Your most kumble Servant,

Charles Sturdy.

MY Patient has put his Case with very much Warmth, and represented it in so lively a Map ner, that I fee both his Torment and Tormenter with great Perspicuity. This Order of Platonick Ladies are to be dealt with in a peculiar Manner from all the rest of the Sex. Flattery is the general Way, and the Way in this Cafe; but it is not to be done grofly. Every Man that has Wit, and Humour, and Raillery, can make a good Rlatterer for Women in general; but a Platonne is not to be touched with Panegyrick: She will tell you, it is a Senfuality in the Soul to be delighted that Way. You are not therefore to commend, but filently confent to all she does, and says. You are to consider in her, the Scorn of you is not Humour, but Opinion.

THERE were some Years since a Set of these Ladies, who were of Quality, and gave out, That Virginity was to be their State of Life during this mortal Condition, and therefore refolved to join their Fortunes, and erect a Nunnery. The Place of Refidence was pitched upon; and a pretty Situation, full of natural Falls and Rifings of Waters, with shady Coverts, and flowry Arbours, was approved by feven of the Founders. There were as many of our Sex who took the Liberty to visit those Mansions of intended Severity;

among in fir ward no Pl grave faid h this S ther S know, fter where bows :

Girl, Sort c

know

amon

had t

That v But p Name tily b least, whofe to you Rando in the tleman Friend luted I the Mi Loss w them; pale, t they w keep S their W nella, a ing the the Fou ind Ra ind Afp egins; k

S

1

8

1

8

. f

e

Y

among others, a famous Rake of that Time, who had the grave Way to an Excellence. He came in first; but upon feeing a Servant coming towards him, with a Defign to tell him, this was no Place for him or his Companions, up goes my grave Impudence to the Maid? Young Woman, faid he, if any of the Ladies are in the Way on this Side of the House, pray carry us on the other Side towards the Gardens: We are, you must know, Gentlemen that are travelling England; fer which we shall go into Foreign Parts, where some of us have already been. Here he bows in the most humble Manner, and kiffed the Girl, who knew not how to behave to fuch a Sort of Carriage. He goes on: Now you must know we have an Ambition to have it to fay, That we have a Protestant Nunnery in England: But pray Mrs. Betty-Sir, she replied, my Name is Sufan, at your Service. Then I heartily beg your Pardon-No Offence in the least, (fays she) for I have a Cousin-German whose Name is Betty. Indeed, said he, I protest to you, that was more than I knew; I spoke at Random: But fince it happens that I was near in the Right, give me Leave to present this Gentleman to the Favour of a civil Salute. His Friend advances, and so on, till they had all faluted her. By this Means the poor Gril was in the Middle of the Crowd of these Fellows at a Loss what to do, without Courage to pass through them; and the Platonicks, at several Peep-holes, pale, trembling, and fretting. Rake perceived they were observed, and therefore took Care to keep Suky in Chat with Questions concerning their Way of Life; when appeared at last Madorella, a Lady who had writ a fine Book concerning the recluse Life, and was the Projectrix of he Foundation. She approaches into the Hall; and Rake knowing the Dignity of his own Mien and Aspect, goes Deputy from his Company. She egins; Sir, I am obliged to follow the Servant,

Nº 32

n

t

e

fe

te

fo

20 lo

fo

le

no

pri

Ar

hu lik

who was fent out to know, What Affair could make Strangers press upon a Solitude which we who are to inhabit this Place, have devoted to Heaven and our own Thoughts? Madam replies Rake, (with an Air of great Distance, mixed with a certain Indifference, by which he could dissemble Dissimulation) your great Intention has made more Noise in the World, than you design it should; and we Travellers, who have seen many Foreign Institutions of this Kind, have a Curiofity to fee, in its first Rudiments, the Seat of primitive Piety; for such it must be called by future Ages, to the eternal Honour of the Founders. I have read Madonella's excellent and feraphick Discourse on this Subject. The Lady immediately answers, If what I have faid could have contributed to raise any Thoughts in you that may make for the Advancement of intellectual and divine Conversation, I should think my self extreamly happy. He immediately fell back with the profoundest Veneration; then advancing, are you then that admired Lady? If I may approach Lips which have uttered Things fo facred-He salutes her. His Friends followed his Example. The Devoted within stood in Amazement where this would end, to see Madonella receive their Address and their Company. But Rake goes on-We would not transgress Rules; but if we may take the Liberty to fee the Place you have thought fit to chuse for ever, we would go into such Parts of the Gardens as is consistent with the Severities you have imposed on your sclves. To be short, Madonella permitted Rake to lead her into the Assembly of Nuns, followed by his Friends, and each took his Fair One by the Hand, after due Explanation, to walk round the Gardens. The Conversation turned upon the Lillios, the Flowers, the Arbors, and the growing Vegetables; and Rake had the folemn Impudence, when the whole Company flood round him, to fay, That he fincerely wished Men might it

s,

n-

0-

h

n-

nt ve

ke

s;

ce

ur

z ke

ed by

nd

he

am

too

len ght might rife out of the Earth like Plants; and that our Minds were not of Necessary to be fullied with carnivorous Appetites for the Generation, as well as Support of our Species. This was fpoke with fo eafy and fixed an Afference. that Madonella sofwered, Sir, under the Notion of a pions Thought, you deceive your felf in wishing an Institution foreign to that of Providence. These Defires were implanted in us for reverend Purpoles, in preferving the Race of Men, and giving Opportunities for making our Chaftity more heroick. The Conference was continued in this Celestial Strain, and carried on so well by the Managers on both Sides, that it created a second and a second Interview; and, without entering into further Particulars, there was hardly one of them but was a Mother or Father that Day Twelvemonth. 551428

ANY unnatural Part is long taking up, and as long laying aside; therefore Mr. Sturdy may assure himself, Platonica will say for ever from a forward Behaviour; but if he approaches her according to this Model, she will fall in with the Necessities of mortal Life, and condescend to look with Pity upon an unhappy Man, imprifoned in so much Body, and urged by such violent Defires.

From my even Apariment, June 22.

THE Evils of this Town increase upon me to so great a Degree, that I am half afraid I shall not leave the Word much better than I found it. Several worthy Gentlemen and Criticks have applied to me, to give my Censure of an Enormity which has been revived, (after being long oppressed) and is called Puming. I have several Arguments ready to prove, that he cannot be a Man of Honour who is guilty of this Abuse of human Society. But the Way to expose it, is, like the Expedient of curing Drunkenness, shew-VOL. I.

ing a Man in that Condition: Therefore I must give my Reader Warning, to expect a Collection of these Offences; without which Preparation, I thought it too adventurous to introduce the very Mention of it in good Company; and I hope, I shall be understood to do it, as a Divine mention Oaths and Curses, only for their Condemnation. I shall dedicate this Discourse to a Gentleman my very good Friend, who is the Fanus of our Times, and whom, by his Years and Wit, you would take to be of the last Age; but by his Dress and Morals, of this.

St, Fames's Coffee-boufe, June 22.

LAST Night arrived two Mails from Holland which bring Letters from the Hague of the 28th Inftant, N. S. with Advice, That the Enemy lay encamped behind a firong Retrenchment, with the Marsh of Remiers on their Right and Left, extending it self as far as Bethine; La Basfee is in their Front, Lens in their Rear, and their Camp is strengthened by another Line from Lens to Doway. The Duke of Marlborough caufed an exact Observation to be made of their Ground, and the Works by which they were covered, which appeared fo firong, that it was not thought proper to attack them in their prefent Posture. However, the Duke thought fit to make a Feint as if he defigned it; His Grace accordingly marched from the Abbey at Looke, as did Prince Eugene from Lampret, and advanc'd with all possible Diligence towards the Enemy. To favour the Appearance of an intended Affault, the Ways were made, and Order distributed in fuch Manner, that none in either Camp could have Thoughts of any Thing but charging the Enemy by Break of Day next morning; But foon after the Fall of the Night of the 26th, the whole Army faced towards Tournay, which Place they invested early in the Morning of the

I

In

w

for far

tol

Ru

Pap

cou

Service I desi that we defigned to attack him, that he had drawn great Part of the Garrison of the Place, which is now invested, into the Field: For which Reason, it is presumed it must submit within a small Time, which the Enemy cannot prevent, but by coming out of their present Camp, and hazarding a general Engagement. These Advices add, That the Garrison of Mons had marched out under the Command of Marshal d' Arco; which, with the Bavarians, Walloons, and the Troops of Cologne, have joined the grand Army of the Enemy.

dededededede@dededededede

By Mrs. Jenny Diftaff, Half-Sifter to Mr. Bickerstaff.

Nº 33. Saturday, June 25- 1709.

From my own Apartment, June 23.

Y Brother has made an Excursion into the Country, and the Work against Saturday lies upon me. I am very glad I have got Pen and Ink in my Hand; for I have for some Time longed for his Absence, to give a right Idea of Things, which I thought he put in a very odd Light, and some of them to the Disadvantage of my own Sex. It is much to be lamented; that it is necessary to make Discourses, and publish Treatises, to keep the horrid Creatures, the Men, within the Rules of common Decency. Turning over the Papers of Memorials or Hints for the ensuing Discourses, I find a Letter subscribed by Mr. Truman.

SIR,

n

u

118

nd

ny nt,

nd lafeir

om

au-

219 cre

Was

re-

fit

ace

oze,

nc'd

my.

Af-

ibu-

amp har-

ing;

6th, hich

fthe

37th

AM lately come to Town, and have read your Works with much Pheafure: You make Wit fub-fervious to good Principles and good Manners. Tet because I design to buy the Tatlers for my Daughters to read,

th

in

Hu

lon

me Lib

fae

fure

hav

give

I di

look

Eye

in A

pret

I take the Freedom to defire you for the future, to fay nothing about any Combat between Alexander and Thaleftris.

THIS Offence gives me Occasion to expressmy felf with the Resentment I ought, on People who take Liberties of Speech before that Sex of whom the honoured Names of Mother, Daughter and Sifter are a Part : I had like to have named Wife in the Number; but the senseless World are so mistaken in their Sentiments of Pleasure, that the most amiable Term in humane Life is become the Derifion of Fools and Scorners. My Brother and I have at least fifty Times quarrell'd upon this Topick. I ever argue, That the Frailties of Women are to be imputed to the false Ornaments which Men of Wit put upon our Folly and Coquetry. He lays all the Vices of Men upon Women's secret Approbation of Libertine Charaders in them. I did not care to give up a Point; but now he is out of the Way, I cannot but own I believe there is very much in what he afferred: For if you will believe your Eyes, and own, that the wickedeft and the wittieft of them all marry one Day or other, is it impossible to be lieve, that if a Man thought he should be for ever incapable of being received by a Woman of Merit and Honour, he would perfift in an abandon'd Way, and deny himself the Possibility of enjoying the Happiness of well governed Desires, orderly Satisfactions, and honourable Methods of Life? If our Sex were wife, a Lover should have · Certificate from the last Woman he served, how he was turned away, before he was received into the Service of another : But at prefent any Vagabond is welcome, provided he promifes to enter into our Livery. It is wonderful, that we will not take a Footman without Credentials from his last Master; and in the greatest Concern of Life, we make no Scruple of falling into a Treaty with the most notorious offender in his his Behaviour against others. But this Breach of Commerce between the Sexes proceeds from an unaccountable Prevalence of Custom, by which a Woman is to the last Degree reproachable for being deceived, and a Man fuffers no Loss of Credit for being a Deceiver.

SINCE this Tyrant Humour has gained Place. Why are we represented in the Writings of Men in ill Figures for Artifice in our Carriage, when we have to do with a professed Impostor? When Oaths, Imprecations, Vows and Adorations, are made use of as Words of Course, what Arts are not necessary to defend us from such as glory in the Breach of them? As for my Part, I am refolved to hear all, and believe none of them; and therefore folemnly declare, no Vow shall deceive me, but that of Marriage: For I am turned of twenty, and being of a small Fortune, some Wit, and (if I can believe my Lovers and my Glass) handlome, I have heard all that can be faid towards my Undoing, and shall therefore, for Warning-fake, give an Account of the Offers that have been made me, my Manner of rejecting them, and my Affistances to keep my Resolution.

IN the fixteenth Year of my Life, I fell into the Acquaintance of a Lady extreamly well known in this Town for the quick Advancement of her Husband, and the Honours and Distinctions which her Industry has procured him, and all who belong to her. This excellent Body fate next to me for some Months at Church, and took the Liberty (which she said her Years and the Zeal he had for my Welfare gave her Claim to) to alfure me, that the observed some Parts in my Behaviour which would lead me into Errors, and give Encouragement to some to entertain Hopes I did not think of. What made you (faid she) look through your Fan at that Lord, when your Eyes should have been turned upward, or closed in Attention upon better Objects? I blushed, and pretended fifty odd Excuses; -- but confounded t we tials cern

33.

fay ha-

my

who

OT

and

Vife

ol s

the

ome

her

pon

ties

rna-

and pon

ha-

p.a

not

t he

and

bem

ever

Me-

on'd

joy-

s of

have ved,

civ'd

any

s to

into

r in his my felf the more. She wanted nothing but to see that Consusion, and goes on; Nay, Child, do not be troubled that I take Notice of it; my Value for you made me speak it; for though he is my Kinsman, I have a nearer Regard to Virtue than any other Consideration. She had hardly done speaking, when this noble Lord came up to us, and led her to her Coach.

My Head ran all that Day and Night on the exemplary Carriage of this Woman, who could be so virtuously impertinent, as to admonish one she was hardly acquainted with. However it struck upon the Vanity of a Girl that it may possibly be, his Thoughts might have been as favourable of me, as mine were amorous of him, and as unlikely Things as that have happened, if he should make me his Wife. She never mentioned this more to me; but I still in all publick Places stole Looks at this Man, who easily obterved my Passion for him. It is so hard a Thing to check the Return of agreeable Thoughts, that he became my Dream, my Vision, my Food, my Wish, my Torment.

THAT Minister of Darkness, the Lady Semphronia, perceived too well the Temper I was in, and would one Day after Evening-Service needs take me to the Park. When we were there, my Lord passes by; I flushed into a Flame. Mrs. Distaff, says she, You may very well remember the Concern I was in upon the first Notice I took of your Regard to that Lord, and forgive me, who had a tender Friendship for your Mother (now in her Grave) that I am vigilant of your Conduct. She went on with much Severity, and after great Solicitation prevailed on me to go with her into the Country, and there spend the ensuing Summer out of the Way of a Man she saw I lov'd, and one whom she perceived meditated my Ruin, by frequently defiring her to introduce him to me; which she absolutely refused, except he would give his Honour that he had.

fee

not

lue

my han

one

us,

the-

uld

one

nay

fa-

ım,

ned,

nen-

lick

ob-

hing

that

my

em-

in,

eeds

my

Mrs.

ber

took.

me,

ther

our

and 01 5

end

Man

me-

r to

re-

t he

had.

had no other Defign but to marry me. To her Country-House a Week or two after we went: There was at the farther End of her Garden a Kind of Wilderness, in the Middle of which ran a foft Rivuler by an Arbour of Jessamine. In this Place I usually passed my retired Hours, and read some Romantick or Poetical Tale till the Close of the Evening. It was near that Time in the Heat of Summer, when gentle Winds, foft Murmurs of Water, and Notes of Nightingales, had given my Mind an Indolence, which added to that Repose of Soul, Twilight and the End of a warm Day naturally throws upon the Spirits. It was at fuch an Hour, and in fuch a State of Tranquillity I fate, when to my unexpressible Amazement, I faw my Lord walking towards me, whom I knew not till that Moment to have been in the Country. I could observe in his Approach the Perplexity which attends a Man big with Defign; and I had, while he was coming forward, Time to reflect that I was betrayed; the Sense of which gave me a Resentment suitable to such a Baseness: But when he entered into the Bower where I was, my Heart flew towards him, and, I confess, a certain Joy came into my Mind, with an Hope that he might then make a Declaration of Honour and Passion. This threw my Eye upon him with fuch Tchderness, as gave him Power, with a broken Accent, to begin. Madam, -You will wonder -- For it is certain, you must have observed -though I fear you will misinterpret the Motives - But by Heaven, and all that's facred! If you could—Here be made a full Stand. And I recovered Power to fay, The Confernation I am in you will not, I hope, believe --- An helples innocent Maid-Besides that, the Place-He faw me in as great Confusion as himself; which attributing to the same Causes, he had the Audacioushess to throw himself at my Feet, talk of the Stilness of the Evening, and then ran into Deifications of my Person. Pure L4 Flames, Flames, conftant Love, eternal Raptures, and a Thousand other Phrases drawn from the Images we have of Heaven, which all Men use for the Service of Hell, when run over with uncommon Vehemence. After which he seiz'd me in his Arms: His Defign was too evident. In my utmost Distress, I fell upon my Knees - My Lord, pity me, on my Knees - On my Knees in the Cause of Virtue, as you were lately in that of Wickedness. Can you think of destroying the Labour of a whole Life, the Purpose of a long Education, for the base Service of a sudden Appetite; to throw one that loves you, that doats on you, out of the Company and the Road of all that is virtuous and Praise-worthy; Have I taken in all the Instructions of Piety, Religion and Reason, for no other End, but to be the Sacrifice of Luft, and abandoned to Scorn? Assume your felf my Lord, and do not attempt to vitiate a Temple facred to Innocence, Honour and Religion. If I have injured you, stab this Bofom, and let me die, but not be ruined by the Hand I love. The Ardency of my Passion made me incapable of uttering more; and I faw my Lover aftonished and reformed by my Behaviour: When rushed in Sempbronia. Ha! Faithless base Man, could you then steal out of Town, and lurk like a Robber about my House for such brutish Purposes!

MY Lord was by this Time recovered, and fell into a violent Laughter at the Turn which Semphronia designed to give her Villany. He bowed to me with the utmost Respect: Mrs. Distaff, said he, be careful hereafter of your Company; and so retired. The Fiend Semphronia congratulated my Deliverance with a Flood of Tears.

THIS Nobleman has fince frequently made his Addresses to me with Honour, but I have as often refused them; as well knowing, that Familiarity and Marriage will make him, on some ill-natured Occasion call all I said in the Arbour a thea-

n

D

ti

of M

CO

th

WT

hi

ti

a theatrical Action. Besides that, I glory in contemning a Man, who had Thoughts to my Dishonour. If this Method were the Imitation of the whole Sex, Innocence would be the only Dress of Beauty; and all Affectation by any other Arts to please the Eyes of Men, would be banished to the Stews for ever. The Conquest of Passion gives ten times more Happiness than we can reap from the Gratification of it; and she that has got over such a one as mine, will stand among Beaux and pretty Fellows, with as much Safety as in a Summer's Day among Grashoppers and Butter-slies.

P. S. I have ten Millions of Things more against Men, if I ever get the Pen again.

St. Fames's Coffee-bouse, June 24.

OUR last Advices from the Hagne dated the 28th Instant, N. S. fay, That on the 25th a Squadron of Dutch Men of War failed out of the Texel to join Admiral Baker at Spithead. The 26th was observed as a Day of Fasting and Humiliation. to implore a Bleffing on the Arms of the Allies this enfuing Campaign. Letters from Drefden are very particular in the Account of the Gallantry and Magnificence in which that Court has appeared fince the Arrival of the King of Denmark. No Day has passed in which publick Shows have not been exhibited for his Entertainment and Diversion: The last of that Kind which is mentioned is a Caroulal, wherein many of the Youth of the first Quality, dressed in the most splendid Manner, ran for the Prize. His Danish Majesty condescended to the fame; but having observed that there was a Defign laid to throw it in his Way, passed by without attempting to gain it. The Court of Drefden was preparing to accompany his Danish Majesty to Potsdam, where the Expectation of an Interview of three Kings had drawn

L 5

to

fell emwed

aid

and

ted

ade

Fa-

ome

our hea-

3.

es

he

on 115

11-

d,

in

he

ng

pats

en

nd ri-

me ti-

nd

Bo-

by aw

ha-

th-

wn,

n

D

in

WE

co Fe

ou fer

mu

rogether such Multitudes of People, that many Persons of Distinction will be obliged to lie in Tents as long as those Courts continue in that Place.

By Isaac Bickerstaff, Esq;

Nº 34.

Tuesday, June 28. 1709.

White's Chocolate-boufe, June 25.

Distempers which proceed from Affections of the Mind, I have laboured since I first kept this publick Stage, to do all the Good I could, and have perfected many Cures at my own Lodgings; carefully avoiding the common Method of Mountebanks, to do their most eminent Operations in Sight of the People; but must be so just to my Patients as to declare, they have testified under their Hands their Sense of my poor Abilities, and the Good I have done them, which I publish for the Benefit of the World, and not out of any Thoughts of private Advantage.

I have cured fine Mrs. Spy of a great Imperfection in her Eyes, which made her eternally rolling them from one Coxcomb to another in publick Places, in so languishing a Manner, that it at once lessened her own Power, and her Beholders Vanity. Twenty Drops of my Ink, placed in certain Letters on which she attentively, looked for half an Hour, have restored her to the true Use of her Sight; which is, to guide, and not mislead us. Ever since she took the Liquor, which I call, Bickerstaff's Circumspession Water, she looks right forward, and can bear being looked at for half a Day without returning one Glance.

Glance. This Water has a peculiar Vintue in 1. it, which makes it the only true Colmetick, or Beauty-Wash in the World . The Nature of it is fuch, that if you go to a Glass, with a Defign to admire your Face, it immediately changes it into downright Deformity. If you consult it only to look with a better Countenance upon your Friends, it immediately gives an Alacrity to the Vilage, and new Grace to the whole Person. There is indeed a great deal owing to the Conflicution of the Person to whom it is applied: It is in vain to give it when the Patient is in the Rage of the Distemper; a Bride in her first Month, a Lady foon after her Husband's being knighted, or any Person of either Sex who has lately obtained any new good Fortune or Preferment, must be prepared fome Time before they ple it. It has an Effect upon others, as well as the Patient, when it is taken in due Form. Lady Petulant has by the Use of it cured her Husband of Jealoufy, and Lady Gad her whole Neighbourhood of Detraction.

THE Fame of these Things, added to my being an old Fellow, makes me extreamly acceptable to the Fair Sex. You would hardly believe me, when I tell your there is not a Man in Town to much their Delight as my felf. They make: no more of vifiting me, than going to Madam d'Etingle's. There were two of them, namely, Damia and Chidamira, (I affure you Women of Distinction) who came to see me this Morning: in their Way to Prayers; and being in a very diverting Humour, (as Innocence always makes People chearful) they would needs have me according to the Diftinction of prettey and dery pretty? bellows, inform them if I thought either of theme had a Title to the very pretty among these of their own Sex, and if I did, which was the more deferving of the two?"

TO put them to the Trial, Look ye, faid I, I muffinot rathly give my Judgment is Matters of this

iny

in

hat

the ions kept wild, own Me-have my.

orld, Ad-

Imrnalother nner, l her Ink, her uide,

being

ance.

this Importance; pray let me fee you dance : I play upon the Kit. They immediately fell back to the lower End of the Room (You may be fure they curt'fy'd low enough to me) and began, Never were two in the World so equally match'd. and both Scholars to my Name-lake Hoge. Never was Man in fo dangerous a Condition as my felf, when they began to expand their Charms. Oh! Ladies, Ladies, cried I, not half that Air, you'll fire the House. Both Smiled; for by the By, there's no carrying a Metaphor too far, when a Lady's Charms are spoke of Some Body, I think, has called a fine Woman dancing, a brandished Torch of Beauty. These Rivals moved with fuch an agreeable Freedom, that you would believe their Gesture was the necessary Ested of the Musick, and not the Product of Skill and Practice. Now Clidamira came on with a Crowd of Graces, and demanded my Judgment with fo. fweet an Air --- And the had no fooner carried it, but Damia made her utterly forgot by a gentle finking, and a Rigadoon Step. The Contest held a full half Hour; and I protest, I saw no Manner of Difference in their Perfections, till they came up together, and expected my Sentence. Look ye, Ladies, faid I, I fee no Difference in the least in your Performance; but you Clidamira feem to be so well fatisfied that I shall determine for you, that I must give it to Damia, who stands with fo much Diffidence and Fear, after shewing an equal Merit to what she pretends to. Therefore Clidamira you are a pretty; but, Damia, you are a very pretty Lady. For, faid I, Beauty lofes its Force, if not accompanied with Modelty. She that has an humble Opinion of berfelf, will have every Body's Applaule, because she does not expect it; while the vain Creature lofes Approbation, through too great a Sense of deferving it.

unjuftly, xider golding bathagainix, vifujur From my own Apartment, June 27.

neM to that the si Graphy Josep a over black BEING of a very spare and hective Conftitution. I am forced to make frequent Journies of a Mile or two for fresh Air; and indeed by this laft, which was no farther than the Village of Chelles, I am farther convinced of the Necessity of travelling to know the World. For as it is ufual with young Voyagers, as foon as they land upon a Shore, to begin their Accounts of the Nature of the People, their Soil, their Government, their Inclinations and their Passions; so really I fancied I could give you an immediare Description of this Village, from the five Fields where the Robbers lie in wait, to the Coffee-house where the Literati lit, in Council. A great Ancestor of ours by the Mother's Side, Mr. Justice Overde, (whose History is written by Ben John (on) met with more Enormities by walking intog, than he was capable of correcting; and found great Mortifications in observing also Perfons of Eminence, whom he before knew nothing of. Thus it fared with me, even in a Place fo near the Town as this. When I came into the Coffee-house, I had not Time to falute the Company, before my Eye was diverted by ten thous fand Gimeracks round the Room, and on the Cieling. When my first Astonishment was over; comes to me a Sage of a thin and meagre Countenance; which Aspect made me doubt, whether Reading or Fretting had made it fo philosophick: But I very foon perceived him to be of that Sect which the Ancients call Gingivifiz; in our Language, Tooth Drawers. I immediately had a Respect for the Man; for these practical Philosophers go upon a very rational Hypothesis, not to cure, but take away the Part affected. My Love of Mankind made me very benevolent to Mr. Salter, for fuch is the Name of this eminent Barber and Antiquary. Men are usually, but un-

fer-

4

t

ck

tre

ID. d, er ılf,

h!

u'll

By,

1 2

I

anred

pld

of

nd wd

So. ied

itle eld

ner

me

ook

the

mira

ine

inds

gan

ere-

you

ofes

Ay.

will does

Ap

unjuftly, distinguished rather by their Fortunes than their Talents, otherwise this Personage would make a great Figure in that Class of Men which I diftinguish under the Title of odd Rellows. But it is the Misfortune of Persons of great Genius to have their Faculties distipated by Attention to too many Things at once. Mr. Salteris an Instance of this: If he would wholly give himself up to the String, instead of playing twenty Beginnings to Tunes, he might before he dies play Roger de Caubly quite out. I heard him go thro's his whole Round, and indeed I think he does play the merry Christ-Church Bells pretty justly; but he confess'd to me, he did that rather to shew he was orthodox, than that he valued himself. upon the Musick it felf. Or if he did proceed in his Anatomy, Why might he not hope in Time to cut off Legs, as well as draw Teeth? The Particularity of this Man put me into a deep Thought, whence it should proceed, that of all the lower Order, Barbers should go farther in hitting the Ridiculous, than any other Set of Men. Watermen brawl, Coblers fing : But why must a Barber be for ever a Politician, a Musician, an Anatomift, a Poet, and a Physician? The learned Voffius fays, his Barber used to comb his Head in lambicks. And indeed in all Ages. one of this useful Profession, this Order of Cosmetick Philosophers, has been celebrated by the most eminent Hands You fee the Barber in Don Quixot is one of the principal Characters in the: History, which gave me Satisfaction in the Doubt, why Don Saltero writ his Name with a Spanish Termination: For he is descended in a Right Line, not from John Tradefran, as he himself afferts, but from that memorable Companion of the Knight of Manche. And I hereby gerufie all the worthy Citizens who travel to fee his Rarities, that his double-barrelled Piftols, Targets, Coats of Mail, his Sclopeta and Sword of Toledo, were left to his Ancestor by the faid Don Quixot, -4257

41

es

ge

n

25.

241

1-

n lf

-

y.

8

W.

f

d

1 and by the faid Ancestor to all his Progeny down to Don Saltero. Though I go thus far in Favour of Don Saltero's great Merit, I cannot allow a Liberty he takes of imposing several Names (without my Licence) on the Collections he has made, to the Abuse of the good People of England; one of which is particularly calculated to deceive religious Persons, to the great Scandal of the Well-disposed, and may introduce heterodox O= pinions. He shews you a Straw-Har, which I know to be made by Madge Peskad, within three Miles of Bedford; and tells you, It is Pontius Pilate's Wife's Chambermaid's Sifter's Hat. To my Knowledge of this very Hat, it may be added, that the Covering with Straw was never used among the Few, fince it was demanded of thems to make Bricks without it. Therefore this is really nothing, but under the specious Pretence of Learning and Antiquity, to impose upon the World. There are other Things which I cannot tolerate among his Rarities; as, the Chine Eigure of a Lady in the Glass-Case; the Italian Engine for the Imprisonment of those who go abroad with it: Both which I hereby order to be taken. down, or else he may expect to have his Letters Patent for making Punch superseded, be debarred wearing his Muff next Winter, or ever coming. to London without his Wife. It may perhaps be thought I have dwelt too long upon the Affairs of this Operator; but I defire the Reader to remember, that it is my Way to confider Men as they fland in Merit, and not according to their Fortune or Figure; and if he is in a Coffee house at the reading hereof, let him look round, and he will find there may be more Characters drawn in this Account, than that of Don Saltere; for half the Politicians about him, he may observe, are by their Place in Nature, of the Class of Tooth Drawers and Allenda State a confe

sential rolling to the brick Sectiones

THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPERTY O

Nº 35. Thursday, June 30. 1709.

Grecian Coffee-boufe, June 28.

HBRE is an Habit or Custom which I have put my Patience to the utmost Stretch to have suffered so long, because several of my intimate Friends are in the Guilt; and that is, the Humour of taking Snuff, and looking dirty about the Mouth by way of Ornament.

MY Method is to dive to the Bottom of a Sore before I pretend to apply a Remedy. For this Reason, I sate by an eminent Story-teller and Politician who takes half an Ounce in five Seconds, and has mortgaged a pretty Tenement near the Town, meerly to improve and dung his Brains with this prolifick Powder. I observed this Gentleman t'other Day in the midst of a Story diverted from it by looking at something at a Diffance, and I foftly hid his Box. But he returns to his Tale, and looking for his Box, he cries, And fo Sir - Then when he should have taken a Pinch; As I was faying, fays he, -Has no Body feen my Box? His Friend beseeches him to finish his Narration. Then he proceeds; And so Sir Where can my Box be? Then turning to me; Pray Sir, Did you fee my Box? Yes Sir, faid I, I took it to fee how long you could live without it. He resumes his Tale; and I took Notice, that his Dulness was much more regular and fluent than before. A Pinch supplied the Place of, As I was faying, And fo Sir; and he went on currently enough in that Style which the Learned call the Infipid. This Observation casily led me into a philosophick Reason for taking Snuff, which is done only to supply with Sensations the Want of Reflection. This I take to be an Evenya, a nostrum;

ê

It

a noftram; upon which I hope to receive the Thanks of this Board. For as it is natural to life a Man's Hand to a Sore, when you fear any Thing coming at you; fo when a Person feels his Thoughts are run out, and has no more to fay, it is as natural to supply his weak Brain with Powder at the nearest Place of Access, viz. the Nostrels. This is so evident, that Nature fuggests the Use according to the Indigence of the Persons who use this Medicine, without being prepoffested with the Force of Fashion or Cufrom. For Example; the Native Hibernians, who are reckoned not much unlike the ancient Bootians, take this Specifick for Emptiness in the Head, in greater Abundance than any other Nation under the Sun. The learned Sotus, as sparing as he is in his Words, would be still more.

filent if it were not for this Powder.

HOWEVER low and poor, the taking Souff argues a Man to be in his own Stock of Thought, or Means to employ his Brains and his Fingers; yet there is a poorer Creature in the World than he, and this is a Borrower of Snuff; a Fellow. that keeps no Box of his own, but is always asking others for a Pinch. Such poor Rogues put me always in Mind of a common Phrase among School Boys when they are composing their Exercise, who run to an upper Scholar, and cry, Pray give me a little Senfe. But of all Things commend me to the Ladies who are got into this pretty Help to Discourse. I have been this three Years perswading Sagisfa to leave it off: But she talks fo much, and is fo learned, that she is above Contradiction. However, an Accident t'other Day brought that about, which my Eloquence never could accomplish: She had a very pretty. Fellow in her Closer, who ran thither to avoid some Company that came to visit her. She made an Excuse to go in to him for some Implement they were talking of. Her eager Gallant fratched a Kis; but being unused to Snuff, some Grains from from off her upper Lip made him sneeze aloud which alarm'd the Visitants, and has made a Discovery, that profound Reading, very much Intelligence, and a general Knowledge of who and who's together, cannot fill up her vacant Hours so much, but that she is sometimes obliged to descend to Entertainments less intellectual.

White's Chocolate-koufe, June 29.

I Know no Manner of News for this Place, but that Cynthio, having been long in Despair for the inexorable Clarissa, lately resolved to fall in Love the good old Way of Bargain and Sale, and has pitched upon a very agreeable young Woman. He will undoubtedly succeed; for he accosts her in a Strain of Familiarity, without breaking through the Deserence that is due to a Woman whom a Man could chuse for his Life. I have hardly ever heard rough Truth spoken with a better Grace than in this his Letter.

MADAM,

WRIT to you on Saturday by Mrs. Lucy, and give you this Trouble to urge the same Request ! made then, which was, that I may be admitted to wait upon you. I should be very far from desiring this, if it were a Transgression of the most severe Rules to allow it: I know you are very much above the little Arts which are frequent in your Sex, of giving unnecessary Torments to their Admirers; therefore hope, you'll do so much Justice to the generous Passion I have for you, as to let me have an Opportunity of acquainting you uton what Motives I pretend to your good Opinion. I shall not trouble you with my Sentiments, till I know how they will be received; and as I know no Reason wby Difference of Sex should make our Language to each other differ from the ordinary Rules of Right Reason, I shall affect Plainness and Sincerity, in my Discourse to you, as much as other Lovers do Perplexity and Rapture. Instead of faying, I shall die for you, I profess ! Should alouds a Difth Ino and Hours lace, r for Il in Sale, oung r he hout to a Life. ken

and
eft [ wait
f it
flow
Arts
Tary

lo so
as ton
all

o-I to

i.I

bould be glad to lead my Life with You: You are as beautiful, as witty, as prudent, and as good-humour'd, as any Woman breathing; but I must confess to you, I regard all these Excellences as you will please to direct them, for my Happiness or Misery. With me, Madam; the only lasting Motive to Love is the Hope of its becoming mutual. I beg of you to let Mrs. Lucy send me Word when I may attend you. I promise you, I'll talk of nothing but indifferent Things; though at the same Time I know not how I shall approach you in the tender Moment of first seeing you, after this Declaration of,

MADAM,

Your most Obedient, and nost Faithful Humble Servant, &c.

Will's Coffee koufe, June 29.

HAVING taken a Resolution when Plays are acted next Winter by an entire good Company, to publish Observations from Time to Time on the Performance of the Actors, I think it but just to give an Abstract of the Laws of Action, for the Help of the less learned Part of the Audience, that they may rationally enjoy so refined and instructive a Pleasure as a just Representation of humane Life. The great Errors in playing are admirably well exposed in Hamlet's Direction to the Actors who are to play in his supposed Tragedy; by which we shall form our future Judgments on their Behaviour, and for that Reason you have the Discourse as follows:

Speak the Speech as I pronounce it to you, trippingly on the Tongue, but if you mouth it as many of our Players do, I had as lief the Town-Crier had spoke my Lines; Nor do not saw the Air too much with your Hands thus; but use all gently: For in the very Torrent, Tempest, and, as I may say, the Whirlwind of Passion, Paffion, you must acquire and beget a Temperance that may give it Smoothness. Oh! it offends me to the Soul, to fee a robuttous Periwig-pated Fellow tear a Passion to Tatters, to very Rags, to fplit the Ears of the Groundlings, who (for the most Part) are capable of nothing but inexplicable dumb Shews and Noise. I could have such a Fellow whipt for o'erdoing Termagant: It out-Herod's Herod. Be not too tame neither; but let your own Diferetion be your Tutor: Sure the Action to the Word, the Word to the Action; with this special Oservance, that you o'erstop not the Modesty of Nature; for any Thing fo overdone, is from the Purpose of playing, whose End, both at the first and now, was, and is to hold as 'twere the Mirror up to Nature; to shew Virtue her own Feature, fcorn her own Image, and the very Age and Body of the Time, its Form and Pressure. Now this overdone, or come tardy off, though it make the Unskilful laugh, cannot but make the Judicious grieve. The Censures of which one, must, in your Allowance, oversway a whole Theatre of others. Oh! there be Players that I have feen play, and heard others praise, and that highly, (not to speak it prophanely) that neither having the Accent of Christian, Pagan, or Norman, have so strutted and bellowed, that I have thought some of Nature's Journeymen had made Men, and not made them well, they imitated Humanity fo abominably. This should be reformed altogether; and let those that play your Clowns, speak no more than is fet down for them: For there be of them that will of themselves laugh, to set on some Quantity of barren Spectators to laugh too; though in the mean Time, some necessary Question of the Play be then to be confidered; that's villanous, and flews a most pitiful Ambition in the Fool that ules it.

e. ds

8-ry.

10

ut.

ld. A. ne

ur rd

e,

e;

ſe.

ıd

or 4-

ge

C.

h

192 h

le

at

d

RE

77, at n

yd

y

n

f

f

C

Y ď

ıt

From my own Apartment, June 29. IT would be a very great Obligation, and an Ashstance to my Treatise upon Punning, if any one would please to inform in what Class among the Learned who play with Words, to place the Author of the following Letter.

SIR.

TOT long fince you were pleased to give us a Chimerical Account of the famous Family of the Staffs, from whence I suppose you would infinuate, that it is the most ancient and numerous House in all Europe. But I positively. deny that it is either, and wonder much at your audacious Proceedings in this Matter, fince 'tis well known, that our most illustrious, most re-' nowned, and most celebrated Roman Family of In, has enjoyed the Precedency to all others from the Reign of good old Saturn. I could ' fay much to the Defamation and Difgrace of ' your Family; as, that your Relations Diffaff and Broom haff were both inconsiderable mean Perfons, one fpinning, the other fweeping the Streets, for their daily Bread. But I forbear to vent my Spleen on Objects so much beneath 'my Indignation. I shall only give the World a Catalogue of my Ancestors, and leave them. to determine which hath hitherto had, and which for the future ought to have, the Prefe-

' First then comes the most famous and popular Lady Meretrix, Parent of the fertile Family of Bellatrix, Latrix, Netrix, Nutrix, Obstetrix, Famulatrix, Coctrix, Ornatrix, Sarcinatrix, Fextrix, Balneatrix, Portatrix, Saltatrix, Divinatrix, Con-' jeffrix, Comtrix, Debitrix, Creditrix, Donatrix, Ambulatrix, Mercatrix, Adfectrix, Affectatrix, Palpatrix, Praceptrix, Piftrix. I am,

Yours,

Eliz. Potatrix.

St. Fames's

St. James's Coffee-boufe, June 29.

LETTERS from Bruffels of the 2d of July, N. S. fay, that the Duke of Marlborough and Prince Eugene having received Advice, That the Marshal Villars had drawn a considerable Body out of the Garrison of Tournay, to reinforce his Army, marched towards that Place, and came before it early in the Morning of the 27th. As foon as they came into that Ground, the Prince of Naffau was fent with a frong Detachment to take Post at St. Amand; and at the same Time my Lord Orkney received Orders to possess himself of Mortagne; both which were successfully executed; whereby we are Masters of the Scheld and the Scarp. Eight Men were drawn out of each Troop of Dragoons and Company of Foot in the Garrison of Tournay, to make up the Reinforcement which was ordered to join Marshal Villars; but upon Advice that the Allies were marching towards Tournay, they endeavoured to return into the Town; but were intercepted by the Earl of Orkney, by whom the whole Body was killed or taken. These Letters add, That 1200 Dragoons (each Horseman carrying a Foot-Soldier behind him) were detached from Mons to throw themselves into Tournay; but upon Appearance of a great Body of Horse of the Allies, retired towards Conde. We hear that the Garrison does not confift of more than 3500 Men. Of the 60 Battalions defigned to be employed in this Siege, feven are Engl fb, viz. two of Guards, and the Regiments of Argyle, Temple, Evans and Meredith.

n

C

Epfo.n

uly, and

35.

the odv his ime As nce to

ime imilly beld of

Rehal ere

by ody hat ot-

lons Apies, ar-

en. in ds. ind

oot .

to

By.

dddcdcdcdcdc%dcdcdcdcdcdcdcde

By Mrs. Jenny Diftatt, Half-Sifter to Mr. Bickerftaff.

Nº 36.

Saturday, July 2, 1709.

From my own Apartment, June 30.

ANY Affairs calling my Brother into the Country, the Care of our Intelligence with the Town is left to me for some Time; therefore you must expect the Advices you meet with in this Paper to be such as more immediately and parurally fall under the Confideration of our Sex. History therefore written by a Woman, you will eafily imagine to confit of Love in all its Forms, both in the Abuse of, and Obedience to, that Passion. As to the Faculty of Writing it felf, it will not, it is hoped, be demanded, that Style and Ornament shall be fo much consulted, as Truth and Simplicity; which later Qualities we may more justly pretend to beyond the other Sex. While therefore the Administration of our Affairs is in my Hands, you shall from Time to Time have an exact Account of all falfe Lovers. and their shallow Pretences for breaking off; of all Termagant Wives who make Wedlock a Yoke; of Men who affect the Entertainments and Manners suitable only to our Sex, and Women who pretend to the Conduct of fuch Affairs as are only within the Province of Men. It is necessary further to advertise the Reader, that the usual Places of Refert being utterly out of my Province or Observation, I shall be obliged frequently to change the Dates of Places, as Occurrences come into my Way. The following Letter, I lately received from Epsom.

e

E

th

tı

r

W

ar

for tu

bu

ma

the

ble

rell

ftan

only

red'

oth

Epsom, June 28, T is now almost three Weeks fince what you writ about happened in this Place : The Quarrel between my Friends did not run fo bigh as I find your tecounts bave made it. The Truth of the Fact you shall have very faithfully. Tou are to understand, that the Persons concerned in this Scene were Lady Autumn, and Lady Springly: Autumn is a Person of good Breeding, Formality, and a fingular Way practifed in the last Age; and Lady Springly, a Modern Impertinent of our Sex, who affects as improper a Familiarity, as the other does Diffance. Lady Avenum knows to an Hair's Breadth where ber Place is in all Affemblies and Conversations; but Springly neither gives nor takes Place of any Body, but understands the Place to fignific no more, than to have Room enough to be at Eafe subere-ever the comes. Thus while Autumn takes the whole of this Life to confist in understanding Punctilia and Decorum, Springly takes every Thing to be becoming, which contributes to her Base and Satisfaction. These Heroines have married two Brothers, both Knights. Springly is the Spoule of the elder, who is a Baronet; and Autumn, being a rich Widow, has taken the younger, and ber Purse endowed him with an equal Fortune and Knighthood of the fame Order. This Fumble of Titles, you need not doubt, has been an aching Torment to Autumn, who took Place of the other on no Pretence, but her Carelessnefs and Difregard of Distinction. This secret Occasion of Enery broiled long in the Breast of Autumn; but no Opportunity of Contention on that Subject bappening, kept all Things quiet will the Accident of which you demand an Account.

It was given out among all the gay People of this Place, that on the 9th Instant several Damfels, swift of Foot, were to run for a Suit of Head-cloaths at the Old Wells. Lady Autumn on this Occasion invited Springly to go with her in her Goach to see the Race. When they came to the Place where the Governor of Epsom and all his Court of Citizens were assembled, as well at a Crowd of People of all Orders, a brisk young Fellow addresses

36. addresses bimself to the younger of the Ladies, viz. Springly, and offers ber bis Service to conduct ber into writ the Musick-Room. Springly accepts the Compliment, ween tinur bave rfons Lady For-Age; Sex, does eadth ions; Bothan omes. ife to ringbutes marpoule being Purse ood of d not elefscafion at no , kept mana f this

pift of Old ring-When plom ell as Fellow

dre [[es

other People's Coaches, and leave those with VOL. I.

whom

and is led triumphantly through a bowing Crowd, while Antumn is left among the Rabble, and has much ado to get back into ber Coach; but fhe did it at laft: And as it is usual to see by the Horses my Lady's present Disposition, she orders John to whip furiously Home to ber Husband; wbere, when be enters, down he fits, began to unpin ber Hood, and lament ber foolish fond Heart to marry into a Family where she was so little regarded; the that might - Here fbe ftops; then rifes up and flamps and fits down again. Her gentle Knight made his Approach with a supple befeeching Gefure. My Dear, faid be, - Tell me no Dears, replied Autumn, -- in the Presence of the Governour and all the Mer hants - What will the World fay of a Woman that bas thrown berfelf away at this Rate? Sir Thomas withdrew, and knew it would not be long. a Secret to bim; as well as that Experience told bim. He that marries a Fortune is of Course guilty of all Faults against bis Wife, let them be committed by wbom. they will. But Springly, an Hour or two after, returns from the Wells, and finds the whole Company together. Down she sate, and a profound Silence ensued. You know a premeditated Quarrel usually begins and works up with the Words, Some People. The Silence was broken by Lady Autumn, who began to fay, There are some People who fancy, that if some People, - Springly immediately takes ber up, There are some People who fancy, if other People --- Autumn repartees; Pcople may give themselves Airs; but other People, perhaps, who make less Ado, may be, perhaps, as agrecable as People who fet themselves out more. All the other People at the Table sate mute, aubile these two People, who were quarrelling, event on with the Use of the Word People, inflancing the very Accidents between them, as if they kept only in distant Hints.) Therefore, says Autumn, red ning, There are some People will go abroad in whom they went to shift for themselves? and if, perhaps, those People have married the younger Brother; yet, perhaps, he may be beholden to those People for what he is. Springly smartly anfwers, People may bring fa much ill Humour into a Family, as People may repent their receiving their Money; and goes on - Every Body is not confiderable enough to give her Uneafinefi. Upon this, Autumn comes up to her, and defired ber to kifs ber, and never to fee ber again; which ber Sifter refusing, my Lady gave ber a Box on the Bar-Springly returns; Ay, ay, faid fbe, I knew well enough you meant me by your some People; and gives ber another on t'other Side. To it they went with most Masculine Fury; each Husband ran in. The Wives immediately fell upon their Husbands, and tore Periguings; and Crawats. The Company interpofed; quben (according to the Slip-Knot of Matrimony, subich makes them return to one another when any put in between) the Ladies and their Husbands fell upon all the rest of the Company; and having beat all their Friends and Relations out of the House, came to themselves time enough to know, there was no hearing the Jast of the Place after these Adventures, and therefore marched off the next Day. It is faid, the Governor has fent feveral Foints of Mutton, and bas proposed divers Disbes very exquisitely dressed, to bring them down again. From his Address and Knowledge in Rooft and Boiled, all our Hopes of the Return of this good Company depend. I am, > borns v immediately Dear Jenny, Your Ready Friend and sales sales and Servant, Martha Tatler.

1

D

0

T

pi

ar

lif

M

m

he hij 11,

Kr

100

to

Lir

Ma of :

White's Chocolate-bouse, June

THIS Day appeared here a Figure of a Perfon, whose Services to the Fair Sex have reduced him to a kind of Existence, for which there is no Name. If there be a Condition between Life and Death, without being absolutely Dead or living, his State is that. His Afped and Complexi36. if, 19ger to: 49r inceiy is ness. ber to Sifter well and with Vives aben nakes meen) eft of d Renough Place off the eperal s very From all our I am, atler.

a Perduced here is en Life living, mplexi-

on

on in his robust Days gave him the illustrious Title of Africanus: But it is not only from the warm Climates in which he has ferved, nor from the Difasters which he has fuffered, that he deserves the same Appellation with that renowned Roman; but the Magnanimity with which he appears in his last Moments, is what gives him the undoubted Character of Hero. Cato flabb'd himself, and Hannibal drank Poison; but our Africanus lives in the continual Puncture of aching Bones and porsoned Juices. The old Heroes fled from Torments by Death, and this Modern lives in Death and Torments, with an Heart wholly bent upon a Supply for remaining in them. An ordinary Spirit would fink under his Oppressions, but he makes an Advantage of his very Sorrow, and raises an Income from his Diseases. Long has this Worthy been conversant in Bartering. and knows that when Stocks are lowest, it is the Time to buy. Therefore, with much Prudence and Tranquillity, he thinks that now he has not a Bone found, but a thousand nodous Parts for which the Anatomists have not Words, and more Diseases than the College ever heard of, it is the only Time to punchase an Annuity for Life. Sir Thomas told me, it was an Entertainment more furprizing and pleasant than can be imagined, to fee an Inhabitant of neither World without Hand to lift, or Leg to move, fcance, Tongue to unter his Meaning, to keen upon biting the whole World, and making Bubbles at his Exit. Sir Thomas added that he would have bought twelve Shillings a Year of him, but that he feared there was some Trick in it, and believed him already dead: What, fays the Knight, is Mr. Partridge, whom I met juft now going on both his Legs firmer than I can, allowed to be quite dead; and shall Africanus, without one Limb that can do its Office, he pronounced alive? WHA Theightened the Tragi-Comedy of this Market for Annuities was, that the Observation of it provoked Menoculus (who is the most elo-M 2 quent

1

f

n

t

t

C

Se

fi

k

0

R

85 ly

H

45

Fi

quent of all Men) to many excellent Reflections, which he spoke with the Vehemence and Language both of a Gamester and an Orator. ' When I cast (said that delightful Speaker) my Eve upon thee, thou unaccountable Africanus, I cannot but call my felf as unaccountable as thou art; for certainly we were born to shew what Contradictions Nature is pleased to form in the fame Species. Here am I, able to eat, to drink, to fleep, and to do all Acts of Nature, except begetting my Like; and yet by an unintelligible Force of Spleen and Fancy, I every Moment imagine I am dying. It is utter Madnels in thee to provide for Supper; for I'll bet you ten to one, you don't live till half an Hour after four; and yet I am fo diffracted as to be in Fear every Moment, though I'll lay ten to three, I drink three Pints of burnt Clarer at your Fuoncral three Nights hence. After all, I envy thee; thou that hast no Sense of Death, art happier than one that always fears it. The Knight had gone on, but that a third Man ended the Scene by applauding the Knight's Eloquence and Philosophy, in a Laughter too violent for his own Constitution, as much as be mock'd that of Africanus and Monoculus.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, July 1.

soli i talkalu bra

THIS Day arrived three Mails from Holland, with Advices relating to the Posture of Assairs in the Low-Countries, which say, That the Consederate Army extends from Luchin, on the Causeway between Tournay and Liste, to Epain near Mortagne on the Scheld. The Marshal Villars remains in his Camp at Lens; but it is said, he detached ten thousand Men under the Command of the Chevalier de Luxemburg, with Orders to some a Camp at Crepin on the Haine, between Conde and St. Guillain, where it is to be joined by the Elector of Bavaria with a Body of Troops, and after their Conjunction, to attempt to march into

Stions, in LanWhen I when I was, I is sthou what in the drink, I is

w what in the drink, except telligiy Moladness et you our afbe in three, ur Ful envy

The ended quence for his that of

th, art

Hollard, fairs in Confe-Caufein near lars rehe demmand ders to setween roops, march into into Brabant. But they write from Bruffels, That the Duke of Marlborough having it equally in his Power to make Detachments to the same Paris, they are under no Apprehensions from these Reports for the Safety of their Country. They further add from Bruffels, that they have good Authority for believing that the French Troops under the Conduct of the Marshal de Bezons are retiring out of Spain.

AN ANTANICA TANAN AN

By Mrs. Jenny Diftaff, Half-Sifter to Mr. Bickerftaff.

Nº 37. Tuefday, July 5. 1709.

White's Chocolate boufe, July 2.

T may be thought very unaccountable, that L who can never be supposed to go to White's, should pretend to talk to you of Matters proper for, or in the Style of, that Place. But though I never vilit these publick Haunts, I converse with those that do; and for all they pretend so much to the contrary, they are as talkative as our Sex, and as much at a Loss to entertain the present Company, without facrificing the last, as we our selves. This Reflection has led me into the Confideration of the Use of Speech; and made me look over in my Memory all my Acquaintance of both Sexes, to know to which I may more justly impute the Sin of Superfluous Discourse in Regard to Conversation, without entring into it as it respects Religion.

I Forefee my Acquaintance will immediately, upon starting this Subject, ask me, How I shall celebrate Mrs. Alse Copsessed, the Yorkshire Huntress, who is come to Town lately, and moves as if she were on her Nag, and going to take a Five-Bar-Gate; and is as loud as if she were following

M 3

1

n

lowing her Dogs? I can easily answer that; for the is as foft as Damon, in Comparison of her Brother-in-Law, Tom Bellfrey, who is the most accomplished Man in this Kingdom for all Gentleman-like Activities and Accomplishments. It is allowed, that he is a profess'd Enemy to the Italian Performers in Mulick. But then for our own native Manner, according to the Customs and known Usages of our Island, he is to be prefer'd for the Generality of the Pleasure he bestows. much before those Fellows, though they fing to full Theatres. For what is a Theatrical Voice to that of a Fox-hunter? I have been at a mulical Entertainment in an open Field, where it amaz'd me to hear to what Pitches the chief Masters would reach. There was a Meeting near our Seat in Staffordsbire, and the most eminent of all the Counties of England were at it. How wonderful was the Harmony between Men and Dogs! Robin Cartail of Bucks was to answer to Towler; Mr. Tinbreaft of Cornwal was appointed to open with Sweetlips, and Beaux Stimber a Low doner, undertook to keep up with Trips, a Whelp inft fet in : Tom Belfrey and Ringwood were couped together, to fill the Cry on all Occasions, and be in at the Death of the Fox, Hate or Stag; for which both the Dog and the Man were excellently fuited, and loved one another, and were as much together as Banifier and King. When Jow-ler first alarm d the Field, Cartall repeated every Note; Sweetlips's Treble fucceeded, and thook the Wood; Tinbreaft eccho'd a Quarter of a Mile beyoud it. We were foon after all at a Lofs, till we rid up, and found Trips and Slimber at a Default in half Notes: But the Day and the Tune was recovered by Tom Bellfrey and Ringwood, to the great Joy of us all, though they drowned every other Voice: For Bellfrey carries a Note four Furlongs, three Rood and fix Paces, further than any other in England.

at ; for of her oft ac-Icntle-It is Italian r own ns and efer d, eftows, fing to Voice ere it e chief g near nent of How en and ver to pointed a Low Whelp coupns, and ag; for ellentere as n Fowevery ok the fle befs, till a De-Tune good, to owned

Note

s, for-

I Fear

I Fear the Mention of this will be thought a Digression from my Purpose about Speech: But Lanswer, No. Since this is used where Speech rather should be imployed, it may come into Confideration in the fame Chapter: For Mr. Belifrey being at a Vifit where I was, viz. his Coulin's (Lady Dainty's) in Sobo, was ask'd, What Enterminments they had in the Country? Now Bellfrey is very ignorant, and much a Clown; but confident withal In a Word, he ftruck up a Foxchafe: Lady Dainty's Dog, Mr. Sippet, as the calls him, started and pump'd out of his Lady's Lap, and fell a barking. Bellfrey went on, and call'd all the neighbouring Parishes into the Square. Never was Woman in fuch Confusion as that delicate Lady. But there was no stopping her Kinfman. A Room full of Ladies fell into the most violent Laughter: My Lady looked as if the was fhricking; Mr. Sipper in the middle of the Room, breaking his Heart with barking, but all of us unheard. As foon as Bellfrey became filent, up gets my Lady, and takes him by the Arm to lead him off; Bellfrey was in his Boots. As the was hurrying him away, his Spurs take hold of her Petticoat; his Whip throws down a Cabinet of China: He eries, What! Are your Crocks votten? Are your Petticoats ragged? A Man can't walk in your House for Trincums.

Every County of Great Britain has one Hundred or more of this Sort of Fellows, who roar instead of speaking. Therefore if it be true, that we Women are also given to greater Fluency of Words than is necessary, sure she that disturbs but a Room or a Family is more to be tolerated, than one who draws together whole Parishes and Counties, and sometimes (with an Estate that might make him the Blessing an Ornament of the World around him) has no other View and Ambition, but to be an Animal above Dogs and Horses, without the Relish of any one Enjoyment, which is peculiar to the Faculties of humane .

M 4

mane Nature. I know it will here be faid, that talking of meer Country Squires at this Rate, is, as it were, to write against Valentine and Orfon. To prove any Thing against the Race of Men, you must take them as they are adorned with Education, as they live in Courts, or have received Inttructions in Colleges.

BUT I am so full of my late Entertainment by Mr. Bellfrey, that I must defer pursuing this Subject to another Day; and wave the proper Observations upon the different Offenders in this Kind, some by profound Eloquence on small Occasions, others by degrading Speech upon great Circumstances. Expect therefore to hear of the Whisperer without Business, the Laugher without Wit, the Complainer without receiving Injuries, and a very large Crowd, which I shall not forestall, who are common (though not commonly observed) Impertinents, whose Tongues are too voluble for their Brains, and are the general Despisers of us Women, though we have their Superiors, the Men of Sense, for our Servants.

St. Fames's Coffee-house, July 4.

THERE has arrived no Mail fince our laft; fo that we have no Manner of Foreign News, except we were to give you, for such, the many Speculations which are on Foot concerning what was imported by the last Advices. There are, it feems, fixteen Battalions and feventeen Squadrons appointed to serve in the Siege of Tournay; the Garrison of which Place consists of but eleven Battalions and four Squadrons. Letters of the 29th of the last Month from Berlin have brought Advice, That the Kings of Denmark and Pruffia, and his Majesty Augustus were within few Days to come to an Interview at Potsdam. These Letters mention, That two Polish Princes of the Family of Sapioha and Lubermirsky, lately arrived from Paris, confirm the Reports of the Mifery in France for Want of Provisions, and give a particular Inftance that te, is, Orfon. Men, ith Ereceiornent g this proper n this ill Ocgreat of the withng In-all not

nmon-

re too

al De-Supei. laft; s, exmany what re, it Squaeleven 29th Ad-2, and 19s to etters from France

fr Instance of it, which is, That on the Day Monsieur Rouille returned to Court, the common People gathered in Crowds about the Dauphin's Coach, crying, Peace and Bread, Bread and Peace.

Mrs. Distast has taken upon her, while she writes this Paper, to turn her Thoughts wholly to the Service of her own Sex, and to propose Remedies against the greatest Vexations attending Female Life. She has for this End written a small Treatise concerning the Second Word, with an Appendix on the Use of a Reply, very proper for all such as are married to Persons either ill-hred or ill natured. There is in this Trast a Ligressian for the Use of Virgins, concerning the Words, I will.

A Gentlewoman, who has a very delicate Ear, wants a Maid who can whisper, and help her in the Government of her Family. If the said Servant can clear-farch, list and tread softly, she shall have suitable Encouragement in her Wages.

かってっちっちっちっちゅう しょうしょうしょうしょう

By Mrs. Jenny Diftaff, Half-Sifter to Mr. Bickerftaff.

Nº 38. Thursday, July 7. 1709.

From my own Apartment, July 6.

I FIND among my Brother's Papers the following Letter verbatim, which I wonder how he could suppress so long as he has, since it was fent him for no other End, but to shew the good Effect his Writings have already had upon the ill Customs of the Age.

The End of all publick Papers ought to be the Benefit and Instruction, as well as M 5

. 1

the Divertion of the Readers: To which I fee none to truly conducive as your late Performances; especially those tending to the rooting out from among us that unchristian-like and bloody Custom of Duelling; which, that you have already in some Measure performed, will appear to the Publick in the following no less true than heroick Story.

A Noble Gentleman of this City, who has the Honour of ferving his Country as Ma-jor in the Train-Bands, being at that general Mart of Stock-jobbers call'd Jonathan's, endeavouring to raise himself (as all Men of Honour ought) to the Degree of Colonel at least; it happened that he bought the Bear of another Officer, who though not commissioned in the Army, yet no less eminently serves the Publick than the other, in raising the Credit of the Kingdom, by raising that of the Stocks. However, having fold the Bear, and Words arising about the Delivery, the most noble Major, no less fcorning to be outwitted in the Coffee house, than to run into the Field, according to Method, abused the other with the Titles of, Rogue, Villain, Bearskin-Man, and the Like. Whereupon Satisfaction was demanded, and accepted: So, forth the Major marched, commanding his Adversary to follow him. To a most spacious Room in the Sheriff's Honse, near the Place of Quarrel, they come; where, having due Regard to what you have lately published, they refolved not to fined one another's Blood in that barbarous Manner you prohibited; yet, not willing to put up Afronts without Satisfaction, they strip'd, and in decent Menner fought full fairly with their wrathful Hands. The Combat lasted a Quarter of an Hour; in which Time Victory was often doubtful, and many a dry Blow was frengouffy laid on by each Side, till the Major finding his Adversary obstinate, unwilling to give him further Chaftisement, with mon

e

d

1

LS

-

1-ır

it

e

k

e

1-

g

0

-

)-

8

5

e

t ļ

most shrill Voice cry'd out, I am fatisfy'd, e-both were Friends immediately.

'THUS the World may see, how necessary it is to encourage those Men, who make it their Business to instruct the People in every Thing necessary for their Preservation. I am informed, a Body of worthy Citizens have agreed on an Address of Thanks to you for what you have writ on the foregoing Subject, whereby they acknowledge one of their highly esteemed Others preserved from Death.

Tour Humble Servant,

A. B.

I Fear the Word Bear is hardly to be understood among the polite People; but I take the Meaning to be, that one who infures a real Value upon an imaginary Thing, is said to sell a Bear, and is the same Thing as a Promise among Courtiers, or a Vow between Lovers. I have writ to my Brother to hasten to Town; and hope, that printing the Letters directed to him, which I knew not how to answer, will bring him speedily; and therefore I add also the following:

Mr. Bickerftaff, July 5. 1709. OU having hinted a generous Intention of taking under your Confideration the Whifperers without Business, and Laughers without Occasion; as you render the Welfare of your ' Country, I intreat you not to forget or delay for publick-spirited a Work. Now or never is the Time. Many other Calamities may ceafe with the War; but I difmally dread the Multiplication of these Mortals under the Ease and Luxurioniness of a settled Peace, half the Bleffing of which may be destroyed by them. Their ' Mistake lies certainly here, in a wretched Belief, That their Mimickry passes for real Buffness; or true Wit. Dear Sir convince them, · that

1

I

fi

ti

to

D

k

th

n

C

pi

lo

that it never was, is or ever will be, either of them; nor ever did, does, or to all Futurity ever can, look like either of them; but that it is the most cursed Disturbance in Nature, which is possible to be inflicted on Mankind, under the noble Definition of a sociable Creature. In doing this, Sir, you will oblige more humble Servants, than can find Room to subscribe their Names.

White's Chocolate bonfe, July 6.

IN Pursuance of my last Date from hence, I am to proceed on the Accounts I promised of several Personages among the Men, whose conspicuous Fortunes, or Ambition in shewing their Follies, have exalted them above their Fellows: The Levity of their Minds is visible in their every Word and Gesture, and there is not a Day passes but puts me in Mind of Mr. Wycherley's Character of a Coxcomb: He is ugly all over with the Affellation of the fine Gentleman. Now though the Women may put on Softness in their Looks, or affected Severity, or impertinent Gaiety, or pert Smartness, their Self-Love and Admiration cannot under any of these Disguises, appear so invincible as that of the Men. You may easily take Notice, that in all their Actions there is a fecret Approbation either in the Tone of their Voice, the Turn of their Body, or Cast of their Eye, which shews that they are extreamly in their own Favour.

TAKE one of your Men of Business, he shall keep you half an Hour with your Hat off, entertaining you with his Consideration of that Assair you spoke of to him last, till he has drawn a Crowd that observes you in this Grimace. Then when he is publick enough, he immediately runs into Secrets, and falls a Whispering. You and he make Breaks with Adverbs; as, But bowever, thus far; and then you whisper again, and so on,

of

ę-

is

ch

er

In

le

be

I

fe-

pi-eir

13:

re-

ay

y S

ith

gh

48,

or

on

fo

.

eir

eir

18

all

er-

air

2 en

ns

nd

er,

D.

ill

till they who are about you are dispersed, and your busy Man's Vanity is no longer gratify'd by the Notice taken of what Importance he is, and how inconsiderable you are; for your Pretender to Business is never in Secret, but in Publick.

THERE is my dear Lord No-where, of all Men the most gracious and most obliging, the Terror of Valets de Chambre, whom he oppresfes with good Breeding, in enquiring for my good Lord, and for my good Lady's Health. This imitable Courtier will whifper a Privy-Counfellor's Lacquey with the utmost Goodness and Condefeenfion, to know when they next fir; and is throughly taken up, and thinks he has a Part in a Secret, if he knows that there is a Secret, What it is, he will whilper you, that Time will discover; then he shrugs, and calls you back again Sir, I need not fay to you, That these Things are not to be Spoken of ___ And bark'ee, No Names, I would not be quoted. What adds to the Jest is, that his Emptiness has its Moods and Seasons, and he will not condescend to let you into these his Discoveries, except he is in very good Humour, or has feen fome Body in Falhion talk to you. He will keep his Nothing to himself, and pals by and overlook as well as the best of 'em; not observing that he is infolent when he is gracious, and obliging when he is haughty. Shew me a Woman fo inconfiderable as this frequent Character.

BUT my Mind (now I am in) turns to many no less observable: Thou dear Will Shoestring! I profess my self in Love with thee? How shall I speak thee? How shall I address thee? How shall I draw thee? Thou dear Outside! Will you be combing your Wig, playing with your Box, or picking your Teeth? Or chusest thou rather to be speaking; to be speaking for thy only Purpose in speaking, to shew your Teeth? Rub them no longer, dear Shoestring: Do not premeditate Murder: Do not for ever whiten: Oh! that for my Quiet and his own they were rotten.

BUT

h

0 car

Inf

me

con

mu

ing

teri

mo

of

BUT I will forget him, and give my Hand to the courteous Umbra; He is a fine Man indeed, but the foft Creature bows below my Apron-String, before he takes it; yet after the first Ceremonies, he is as familiar as my Phyfician, and his Infignificancy makes me half ready to complain to him of all I would to my Doctor. He is fo courteous, that he carries half the Mellages of Ladies Ails in Town to their Midwives and Nurses. He understands too the Art of Medicine as far as to the Cure of a Pimple or a Rath. On Occasions of the like Importance, he is the most affiduous of all Men living, in confulting and fearching Precedents from Family to Family; then he speaks of his Obsequiousness and Diligence in the Style of real Services. If you fneer at him and thank him for his great Friendship, he bows, and fays, Madam, all the good Offices in my Power, while I have any Knowledge or Credit, Shall be at your Service. The Confideration of so shallow a Being, and the intent Application with which he purfues Trifles, has made me carefully reflect upon that Sort of Men we usually call an Impertinent: And I am, upon mature Deliberation, to far from being offended with him, that I am really obliged to him; for though he will take you afide, and talk half an Hour upon Matters wholly infignificant with the most solems Air, yet I confider, that these Things are of Weight in his Imagination, and he thinks he is communicating what is for my Service. If therefore it be a just Rule, to judge of a Man by his Intention, according to the Equity of good Breeding, he that is impertinently kind or wife, to do you Service, ought in Return to have a proportionable Place both in your Affection and Esteem; so that the conrecous Umbra deserves the Favour of all his Acquaintance; for though he never ferved them, he is ever willing to do it, and believes he docs it.

1 to eed,

con-

Ce-

and om-

e is

ges

and

ine

On

noft

and ly;

ili-

eer

in

al-

ith

lly

an

on,

ke

ers

in

a-

8 n, he

r-

le

at

III

ed he

S

AS impotent Kindness is to be returned with all our Abilities to oblige; fo impotent Malice is to be freated with all our Force to depress it. For this Reason, Fly-Blow (who is received in all the Families in Town thro the Degeneracy and Iniquity of their Manners) is to be treated like a Knave, though he is one of the weaken of Fools: He has by Rote, and at second-hand, all that can be faid of any Man of Figure, Wit and Virtue, in Town. Name a Man of Worth, and this Creature tells you the worst Passage of his Life. Speak of a beautiful Woman, and this Puppy will whifper the next Man to him, though he has nothing to fay of her. He is a Fly that feeds on the fore Part, and would have nothing to live on, if the whole Body were in Health. You may know him by the Frequency of pronouncing the Particle But; for which Reason I never hear him spoke of with common Charity, without using my But against him: For a Friend of mine faying the other Day, Mrs. Diftaff has Wit, good Humour, Virtue and Friendship; this Oaf added, But she is not handsome. Coxcomb! The Gentleman was faying what I was, not what I was not. . The

St. Fames's Coffee Boufe, July 6.

THE Approaches before Towney have been carried on with great Success; and our Advices from the Camp before that Place of the 11th Instant say, that they had already made a Lodgment on the Glacis. Two hundred Boats were come up the Scheld with the heavy Artillery and Ammunition, which would be employed in diffuousing the Enemy's Defences, and raised on the Batteries the 1 sth. A reat Body of Miners are summoned to the Camp to countermine the Works of the Enemy. We are convinced of the Weakness of the Garrison by a certain Account, That they called a Council of War, to consult whether at

S

F

tl tt

A

fh H

W

un the

liv

to

of i

Said

Spe

wc

by

the

cor

was not advisable to march into the Citadel, and leave the Town defenceless. We are affured, That when the Confederate Army was advancing towards the Camp of Marshal Villars, that General dispatched a Courier to his Master with a Letter, giving an Account of their Approach, which concluded with the following Words: The Day begins to break, and your Majesty's Army is al. ready in Order of Battel. Before Noon, I bope to have the Honour of congratulating your Majesty on the Success of a great Action; and you shall be very well satisfied with the Marshal Villars.

IT is to be noted, That when any Part of this Paper appears dull, there is a Design in it.

By Isaac Bickerstaff, Efq:

Nº 39. Saturday, July 9. 1709.

Grecian Coffee-boufe, July 7.

S I am called forth by the immense Love I A bear to my Fellow Creatures, and the warm Inclination I feel within me, to ftem, as far as I can, the prevailing Torrent of Vice and Ignorance; fo I cannot more properly pursue that noble Impulse, than by setting forth the Excellence of Virtue and Knowledge in their native and beautiful Colours. For this Reason I made my late Excursion to Oxford, where those Qualities appear in their highest Lustre, and are the only Pretences to Honour and Distinction. Superiority is there given in Proportion to Mens Advancement in Wisdom and Learning; and that just Rule of Life is so universally received among those happy People, that you shall see an Earl nac Afte

Earl walk bare-headed to the Son of the meanest Artificer, in respect to seven Years more worth and Knowledge than the Nobleman is possessed of. In other Places they bow to Mens Fortunes, but here to their Understandings. It is not to be expressed, how pleasing the Order, the Discipline, the Regularity of their Lives, is to a Philosopher, who has by many Years Experience in the World, learned to contemn every Thing but what is revered in this Mansion of select and well-taught Spirits. The Magnificence of their Palaces, the Greatness of their Revenues, the Sweetness of their Groves and Retirements, feem equally adapted for the Residence of Princes and Philosophers; and a Familiarity with Objects of Splendour, as well as Places of Receis, prepares the Inhabitants with an Equanimity for their future Fortunes, whether humble or illustrious. How was I pleased when I looked round at St. Mary's, and could, in the Faces of the ingenious Youth, fce Ministers of State, Chancellors, Brshops and Judges. Here only is humane Life! Here only the Life of Man is a rational Being! Here Men understand and are employed in Works worthy their Noble Nature. This tranfitory Being passes away in an Employment not unworthy a future State, the Contemplation of the great Degrees of Providence. *Each Man lives as if he were to answer the Questions made to Job, Where wast thou when I laid the Foundations of the Earth? Who fout up the Sea with Doors, and Said, Hitherto thou shalt come, and no further? Such Speculations make Life agreeable, make Death welcome.

BUT alas! I was torn from this noble Society by the Business of this dirty mean World, and the Cares of Fortune: For I was obliged to be in London against the 7th Day of the Term, and accordingly governed my self by my Oxford Almanack, and came last Night; but find, to my great Astonishment, that this ignorant Town began the neh a ch,

Term

18

and

ed.

The al-

Pa-334 re I

nothat celtive

ade alionope-

Adhat

e an Earl

Term on the 24th of the last Month, in Opposition to all the Learning and Aftronomy of the fathous University of which I have been freaking: according to which, the Term certainly was to commence on the 1st Inftant. You may be fure a Man who has turned his Studies as I have, could not be mistaken in Point of Time; for knowing I was to come to Town in Term, I examined the passing Moments very narrowly, and called an ominent Aftronomer to my Affiffance. Upon very firial Observation we found, that the Cold has been to fevere this Last Winten, (which Is allowed to have a benumining Quality) that it retarded the Earth in moving round from Christmay to this Season full feven Days and two Seconds. My learned Friend affired me further, That the Barth had lately received a Shog from a Comet that cross'd its Vortex, which, if it had come ten Degrees nearer us, had made us lose this whole Term. I was indeed once of Opinion, That the Gregorian Computation was the most regular, as being eleven Days before the Julian: but am now fully convinced, that we ought to be feven Days after the Chancellor and Judges, and cighteen before the Pope of Rome; and that the Oxonian Computation is the best of the three. THESE are the Reasons which I have gathered from Philosophy and Nature; to which I can add other Circumstances in Vindication of the Account of this learned Body who published this Almanack.

IT is notorious to Philosophers, that Joy and Grief can batten and delay Time. Mr. Lot is of Opinion, That a Man in great Mifery may To far lofe his Measure, as to think a Minute an Hour; or in Joy, make an Hour a Minute. Let us examine the present Case by this Rule, and we shall find, that the Cause of this general Mistake in the British Nation, has been the great Success of the last Campaign, and the following Hopes of Peace. Stocks ran fo high at the Change,

that

f

1 sh

of

T

to

W

in N

ch

th

all

that the Citizens had gained three Days of the Courtiers; and we have indeed been to happy this Reign, that if the University did not redi our Mittakes, we should think our felves but in the ferond Year of her prefent Majesty. It would be endies to enumerate the many Damages that have happened by this Ignorance of the Vulgar. All the Recognizances within the Diocese of Oxford have been feefeited, for not appearing on the first Day of this fictitious Term. The Univerfety has been nonfuited in their Adron against the Booksellers for printing Clarendon in Quaro. Indeed, what gives me the most quick Concern, is the Case of a poor Gendeman my Friend, who was tother Day taken in Execution by a Set of ignorant Baitiffs. He mould it feems have pleaded in the first Week of Term; but being A Master of Arts of Oxford, he would not recede from the Oxonian Computation. He shewed Mr. Broad the Almanack, and the very Day when the Term began; but the merciless ignorant Pellow, ugainst all Sense and Learning, would harry him away. He went indeed quietly enough, bur he has taken exact Norce of the Time of Arrest and fufheient Witnesses of his being carried into Gaob; and has, by Advice of the Recorder of Oxford. brought his Action; and we doubt not but we shall pay them off with Damages, and blemish the Reputation of Mt. Bread. We have one convincing Preef, which all that frequent the Courts of Juffice are withoffes of: The Dog that comes confliently to Westminster on the first Day of the Term, did not appear till the first Day according to the Offerd Almanack; whose Instinct I take to be a better Guide than Mens erroneous Opinions, which are usually byasted by Interest I judge in this Cale; as King Charles II. victualled his Navy with the Bread which one of his Dogs chose of several Pieces thrown before him, ra ther than trust to the Affeverations of the Vietuallers. Mr. Cowper, and other learned Counsel,

the

s to fure ive,

for exand

rhe rich

it it

Seher,

had lofe

ion,

be

and that

gach I of thed

Joy Lock may

nute. ule,

eral reat wing

enge,

I

E

2 tl

fe

do

re

ar

ed Ac

tit

be

th

the

CI

ha

have already urged the Authority of this Almanack in Behalf of their Clients. We shall therefore go on with all Speed in our Cause; and doubt not, but Chancery will give at the End what we loft in the Beginning by protructing the Term for us till Wednesday come Se nnight. And the University Orator Shall for ever pray, &c. All the Recognizances within the Discole of the first Listy of this fictions THE Subject of Duels, has I find, been flarted with fo good Success, that it has been the frequent Subject of Conversation among polite Men; and a Dialogue of that Kind has been transmitted to me verbatim as follows. The Persons concerned in it are Men of Honour and Experience in the Manners of Men, and have fallen upon the truelt Foundation, as well as scarched the Bottom of this Evil of Anthony Commence of more Bread the Minamah. and the very Day when the Mr. Sage. IF it were in my Power, every Man that drew his Sword, unless in the Service, or purely to defend his Life, Person, or Goods, from Violence, (I mean abstracted from all Pun-Bo's or Whims of Honour) should ride the Wooden Horse in the Tilt-Yard for such first Offence, for the fecond fland in the Pillory, and for the third be Prisoner in Bedlam for Life.

From my own Apartment, July 7

Col. Plume. I remember that a Rencounter or Duel was so far from being in Fashion among the Officers that ferved in the Parliament-Army, that on the contrary, it was as difreputable, and as great an Impediment to Advancement in the Service, as being bashful in Time of Action.

Sir Mark. YET I have been informed by fome old Cavaliers, of famous Reputation for brave and gallant Men, that they were much more in Mode among their Party, than they have been during this last War, at the sould large to stone

Col. Plume. THAT is true too Sir. Mr. Wir. (over, and other leasest

1 ie

1

t-

n;

to

ed he

eft

of

an

of

ds

an-

the

Of-

ind

OF

the

hat

er-

me

ave cen

Mr.

Mr. Sage. BY what you fay, Gentlemen, one should think that our present military Officers are compounded of an equal Proportion of both those Tempers; fince Duels are neither quite discountenanced, nor much in Vogue.

Sir Mark. THAT Difference of Temper in Regard to Duels, which appears to have been between the Court and Parliament-Men of the Sword, was not (I conceive) for want of Courage in the latter, nor of a liberal Education, because there were some of the best Families in England engaged in that Party; but Gallantry and Mode, which glitter agreeably to the Imagination, were encouraged by the Court, as promoting its Splendour; and it was as natural that the contrary Party (who were to recommend themselves to the Publick for Men of serious and solid Parts) should deviate from every Thing Chimerical.

Mr. Sage. I have never read of a Duel among the Romans; and yet their Nobility used more Liberty with their Tongues than one may do now without being challenged.

Sir Mark. PERHAPS the Romans were of Opinion, that ill Language and brutal Manners, reflected only on those who were guilty of them; and that a Man's Reputation was not at all cleared by cutting the Person's Throat who had reflected upon it: But the Custom of those Times had fixed the Scandal in the Action; whereas now it lies in the Reproach.

Mr. Sage. AND yet the only Sort of Duel that one can conceive to have been fought upon Motives truly honourable and allowable, was that between the Horatii and Curiatii.

Sir Mark. COLONEL Plame, pray what was the Method of fingle Combat in your Time among the Cavaliers? I suppose, that as the Use of Clothes continues, though the Fashion of them has been mutable; so Ducls, though still in Use, have

262

P

no

mo

as f

Fel

the

any

tim

Con

for

the

have had in all Times their particular Modes of Performance in meters the pair share blood

Col. Phone. W.E had no constant Rule but generally conducted our Difpute and Tilt, according to the last that had happened between Perfons of Reputation among the very top Follows for Bravery and Gallantry.

Sir Mark. IF the Fashion of Quarelling and Tilting was fo often changed in your Time, Colovel Blume, a Man might fight, yet lose his Cradit for want of Understanding the Fashion.

Gol. Plume. WHY, Sir Mark, in the Reginning of July, a Man would have been centured for want of Courage, or been thought indigent of she true Notions of Honour, if he had put up Words; which in the End of September following, one could not refent without passing for a brutal and quarrelfome Fellow.

Sir Mark. BUT Colonel, Were Duels or Ren-counters most in Fashion in those Days?

Col. Plume. YOUR Men of nice Honour, Sin were for avoiding all Censure of Advantage which they supposed might be taken in a Rencounter; therefore they used Seconds, who were to see that all was upon the Source, and make a faith ful Report of the whole Combat; but in a little Time it became a Fashion for the Seconds to fight, and I'll tell you how it happened and yell be

and the Rage Por A Micho Golonel Hlume and the Method of a Duel at that Time, and give us some Notion of the Puncto's upon which your nice Men quarrelled in those Days.

Col. Plume. I was going to tell you, Mr. Sage, That one Corner Mollish had defined his Friend, Captain Smart's Opinion in Some Affair, but did not follow it; upon which Captain Smeet lent Major Adreit, the very topping wellow of those Times) to the Person that had flighted his Advice. The Major never enquired into the Quarrel, because it was not the Manner then among the very topping Fellows: Butgot two Swords of an equal

of

C.

d-

WS

nd o-

his

in-

of

up ng,

ital

en-

Sir,

ich

er,

fee ith-

ttle

10

the

a us

our

age,

ond,

fent hose

Ad-

par,

nong of an equal

equal Length, and then waited upon Cornet Modift, dearing him to choose his Sword, and most his Friend Captain Smart. Cornet Medift came with his Friend to the Place of Combas; there the Principals put on their Pumps, and stripped to their Shirts, to shew they had nothing but what Men of Honour carry about them, and then engaged.

Sir Mark. A N.D. did the seconds stand by, Sir 3 Col. Plume. IT was a received Custom till that Time; but the Swords of those Days being pretty long, and the Principals acting on both Sides upon the Defensive, and the Morning being frosty, Major Admit defired that the other Second, who was also a very topping Fellow, would try a Thrust or two only to keep them warm, till the Principals had decided the Matter, which was agreed to by Modish's Second, who presently whipt Admit through the Bedy, differently and then parted the Principals who had received no Harm at att.

Mr. Sage. BUT was not direct laugh that ?

Col. Plums. ON the contrary, the very topping Fellows were ever after of Opinion, That no Man who deserved that Character, could serve as a Second, without fighting; and the Smarts and Modifies finding their Account in it, the Humour took without Opposition.

Mr. Sage. PR AY Colonel, How long did that

Col. Plume. NOT long neither, Mr. Sage; for as foon as it became a Fashion, the very topping Fellows thought their Honour reflected upon, if they did not profer themselves as Seconds when any of their Briends had a Quarrel; forthat formetimes there were a Dozen of a Side.

Sir Mark B LESS me! If that Custom had continued, we should have been at a Loss new for our very pretty Fellows; for they feem to be the proper Men to officer, animate and keep quality of the section of the say, when the -11

4 50

th

he

th

Ca

Co

Ti

gen

Sir

Kn

low

not

thei

Wou Swor

Whe

Rom

very

Sir Fashi

or .cc

fomer

Men

other

VC

Mr

up an Army : But, pray Sir, how did that focia ble Manner of Tilting grow out of Mode?

Col. Plume. WHY, Sir, I'll tell you: It was a Law among the Combatants, That the Party which happened to have the first Man disarm'd or kill'd, should yield as vanquished; which fome People thought might encourage the Modishes and Smarts in quarrelling, to the Deffruction of only the very topping Fellows; and as foon as this Reflection was started, the very topping Fellows thought it an Incumbrance upon their Honour to fight at all themselves. Since that Time, the Modifies and the Smarts, throughout all Europe, have extoll'd the Fremb King's Edia. hise a contrat garages view a olla

Sir Mark. OUR very pretty Fellows, whom I take to be the Successors of the very topping Fellows, think a Quarrel fo little fashionable, that they will not be exposed to it by another Man's Vanity; or Want of Sense. I sale her say asin bea

Mr. Sage. BUT, Colonel, I have observed in your Account of Duels, that there was a great Exactness in avoiding all Advantage that might possibly be between the Combatants.

DESTRUCT.

Col. Plume, THAT's true, Sir; for the Weaponsiwere always equal in anont w abnood has

Mr. Sage. Y ES, Sir; but suppose an active, adroit strong Man, had infulted an aukward or a feeble, or an unpractifed Swords-Man.

Col. Plume. THEN, Sir, they fought with Piftols.

Mr. Sage. BUT, Sir, There might be a certain Advantage that Way; for a good Marksman will be fure to hit his Man at 20 Yards Dithance; and a Man whole Hand shakes (which is common to Men that debauch in Pleafures, or have not us'd Piftols out of their Holfters) won't venture to fire, unless he touches the Person he shoots at. Now Sir, I am of Opinion, that one can get no Honour in killing a Man (if one has it all Rug) as the Gamesters say, when they have a Trick

20

as

d

h

0.

ti-

on

ng

eir

nat

gh-

gs

n I

el-

hat

An's

in

eat

ght

lea-

ive,

or

with

CCI-

TKS-

Di-

ch is

s, or

won t

on he

t one

e has

have

Trick

a Trick to make the Game fecure, though they feem to play upon the Square.

Sir Mark. IN Truth, Mr. Sage, I think fach a Fact must be Murder in a Man's own private Conscience, whatever it may appear to the World.

Col. Plame. I have known fome Men fo nice, that they would not fight but upon a Cloak without Piftols.

Mr. Sage. I Believe a Custom well offablished would outdo the grand Monarch's Edict.

Sir Mark. AND Bullies would then leave off their long Swords; but I don't find that a very Pretty Fellow can stay to change his Sword when he is insulted by a Bully with a long Diego, though his own at the same Time be no longer than a Pen-knife; which will certainly be the Case, if such little Swords are in Mode. Pray, Colonel, how was it between the Hectors of your Time and the very Topping Fellows?

Col. Plume. SIR Long Swords happened to be generally worn in those Times.

Mr. Sage. I N answer to what you were saying, Sir Mark, give me Leave to inform you, that your Knights-Errant, (who were very Pretty Fellows of those ancient Times) thought they could not honourably yield, though they had fought their own trusty Weapons to the Stumps; but would venture as boldly with the Page's leaden Sword, as if it had been of inchanted Metal. Whence, I conceive, there must be a Spice of Romantick Gallantry in the Composition of that very Pretty Fellow.

Sir Mark. I am of Opinion, Mr. Sage, that Fashion governs a very Protty Fellow; Nature, or common Sense, your ordinary Persons, and fometimes Men of fine Parts.

Mr. Sage. BUT what is the Reason, that Men of the most excellent Sense and Morals (in other Points) associate their Understandings with VOL. I.

the very Pretty Fellows in that Chimera of a Duel?

Sir Mark. THERE's no disputing against fo great a Majority.

Mr. Sage. BUT there is one Scruple, (Col. Plume) and I have done: Don't you believe, there may be some Advantage even upon a Cloak with Pistols? Which a Man of nice Honour would scruple to take.

Col. Plume. FAITH, I can't tell, Sir; but fince one may reasonably suppose, that (in such a Case) there can be but one so far in the Wrong as to occasion Matters to come to that Extremity, I think the Chance of being kill'd should fall but on one; whereas, by their close and desperate Manner of Fighting, it may very probably happen to both.

of such nice Honour, (and must fight) there will be no fear of foul Play, if they threw up Cross

0 fe

E

to

Kab

pa

Wi

lon

of .

all

une

but

Un

pro

Ex

her

yer cery

7 or Pile who should be shot

Nº 40. Tuefday, July 12. 1709.

Will's Coffee-boufe, July 11.

Account of a very great Confernation that Place is in at prefent, by reason of a late Enquiry made at Guildhall. Whether a noble Person has Parts enough to deserve the Enjoyment of the great Estate of which he is possessed at The City is apprehensive, that this Precedent may go further than was at first imagined. The Person against whom the Inquisition is set up by his Relations, is a Peer of a neighbouring Kingdom, and has in his Youth made some few Bulls, by which it is infinuated, that he has forfeited his Goods and Chattels. This is the more assorbing ing, in that there are many Persons in the said. City who are still more guilty than his Lordship, and who though they are Idiots, do not only possess, but have also themselves acquired great Estates, contrary to the known Laws of this Realm, which wests their Possessions in the Crown.

THERE is a Gentleman in the Coffee-house at this. Time exhibiting a Bill in Chancery against his Father's younger Brother, who by fome frange Magick has arrived at the Value of half a Plumb, as the Citizens call an hundred thoufand Pounds; and in all the Time of growing up to that Wealth, was never known in any of his ordinary Words or Actions to discover any Proof of Reason. Upon this Foundation my Friend has fet forth, that he is illegally Master of his Coffers, and has writ two Epigrams to fignify his own Pretentions and Sufficiency for spending that Estate. He has inserted in his Plea some Things which I fear will give Offence; for he pretends to argue, that though a Man has a little of the Knave mix'd with the Fool, he is nevertheless liable to the Lofs of Goods; and makes the Abuse of Reason as just an Avoidance of an Estate as the total Absence of it. This is what can never pass; but witty Men are so full of themselves, that there is no perswading them; and my Friend will not be convinced, but that upon quoting Solomon, who always uses the Word Fool as a Term of the same Signification with unjust, and makes all Deviation from Goodness and Virtue to come under the Notion of Folly; I fay he doubts not, but by the Force of this Authority, let his Idioc Uncle appear never fo great a Knave, he shall prove him a Fool at the same Time.

THIS Affair led the Company here into an Examination of these Points; and none coming here but Wits, what was afferted by a young Lawyer, that a Lunatick is in the Care of the Chancery, but a Fool in that of the Crown, was received

N

Col.

bluc

of a

fo

but fuch rong nity,

rate hap-Men

but

will

that Enerion of the furfon as Re-

dom, ls, by ed his onith-

ing

m

A

W

th

af

he

He

Al

wa

at hir

fui

in

Gr

kee

Wo

qua

don

of t

Foo

of f

With

Sifte

frivi

mail

Ved with general Indignation. " Why that? Gys old Renault. Why that? Why must a Fool be a Courtier more than a Madman? This is the Iniquity of this dull Age: I remember the Time when it went on the mad Side; all your Tops-Wits were Scourers, Rakes, Roarers, and Demolishers of Windows. I knew a mad Lord who was drunk five Years together, and was the Envy of that Age, who is faintly imitated by the dull Pretenders to Vice and Madness in this. Had he lived to this Day, there had not been a Fool in Fashion in the whole Kingdom. When Renault had done speaking, a very worthy Man assumed the Discourse: This is (said he) Mr. Bickerstaff, a proper Argument for you to treat of in your Article from this Place; and if you would fend your Pacelet into all our Brains, you would find, that a little Fibre or Valve, scarce discernable, makes the Distinction between a Politician and an Idior. We should therefore throw a Veil upon those unhappy Instances of human Nature, who scem to breathe without the Direction of Reason and Underflanding, as we would avert our Eyes with Abhorrence from fuch as live in perpetual Abuse and Contradiction to these noble Faculties. Shall this unfortunate Man be devested of his Estate, because he is tractable and indolent, runs in no Man's Debt, invades no Man's Bed; nor spends the Estate he owes his Children and his Character; when one who shews no Sense above him but in fuch Practices, shall be efteemed in his Senses, and possibly may pretend to the Guardianship of him who is no ways his Inferior, but in being less wicked? We see old Age brings us indifferently into the same Impotence of Soul, wherein Nature has placed this Lord. THERE is fomething very fantastical in the Distribution of Civil Power and Capacity among Men. The Law certainly gives these Persons into the Ward and Care of the Crown, because that is

e

C

C

rd ď

e

Y

8.

n

n

in

r.

at

if

is,

c,

e-

14

n-

he

er-

b-

fe

all

te,

no

ids

nave

in

the

fe-

rd.

the ong

in-

hat

13

is best able to protect them from Injuries, and the Impolitions of Craft and Knavery; that the Life of an Idiot may not ruin the Intail of a noble House, and his Weakness may not frustrate the industry or Capacity of the Founder of his Family. But when one of bright Parts, as we fay, with his Eyes open, and all Mens Eyes upon him, destroys these Purposes, there is no Remedy. Folly and Ignorance are punished! Folly and Guilt are tolerated! Mr. Lock has fomewhere made a Distinction between a Madman and a Fool: A Fool is he that from right Principles makes a wrong Conclusion; but a Madman is one who draws a just Interence from false Principles. Thus the Fool who cut off the Fellow's Head that lay afleep, and hid it, and then waited to fee what he would fay when he awak'd, and mis'd his Head-piece, was in the Right in the first Thought, that a Man would be surprized to find such an Alteration in Things fince he fell afleep; but he was a little mistaken to imagine he could awake at all after his Head was off. A Madman fancies himself a Prince; but upon his Mistake, he acts fuitably to that Character; and though he is out in supposing he has Principalities, while he drinks Gruel, and lies in Straw, yet you shall see him keep the Port of a distressed Monarch in all his Words an Actions. These two Persons are equally taken into Custody: But what must be done to half this good Company, who every Hour of their Life are knowingly and willingly both Fools and Madmen, and yet have Capacities both of forming Principles, and drawing Conclutions, with the full Use of Reason?

From my own Apartment, June 11.

THIS Evening some Ladies came to visit my Sister Jenny; and the Discourse after very many frivilous and publick Matters, turned upon the main Point among the Women, the Passion of N 2 Love.

Love. Sappho, who always leads on this Occasion, began to shew her Reading, and told us, That Sir John Suckling and Milton had, upon a parallel Occasion, said the tenderest Things she had ever read. The Circumstance, said she, is such as gives us a Notion of that protecting Part which is the Duty of Men in their honourable Deligns upon, or Possession of, Women. In Suckling's Tragedy of Brennoralt he makes the Lover steal into his Mistress's Bedchamber, and draw the Curtains; then, when his Heart is full of her Charms, as she lies sleeping, instead of being carried away by the Violence of his Defires into Thoughts of a warmer Nature, Sleep, which is the Image of Death, gives this generous Lover Reflections of a different Kind, which regard rather her Safety than his own Passion. For, beholding her as the lies fleeping, he utters thefe Words:

So. Mifers look upon their Gold, Strill and

. Which, while they joy to see, they fear to lose:

'The Pleasure of the Sight scarce equalling' The Jealousy of being disposses'd by others.

Her Face is like the Milky Way i'th' Sky,

A Meeting of gentle Lights without Name!

Heav'n! Shall this fresh Ornament of the World, These precious Love-Lines, pass with other common Things Amongst the Wastes of Time? What Pity 'twere!

WHEN Milton makes Adam leaning on his Arm, beholding Eee, and lying in the Contemplation of her Beauty, he describes the utmost Tenderness and Guardian Affection in one Word:

Adam with Looks of Cordial Love

SIHT day asserved the Women the Pulle

hir

So

0

S

40.

afi-

us,

pahad uch Part

able uck-

ver raw

her

eing into

h 18

ver gard

For,

nele

THIS is that Sort of Passion which truly deferves the Name of Love, and has fomething more generous than Friendship it self; for it has a conftant Care of the Object beloved, abitra ded from its own Interests in the Possession of it. Sappho was proceeding on the Subject, when my Sifter produced a Letter fent to her in the Time of my Absence, in Celebration of the Marriage-State, which is the Condition wherein only this Sort of Passion reigns in full Authority. The Epiftle is as follows.

Dear Madam,

TOUR Brother being absent, I dare take the Liberty of writing to you my Thoughts of that State, which our whole Sex either is or defires to be in : You'll eafily guess I mean Matrimony, which I hear so much decry'd, that it was with no small Labour I maintained my Ground against two Opponents; but, as your Brother observed of Socrates, I drew them into my Conclusion, from their own Concessions; thus:

In Marriage are two happy Things allow'd, A Wife in Wedding-Sheets, and in a Shroud. How can a Marriage-State then be accurs d; Since the last Day's as bappy as the first?

IF you think they were too easily confuted. you may conclude them not of the first Sense, by their talking against Marriage.

Mariana.

I Observed Sappho began to redden at this Epistle; and turning to a Lady, who was playing with a Dog she was so fond of, as to carry him abroad with her; Nay, fays she, I cannot blame the Men if they have mean Ideas of our Souls and Affections, and wonder so many are brought

ofe:

ers. e!

20:00

1 his emnoft

ord:

IIS

lo

0 pa

t

1

G

I

t

II

t

brought to take us for Companions for Life, when they fee our Endearments fo triflingly placed : For to my Knowledge, Mr. Trueman would give half his Estate for half the Affection you have shewn to that Shock: Nor do I believe you would be afhamed to confess, that I saw you cry, when he had the Cholick last Week with lapping four Milk. What more could you do for your Lover himself? What more ! reply'd the Lady : There is not a Man in England for whom I could lament half so much. Then she stifled the Animal with Kiffes, and call'd him Beau, Life, Dear, Monficur, pretty Fellow, and what not, in the Hurry of her Impertinence. Sappho rose up; as she always does at any thing she observes done, which discovers in her own Sex a Levity of Mind, which renders them inconsiderable in the Opinion of ours.

Celebrare Domestica Facta.

Nº 41. Thursday, July 14. 1709.

White's Chocolate boufe, July 12.

THERE is no one Thing more to be lamented in our Nation, than their general Affectation of every Thing that is foreign; nay, we carry it so far, that we are more anxious for our own Countrymen when they have crossed the Seas, than when we see them in the same dangerous Condition before our Eyes at Home: Else how is it possible, that on the 29th of the last Month, there should have been a Battel fought in our very Streets of London, and no Body at this End of the Town have heard of it. I protest, I, who make it my Business to enquire after Adventures, should ٥,

en

or ılf

Nn

R-

heur

er

re

ent

ith

ry al-

ch id,

ni-

thould never have known this, had not the following Account been fent me inclosed in a Letter. This, it feems, is the Way of giving out of Orders in the Artillery-Company; and they prepare for a Day of Action with so little Concern, as only to call it, An Exercise of Arms.

An Exercise at Arms of the Artillery Company, to be performed on Wednesday June 29. 1709. under the Command of Sir Joseph Woolfe, Knight and Alderman, General; Charles Hopson, Esquire, present Sheriff, Lieutenant-General; Captain Richard Synge, Major; Major John Shorey, Captain of Granadiers; Captain William Grayhurst, Capt. John Butler, Capt. Robert Carellis, Captains.

HE Body march from the Artillery Ground through Moregate, Coleman-fireet, Lothbury, Broad-ftreet, Finch-lane, Cornbil, Cheapside, St. Martin's, St. Anne's Lane, Hault the Pikes under the Wall in Noble-freet, Draw up the Firelocks facing the Goldsmiths Hall, make ready and face to the Left, and fire, and fo ditto three Times; Beat to Arms, and march round the Hall, asup Lad-Lane, Gutter Lane, Honey-Lane, and fo: wheel to the Right, and make your Salute to my Lord, and fo down St. Anne's Lane, up Aldersgate-freet, Barbican, and draw up in Red-Crofs-fireet, the Right at St. Paul's Alley in the Rear. March off Lieutenant-General with half the Body up Beech-Lane : He fends a Sub-Divition up King's Head Court, and takes Post in it. and marches two Divisions round into Red-Lion-Market, to defend that Pafs, and succour the Division in King's Head Court, but keeps in White-Crofs-fireet, facing Beech-Lane, the rest of the Body ready drawn up. Then the General marches up Beech-Lane, is attacked, but forces the Divisions in the Court into the Market, and enters with three Divisions while he presses the N 5 Lieutenant-ted tawe our

ous ow th,

our End who

res,

C

ci

bı

al

ra

2

an ex

Way

turn

Enq

in t

Imp

dive

twee

me b

Quef

one 1

ceive

Unea fertin

bition

Lieutenant-General's main Body; and at the same Time, the three Divisions force those of the Revolters out of the Market, and foall the Lieutenant-General's Body retreats into Chifwelfreet, and lodges two Divisions in Grub-freet; and as the General marches on, they fall on his Flank, but soon made to give Way; but having a Retreating Place in Red-Lion-Court, but could not hold it, being put to Flight through Paul's Alley, and pursued by the General's Granadiers, while he marches up and attacks their main Body, but are opposed again by a Party of Men as lay in Black-Raven-Court; but they are forced also to retire foon in the utmost Confusion, and at the same Time 4 those brave Divisions in Paul's Alley ply their Rear with Granadiers, that with Precipitation they take to the Rour along Bunbill-Row: So the General marches into the Artillery Ground; and being drawn up, finds the Revolting Party to have found Entrance, and makes a Show as 1 If for a Battel, and both Armies soon engage in Form, and fire by Platoons.

Much might be said for the Improvement of this System; which, for its Style and Invention, may instruct Generals and their Historians, both in fighting a Battel, and describing it when 'tis over. These elegant Expressions, Ditto — And fo — But soon — But baving—But could not—But are—But they — Finds the Party to have found, &c. — do certainly give great Life and Spirit to the Relation.

INDEED I am extreamly concerned for the Lieutenant-General, who, by his Overthrow and Defeat, is made a deplorable Instance of the Fortune of War, and Vicissitudes of Human Affairs. He, alas! has lost in Beach-Lane and Chiswel firest, all the Glory he lately gained in and about Holbern and St. Giles's. The Art of Subdividing first, and Dividing afterwards, is new and furprising; and according to this Method, the Troops are disposed in Kings-Head-Court, and Red-Lion-Market: Nor is the Conduct of these Leaders less conspicuous in their Choice of the Ground or Field of Battel. Happy was it, that the greatest Part of the Atchievements of this Day was to be performed near Grub-fireet, that there might not be wanting a fufficient Number of faithful Historians, who being Eye-witnesses of these Wonders, should impartially transmit them to Posterity! But then it can never be enough regretted, that we are left in the Dark as to the Name and Title of that extraordinary Hero who commanded the Divisions in Paul's Alley; especially because those Divisions are justly styled brave, and accordingly were to push the Enemy along Bunbill-Row, and thereby occasion a general Battel. But Pallas appeared in the Form of a Shower of Rain, and prevented the Slaughter and Desolation which were threatned by these extraordinary Preparations.

His Motus Animorum atque bac Certamina tanta Pulveris exigui Jactu compressa quiescunt.

Will's Coffee bouse, July 13.

SOME Part of the Company keep up the old Way of Conversation in this Place, which usually turned upon the Examination of Nature, and an Enquiry into the Manners of Men. There is one in the Room so very judicious, that he manages Impertinents with the utmost Dexterity. It was diverting this Evening to hear a Difcourse between him and one of these Gentlemen. He told me before that Person joined us, that he was a Questioner, who, according to his Description, is one who asks Questions not with a Design to receive Information, but an Affectation to shew his Uneafiness for Want of it. He went on in afferting, that there are Crowds of that modest Ambition, as to aim no farther than to demonstrate that '

the of the

on but ght neat-

oon ime

tion So und; arty was et of both tis And

baw and the and the Af-

Chifand abdi-

the roops that they are in Doubt. By this Time Will Wbynot was fate down by us. So Gentlemen, fays he, In bow many Days think you, Shall we be Mafters of Tournay? Is the Account of the Action of the Vivarois to be depended upon? Could you have imagined that England had fo mu b Money in it us you fee it bas produced? Pray Sirs, what do you think? Will the Duke of Savoy make an Irruption into France? But (fays he) Time will clear all thefe Myfteries. His Answer to himself gave me the Altitude of his Head, and to all his Questions I thus answered very fatisfactorily --- Sir, bave you beard that this Slaughterford never own'd the Fast for which he died? Have the News-Papers mentioned that Matter? But, pray, can you tell me what Method will be taken to provide for these Palatines? But this, as you fay, Time will clear. Ay, ay, fays he, and whifpers me, They will never let us into thefe Things beforehand. I whispered him again, We shall know it as foon as there is a Proclamation—He tells me in t'other Ear, You are in the right of it. Then he whitpered my Friend to know what my Name was; then made an obliging Bow, and went to examine another Table. This led my Friend and me to weigh this wandering Manner in many other Incidents, and he took out of his Pocket feveral little Notes or Tickets to follicit for Votes to Employments: As ' Mr. John Taplash having served all Offices, and being reduced to great Poverty, defires your Vote for Singing-· Clerk of this Parish. Another has had ten Clerk of this Parish. Another has had ten Children, all whom his Wife has suckled her felf; therefore humbly defires to be a School-of Application for Offices. It is not that you are fit for the Place, but because the Place would be convenient for you, that you claim a Merit to it. But commend me to the great Kirlent, who has lately set up for Midwifery, and to help Child-birth, for no other Reason, but that he is himself

4 Mafter.

И

y-

e,

1-red

12

Vill

e?

of ed

bis

be lat-

will

as

ings

wow

me

hen

me

and

oket

for lass

d to ingten

her

001-

Vay

are ould

erit

less, help

ne 15

nfelf

himself the Unborn Dodor. The Way is, to hit upon something that puts the Vulgar upon the Stare, or that touches their Compassion, which is often the weakest Part about us. I know a good Lady, who has taken her Danghters from their old Dancing-master, to place them with another, for no other Reason, but because the new Man has broke his Leg, which is so ill set, that he can never dance more.

From my own Apartment, July 13.

AS it is a frequent Mortification to me to receive Letters, wherein People tell me, without a Name, they know I meant them in such and such a Passage; so that very Accusation is an Argument, That there are such Beings in human Life, as fall under our Description, and our Discourse is not altogether fantaffical and groundless. But in this Cafe I am treated as I faw a Boy was t'other Day, who gave out pocky Bills: Every plain Fellow took it that passed by, and went on his Way without farther Notice: At last came one with his Nose a little abridg'd; who knocks the Lad down, with a, Why you Son of a W-e, do you think I am p-d? But Shakespear has made the best Apology for this Way of talking against the publick Errors: He makes Jaques, in the Play, call'd, As you like it, express hamfelf thus:

Why, Who cries out on Pride, That can therein tax any private Party?
What Woman in the City do I name, When that I say, the City Woman hears The Cost of Princes on unworthy Shoulders?
Who can come in and say that I mean her,
When such a one as she, such is her Neighbour?
Or, What is he of hasest Function, That says his Bravery is not on my Cost?
Thinking that I mean him, but therein suits.
His Folly to the Mettle of my Speech.
There

There then! How then? Then let me fee wherein My Tongue has wrong'd him: If it do him Right, Then he hath wrong'd himself: If he he free, Why then my Taxing like a wild Goose flies, Unclaimed of any Man.

con con the classic winds of the control of the con

- Celebrare Domestica Fasta.

Nº 42. Saturday, July 16. 1709,

From my own Apartment, July 15:

OOKING over fome old Papers, I found a little Treatife written by my Great-Grandfather concerning Bribery, and thought his Manner of treating that Subject not unworthy my Remark. He there has a Digression concerning a Possibility, that in some Circumstances a Man may receive an Injury, and yet be conscious to himself that he deserves it. There are Abundance of fine Things said on the Subject; but the whole wrap'd up in so much Jingle and Pun, (which was the Wit of those Times) that it is fearce intelligible; but I thought the Defign was well enough in the following Sketch of the old Gentleman's Poetry: For in this Cafe, where two are Rivals for the same Thing, and propose to obtain it by Presents, he that attempts the Judge's Honesty, by making him Offers of Reward, ought not to complain when he loses his Cause by a better Bidder. The good old Dogrel runs thus:

A poor Man once a Judge befought.

To judge aright his Cause,
And with a Pot of Oil salutes.

This Judger of the Laws.

th

r.

ot,

63

1-

1-

e-a

n

)-

e-

,

13

d

e

C

-

1

My Friend, quoth he, thy Cause is good:

He glad away did trudge;

Anon his quealthy Foe did come Besore this partial Judge.

An Hog well fed this Churl presents, And craves a Strain of Law;
The Hog received, the poor Man's Right Was judg'd not worth a Straw.

Therewith he cry'd, O! Partial Judge, Thy Doom has me undone;
When Oil I gave, my Cause was good,
But now to Ruin run.

Poor Man, quoth he, I thee forgot;

And see thy Cause of Foil;

An Hog came since into my House,

And broke thy Pot of Oil.

Will's Coffee-bouse, July 15.

THE Discourse happened this Evening to fall? upon Characters drawn in Plays, and a Gentleman remark'd, That there was no Method in the World of knowing the Take of an Age, or Period of Time so good, as by the Observations of the Persons represented in their Comedies. were several Instances produced, as Ben Fobnson's bringing in a Fellow smoaking, as a Piece of Foppery; but, faid the Gentleman, (who entertained us on this Subject) this Matter is no where fo observable as in the Difference of the Characters of Women on the Stage in the last Age, and in this. It is not to be supposed that it was a Poverty of Genius in Shakespear, that his Women made fo small a Figure in his Dialogues; but it certainly is, that he drew Women as they then were in Life; for that Sex had not in those Days that Freedom in Conversation; and their Characters

d

C

15 fh

an

Pa

racters were only, that they were Mothers, Sifters, Daughters, and Wives. There were not then among the Ladies, shining Wits, Politicians, Virtuosæ, Free-Thinkers, and Disputants; nay, there was then hardly such a Creature even as a Coquet: But Vanity had quite another Turn, and the most conspicuous Woman at that Time of Day was only the best Housewise. Were it possible to bring into Life an Assembly of Matrons of that Age, and introduce the learned Lady Woodby into their Company, they would not believe the same Nation could produce a Creature so unlike any Thing they ever saw in it.

BUT these Ancients would be as much astonished to see in the same Age so illustrious a Pattern to all who love Things Praise-worthy, as the divine Aspassa. Methinks, I now see her walking in her Garden like our first Parent, with unaffected Charms, before Beauty had Spectators, and bearing celestial conscious Virtue in her Aspect. Her Countenance is the lively Picture of her Mind, which is the Seat of Honour, Truth, Compassion, Knowledge, and Innocence.

There dwells the Scorn of Vice and Pity to.

In the midst of the most ample Fortune, and Veneration of all that behold and know her, without the least Affectation, she consults Retirement, the Contemplation of her own Being, and that supream Power which bestow'd it. Without the Learning of Schools, or Knowledge of a long Course of Arguments, she goes on in a steady Course of uninterrupted Piety and Virtue, and adds to the Severity and Privacy of the last Age all the Freedom and Ease of this. The Language and Mien of a Court she is possessed of in the highest Degree; but the Simplicity and humble Thoughts of a Cottage are her more welcome Entertainments. Aspassa is a Female Philosopher, who does not only live up to the Resignation of

the

2

i-

en

r-

re

0-

be

y

to

at

n-

ne

ke

0-

it-

he

ng

ıf-

rs,

A-

of

h,

c-

h-

a't

he

ng

dy

nd

ge

ge.

he

ne er,

of

he

the most retired Lives of the antient Sages, but also to the Schemes and Plans which they thought beautiful, though inimitable. This Lady is the most exact Oeconomist, without appearing busy; the most strictly virtuous, without tasting the Praise of it; and shuns Applause with as much Industry, as others do Reproach. This Character is so particular, that it will very easily be fixed on her only, by all that know her; but I dare say, she will be the last that finds it out.

BUT, alas! If we have one or two such Ladies, How many Dozens are there like the restless, How many Dozens are there like the restless Polugiossa, who is acquainted with all the World but herself; who has the Appearance of all, and Possession of no Virtue: She has indeed in her Practice the Absence of Vice, but her Discourse is the continual History of it; and it is apparent, when she speaks of the criminal Gratifications of others, that her Innocence is only a Restraint, with a certain Mixture of Envy. She is so perfectly opposite to the Character of Apassa, that as Vice is terrible to her only as it is the Object of Reproach, so Virtue is agreeable only as it is attended with Applause.

St. Fames's Coffee-boufe, July 15.

IT is now Twelve a Clock at Noon, and no Mail come in; therefore I am not without Hopes that the Town will allow me the Liberty which my Brother News-Writers take, in giving them what may be for their Information in another Kind, and indulge me in doing an Act of Friendship by publishing the following Account of Goods and Moveables.

THIS is to give Notice, That a magnificent Palace, with great Variety of Gardens, Statues, and Water-works, may be bought cheap in Drury-Lane; where there are likewise several Castles to be disposed of, very delightfully situated; as also Groves, Woods, Forests, Fountains, and Country-Seats, with very pleasant Prospects on all Sides of them; being the Moveables of Charles of them; being the Moveables of Charles of Fig. who is breaking up House, keeping, and has many curious Pieces of Furniture to dispose of, which may be seen between the Hours of six and ten in the Evening.

The INVENTORY.

SPIRITS of right Nantz Brandy; for Lambent Flames and Apparitions.

ONE Shower of Snow in the whitest French Paper.

TWO Showers of a browner Sort.

A Sea, confitting of a Dozen of large Waves; the tenth bigger than ordinary, and a little damaged.

A Dozen and a half of Clouds, trimm'd with black, and well conditioned.

A Rainbow a little faded.

A Set of Clouds after the French Mode, streaked with Lightning, and furbelow'd.

A New Moon fomething decay'd.

A Pint of the finest Spanish Wash, being all that is left of two Hogsheads sent over last Winter.

A Coach very finely gilt, and little used, with a Pair of Dragons, to be fold cheap.

A Setting-Sun, a Pennyworth.

An Imperial Mantle, made for Cyrus the Great, and worn by Julius Cafar, Bajazet, King Harry the Eighth, and Signior Valentini.

A Basket-hilt Sword, very convenient to carry Milk in.

ROXANA's Night-Gown. OTHELLO's Handkerchief.

THE Imperial Robes of Xernes, never worn but once.

A wild

41 e: F

M

Sp

dı

C

83 m-des

--

ep-

10 urs

mncb

es;

da-

ith

ik-

all

alt

h

at,

rry

TY

FD

ild

detr.

A wild Boar, kill'd by Mrs. Tofts and Dioclefian. A Serpent to fting Cleonatra.

A Mustard-Bowl to make Thunder with.

ANOTHER of a bigger Sort, by Mr. D-is's Directions, little uled, and and and and SIX Elbow-Chairs, very expert in Country-Dances, with fix Flower-Pots for their Partners.

THE Whiskers of a Turkift Baffa.

THE Complexion of a Murderer in a Band-Box; confishing of a large Piece of burnt Cork, and a Cole-black Peruke.

A Suit of Clothes for a Ghoft, viz. a bloody Shirt, a Doublet couriously pink'd, and a Coat with three great Eyelet-Holes upon the Breaft.

A Bale of red Spanish Wool.

MODERN Plots, commonly known by the Name of Trap-Doors, Ladders of Ropes, Vizard-Masques, and Tables with broad Carpets over them.

THREE Oak Cudgels, with one of Crab-Tree; all bought for the Use of Mr. Penkethman. MATERIALS for Dancing; as Masques, Castanets, and a Ladder of ten Rounds.

AURENGEZEBE's Scymeter, made by Will. Brown in Piccadilly.

A Plume of Feathers, never used but by Oeditus and the Earl of Effex.

THERE are also Swords, Halberts, Sheep-Hooks, Cardinals Hats, Turbans, Drums, Gallipots, a Gibber, a Cradle, a Rack, a Cart-Wheel, an Altar, an Hemlet, a Back-piece, a Breaft-plate, a Bell, a Tub, and a Jointed-Baby.

THESE are the hard Shifts we Intelligencers are forced to; therefore our Readers ought to excuse us, if a Westerly Wind blowing for a Fortnight together, generally fills every Paper with an Order of Battle; when we shew our Martial Skill in each Line, and according to the Space we have to fill, we range our Man in Squadrons and Battalions, or draw out Company by Company, and Troop by Troop; ever observing that

N

W

th

4]

4 1

. 1

$

·I

'y

6 T

1

the

Ri bri

But

Per

Fra

gra

that no Muster is to be made, but when the Wind is in a Cross-Point, which often happens at the End of a Campaign, when half the Men are deferred and killed. The Courant is sometimes ten deep, his Ranks close: The Post-Boy is generally in Files, for greater Exactness; and the Post-Man comes down upon you rather after the Turkifb Way, Sword in Hand, Pell-Mell, without Form or Discipline; but fure to bring Men enough into the Field; and where-ever they are raised, never to lose a Battle for Want of Numbers.

-Bene Nummatum decorat Suadela Venufque. Hor.

Nº 43.

Tuefday, July 19. 1709.

White's Chocolate-house, July 18.

WRITE from hence at present to complain, That Wit and Merit are fo little encouraged by People of Rank and Quality, that the Wits of the Age are oblig'd to run within Temple-Bar for Patronage. There is a deplorable Instance of this in the Case of Mr. D-y, who has dedicated his inimitable Comedy, called, The Modern Prophets, to a worthy Knight, to whom, it feems, he had before communicated his Plan, which was, To ridicule the Ridiculers of our eftablished Doctrine. I have elsewhere celebrated the Contrivance of this excellent Drama; but was not, till I read the Dedication, wholly let into the religious Defign of it. I am afraid it has suffered Discontinuance at this gay End of the Town, for no other Reafon but the Piety of the Purpose. There is however in this Epistle the true Life of Panegyrical Performance; and I do not doubt bur if the Patron

2

le

ns

en

e-

is

br

cr h-cn

re

of 0

or.

in,

ed

its

Bar

of

ted

70-

he

vas,

rine. of

the

fign

nce

ea-

OW-

cal

Pa-

ron

tron would part with it, I can help him to others with good Pretentions to it, viz. of Uncommon Understanding, who would give him as much as he gave for it. I know perfectly well a noble Perfon whom these Words (which are the Body of the Panegyrick) would fit to a Hair.

' YOUR Easiness of Humour, or rather your harmonious Disposition is so admirably mixed with your Composure, that the rugged Cares and Disturbance that publick Affairs brings with it, which does so vexationsly affect the ' Heads of other great Men of Bufiness, &c. does ' scarce ever ruffle your unclouded Brow so much as with a Frown. And what above all is Praiseworthy, you are so far from thinking your self better than others, that a flourishing and opulent Fortune, which by a certain natural Corruption in its Quality seldom fails to infect other Possessors with Pride, seems in this Case as if only providentially disposed to inlarge your Humility.

BUT I find, Sir, I am now got into a very large Field, where though I could with great Ease raise a Number of Plants in Relation to 'your Merit of this plauditory Nature; yet for ' Fear of an Author's general Vice, and that the 'plain Justice I have done you should by my Proceeding, and others miltaken Judgment, be imagined Flattery, a Thing the Bluntness of ' my Nature does not care to be concerned with,

' and which I also know you abominate.

IT is wonderful to see how many Judges of thele fine Things spring up every Day by the Rife of Stocks, and other elegant Methods of abridging the Way to Learning and Criticism. But I do hereby forbid all Dedications to any Persons within the City of London, except Sir Francis, Sir Stephen, and the Bank will take Epigrams and Epiftles as Value received for their

Notes;

1

10

to

to

eil

a

in

K

R

in li

1

Notes; and the East-India Companies accept of Heroick Poems for their sealed Bonds. Upon which Bottom our Publishers have full Power to treat with the City in Behalf of us Authors, to enable Traders to become Patrons and Fellows of the Royal Society, as well as receive certain Degrees of Skill in the Latin and Greek Tongues, according to the Quantity of the Commodities which they take off our Hands.

Grecian Coffee boufe, July 18.

Char Toblick Affair.

THE Learned have so long laboured under the Imputation of Driness and Dulness in their Accounts of their Phænomena, that an ingenious Gentleman of our Society has resolved to write a System of Philosophy in a more lively Method, both as to the Matter and Language, than has been hitherto attempted. He read to us the Plan upon which he intends to proceed. I thought his Account by Way of Fable of the Worlds about us had so much Vivacity in it, that I could not forbear transcribing his Hypothesis, to give the Reader a Taste of my Friend's Treatise, which is now in the Press.

The Inferior Deities having designed on a Day to play a Game at Football, knead together a numberless Collection of dancing Atoms into the Form of seven rowling Globes: And that Nature might be kept from a dull Inactivity, each separate Particle is endued with a Principle of Motion, or a Power of Attraction, whereby all the several Parcels of Matters draw each other proportionably to their Magnitudes and Distances into such a remarkable Variety of different Forms, as to produce all the wonderful Appearances we now observe in Empire, Philosophy, and Religion. But to proceed,

AT the Beginning of the Game, each of the Globes being fruck forward with a vaftViolence, ran out of Sight, and wandered in a straight Lime through the infinite Spaces. The nimble Deities pursue, breathless almost, and spent in the eager Chace; each of them catched hold of one, and stamped it with his Name; as Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, and so of the rest. To prevent this Inconvenience for the future, the seven are condemned to a Precipitation, which in our inferior Style we call Gravity. Thus the Tangential and Centripetal Forces, by their Counterfiruggle make the Celestial Bodies describe an exact Ellipsis.

THERE will be added to this, an Appendix, in Defence of the first Day of the Term according to the Oxford Almanack, by a learned Knight of this Realm. with an Apology for the faid Knight's Manner of Drefs; proving, That his Habit, according to this Hypothesis, is the true Modern and Fashionable; and that Buckles are not to be worn, by this System, till the 10th of March, in the Year 1714, which, according to the Computation of some of our greatest Divines, is to be the first Year of the Millenium; in which bleffed Age, all Habits will be reduced to a Primitive Simplicity; and whoever shall be found to have perfevered in a Constancy of Dress, in spite of all the Allurements of prophane and beathen Habits, shall be rewarded with a never-fading Doublet of a thousand Years. All Points in the System which are dubted, shall be attested by the Knight's extemporary Oath, for the Satisfaction of bis Readers.

ereality Ferror to a correction, the result of the same of the sam

WE were upon the Heroick Strain this Evening, and the Question was, What is the true Subline? Many very good Discourses happened thereupon; after which a Gentleman at the Table, who is, it seems, writing on that Subject, afsumed u i

of

oon

to

to

2WC

ain

les,

ties

der neir ous rite od, has his t us foreanow

n a geoms And atih a raw ides iety

ion,

AT

ire,

lef

the

de

of,

ter

cal

nif

mo

Na

of

Lin

the

ror:

the

Tu

Tha

Ami

Exar

In pe

Tof

Infor

And

So The

With

Such

Calm

And,

Rides

TI

Poeti

tion :

his C

feem

to-ke

Army

a.Styl

Such

Poem

o, w eis H

VC

fumed the Argument; and though he ran through many Inflances of Sublimity from the ancient Writers, faid, He had hardly known an Occasion wherein the true Greatness of Soul, which animates a General in Action, is fo well reprefented, with regard to the Person of whom it was spoken, and the Time in which it was writ, as in a few Lines in a modern Poem: There is (continued be) nothing fo forc'd and constrain'd, as what we frequently meet with in Tragedies; to make a Man under the Weight of a great Sorrow, or full of Meditation upon what he is foon to execute, cast about for a Simile to what he himself is, or the Thing which he is going to act: But there is nothing more proper and natural for a Poet, whose Business it is to describe, and who is spectator of one in that Circumstance when his Mind is working upon a great Image, and that the Idea's hurry upon his Imagination; I fay, there is nothing so natural, as for a Poet to relieve and clear himself from the Burthen of Thought at that Time, by uttering his Conception in Simile and Metaphor. The highest Act of the Mind of Man, is to possess it felf with Tranquility in imminent Danger, and to have its Thoughts fo free, as to act at that Time without Perplexity. The ancient Authors have compared this sedate Courage to a Rock that nemains immovable amidft the Rage of Wind and Waves; but that is too stupid and inammate a Similande, and could do no Credit to the Hero. At other Times they are all of them wonderfully obliged to a Lybian Lion, which may give indeed very agreeable Terrors to a Description; but is no Compliment to the Person to whom it is applied: Eagles, Tigers and Wolves, are made use of on the fame Occasion, and very often with much Beauty; but this is still an Honour done to the Brute, rather than the Hero. Mars, Pallas, Bacchus and Hercules have each of them furnished very good Similes in their Time, and made, doubtlefs,

5

h

11 n

Ì-

d,

n,

W

bs

at

ke

10

e-

elf

ut

ho

718 ter

y,

re-

of p-

la

ith

ve

th-

ins

de,

ner

ged

a-

no

ed:

on ich

the

Bac-

VC-

ibt-

efs,

less, a greater Impression on the Mind of a Heathen, than they have on that of a modern Reader. But the sublime Image that I am talking of, and which I really think as great as ever entered into the Thought of Man, is in the Poem called, The Campaign; where the Simile of a ministring Angel sets forth the most sedate and the most active Courage, engaged in an Uproar of Nature, a Consusion of Elements, and a Scene of Divine Vengeance. Add to all, That these Lines compliment the General and his Queen at the same Time, and have all the natural Horrors heighten'd by the Image that was still fresh in the Mind of every Reader.

Twas then Great Marlbro's mighty Soul was prov'd, That, in the Shock of charging Hosts unmov'd, Amidst Confusion, Horror and Despair, Examin'd all the dreadful Scenes of War; In peaceful Thought the Field of Death survey'd, To fainting Squadrons sent the timely Aid, Inspir'd repuls'd Battalions to engage, And taught the doubtful Battel where to rage. So when an Angel by Divine Command, With rising Tempests shakes a guilty Land, Such as of late o'er pale Britannia past, Calm and series be drives the survivus Blast; And, pleas'd th' Almighty's Orders to perform, Rides in the Whirlwind, and directs the Storm.

THE whole Poem is so exquisitely noble and Poetick, that I think it an Honour to our Nation and Language. The Gentleman concluded his Critick on this Work, by saying, that he esteemed it wholly new, and a wonderful Attempt to keep up the ordinary Ideas of a March of an Army, just as they happen'd in so warm and great a Style, and yet be at once familiar and heroick. Such a Performance is a Chronicle as well as a Poem, and will preserve the Memory of our Hero, when all the Edifices and Statues erected to his Honour are blended with common Dust.

VOL. I. O — Nullis

I

iı

0

p

Bi

an

is

Ril

Bu

me

La

Bel

OW

Fop

Gil

fit #

riot

hav

it ac

dyin

but g

all I

- Nullis Amor est medicabilis Herbis.

Nº 44.

Thursday, July 21. 1709.

White's Chocolate-bouse, July 19.

HIS Day, paffing through Convent-Garden, I was stopp'd in the Piazza by Pacolet, to observe what he called the Triumph of Love and Youth. I turned to the Object he pointed at, and there I saw a gay gilt Chariot drawn by fresh prancing Horses; the Coachman with a new Cockade, and the Lacquies with Infolence and Plenty in their Countenances. I asked immediately, What young Heir or Lover own'd that glittering Equipage? But my Companion interrupted: Do you not see there the mourning Æsculapius? The Mourning? faid I. Yes, Isaac, faid Pacolet, He is in deep Mourning, and is the languishing hopeless Lover of the Divine Hebe, the Emblem of Youth and Beauty. The excellent and learned Sage you behold in that Furniture, is the strongest Instance imaginable, that Love is the most powerful of all Things.

the Character of Æsculapius, as the Patron and most successful of all who profess the Art of Medicine. But as most of his Operations are owing to a natural Sagacity or Impulse, he has very little troubled himself with the Doctrine of Drugs; but has always given Nature more Room to help herself, than any of her Learned Assistants; and consequently has done greater Wonders than is in the Power of Art to perform: For which Reason he is half deify d by the People; and has ever been justly courted by all the World, as if he were a Seventh Son.

IT

: For ople; H the

den,

and at, by new

and redi-

that

inning

faac,

s the

Hebe,

xcel-

urni-

that er to

and

Me-

wing

very ie of

Room

Affi-

Won-

IT

IT happen'd, that the charming Hebe was reduced, by a long and violent Fever, to the most extream Danger of Death; and when all Skill failed, they went for Esculapius. The renowned Artist was touch'd with the deepest Compassion to fee the faded Charms and faint Bloom of Hebe; and had a generous Concern in beholding a Struggle, not between Life, but rather between Youth and Death. All his Skill and his Passion tended to the Recovery of Hebe, beautiful even in Sickness: But, alas! the unhappy Physician knew not, that in all his Care he was only fharpening Darts for his own Destruction. In a Word, his Fortune is the same with that of the Statuary, who fell in Love with the Image of his own making; and the unfortunate Esculapius is become the Patient of her whom he lately recovered. Long before this Difaster, Esculapius was far gone in the unnecessary and superfluous Amusements of Old Age, in increasing unwieldly Stores, and providing in the midst of an Incapacity of Enjoyment of what he had, for a Supply of more Wants than he had Calls for in Youth it felf. But these low Considerations are now no more, and Love has taken Place of Avarice, or rather is become an Avarice of another Kind, which fill urges him to purfue what he does not want. But behold the Metamorphofis; the anxious mean Cares of an Usurer are turned into the Languishments and Complaints of a Lover. Behold, fays the aged Esculapius, I submit, I own, great Love, thy Empire: Pity, Hebe, the Fop you have made: What have I to do with Gilding but on Pills? Yet, O Fair! For thee I fit amidst a Crowd of painted Deities on my Chariot, button'd in Gold, clasp'd in Gold, without having any Value for that beloved Metal, but as it adorns the Person, and laces the Hat of thy dying Lover. I ask not to live, O Hebe! Give me but gentle Death: Euthanasia, Euthanasia, that is all I implore. When Afculapius had finished his Complaint, Pacolet went on in deep Morals on the Incertainty of Riches with this remarkable Exclamation; O Wealth! How impotent art thou! And how little dost thou supply us with real Happiness, when the Usurer himself can forget thee for the Love of what is as foreign to his Felicity as thou art!

Will's Coffee bouse, July 19.

THE Company here, who have all a delicate Tatte of Theatrical Representations, had made a Gathering to purchase the Moveables of the neighbouring Playhouse, for the Encouragement of one which is ferting up in the Hay-Market. But the Proceedings at the Auction (by which Method the Goods have been fold this Evening) have been so unfair, that this generous Design has been fruftrated; for the Imperial Mantle made for Cyrus was missing, as also the Chariot and two Dragons: But upon Examination it was found, that a Gentleman of Hampshire had clandestinely bought them both, and is gone down to his Country-Seat; and that on Saturday last he pass'd through Stanes attired in that Robe, and drawn by the said Dragons, assisted by two only of his own Horses. This Theatrical Traveller has also left Orders with Mr. Hall to fend the faded Rainbow to the Scowrers, and when it comes Home, to dispatch it after him. At the same Time C-R-Esq; is invited to bring down his Setting-Sun himself, and be Box-keeper to a Theatre erected by his Gentleman near Southampton. Thus there has been nothing but Artifice in the Management of this Affair; for which Reason I beg Pardon of the Town, that I inserted the Inventory in my Paper, and folemnly protest, I knew nothing of this artful Defign of wending these Rarities: But I meant only the Good of the World in that and all other Things which I divulge. AND

it

P

m

pr

in

fel

tle

ha

as

Gr

fhe

Ex

ed.

He

Swe

AND now I am upon this Subject, I must do my felf Justice in Relation to an Article in a former Paper, wherein I made Mention of a Person who keeps a Puppet-Show in the Town of Bath; I was tender of naming Names, and only just hinted, that he makes larger Promises, when he invites People to his Dramatick Representations, than he is able to perform: But I am credibly informed, that he makes a prophane lewd Jester. whom he calls Punch, speak to the Dishonour of Maac Bickerstaff with great Familiarity; and before all my learned Friends in that Place, takes upon him to dispute my Title to the Appellation of Esquire. I think I need not fay much to convince all the World, that this Mr. Powell (for that is his Name) is a pragmatical and vain Person to pretend to argue with me on any Subject. Mecum certasse feretur; that is to say, It will be an Honour to him to have it faid he contended with me; but I would have him to know, that I can look beyond his Wires, and know very well the whole Trick of his Art, and that it is only by these Wires that the Eye of the Spectator is cheated, and hinder'd from feeing that there is a Thread on one of Punch's Chops, which draws it up, and lets it fall at the Discretion of the faid Powell, who stands behind and plays him, andmakes him speak sawcily of his Betters. pretend to make Prologues against me! -But a Man never behaves himself with Decency in his own Case; therefore I shall command my felf, and never trouble me further with this little Fellow, who is himself but a tall Pupper, and has not Brains enough to make even Wood fpeak as it ought to do: And I, that have heard the Groaning Board, can despise all that his Puppets shall be able to speak as long as they live. But, Ex quovis Ligno non fit Mercurius. He has pretended to write to me also from the Bath, and fays. He thought to have deferred giving me an Answer till he came to bis Books; but that my Wri-0 3

the

ND

e

K-

1!

p-

20 ty

te

de

he

nt

ut

eve

as

for

ra-

nat

ely

an-

s'd

wn

his

lo

in-

ne,

ng-

tre

nus

Sa-

beg

en-

ew

ele

t

Nº 44.

tings might do well with the Waters: Which are pert Expressions that become a School-boy, better than one that is to teach others: And when I have faid a civil Thing to him, he cries, Ob! I thank you for that - I am your humble Servant for that. Ah! Mr. Powell, these smart Civilities will never run down Men of Learning: I know well enough your Design is to have all Men Automata, like your Puppets; but the World is grown too wife, and can look through these thin Devices. I know you design to make a Reply to this; but befure you stick close to my Words; for if you bring me into Discourses concerning the Government of your Puppers, I must tell you. I neither am, nor have been, nor will be, at Leifure to answer you. It is really a burning Shame this Man should be tolerated in abusing the World with such Representations of Things: But his Parts decay, and he is not much more alive than Partridge.

From my own Apartment, July 14.

I must beg Parden of my Readers that for this Time I have, I fear, huddled up my Discourse having been very busy in helping an old Friend of mine out of Town. He has a very good Estate, is a Man of Wit; but he had been three Years absent from Town, and can't bear a Jest; for which Reason I have, with some Pains, convinc'd him, that he can no more live here than if he were a downright Bankrupt. He was so fond of dear London, that he began to fret only inwardly; but being unable to laugh and be laugh'd at, I took a Place in the Northern Coach for him and his Family; and hope he is got to Night safe from all Sneerers in his own Parlour.

too bridge atten

4. re

et-

for

ill

ell

ta,

00

es.

ut

ou

n-

ber ver

ld

y,

or

f-

ld

ir

re

et

d n is

n

t.

St. James's Coffee-bouse, July 20.

THIS Morning we received by Express, the agreeable News of the Surrender of the Town of Tournay on the 28th Instant, N. S. The Place was affaulted at the Attacks of General Scuylemberg, and that of General Lottum, at the same Time. The Action at both those Parts of the Town was very obstinate, and the Allies lost a considerable Number at the Beginning of the Dispute; but the Fight was continued with fo great Bravery, that the Enemy observing our Men to be Masters of all the Posts which were necessary for a general Attack, beat the Chamade, and Hostages were received from the Town, and others fent from the Beliegers, in Order to come to a formal Capitulation for the Surrender of the Place. We have also this Day received Advice, That Sir Fobn Leak, who lies off of Dunkirk, had intercepted feveral Ships laden with Corn from the Baltick; and that the Dutch Privateers had fallen in with others, and carried them into Holland. The French Letters advile, That the young Son to the Duke of Anjou lived but eight Days.

dededededede matededededede

Crede Pudicitiam Saturno Rege moratam In Terris.

Nº 45. Saturday July 23. 1709.

Whites's Chocolate-house, July 22.

THE other Day I took a Walka Mile or two out of Town, and Rrolling where-ever Chance led me, I was insensibly carried into a By-Road, along which was a very agreeable Quickset, of an extraordinary Height, which surrounded a O 4 very very delicious Seat and Garden. From one Angle of the Hedge, I heard a Voice cry, Sir, Sir - This raised my Curiosity, and I heard the fame Voice fay, but in a gentle Tone, Come forward, come forward. I did fo, and one through the Hedge called me by my Name, and bad me go on to the Left, and I should be admitted to visit an old Acquaintance in Diffres. The Laws of Knight-Errantry made me obey the Summons without Hesitation; and I was let in at the Back-Gate of a lovely House by a Maid-Servant, who carried me from Room to Room, till I came into a Gallery; at the End of which, I law a fine Lady dreffed in the most sumptuous Habit, as if she were going to a Ball, but with the most abject and disconsolate Sorrow in her Pace that I ever beheld. As I came near, she burst into Tears, and cry'd. Sir, Do not you know the unhappy Teraminta? I foon recollected her whole Person: But (faid I) Madam, The Simplicity of Drefs, in which I have ever feen you at your good Father's House, and the Chearfulness of Countenance with which you always appeared, are fo unlike the Fashion and Temper you are now in, that I did not easily recover the Memory of you. Your Habit was then decent and modeft, your Looks ferene and beautiful: Whence then this unaccountable Change? Nothing canspeak so deep a Sorrow as your present Aspect; yet your Dress is made for Jolliny and Revelling. It is (faid she) an unspeakable Pleasure to meet with one I know, and to bewail my felf to any that is not an utter Stranger to Humanity.

WHEN your Friend my Father died, he left me to a wide World, with no Defence against the Insults of Fortune; but rather, a thousand Snares to intrap me in the Dangers to which Youth and Innocence are exposed, in an Age wherein Honour and Virtue are become meer Words, and used only as they serve to betray those who understand them in their native Sense,

and it O in ed te cir

1

th

th

an co pe pr for ha on

Se: Fla flil cei nit a

to

fro fler

to

Ey he Luf for the fcie lew fter rec 5.

m-

Sir

he

me

ne

nd

des.

at

er-

till

us

ith

ner

fhe

WO

er

m-

at

of

re

0-

0-ce an

t;

g.

et

ft

ft

id ch

e

er

e,

and obey them as the Guides and Motives of their Being. The wickedest of all Men living. the abandoned Decius, who has no Knowledge of any good Art or Purpose of human Life, but as it tends to the Satisfaction of his Appetites, had Opportunities of frequently feeing and entertaining me at a House where mixed Company boarded, and where he placed himfelf for the base Intention which he has fince brought to pass. Decius faw enough in me to raife his brutal Defires. and my Circumstances gave him Hopes of accomplishing them. But all the glittering Expectations he could lay before me, joined by my private Terrors of Poverty it felf, could not for fome Months prevail upon me; yet however I hated his Intention, I still had a fecret Satisfaction in his Courtship, and always exposed my felf to his Sollicitations. See here the Bane of our Sex! Let the Flattery be never fo apparent, the Flatterer never so ill thought of, his Praises are fill agreeable, and we contribute to our own Deceit. I was therefore ever fond of all Opportunities and Pretences of being in his Company. In a Word, I was at last rained by him, and brought to this Place, where I have been ever fince immur'd; and from the fatal Day after my Fall from Innocence, my Worshipper became my Mafter and my Tyrant.

THUS you see me habited in the most gorgeous Manner, not in Honour of me as a Woman he loves, but as this Attire charms his own Eye, and urges him to repeat the Gratification he takes in me, as the Servant of his brutishLusts and Appetites. I know not where to fly for Redress; but am here pining away Life in the Solitude and Severity of a Nun, but the Conscience and Guilt of an Harlot. I live in this lewd Practice with a religious Awe of my Minister of Darkness, upbraided with the Support Is receive from him, for the inestimable Possession of Youth, of Innocence, of Honour, and of Con-

0: 5

fcience:

science. I see, Sir, my Discourse grows painful to you; all I beg of you is, to paint in so strong Colours, as to let Decius see I am discovered to be in his Possession, that I may be turned out of this detestable Scene of regular Iniquity, and either think no more, or sin no more. If your Writings have the good Effect of gaining my Enlargement, I promise you I will attone for this unhappy Step, by preferring an innocent laborious Poverty, to all the guilty Affluence the World can offer me.

Will's Coffee-house, July 21.

TO shew that I do not bear an irreconcilable Hatred to my mortal Enemy, M. Powel at Bash, I do his Function the Honour to publish to the World, that Plays represented by Puppets are permitted in our Universities, and that Sort of Drama is not wholly thought unworthy the Critick of learned Heads; But as I have been conversant rather with the greater Ode, as I think the Criticks call it, I must be so humble as to make a Request to Mr. Powell, and desire him to apply his Thoughts to answering the Difficulties with which my Kinsman, the Author of the following Letter, seems to be embarrassed.

To my Honoured Kinfman, Ifaac Bickerftaff, Efg;

So

th

th th

4

I:

fit

th

$0

Dear Coufin,

II AD the Family of the Beadlestasts, whereof I, though unworthy, am one, known of your being lately at Oxon, we had in our own Name, and in the University's, (as it is our Office) made you a Compliment: But your short Stay here robbed us of an Opportunity of paying our due Respect, and you of receiving an ingenious Entertainment, with which we at present divert our selves and Strangers. A Puppet-Show at this Time supplies the want of an ACT. And since the

ful

ng

to

of

ci-

ri-

ge-

ın-

ous

rld

ble

asb,

the

are

of

Cri-

on-ink

to

to

ties

fol-

iq;

fI,

ing

the

pli-

por-

ning

fent

v at

ince

the

the Nymphs of this City are disappointed of a luscious Musick-Speech, and the Country Ladies of bearing their Sons or Brothers Speak Verses; yet the vocal Machines, like them, by the Help of a Prompter, say Things as much to the Benefit of the Audience, and almost as properly their own. The Licence of a Terræ-Filius is refined to the well-bred Satire of Punchencilo. Now, Cousin Bickerstaff, though Punch basneither a French Nightcap, nor Long Pockets, yet you must own him to be a pretty Fellow, a very pretty Fellow: Nay, fince be seldom leaves the Company, without calling, Son of a Whore, demanding Satisfaction, and Duelling, be must be owned a Smart Fellow too. Yet, by some Indecencies towards the Ladies, be feems to be of a third Character, distinct from any you have yet touch'd upon. A young Gentleman who sate next me (for I had the Curiofity of feeing this Entertainment) in a tufted Gown, red Stockings, and long Wig (which I pronounce to be tantamount to red Heels, and a dangling Cane) was enraged when Punchenello disturbed a fost Love-Scene with his Ribaldry. You would oblige us mightily by laying down some Rules for adjusting the extravagant Behaviour of this Almanzor of the Play, and by auriting a Treatise on this Sort of Dramatick Poetry, so much favoured, and so little understood, by the learned World.

FROM its being conveyed in a Cart after the The-Spian Manner, all the Parts being recited by one Person, as the Custom was before Æschylus, and from the Behaviour of Punch as if he had won the Goal, you may possibly deduce its Antiquity, and fettle the Chronology, as well as some of our modern Criticks. In its natural Transitions from mournful to merry; as, from the banging of a Lover to dancing upon the Rope; from the Stalking of a Ghoft to a Lady's presenting you with a fig, you may discover such a Decorum, as is not to be found effewbere than in our Tragi-Comedies. But' I forget my felf; tis not for me to dictate: I thought fit, dear Coufin, to give you thefe Hints, to sheav you, that the Beachlostaffs don't walk before Men of Letters to no Purpose; and that though we do but hold up the Train

1

Train of Arts and Sciences, yet like other Pages, we are now and then let into our Ladies Secrets. I am Brom Mother Gourdon's at Hedington near Oxon, June 18.

Your most affestionate

Kinsman,

Benjamin Beadlestaffi

From my own Apartment, July 22.

Tam got hither fafe, but never fpent Time with fo little Satisfaction as this Evening; for you must know, I was five Hours with three merry and two bone ft Fellows. The former fang Catches; and the latter even died with laughing at the Noise they made. Well, (fays Tom Bellfrey) You Scholars, Mr. Bickerstaff, are the worst Company. in the World. Ay, (fays his Opposite) You are dull to Night; prithee be merry. With that I huzza'd, and took a Jump cross the Table, then came clever upon my Legs, and fell a Laughing Det Mr. Bickerstaff alone (fays one of the bonest Bellows) when he's in a good Humour, he's as good Company as any Man in England. He had no fooner spoke, but I fnatched his Het off his Head, and clap'd it upon my own, and burst out a laughing again; upon which we all fell a laughing for half an Hour. One of the bone ft Fellows: got behind me in the Interim, and hit me at found Slap on the Back; upon which he got the Laugh out of my Hands, and it was fuch a Twang. on my Shoulders, that I confess he was much merrier than I. I was half angry; but refolved to keep up the good Humour of the Company ;. and after hollowing as loud as I could possibly, I drank off a Bumper of Claret, that made me: stare again: Nay, (fays one of the bonest Fellows). Mr. Isaac is in the right, there is no Conversation in this; What fignifies Jumping, or hitting one: another on the Back? Let's drink about. Wedid fo from feven a Clock till eleven; and now I am come hither, and, after the Manner of the

e

E

7

0 u

y.

e

L

n

P

S

1

9

D

.

$:

2

3:

4.

1×

1

L

3:

):

i

wise Pythagoras, begin to reflect upon the Passages of the Day. I remember nothing but that I ambruised to Death; and as it is my Way to write down all the good Things I have heard in the lass Conversation to furnish my Paper, I can from this only tell you my Sufferings and my Bangs.

I named Pythagoras just now, and I protest to you, as he believed Men after Death entered into other Species, I am now and then tempted tothink other Animals enter into Men, and could name several on two Legs, that never discover any Sentiments above what is common with the Species of a lower Kind; as we see in these bodily Wits whom I was with to Night, whose Parts confift in Strength and Activity; but their boisterous Mirth gives me great Impatience for the Return of fuch Happiness as I enjoyed in a Conversation last Week. Among others in that Company we had Floria, who never interrupted any Man living when he was speaking; or ever ceased to speak, but others lamented that he had done. His Discourse ever arises from the Fulness of the Matter before him, and not from Oftentation or Triumph of his Understanding; for though he feldem delivers what he need fear being repeated, he speaks without having that End in View; and his Forbearance of Calumny or Bitterness is owing rather to his good Nature than his Discretion; for which Reason he is esteemed. a Gentleman perfectly qualified for Conversation, in whom a general Good-will to Mankind takes off the Necessity of Caution and Circumspection.

WE had at the same Time that Evening the best Sort of Companion that can be, a good natur'd old Man. This Person meets in the Company of young Men, Veneration for his Benevolence, and is not only valued for the good Qualities of which he is Master, but reaps an Acceptance from the Pardon he gives to other Mens. Faults: And the ingenuous Sort of Men with whom he converies, have so just a Regard for him, that he rather is an Example, than a Check to their Behaviour. For this Reason, as Senecio never pretends to be a Man of Pleasure before Youth, so young Men never set up for Wisdom before Senecio; fo that you never meet, where he is, those Monsters of Conversation, who are grave or gay above their Years. He never converses but with Followers of Nature and good Sense, where all that is uttered is only the Effect of a communicable Temper, and not of Emulation to excel their Companions; all Defire of Superiority being a Contradiction to that Spirit which makes a just Conversation, the very Essence of which is mutual Good-will. Hence it is, that I take it for a Rule, that the natural, and not the acquired Man, is the Companion. Learning, Wit, Gallantry, and good Breeding, are all but Sabordinate Qualities in Society, and are of no Value, but as they are subservient to Benevolence, and tend to a certain Manner of being or appearing equal to the rest of the Company; for Conversation is composed of an Assembly of Men, as they are Men, and not as they are diffinguished by Fortune: Therefore he who brings his Quality with him into Conversation, should always pay the Reckoning; for he came to receive Homage, and not to meet his Friends .- But the Din about my Ears from the Clamour of the People I was with this Evening, has carried me beyond my intended Purpofe, which was to explain upon the Order of Merry Fellows; but I think I may pronounce of them, as I heard good Senecio, with a Spice of the Wit of the last Age, fay, viz. That a merry Fellow is the saddest Fellow in the World.

whom

k

io e

n

e

23

e,

f

I

e

0

-

させいもというしょうしょうしょうしょうしょうしょうしょうしょうしょう

Non bene conveniunt, nec in una Sede morantur, Majestas & Amor.

No. 46. Tuefday, July 26. 1709.

White's Chocolate-boufe, July 25.

TE fee every Day Volumes written against that Tyrant of humane Life called Love, and yet there is no Help found against his Cruelties, or Barrier against the Inroads he is pleased to make into the Mind of Man. After this Preface, you will expect I am going to give particular Instances of what I have afferted. That Expectation cannot be raifed too high for the Novelty of the History, and Manner of Life, of the Emperor Aurengezebe, who has refided for some Years in the Cities of London and Westminster, with the Air and Mien indeed of his Imperial Quality, but the Equipage and Appointment only of a private Gentleman. This Potentate, for a long Series of Time, appeared from the Hour of twelve till that of two at a Coffee-house near the Change, and had a Seat (tho' without a Canopy) facred to himself, where he gave diurnal Audiences concerning Commerce, Politicks, Tare and Tret. Usury and Abatement, with all Things necessary for helping the Diffressed, who are willing to give one Limb for the better Maintenance of the reft; or fuch joyous Youths, whose Philosophy is confined to the present Hour, and were desirous to call in the Revenue of the next half Year to double the Enjoyment of this. Long did this growing Momarch employ himself after this Manner: And as Alliances are necessary to all great Kingdoms, he took particularly the Interests of Lewis the Fourteenth into his Care and Protection. When

k

I

E

t

C

C

la

H

gi

pa

m

th

fe

an

m

ha

to

E

fef

ce

Sei

on

Di

Pa

of

all Mankind were attacking that unhappy Monarch, and those who had neither Valour or Wit to oppose against him, would be still shewing their impotent Malice by laying Wagers in Opposition to his Interests. Aurengezebe ever took the Part of his Contemporary, and laid immense Treasures on his Side in Defence of his important Magazine of Toulon. Aurengezebe also had all this while a constant Intelligence with India; and his Letters were answered in Jewels, which he foon made Brillant, and caused to be affixed to his Imperial Castor, which he always wears cock'd in Front, to show his Defiance; with an Heap of Imperial Snuff in the Middle of his ample Visage, to shew his Sagacity. The Zealots, for this little Spot called Great Britain, fell univerfally into this Emperor's Policies, and paid Homage to his superior Genius, in forfeiting their Coffers to his Treasury.

BUT Wealth and Wisdom are Possessions too folemn not to give Weariness to active Minds. without the Relief (in vacant Hours) of Wit and Love, which are the proper Amusements of the Powerful and the Wife: This Emperor therefore, with great Regularity, every Day at the five in the Afternoon, leaves his Money-Changers, his Publicans, and little Hoarders of Wealth, to their low Pursuits, and ascends his Chariot to drive to Will's; where the Tafte is refined, and a Relish given to Mens Possessions, by a polite Skill in gratifying their Passions and Appetites. Thereit is that the Emperor has learned to live and to love, and not, like a Miser, to gaze only on his Ingots or his Treasures; but with a nobler Satisfaction, to live the Admiration of others, for his Splendor and Happiness in being Master of them. But a Prince is no more to be his own Caterer in his Love, than in his Food; therefore Aurengezebe has ever in Waiting two Purveyors for his Dishes, and his Wenches for his retired Hours, by whom the Scene of his Diversion is prepared in the following Man-

THERE is near Covent-Garden, a Street known by the Name of Drury, which, before the Days of Christianity, was purchased by the Queen of Paphos, and is the only Part of Great Britain where the Tenure of Vassalage is still in Being. All that long Course of Building is under particular Diffricts or Ladiships, after the Manner of Lordships in other Parts, over which Matrons of known Abilities prefide, and have, for the Support of their Age and Infirmities, certain Taxes paid out of the Rewards of the amorous Labours of the Young. This Seraglio of Great Britain is disposed into convenient Allies and Apartments, and every House, from the Cellar to the Garret, inhabited by Nymps of different Orders, that Persons of every Rank may be accommodated with an immediate Confert, to allay their Flames, and partake of their Cares. Here it is, that when Aurengezebe thinks fit to give a Loofe to Dalliance, the Purveyors prepare the Entertainment; and what makes it more august is, that every Person concerned in the Interlude has his fet Part, and the Prince fends before-hand Word what he deligns to fay, and directs also the very Answer which shall be made to him.

IT has been before hinted, that this Emperor has a continual Commerce with India; and it is to be noted, that the largest Stone that rich Earth has produced, is in our Aurengezebe's Posfession.

t

0

I

d

e.

O.

S

1

BUT all Things are now disposed for his Reception. At his Entrance into the Seraglio, a Servant delivers him his Bever of State and Love, on which is fixed this inestimable Jewel as his Diadem. When he is seated, the Purveyors, Pandarus and Nuncio, marching on each Side of the Matron of the House, introduce her into

his

I

ſ

C

m

78 ra

to

p:

th

tu

w fu

he

YO

dr

to

m

me

Ob

rio

E

rit

Ag

ret

bu

aft

aft

En

per

Th

306 his Presence. In the midst of the Room, they bow all together to the Diadem.

WHEN the Matron-

WHOEVER thou art, (as thy awful Aspects speaks thee a Man of Power) be propitious to this Mansion of Love, and let not the Severity of thy Wisdom discain, that by the Representation of naked Innocence, or passoral Figures, we revive in thee the Memory at least of that Power of Venus, to which all the Wise and the Brave are some Part of their Lives devoted. Aurengezehe consents by a Nod, and they go out backward.

AFTER this, an unhappy Nymph, who is to be supposed just escaped from the Hands of a Ravisher, with her Tresses dishevel'd, runs into the Room with a Dagger in her Hand, and falls before the Emperor.

PITTY! Ob, pity, whoever thou art, an unhappy Virgin, whom one of thy Train has robbed of her Innocence, which was all her Portion—Or rather, let me die like the memorable Lucretia—Upon which she stabs herself. The Body is immediately examined after the Manner of our Coroners. Lucretia recovers by a Cup of right Nants; and the Matron, who is her next Relation, stops all Process at Law.

THIS unhappy Affair is no sooner over, but a naked Mad-woman breaks into the Room, calls for her Duke, her Lord, her Emperor. As foon as the spies Aurengezebe, the Object of all her Fury and Love, the calls for Petticoats, is ready to fink with Shame, and is dreffed in all hafte in new Attire at his Charge. This unexpected Accident of the Mad-woman, makes Aurengezebe curious to know, whether others who are in their Senses can guess at his Quality. For which Reafon the whole Convent is examined one by one. The Matron marches in with a tawdry Country-Girl-Pray Winifred (fays fhe) Who do you think that fine Man with those Jewels and Pearls is? I believe (fays Winifred) it is our Landlordey

a,

171-

om

ice,

at rife

ed.

ut

is

fa

ito

115

P

710-

me

ch

ex-

#-

he ro-

ta

lls

on ·u-

to

in

JC-

cu-

cir

ea-

ne.

ry-

ou

rls

nd-

lord -- It must be the 'Squire himself -- The Emperor laughs at her Simplicity --- Go Fool, fays the Matron: Then turning to the Emperor-Your Greatness will pardon her Ignorance! After her, several others of different Characters are instructed to mistake who he is in the same Manner: Then the whole Sisterhood are called together, and the Emperor rifes, and. cocking his Hat, declares, He is the Great Mogul, and they are his Concubines. A general Murmur goes through the whole Affembly, and Aurengezebe certifying that he keeps them for State rather than Use, tells them, they are permitted to receive all Men into their Apartments; then proceeds through the Crowd, among whom he throws Medals shaped like Half-Crowns, and returns to his Chariot.

THIS being all that passed the last Day in which Aurengezebe vifited the Womens Apartments, I consulted Pacolet concerning the Foundation of fuch strange Amusements in Old Age: To which he answered; You may remember, when I gave you an Account of my good Fortune in being drowned on the 30th Day of my humane Life, I told you of the Difasters I should otherwise have met with before I arrived at the End of my Stamen, which was fixty Years. I may now add an Observation to you, That all who exceed that Period, except the latter Part of it is spent in the Exercise of Virtue and Contemplation of Futurity, must necessarily fall into an undecent Old Age, because, with regard to all the Enjoyments of the Years of Vigour and Manhood, Childhood returns upon them: And as Infants ride on Sticks, build Houses in Dirt, and make Ships in Gutters, after a faint Idea of Things they are to act hereafter; fo old Men play the Lovers, Potentates and Emperors, for the decaying Image of the more perfect Performances of their stronger Years: Therefore be fure to insert Asculapius and Auren-

Nº 46.

N

To

Hi

Ad

An

Bu

An

gezehe in your next Bill of Mortality of the Metaphorically Defunct.

Will's Coffee bouse, July 24.

AS foon as I came hither this Evening, no less than ten People produced the following Poem. which they all reported was fent to each of them by the Penny-Post from an unknown Hand. All the Battle-Writers in the Room were in Debate, who could be the Author of a Piece fo martially written; and every Body applauded the Address and Skill of the Author, in calling it a Poffcript: It being the Nature of a Postscript to contain something very material which was forgotten, or not clearly expressed in the Letter it self. Thus the Verses being occasioned by a March without Beat of Drum, and that Circumstances being noways taken Notice of in the Stanza's, the Author calls it a Postscript; not that it is a Postscript, but figuratively, because it wants a Postscript. Common Writers, when what they mean is not expressed in the Book it self, supply it by a Preface; but a Postscript seems to me the more just Way of Apology; because otherwise a Man makes an Excuse before the Offence is committed. All. the Heroick Poets where gheffed at for its Author; but though we could not find out his Name, yet. one repeated a Couplet in Hudibras, which spoke his Qualifications.

I'th' Midst of all this warlike Rabble, Crowdero march'd, expert and able.

THE Poem is admirably fuited to the Occafion: For to write without discovering your Meaning, bears a just Resemblance to Marching without Beat of Drum. 8-10

n

m

11

c,

ly

1:

in

or

us

ut

oor

ut

n-

K -

e;.

y ll.

r ;

et.

CO

n-

g

On the March to Tournay without Beat of Drum.

The Bruffels POSTSCRIPT.

Could I with plainest Words express That great Man's wonderful Address, His Penetration, and his tow ring Thoughts;
It would the gazing World surprise,
To see one Man at all Times wise,
To view the Wonders he with Ease has wrought.

Refining Schemes approach his Mind, Like Breezes of a Southern Wind, To temperate a fultry glorious Day;
Whose Fannings, with an useful Pride, Its mighty Heat doth softly guide,
And having clear'd the Air, glide silently away.

Thus his Immensity of Thought, Is deeply form d, and gently wrought,
His Temper always softning Life's Disease; That Fortune, when she does intend To rudely frown, she turns his Friend, Admires his Judgment, and applauds his Ease.

His great Address in this Design, Does now, and will for ever shine,
And wants a Waller but to do him Right:
The whole Amusement was so strong,
Like Fate he doom'd them to be wrong,
And Tournay's took by a peculiar Slight.

Thus, Madam, all Mankind behold Your vast Ascendant, not by Gold, But by your Wisdom and your pious Life;
Your Aim no more, than to destroy That which does Europe's Ease annoy, And supersede a Reign of Shame and Strife.

St. Fames's Coffee-bouse, July 24.

MY Brethren of the Quill, the ingenious Sociery of News-Writers, having with great Spirit and Elegancy already informed the World, that the Town of Tournay capitulated on the 28th Infant, there is nothing left for me to fay, but to congratulate the good Company here, that we have Reason to hope for an Opportunity of thanking Mr. Withers next Winter in this Place, for the Service he has done his Country. No Man deserves better of his Friends than that Gentleman, whose diffinguishing Character it is, that he gives his Orders with the Familiarity, and enjoys his Fortune with the Generosity of a Fellow-Soldier. His Grace the Duke of Argyle had also an eminent Part in the Reduction of this important Place. That Illustrious Youth discovers the peculiar Turn of Spirit and Greatness of Soul, which only make Men of high Birth and Quality useful to their Country; and confiders Nobility as an imaginary Distinction, unless accompanied with the Practice of those generous Virtues by which it ought to be obtained. But that our Military Glory is arrived at its present Height, and that Men of all Ranks so passionately affect their Share in it, is certainly owing to the Merit and Conduct of our glorious General: For as the great Secret in Chymistry, the' not in Nature, has occasioned many useful Discoveries; and the fantaflick Notion of being wholly difinterested in Friendship, has made Men do a thousand generous Actions above themselves; so, though the present Grandeur and Fame of the Duke of Mariborough is a Station of Glory to which no one hopes to arrive, yet all carry their Actions to an higher Pitch, by having that great Example laid before them.

tl

C

te

W

V

G

Quicquid agunt Homines noftri Farrago Libelli.

Nº 47. Thursday, July 28. 1709.

White's Chocolate-bouse, July 27.

Y Friend Sir Thomas has communicated to me his Letters from Epfom of the 25th Infant, which give, in general, a very good Account of the present Posture of Affairs in that Place; but that the Tranquillity and Correspondence of the Company begins to be interrupted by the Arrival of Sir Taffety Trippet, a Fortune-hunter, whose Follies are too gross to give Divertion; and whose Vanity is too stupid to let him be sensible that he is a publick Offence. If People will indulge a splenetick Humour, it is imposfible to be at Ease, when such Creatures as are the Scandal of our Species, fet up for Gallantry and Adventures. It will be much more easy therefore to laugh Sir Taffety into Reason, than convert him from his Foppery by any ferious Contempt. I knew a Gentleman that made it a Maxim to open his Doors, and ever run into the Way of Bullies, to avoid their Infolence. The Rule will hold as well with Coxcombs: They are never mortified, but when they fee you receive and despise them; otherwise they reft affured, that it is your Ignorance makes them out of your good Graces; or, that 'tis only Want of Admittance prevents their being amiable where they are fhunn'd and avoided. But Sir Taffety is a Fop of fo fanguine a Complexion, that I fear it will be very hard for the Fair One he at prefent purfuca to get rid of the Chace, without being so tired.

R5

rit at 6.

to we k-

he len,

es nis er.

nt ech

ul th ch

at ir nd

cain e-

he rles er

re id

OI

di

th

G

an

W

gij

ty

tic

U

as for her own Ease to fall into the Mouth of the Mongrel she runs from. But the History of Sir Taffety is as pleasant as his Character.

IT happened, that when he first fet up for a Fortune-hunter, he chose Tunbridge for the Scene of Action; where were at that Time two Sifters upon the same Design. The Knight believed of Course the elder must be the better Prize; and confequently makes all his Sail that Way. People that want Sense, do always in an egregious Manner want Modesty, which made our Hero triumph in making his Amour as publick as was possible. The adored Lady was no less vain of his publick Addresses. An Attorney with one Cause is not half so refless as a Woman with one Lover. Where-ever they met, they talked to each other aloud, chose each other Partner at Balls, faluted at the most conspicuous Parts of the Service at Church, and practifed, in Honour of each other, all the remarkable Particularities which are usual for Persons who admire one another, and are contemptible to the rest of the World. These two Lovers seemed as much made for each other as Adam and Eve, and all pronounced it a Match of Nature's own making; but the Night before the Nuptials, (fo universally approved) the younger Sifter, envious of the good Fortune even of her Sifter, who had been prefent, at most of their Interviews, and had an equal Taste for the Charms of a Fop; (as there are a Set of Women made for that Order of Men) the younger, I fay, anable to fee fuch a Prize pass by her, difcovered to Sir Taffety, that a Coquet Air, much Tongue, and three Suits, was all the Portion of his Mittress. Him Love vanished that Moment, himself and Equipage the next Morning. It is ancertain where the Lover has been ever fince engaged; but certain it is, he has not appeared in his Character as a Follower of Love and Forfunctill he arrived at B fom, where there is at preferr a young Lady of Youth, Beauty and For0

t

e

f

3

C

d

e:

)-

d

E,

e

F.

h

of

is

e:

d

re

at

e,

tune, who has alarmed all the Vain and Impertinent to infest that Quarter. At the Head of this Affembly, Sin Taffety thines in the brighteft Manner, with all the Accomplishments which usually enfnare the Heart of Woman; with this particular Merit, (which often is of great Service) that he is laughed at for her Sake. The Friends of the Fair One are in much Pain for the Sufferings the goes through from the Perseverance of this Hero; but they may be much more fo from the Danger of his succeeding, toward which they give an helping Hand, if they diffuade her with Bitterness; for there is a fantastical Generosity in the Sex to approve Creatures of the least Merit imaginable, when they fee the Imperfections of their Admirers are become Marks of Derilion for their Sakes; and there is nothing fo frequent, as that he who was contemptible to a Woman in her own Judgment, has won her by being too violently opposed by others.

Grecian Coffee bouse, July 27.

IN the feveral Capacities I bear, of Aftrologer, Civilian and Physician, I have with great Application fludied the publick Emolument: To this End ferve all my Lucubrations, Speculations, and whatever other Labours I take, whether nocturnal or diurnal. On this Motive am I induced to publish a never-failing Med cine for the Spleen: My Experience in this Diffemper came from a very remarkable Cure on my ever worthy Friend Tom Spindle, who through excessive Gaiety, had exhausted that natural Stock of Wit and Spirits he had long been bleffed with: He was funk and flattened to the lowest Degree imaginable, fitting whole Hours over the Book of Martyrs, and Pilgrim's Progress; his other Contemplations never riling higher than the Colour of his Urine, or the Regularity of his Pulle. In this Condition I found him, accompanied by the learned Dr. Drachm, and a good old Nurse. Drachm had prescribed Magazines of Herbs, and Mines of Steel. I foon discovered the Malady, and defeanted on the Nature of it, till I convinced both the Patient and his Nurse, that the Spleen is not to be cured by Medicine, but by Poetry. Apollo, the Author of Phylick, shone with diffusive Rays, the best of Poets as well as of Physicians; and it is in this double Capadiry that I have made my Way; and have found fweet, easy, flowing Numbers, are oft superior to our noblest Medicines. When the Spirits are low, and Nature funk, the Muse with sprightly and harmonious Notes, gives an unexpected Turn with a Grain of Poetry: which I prepare without the Use of Mercury. I have done Wonders in this Kind; for the Spleen is like the Tarantala, the Effects of whose malignant Poison are to be prevented by no other Remedy but the Charms of Mulick: For you are to understand, that as fome noxious Animals carry Antidotes for their own Poisons; so there is something equally unaccountable in Poetry; For though it is sometimes a Difeafe, it is to be cured only by it felf. Now I knowing Tom Spindle's Constitution, and that he is not only a pretty Gentleman, but also a pretty Poet, found the true Cause of his Distemper was a violent Grief, that moved his Affections too throngly! For during the late Treaty of Peace, he had writ a most excellent Poem on that Subject; and when he wanted but two Lines in the last Stanza for finishing the whole Picce, there comes News that the Brench Tyrant would not figur. Spindle in a few Days took his Bed, and had "lain there fill, had not I been fent for.

I immediately told him, there was great Probability the French would now fue to us for Peace. I faw immediately a pew Life in his Eyes; and knew that nothing could help him forward to well as hearing Verles which he would believe worle than his own I read hill therefore the Bru Jels ſe.

nd y,

n-

he

by

ne

ell

na-

nd

to

re

tly

rn

out

in

la,

be

ms

as

eir

ın-

ne-

elf.

nd

1fo

Di-

Af

aty

On

nes

cc, ild

ed,

or.

ba-

cc. tnd

fo VE

the

Tels

Bruffels Postscript. After which I recited some Heroick Lines of my own, which operated so strongly on the Tympanum of his Ear, that I doubt not but I kept out all other Sounds, for a Fortnight; and have Reason to hope, we shall see him abroad the Day before his Poem.

THIS (you see) is a particular Secret I have found out, viz That you are not to chuse your Physician for his Knowledge in your Distemper, but for having it himself. Therefore I am ac Hand for all Maladies arising from Poetical Vapours, beyond which I never pretend. For being called the other Day to one in Love, I took indeed their three Guineas, and gave them my Advice, which was to fend for Afculapius. Afculaplus, as foon as he faw the Patient, cries out. 'Tis Love! 'Tis Love! Oh! the unequal Pulse! These are the Symptoms a Lover feels; such Sighs, fuch Pangs, attend the uneasy Mind; nor can our Art, or all out boafted Skill, avail-Yet, O Fair! for thee - Thus the Sage ran on. and owned the Passion which he pitied, as well as that he felt a greater Pain than ever he cured: After which he concluded, All I can advise, is Marriage: Charms and Beauty will give new Life and Vigour, and turn the Course of Nature to its better Prospect. This is the new Way; and thus Afalapius has left his beloved Powders, and writes a Recipe for a Wife at fixty. In fhort, my Friend followed the Prescription, and married Youth and Beauty in its perfect Bloom.

Supine in Silvia's fnowy Arms be hes, And all the bufy Care of Life defies: Each bappy Hour is fill'd with fresh Delight, While Peace the Day, and pleasure crowns the Night.

From my own Apartment, July 27.

TRAGICAL Paffion was the Subject of the Discourse where I last visited this Evening; and a Gentleman who knows that I am at present Writing a very deep Tragedy, directed his Difcourse in a rarticular Manner to me. It is the common Fault (faid he) of you, Gentlemen, who write in the Buskin Style, that you give us rather the Sentiments of such who behold Tragical Events, than of such who bear a Part in 'em themfelves. I would advise all who pretend this Way, to read Shakespear with Care, and they will soon be deterred from putting forth what is usually called Tragedy. The Way of common Writers in this Kind, is rather the Description than the Expression of Sorrow. There is no Medium in these Attempts; and you must go to the very Bottom of the Heart, or it is all meer Language; and the Writer of fuch Lines is no more a Poet, that a Man is a Phylician for knowing the Names of Diffempers, without the Caufes of them. Men of Sense are professed Enemies to all such empty Labours: For he who pretends to be forrowful, and is not, is a Wretch yet more contemptible than he who pretends to be merry, and is not. Such a Tragedian is only maudin drunk. The Gentleman went on with much Warmth; but all he could fay had little Effect upon me: But when I came hither, I fo far observed his Counsel, that ·I looked into Shakespear. The Tragedy I dipped into, was Henry the Fourth. In the Scene where Morton is preparing to tell Northumberland of his Son's Death, the old Man does not give him Time to speak, but says,

The Whiteness of thy Cheeks Is apter than thy Tongue to tell thy Errand; Even such a Man, so faint, so spiritless, So dull, so dead in Look, so Woo be gone, Drew Priam's Curtain at the Dead of Night,
And would have told him half his Troy was burnt;
But Priam found the Fire, ere be his Tongue,
And I my Piercy's Death ere thou report st.

le

ta

di

be

do

he

ce

kil Wi

ve

or

La

ıt

C-

0

1-7,

n

y

rs

e-

(e

m

d ıt of

n

n

h

n-

C

I

at

d

re

is

ie

THE Image in this Place is wonderfully noble and great; yet this Man in all this is but rifing towards his great Affliction, and is still enough himself, as you see, to make a Simile? But when he is certain of his Son's Death, he is loft to all Patience, and gives up all the Regards of this Life; and fince the last of Evils is fallen upon him, he calls for it upon all the World.

Now let not Nature's Hand Keep the wild Flood confin'd; let Order die, And let the World no longer be a Stage, To feed Contention in a lingring Act; But let one Spirit of the first born Cain Reign in all Bosoms, that each Heart being fet On bloody Courses, the wide Scene may end, And Darkness be the Burier of the Dead.

READING but this one Scene has convinced me, that he who describes the Concern of great Men, must have a Soul as noble, and as sufceptible of high Thoughts, as they whom he represents: I shall therefore lay by my Drama for fome Time, and turn my Thoughts to Cares and Griefs, somewhat below that of Herocs, but no less moving. A Misfortune proper for me to take Notice of, has too lately happened: The disconsolate Maria has three Days kept her Chamber for the Loss of the beauteous Fidelia, her Lapdog. Lesbia herself did not shed more Tears for her Sparrow. What makes her the more concerned, is, that we know not whether Fidelia was kill'd or stolen; but she was seen in the Parlour-Window when the Train-Bands went by, and never fince. Whoever gives Notice of her, dead or alive, shall be rewarded with a Kiss of her-Lady. Det od had atmob mount spraye your sursection and a strong year to find the first of the strong of the Bill to obtain mot a more sound wait to addedededede@abdededededede

P 3

Lucum Ligna ------

Hor.

Nº 48.

Saturday, July 30. 1709.

From my own Apartment, July 29,

HIS Day I obliged Pacolet to entertain me with Matters which regarded Persons of his own Character and Occupation. We chose to take our Walk on Tower-hill; and as we were coming from thence in order to firell as far as Garraguay's, I observed two Men, who had but just landed, coming from the Water-side. I thought there was fomething uncommon in their Mien and Aspect; but though they seemed by wheir Vifage to be related, yet was there a Warmth in their Manner, as if they differed very much in their Sentiments of the Subject on which they were talking. One of them feem'd to have a natural Confidence, mixed with an ingenuous Freedom in his Gesture, his Dress very plain, but very graceful and becoming: The other in the midst of an over-bearing Carriage, betrayed (by frequent looking round him) a Suspicion that he was not enough regarded by those he mer, or that he feared they would make fome Attack upon him. This Person was much taller than his Companion, and added to that Height the Advantage of a Feather in his Hat, and Heels to his Shoes fo monftroufly high, that he had three or four times fallen down, had he not been supported by his Friend. They made a full Stop as they came within a few Yards of the Place where we stood. The plain Gentleman bowed to Pacelet; the other looked upon him with fome Di spleane

iis

to

re

as

ut

I

ir

y

a

eac

d

n-

y

0-

e,

1-

(e

e

r

nt

ls

d

n

p

e

0

C

Displeasure: Upon which I asked him, Who they both were? When he thus informed me of their Persons and Circumstances.

YOU may remember, Ifaac, that I have often told you, there are Beings of a superior Rank to Mankind, who frequently wifit the Habitations of Men, in order to call them from some wrong Pursuits in which they are actually engaged, or divert them from Methods which will lead them into Errors for the future. He that will carefully reflect upon the Occurrences of his Life, will find he has been sometimes extricated out of Difficulties, and received Favours where he could never have expected such Benefits; as well as met with erois avents from some unicen Hand, which have disappointed his best-laid Designs. Such Accidents arrive from the Interventions of Aerial Beings, as they are benevolent or hurtful to the Nature of Man, and attend his Steps in the Tracks of Ambition, of Business, and of Pleasure. Before I ever appeared to you in the Manner I do now, I have frequently followed you in your Evening-Walks, and have often, by throwing some Accident in your Way, as the passing by of a Funeral, or the Appearance of fome other folemn Object, given your Imagination a new Turn, and changed a Night you have defined to Mirth and Jollity, into an Exercise of Study and Contemplation. I was the old Soldier who met you last Summer in Chelfea Fields, and pretended that I had broken my Wooden-Leg, and could not get Home; but I fnap'd it short off on purpose that you might fall into the Reflections you did on that Subject, and take me into your Hack. If you remember, you made yourfelf very merry on that Fracture, and asked me, Whether I thought I should next Winter feel Cold in the Toes of that Leg? As is usually obferved, that those who lose Limbs are sensible of Pains in the extreme Parts, even after those Limbs are cut off. However, my keeping you P 4 then in the Story of the Battle of the Boin, prevented an Affignation, which would have led you into more Disasters than I then related.

TO be short: Those two Persons you see yonder are fuch as I am; they are not real Men, but are mere Shades and Figures: One is named Alethes, the other Verifimilis. There Office is to be the Guardians and Representatives of Conscience and Honour. They are now going to vifit the feveral Parts of the Town, to fee how their Interests in the World decay or flourish, and to purge themselves from the many false Imputations they daily meet with in the Commerce and Conversation of Men. You observed Verisimilis frowned when he first saw me. What he is provoked at, is, that I told him one Day, though he strutted and dreffed with fo much Oftentation, if he kept himself within his own Bounds, he was but a Lacquey, and wore only that Gentleman's Livery whom he is now with. This frets him to the Heart; for you must know he has pretended a long Time to fet up for himfelf, and gets among a Crowd of the more unthinking Part of Mankind, who take him for a Person of the first Quality; though his Introduction into the World was wholly owing to his present Companion.

THIS Encounter was very agreeable to me, and I was resolved to dog them, and defired Pacolet to accompany me. I foon perceived what he told me in the Gesture of the Persons: For when they look'd at each other in Discourse, the welldres'd Man suddenly cast down his Eyes, and discovered that the other had a painful Superiority over him. After some further Discourse, they took Leave. The plain Gentleman went down towards Thames-fireet, in order to be present, at least, at the Oaths taken at the Custom boufe; and the other made directly for the Heart of the City. It is incredible how great a Change there immediately appeared in the Man of Honour when he got rid of his uneasy Companion: He adjusted justed the Cock of his Hat a-new, settled his Sword-Knot, and had an Appearance that attracted a sudden Inclination for him and his Interests in all who beheld him. For my Part (faid I to Pacolet) I cannot but think you are mistaken in . calling this Person, of the lower Quality; for he looks much more like a Gentleman than the other. Don't you observe all Eyes are upon him as he advances: How each Sex gazes at his Stature, Aspect, Address and Motion? Pacolet only imiled, and shaked his Head; as leaving me to be convinced by my own further Observation. We kept on our Way after him till we came to Exchange-Alley, where the plain Gentleman again came up to the other, and they flood together. after the Manner of eminent Merchants, as if ready to receive Application; but I could obferve no Man talk to either of them. The one was laughed at as a Fop; and I heard many Whispers against the other, as a whimsical Sort of Fellow, and a great Enemy to Trade. They croffed Combill together, and came into the full Change, where some bowed, and gave themselves. Airs in being known to so fine a Man as Verisimilis, who, they faid, had great Interest in all Princes Courts; and the other was taken Notice of by feveral as one they had feen somewhere long before. One more particularly faid, He had formerly been a Man of Confideration in the World; but was fo unlucky, that they who dealt with him, by some strange Infatuation or other, had a Way of cutting off their own Bills, and were prodigiously flow in improving their Stock. But as much as I was curious to observe the Reception these Gentlemen met with upon Change, I could not help being interrupted by one that came up towards us, to whom every Body made their Compliments. He was of the common Height. and in his Drefs there feemed great Care to appear no Way particular, except in a certain exact and feat Manner of Behaviour and Circumfpection. He was wonderfully careful that his Shoes and Cloaths should be without the least Speck upon them; and feemed to think, that on fuch an Accident depended his very Life and Fortune. There was hardly a Man on Change who had not a Note upon him; and each scemed very well satisfied that their Money lay in his Hands, without demanding Payment. I asked Pacolet, What great Merchant that was, who was fo univerfally addressed to, yet made too familiar an Appearance to command that extraordinary Deference? Pacolet answered, This Person is the Damon or Genius of Credit; his Name is Umbra. If you observe, he follows Alethes and Verisimilis at a Di-Hance; and indeed has no Foundation for the Figure he makes in the World, but that he is thought to keep their Cash; though at the same Time, none who trutt him, would truft the others for a Groat. As the Company rolled about, the three Spectres were jumbled into one Place: When they were fo, and all thought there was an Alliance between them, they immediately drew upon them the Bufinels of the whole Change. But their Affairs foon encreased to such an unwieldy Bulk, that Alethes took his Leave, and faid, He would not engage further than he had an immediate Fund to answer Verisimilis pretended, that though he had Revenues large enough to go on his own Bottom, yet it was below one of his Family to condefcend to trade in his own Name : therefore he also retired. I was extremely troubled, to fee the glorious Marr of London left with no other Guardian but Him of Credit. But Pacolet told me, That Traders had nothing to do with the H nour and Confience of their Correspondents, provided they supported a general Behaviour in the World, which could not hurt their Credit or their Purfes: For (faid he) you may in this one Tract of Building of London and Westminster fee the imaginary Morives on which the greatest Affairs move, as well as in the rambling over the Face

Face of the Earth. For though Alether is the real Governor, as well as Legislator of Mankind, he has very little Bufiness but to make up Quarrels, and is only a general Referree, to whom every Man pretends to appeal; but is fatisfied with his Determinations no farther than they promote his own Interest. Hence it is, that the Soldier and the Courtier model their Actions according to Verisimilis's Manner, and the Merchant according to that of Umbra. Among these Men, Honour and Credit are not valuable Possessions in themselves, or pursued out of a Principle of Justice; but meerly as they are serviceable to Ambition and to Commerce. But the World will never be in any Manner of Order or Tranquillity, till Men are firmly convinced, that Conscience, Honour and Credit, are all in one Interest; and that without the Concurrence of the former, the fatter are but Impositions upon our selves and others. The Force these delusive Words have, is not scen in the Transactions of the busy World only, but also have their Tyranny over the Fair Sex. Were you to ask the unhappy Lais, what Pangs of Reflection, preferring the Confideration of her Honour to her Conscience, has given her? She could tell you, that it has forced her to drink up half a Gallon this Winter of Tom Daflapas's Potions; That the still pines away for fear' of being a Mother; and knows not, but the Moment the is fuch, the shall be a Murderes: But if Conscience had as strong a Force upon the Mind as Honour, the first Step to her unhappy Condition had never been made; she had still been innocent; as she is beautiful. Were Men so enlighten'd and studious of their own Good, as to act by the Dictates of their Reason and Reflection, and not the Opinion of others, Conscience would be the steady Ruler of humane Life; and the Words, Truth, Law, Reason, Equity and Religion, would be but fynonymous Terms for that only 324 The TATLER. Nº 48.

only Guide which makes us pass our Days in our own Fayour and Approbation.

abababababab da abababababab of the view and or

Quicquid agunt Homines nostri Farrago Libelli.

Nº 49. Tuesday, August 2. 1709.

White's Chocolate boufe, August 1.

HE Impolition of honelt Names and Words upon improper Subjects, has made so regular a Confusion among us, that we are apt to sit down with our Errors, well enough fatisfied with the Methods we are fallen into, without attempting to deliver our selves from the Tyranny under which we are reduced by such Innovations. Of all the laudable Motives of humane Life, none has fuffered fo much in this Kind, as Love; under which rever'd Name a brutal Defire call'd Luft is frequently concealed and admitted ; though they differ as much as a Matron from a Proftitute, or a Companion from a Buffoon. Philander, the other Day was bewailing this Misfortune with much Indignation, and upbraided me for having some Time fince quoted those excellent Lines of the Satirift:

To an exall Perfection they have brought.
The Action Love, the Passion is forgot.

HOW could you (faid he) leave such a Hint fo coldly? How could Applia and Semphronia enter into your Imagination at the same Time, and you never declare to us the different Reception you gave them?

THE Figures which the ancient Mythologists and Poets put upon Love and Lust in their Writings, are very instructive. Love is a beauteous blind Child, adorn'd with a Quiver and a Bow, which he plays with, and shoots around him, without Defign or Direction; to intimate to us, that the Person beloved has no Intention to give us the Anxieties we meet with, but that the Beauties of a worthy Object are like the Charms, of a lovely Infant: They cannot but attract your Concern and Fondness, though the Child to regarded is as infentible of the Value you put upon it, as it is that it deserves your Benevolence. On the other Side, the Sages figured Luft in the Form of a Satire; of Shape, Part humane, Part bestial; to fignify that the Followers of it proftitute the Reason of a Man to pursue the Appetites of a Beaft. This Satire is made to haunt the Paths and Coverts of the Wood-Nymphs and Shepherdeffes, to lurk on the Banks of Rivulets, and warch the purling Streams, (as the Reforts of retired Virgins) to flew, that lawless Defire tends chiefly to prey upon Innocence, and has something so unnatural in it, that it hates its own Make, and shuns the Object it loved, as soon as it has made it like it felf. Love therefore is a Child that complains and bewails its Inability to help it felf, and weeps for Affistance, without an immediate Reflection or Knowledge of the Food it wants: Luft, a watchful Thief which seizes its Prey, and lays Snares for its own Relief; and its principal Object being Innocence, it never robs, but it murders at the same Time.

FROM this Idea of a Cupid and a Satire, we may fettle our Notions of these different Defires; and accordingly rank their Followers. Afpafia must therefore be allow'd to be the first of the beauteous Order of Love, whose unaffected Freedom, and conscious Innocence, give her the Attendance of the Graces in all her Actions. That awful Distance which we bear towards her in all our Thoughts of her, and that chearful Familiarity with which we approach her, are certain Instances of her being the truest Object of Love of any of her Sex. In this accomplish'd Lady, Love is the constant Effect, because it is never the Defign. Yet, though her Mien carries much more Invitation than Command, to behold her is an immediate Check to loofe Behaviour; and to love her, is a liberal Education: For, it being the Nature of all Love to create an Imitation of the beloved Person in the Lover, a Regard for Afpafia naturally produces Decency of Manners, and good Conduct of Life, in her Admirers. If therefore the giggling Luippe could but fee her Train of Fops affembled, and Afpafia move by them, she would be mortified at the Veneration with which the is beheld, even by Lucippe's own unthinking Equipage, whose Passions have long taken Leave of their Understandings.

AS Charity is esteemed a Conjunction of the good Qualities necessary to a virtuous Man, so Love is the happy Composition of all the Accomplishments that make a fine Gentleman. The Motive of a Man's Life is seen in all his Actions; and such as have the beauteous Boy for their Inspirer, have a Simplicity of Behaviour, and a certain Evenness of Desire, which burns like the Lamp of Life in their Bosoms; while they who are instigated by the Satire, are ever tortured by Jealousies of the Object of their Wishes; often desire what they scorn, and as often consciously and knowingly embrace where they are mutually indifferent.

FLORIO, the generous Husband, and Limberham, the kind Kceper, are noted Examples of the different Effects which these Desires produce in the Mind. Amanda, who is the Wife of Florio, lives in the continual Enjoyment of new Instances of her Husband's Friendship, and sees it the End of all his Ambition to make her Life one Series of Pleasure and Satisfaction; and Amanda's Relish

Lidervay the lame

Relish of the Goods of Life is all that makes them pleasing to Florio: They behave themselves to each other when present with a certain apparent Benevolence, which transports above Rapture; and they think of each other in Absence with a Considence unknown to the highest Friendship: Their Satisfactions are doubled, their Sorrows leffen'd by Participation.

ON the other Hand, Corinna, who is the Mifire's of Limberham, lives in conftant Torment: Her Equipage is an old Woman, who was what Corinna is now; an antiquated Footman, who was Pimp to Limberham's Father; and a Chambermaid, who is Limberbam's Wench by Fits, out of a Principle of Politicks to make her jealous and watchful of Corinna. Under this Guard, and in this Conversation, Corinna lives in State: The Furniture of her Habitation, and her own gorgeous Drefs, make her the Envy of all the strolling Ladies in the Town; but Corinna knows the herself is but Part of Limberham's Housholdftuff. and is as capable of being disposed of elsewhere, as any other Moveable. But while her Keeper is perswaded by his Spies, that no Enemy has been within his Doors fince his last Visit, no Persian Prince was ever so magnificently bountiful A kind Look or falling Tear is worth a Piece of Brocade, a Sigh is a Jewel, and a Smile is a Cupi board of Plate. All this is fhar'd between Corinna and her Guard in his Absence. With this great Occonomy and Industry does the unhappy Limberbam purchase the constant Tortures of featoufy, the Favour of spending his Estate, and the Opportunity of enriching one by whom he knows he is hated and despised. These are the ordinary and common Evils which attend Keepers; and Corinna is a Wench but of common Size of Wickedness, were you to know what passes under the Roof where the fair Meffalina reigns with her humble Adorer.

MESSALINA is the profess'd Mistress of Mankind; fhe has left the Bed of her Husband and beauteous Offspring, to give a Loofe to Want of Shame and Fulnels of Defire. Wretched Nocturnus, her feeble Keeper! How the poor Creature fribbles in his Gait, and skuttles from Place to Place to dispatch his necessary Affairs in painful Day-light, that he may return to the constant Twilight preserved in that Scene of Wantonness; Messalina's Bed-chamber! How does he, while he is absent from thence, consider in his Imagination the Breadth of his Porter's Shoulders, the foruce Nightcap of his Valet, the ready Attendance of his Butler! Any of all whom he knows. the admits, and professes to approve of. This, alas! is the Gallantry, this the Freedom of our fine Gentlemen: For this they preserve their Liberty, and keep clear of that Bugbear, Marriage. But he does not understand either Vice or Virtue, who will not allow, that Life without the Rules of Morality is a wayward uneasy Being, with Spatches only of Pleasure; but under the Regulation of Virtue, a reasonable and uniform Habit of Enjoyment. I have seen in a Play of old Haywood's, a Speech at the End of an Act, which touch'd this Point with much Spirit. He makes married Man in the Play, upon some endearing Occasion, look at his Spouse with an Air of Fondness, and fall into the following Reflection on his Condition.

Ob Marriage! Happiest, easiest, safest State: Let Debau bees and Drunkards scorn thy Rites, Who, in their nauseous Draughts and Lusts, profane Both thee and Heav'n, by whom thou wert ordain'd.
How can the Savage call it Loss of Freedom, Thus to converse with, thus to gaze at A faithful, beauteous Friend?
Blush not, my Fair One, that thy Love applands thee.
Nor be it painful to my wedded Wise,
That my full Heart o'erstows in Praise of thee.

Thou art by Law, by Interest, Passion, mines Passion and Reason join in Love of thee. Thus, through a World of Calumny and Fraud, We pass both unreproach d, both undeceived; While in each other's Interest and Happiness, We without Art all Faculties employ, And all our Senses without Guilt enjoy.

سع سع سع سع سع سع عد عدم سع سع سع سع سع

No 50. Thursday, August 4. 1709.

White's Chocolate boufe, August 2

The Hiftery of Orlando the Fair. Chap. L.

WHATEVER malicious Men may fay of our Lucubrations, we have no Defign but to produce unknown Merit, or place in a proper Light the Actions of our Contemporaries who lebour to distinguish themselves, whether it be by Vice or Virtue. For we shall never give Accounts to the World of any Thing, but what the Lives and Endeavours of the Persons (of whom we treat) make the Bahs of their Fame and Reputation. For this Reason it is to be hoped, that our Appearance is reputed a publick Benefit; and though certain Persons may turn what we mean for Panegyrick into Scandal, let it be answered once for all, That if our Praises are really defigned as Raillery, fuch malevolent Perfons owe their Safety from it, only to their being too inconfiderable for Hiftory. It is not every Man who deals in Ratsbane, or is unfeafonably amorous, that can adorn Story like Æsculapius; nor every Stockjobber of the India Company can assume the Port, and personate the Figure of Aurengezebe. My noble Ancestor, Mr. Shakespear, who was of the Race of the the Staffs, was not more fond of the memorable Sir John Falftaff, than I am of those Worthies; but the Latins have an admirable Admonition expres'd in two Words, to wit, Nequid nimis, which forbids my indulging my felf on those delightful Subjects, and calls me to de Justice to others, who make no less Figures in our Generation: Of fuch, the first and most renowned is, that eminent Hero and Lover Orlando the Hansome, whose Disappointments in Love, in Gallantry, and in War, have banished him from publick View, and made him voluntarily enterinto a Confinement, to which the ungrateful Age would otherwise have forced him. Ten Luftra and more are wholly pass'd fince Orlando first appeared in the Metropolis of this Island: His Descent is noble, his Wit humourous, his Person charming. But to none of these recommendatory Advantages was his Title so undoubted, as that of his Beauty. His Complexion was fair, but his Countenance many; his Stature of the failest, his Shape the most exact; and though in all his Limbs he had a Proportion as delicate as we fee in the Works of the most skilful Statuaries, his Body had a Strength and Firmness little inferior to the Marble of which such Images are form'd. This made Orlando the universal Flame of all the Fair Sex; inpocent Virgins figh'd for him, as Admir; experienced Widows, as Herceles. Thus did this Figure walk alone the Pattern and Ornament of our Species, but of course the Envy of all who had the same Passions, without his superior Merit and Pretences to the Favour of that enchanting Creature, Woman. However, the generous Orlando believed himfelf formed for the World, and not to be engross'd by any particular Affection. He figh'd not for Delia, for Chloris, for Chlos, for Betty, nor my Lady, nor for the ready Chambermaid, por distant Baroness: Woman was his Mistress, and the whole Sex his Seraglio. His Form was always irrefistible: And if we consider, that not one of five hundred can bear the least Favour from a Lady without being exalted above himfelf; if also we must allow, that a Smile from a Side-Box has made Fack Spruce half mad; we can't think it wonderful that Orlande's repeated Conquests touch'd his Brain: So it certainly did, and Orlando became an Enthusiast in Love; and in all his Address, contracted something out of the ordinary Course of Breeding and Civility. However, (powerful as he was) he would fill add to the Advantages of his Porton, that of a Profession which the Ladies always favour, and immediately commenced Soldier. Thus equipp'd for Love and Honour, our Hero feeks diffant Climes and Adventures, and leaves the despairing Nymphs of Great Britain to the Courtships of Beaus and Witlings till his Return. His Exploits in foreign Nations and Courts, have not been regularly enough communicated unto us, to report them with that Veracity which we profess in our Narrations: But after many Feats of Arms, (which those who were Witnesses to them have suppress'd out of Envy, but which we have had faithfully related from his own Mouth in our publick Streets) Orlando returns home full, but not loaded, with Years Beaus born in his Absence made it their Bufines to decry his Furniture, his Drefs, his Manner; but all fuch Rivalry he fuppreffed (as the Philosopher did the Sceptick, who argued there was no fuch Thing as Motion) by only moving. The beauteous Villaria, who only was formed for his Paramour, became the Object of his Affection. His first Speech to her was as follows:

Madam.

It is not only that Nature has made us two the mest accomplished of each Sex, and pointed to us to obey her Dictates in becoming one; but that there is also an Ambition Ambition in following the mighty Persons you have favoured. Where Kings and Heroes, as great as Alexander, or such as could personate Alexander, have bowed, permit your General to lay his Laurels.

ACCORDING to Milton;

The Fair with conscious Majesty approv'd His pleaded Reason.

FORTUNE having now supplied Orlando with Necessaries for his high Taste of Gallantry and Pleasure, his Equipage and Occonomy had something in them more sumptuous and gallant than could be received in our degenerate Age; therefore this Figure (though highly graceful) appeared so exotick, that it affembled all the Britons under the Age of sixteen, who saw his Grandeur, to follow his Chariot with Shouts and Accelamations, which he regarded with the Contempt which great Minds affect in the midst of Applauses. I remember I had the Honour to see him one Day stop, and call the Youths about him, to whom he spake as follows?

Good Bastards—Go to School, and don't lose your Time in sollowing my Wheels: I am loth to hurt you, because I know not but you are all my own Offspring: Hark'ee, you Sirrah with the white Hair, I am sure you are mine: There's Half a Crown. Tell your Mother, This, with the Half Crown I gave her when I got you, comes to sive Shillings. Thou hast cost me all that, and yet thou art good for nothing. Why, you young Dogs, did you never see a Man before? Never such a one as you, Noble General, replied a Truant from Westminster. Sirrah, I believe thee: There is a Crown for thee. Drive on Ceachman.

THIS Vehicle, though facred to Love, was not adorn'd with Doves. Such an Hieroglyphick denoted too languishing a Passion. Orlando therefore gave the Eagle, as being of a Conflitution which inclined him rather to feize his Prey with Talons, than pine for it with Marmurs.

From my own Apartment, August 2.

I have received the following Letter from Mr. Powell of the Bath, who, I think, runs from the Point between us, which I leave the whole World to judge.

To Ifaac Bickerftaff, Eq;

FAVING a great deal of more advantageous Bufiness at present on my Hands, I thought to have deferred answering your Tatler of the 21st Instant, till the Company was gone, and Season over; but having resolved not to regard any Impertinences of your Paper, except what relate particularly to me, I am the more cally induced to answer you fas I shall find Time to do it:) First, partly lest you should think your felf neglected, which I have Region to believe you would take hemoully ill. Secondly, partly because it will encrease my Fame, and consequently my Audience, when all the Quality shall see with how much Wit and Raillery I shew you—I don't care a Farthing fon you. Thirdly, partly becanse being without Books, If I don't shew much Learning, it will not be imputed to my having none.

I have travelled Italy, France, and Spain, and fully comprehend whatever any German Artift in the World can do; yet cannot I ima-CI VO ASA

Nº 56.

gine, why you should endeavour to disturb the Repose and Plenty which (though unworthy) I enjoy at this Place. It cannot be, that you take Offence at my Prologues and Epilogues. which you are pleafed to mifcall Foolish and Abulive. No, no, until you give a better, I shall not forbear thinking that the true Reason of your picking a Quarrel with me was, because it is more agreeable to your Principles, as well as more to the Honour of your affured Victory, to attack a Governour. Mr. Isaac, Mr. Ifaac, I can fee inro a Mill-stone as far as another (as the Saying is.) You are for fowing the Seeds of Sedition and Disobedience among my Puppets, and your Zeal for the (Good old) Cause would make you perswade Punch to pull the String from his Chops, and not move his law when I have a Mind he should harangue. Now I appeal to all Men, if this be not contrary to that unaccountable and uncontroulable Dominion, which by the Laws of Nature I exercife over them; for all Sorts of Wood and Wire were made for the Use and Benefit of Man: I have therefore an unquestionable Right to frame, falhion, and put them together, as I plcafe; and having made them what they are, my Puppets are my Property, and therefore my Slaves; Nor is there in Nature any Thing more just, than the Homage which is paid by a less to a more excellent Being. So that by the Right therefore of a fuperior Genius, I am their supreme Moderator, although you would infinuate (agreeably to your levelling Principles) that I am my felf bur a great Pupper, and can therefore have but a co-ordinate Jurildiction with them. I suppose I have now fufficiently made it appear, that I have a paternal Right to keep a Pupper-Show, and this Right I will maintain in my Prologues on all Occalions. AND

AND therefore, if you write a Defence of your self against this my Self-Defence, I admonish you to keep within Bounds; for every Day will not be so propitious to you as the auth of April; and perhaps my Resentment may get the better of my Generosity, and I may no longer scorn to fight one who is not my Equal with unequal Weapons: There are such Things as Scandalums Magnatums; therefore take heed hereafter how you write such Things as I cannot easily answer, for that will put me in a Passion.

'I order you to handle only these two Propositions, to which our Dispute may be reduced: The First, Whether I have not an absolute Power, whenever I please, to light a Pipe with one of Punch's Legs, or warm my Fingers with his whole Carcas? The Second, Whether the Devil would not be in Punch, should he by Word or Deed oppose my sovereign Will and Pleasure? And then, perhaps, I may (if I can find Leisure for it) give you the Trouble of a ' fecond Letter.

al

nt

A-

D

BUT if you intend to tell me of the Original of Puppet-Shows, and the feveral Changes and Revolutions that have happened in them, fince Thefpis, and I don't care who, that's Noli me tangere; I have folemnly engaged to fay nothing of what I can't approve. Or, if you talk of certain Contracts with the Mayor and Burgesses, or Fees to the Contables, for the Privilege of ading, I will not write one fingle Word about any fuch Matters; but shall leave you ' to be mumbled by the learned and very inge-' nious Author of a late Book, who knows very well what is to be faid and done in such Cases. " He is now shuffling the Cards, and dealing to ' Timothy; but if he wins the Game, I will fend him to play at Backgammon with you: and then he will fatisfy you, that Deuce-Ace makes five.

ME

AND

A

Æ

Af

Ald

Ali

Am

An

hyc.

Tellin

AND

BOM

He is now thutfling the Cards, and dealing to Timethy; but if he was the Game, I will lend bin to play he lackgam non with your and then he will farisfy you, that Deuce Ace makes

A FAITHFUL

INDEX

OF THE

Dull as well as ingenious Passages

INTHE

TATLERS.

VOL. I.

A.

A CTS the Country Wife: (Mrs. Bignel) Pr	ge 13
A Advice asked, not for Information, but out	of the Fullness of Heart on its Perplexity.	167
Activite not to be given by every Body.	ibid.
Æsculapius and Hebe	290
Æsculapius's Recipe for Love.	315
Africanus's Magnaninuity and Manner of pure	basing Annuities.	243
Alchymift.	93
Alicant taken.	T43
Amanda, Wife of Florio.	34
Annihilation described by Milton and Dryden.	34
Aspasia's Character.	285
VOL. I. Q A	aloie

Avaro's Character.	Page 168
Aurengezebe strades with the English.	303 В.
Alfarrage
Bankers should take Poems for Bills,	285, 286
Bachelor's Scheme to govern a Wife.	A 63
Battle near Badajos.	TI Outond
Beadlestaff's Tostimony of the Reformation and of a Pupper-Show.	298
Detrouten's Change	4
Mr. Bickerstaff's Cures.	226
Mr. Bickerstaff's Disposal of bis three N	ephews. 198
- A Base Report that he has compoun	ded with the Toymen and Milleners.	205
Mr. Bickerstaff makes bis Will.	42
Billet-doux concerning a Rival.	193
Brufiels Poffcript (a Poem) considered. Busie Body: (A Play)	308, 309
Dune Body, (2 114)	1 120
C. I. A.	7 1
Carried Table 19 Control of the Cont
Camilla's Exit.	132
Cancrum, bis Merit.	159
Cant of Modern Men of Wit.	78
Challenge, the Style of it.	166 Charms of Myfick cure the Spleen and Childreny bow pursed with the	00
Circumspection-Water, its Effects.	226
Clariffa and Chloe, celebrated Beauties.	20
Clidamira, a Woman of Distinction.	spigal 327
Comment on Stone Walls.	110
Comparif n Letween Cafar and Alexande	r. 40
Confience described under the Character of A	lethes. 322 Contention between two Ladies to the Ti	itle of Very Conversation Repartees.	270
Coquet.	A shanning
Corinna's Life with Limberham.	327
Country's Ignorance of Bickerstaff's Charl	Her, 209
And the second second	Credit

THE THUE Y
Gredit deferibed under the Chataffer of Umbra. Page	32
Critick.	19
Cynthio's History.	A
Cynthio's History continued. Cynthio distating on the Passion of Love.	2 Ŷ, Cynthio (once in Despair for Clarissa) is now resolution upon the good old Way of Louing, as Bargain upon the good old Way of Louing, as Bargain	991
Sale. ib	10
D.
Damia, a Woman of Diftindion. 2	1
$2500000 PC 14600 PER 15800 PER 1580 P	9
Description of the Morning in Town r (A Poem)	5 6
Digreffen upon the London Criet.	2 01 71 0
Distast (Jenny), her Discourse on Love, the Comma and Power of Women.	61 20
- Her Account of her own Conduct in an Amour, &	c 68 25
Divito's Sale of Goods Celeftial and Terrestrial 11	8
Dryden, on Empire.	4
Duelling, and its Terms explain'd. Duellers, how treated after Death.	54
How weed by different Nations. 12
The Source of it.
Dumb Fortune-Teller.	4
D'Urfcy's Panegyrick.	3
E .
Earl of Effex; a Play : Its Character.	77.7
Lasse Writers.	7
Or Table	19

Epigram on Marriage. Epfom-Wells; a Play: Its Character. The Order of Esquires, &c.	271 46 123
Every Temper to be animated or foftened by the ence of Beauty.	64
Exercise of Arms. in the Metropolis of Great Braith Considerations thereupon.	273
T.
Felicia, its Happiness. Florimel and Picket, their Way of Courtsbip, Florio's Character. Flyblow's Character. Isot-Rase by Damsels at Epsom-Wells. The Fox (a Play) applanded. France, its Misery. Frank Careless. Free-Thinkers. Free-Thinkers. French King's Subjects Answer to bis Letter. Frontlet, ber Character.	24 45 301 255 240 137 118 95 78 196 161 Gamester. Gamesters Misery and alternate State. What Men of Wealth play against Gamesters, &c Gatty, ber Character. Genealogy of the Bickerstass. Genii, their good Offices to Men, Gentleman, what.	74 319 135
Good Breeding, what. Good-natur'd old Man. Guilt applies the Satire.	201 301 277
H.
Honest Fellows described. Husb Money demanded.	300
	T

Las Lesby le Continue Las best constitue of

Jack Spruce.	Page 331
Impressions made on us by Pictures. Instance of the noble British Genius in Val	entine and Unnion.	31
Infurrection in PoiQue	90
Insurrection in Marseilles,	38
Invention never to bave one's Name mentioned	102, 103
Inventory of Goods in Drury-Lane of	C-r.
R—ch, Esq; Johnson (Ben), bis Manner of Writing.	333 342
Johnson (Ben), his Manner of Writing.	137
Fournat of Homer's Iliad.	Campbag.
Justice of Lewis le Grand much like unto	174
K.	Aca metal
The State of the State of the State of	1000
Knaves prov'd Fools.	4401
Sie and about a stronger	principal of Lady (being young) frangely inchanted by	a Rake of fixty Years.	148
Lady's Complaint of ber Husband	129
Lady confules Mr. Bickerstaff about bein	THE R. P. LEWIS CO., LANSING, MICH.
Talk I C Talk	129, 130
Lady, how recovered out of Fits. Lady's Lover wounded in a Duel.	166 Ladies triffing Endearments give us mea their Souls.	271, 272
Letter for Mr. Bickerstaff's Return.	25I
Letter of Challenge,	196
LowiseXIV's Letter to Isaac Bickerstaff	, and Re-fections thereon.	174
Limberham, the Keeper.	327
London Cuckolds; a Play: Its Charafter
London in Consternation, an Ideat being tri	S ECONOMIC PROPERTY NAMED IN COLUMN TO SERVICE AND SER
Lave, its Decay.	25.26
and the second s

4	- LID L
Love-Letter, by Cynt Lucubrations, their		Page 234
tre on a	M	Jes Sprees.
Madam Maintenon'	Letter to M.	Torcy on the Madonella's Nunner Maria loses ber Lap-1	Dog.	214 317
Marriage a Bugbear t	cont in Dinty	- 44, 45
Marriage the safest as fords. May-Fair broke, and s	Linearization and M	328
Medicine for a Scold: Meeting of Hunters de	(A Poem).	245
Men in Love, Poetical Men of Sense are Won	i. nens humble Servi	181, 182
Merry Fellows describes Messalina's Character.		302
Military Atchievements Milton and Suckling the Duty of Man in an Instance of true I	on a parallel their Designs w
Moveables of the Playle a Gathering at Wi	boufe intended to	be purchased by uted by unfair
Dealings.	Marin Services	292
til and being the an ex-	Police County to	Ladin miffine Naked Truth, a danger Natural for Women to	talk of themselve	n 66
Naturalization-Act, boo Nice's Character.	Could be with	90° 95° Degacy. 61
loy's Expedient to refo	older, a PLO	al language and leling gains Women.	d an mountain	London M. Co.
d Bachelor, its Char	aller.	21
1		Orlando's

Orlando's History. Page 3	19
His Spee b to beauteous Villara.	31 .
- His Speech to the Touth that followed his Char	iot-32
·····································	56
Their Alenanack considered. 2	57
P. Transit is spilen	4
Pacolet checks Mr. Bickerstaff for not going on w	ieb 10
	id.
- His Discourse with Mr. Bickerstaff in Lincoln Inn Walks.	85
	id.
	86 98 SI.
	10 12
TO 25 A LEGISLA 1 1 PARTIES AND THE RESERVE OF A SECTION AND THE RESERVE OF A SECTION ASSOCIATION AND THE RESERVE OF A SECTION ASSOCIATION AND THE RESERVE OF A SECTION ASSOCIATION ASSOCI	10 59 68 36
Pinkethman's Progress with his Company to Gree wich	n-Places pretended to, not out of Merit, but because th are convenient.	6
Plan of Philoso, by, with an Appendin. 286, 28	37
A Platonne des ribed.	4
Players instructed in the Laws of Action, out of Shak	ėfpear. 235, 23	6
Plays (modern) described.	7
一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个一个	4 Poem on Bribery.
Poluglossa's Character. 28	and the second second Powell's Letter, in Answer to the Pupper-Show	ALCOHOL: NAME OF Bath.	Star Country
He affronts Mr. Bickerstaff.	LAP SERVICE COLD
Preliminaries of a Pea.o.	DARKES C

4110 - 17 12 12
Peetly Fellow; who.	Page 135 Pretty Fellow, with the Word [veryl is a man's Man in the first Degree.	A 4-1 Proceedings at Bome shout the Description	1579 158
Proceedings at Rome about the Recognition	" of Bing
The state of the s
Prophets (modern), their Character, with Ref	3 2 3 2 4 3 4 3 4 5 4 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5 5
Punning treated of.	217
Punning, an Instance of it.	237
	-
cate Mir Michellen de par como esta tano	i aniana i Outline to the state of D. L	De Treff Quality always to pay the Reckoning.	303 Quarrel at Epsom between Aurumn and about Precedence.	240
Questioners.	275
Quid Nunc's Character of Lazines, &c.	64
The second secon	Filthern.
R	THE
Fire Notice of the Comment of the Co	der Asset I Raillery against Persons taking upon them t	be Names of the Females.	172
Rake, bis Character.	1-8
Lanter civilized at the Sight of the Lady B	etty Modift.	64
Re onsideration on Instructions to Vanderb	ank: (a Poem.)	15, 16
Recruiting Officer : Its Character.	131 Reflections on the French King's Letter to jests after the Treaty.	190 Contract of the Contract of th Religion, a Project for its Advancement recomm	alam Eas Remarks on Virgil and Homer's Choice of thethe the second to see the line in the line	37 3-	reset
Market Const	Lings (min
Sachariffa's Characten	dord (2126)
Saltero's Qualifi ations, Name and Reliques	229
Sappho's Character	Tiol wisa
Sarabrand's Pupper Show at her Shop in	the Exam
change.	131
Her Rake bell Punch disposed of.	ibid.
Satisfaction, a Term in Duelling explain'd.	165
4 041 4	Sempro-

	产于主气25.0%。300000000000000000000000000000000000
Sempronia's Character.	Page 222
Senecio's Character.	331, 302
Sentiment of the Allies on the Rubture Strake [pear's Apology for Satire.	377
Of Shakespear.	50
Sign-Pofts false spell'd, how pernicion	117
Smart Fellow, bis Pretensions, Expli	its and Character.
	171, 172, 173
Whether an Affront to be called	fo. 185
Snuff-taking, &c.	232
Sophronius's juft Carriage.	136, 137
Sorrow expressed by Shakespear.	316
Spindle (Tom), cured of the Spleen	313
Staff of Life's Poem on the French	King. 163
Sublime, inflanced in a Simile of the	Campaign. 289
Swearer, bow reformed.	87, 88 7 7.
Taste of an Age, known by the C Plays. Teraminta, ber miserable State.	baracters of their
Theatres ve ommended.	51
Of a Toaft.	159
Toast, and wby they are so called.	160
Tom Drybones,	159
Tournay invested.	203
Trippet (Sir Taffety), bis Amour	at Tunbridge.
	311
Trip to the Jubilee.	126
Tumults at Paris.
V.
Venfer and a Parmate Co.	182
Verses on a Parrat. Verus's Character.	92 335 Villaria, beauteous.	沿海流流流流

W

Sense Victoria

Welch, all (Gentlemon, and	gjoon mud	to Duelling.
Whisperers wi	than Bufinefs.	A MANAGER	100 AND 100
Winten-Piera	e the Desision of from Copenhag	en.	82
Witchcraft del Wit, bis Cha	ribed and expla	ined.	139
Women more	subtile than M	en in their	soun Affairs.

Section of the first of the Stanton of patrick the intermediate South

Services - Korn of Someth

The and other they you was a property to the second of the confide Lorde ballets

-thantened

FINIS.

